HOME FOR ORPHANED CHILDREN AT OLDS

Illustrated Lecture Next Monday Night at Presbyterian Church

For some time students of social conditions in Alberta have felt the need of a home for protestant children, one or both, of whose parents have died. The Roman Catholic church, with her usual foresight has wisely provided homes for her own children, but protestants have neglected to make this provision with the result that fathers or mothers, unable to care for their motherless or fatherless children have been compelled to relinquish all claim upon their stricken home to the government, with the result that they have been placed in foster homes with little or no consideration for race, creed or parental affection.

Seeing this need, and believing that God would supply the means to meet the need which He has permitted, the Rev. Wm. Woods has opened up a home in Olds for orphaned children, where they will be surrounded with some of the blessings of a christian home, taught the religion of their parents, and make it possible for their friends or relatives to visit them and reclaim them whenever they are able to give the children proper care and supervision.

Mr. Woods will give an illustrated address in the Presbyterian church, Monday evening, January 10th. Admission free, everybody welcome.

The Banks and the Farmers

Having explained in last week's article how the whole subject of Banking is a matter coming solely within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government and Parliament, and how futile are those demands which call for action by Provincial Legislatures, attention may well be devoted to a brief consideration of some criticisms now being urged against Canada's existing Banking System and Bank Management in general.

Complaint being the easiest of a simply the most employed form of criticism, and more particularly is this true as regards the periodical attacks launched on the Canadian banking system. Hardly ever does a self-styled critic on this topic reveal a reasonably accurate elementary understanding of his subject, or evince an attempt at portraying plain truth and fairlie.

Recently a ridiculous and unfair article of this character was sent to my local paper. In this it was maintained that hardship was being inflicted on farmers this fall through the refusal of some banks to grant renewals of notes which were drawn to assist in financing crops which, owing to unfavorable seasons or partial failure, have extracted under pressure from many producers and that the practice was being followed very generally of employing what were described as "thumb-screw notes" or Managers in districts where the financial situation was a difficult one.

If in well-ordered communities there are uncertainties and contingencies such as the presence of important seed while the season is favorable, indifferent weather, grain blockades and traffic congestions which thereafter intervene, and drastically reduce the yield and quality, and therefore the value of the crop, such circumstances are known or can be shown to exist, extensions of banking accommodation are customarily accepted as such, and invariably given to farmers without demur or question. Such a course should be regarded as part of the conception, who in all likelihood, if the circumstances were pushed, had designs on the control of the business, and would have themselves taken as Debtors of others to the contrary, proved himself in a difficult and dangerous position, either by disowning of consideration round to that necessity by his owner before and inconsiderable neighbor of the Bank, or by having a general demonstration of banking practice? In such a case where the man's case is clear, and there is no satisfactory his creditors naturally are all clamoring for payment and nothing but disaster and loss of business incompetence could prevent his bank from doing what it reasonably can to save a client from ruin, and the fact that in the present trading conditions pressure is brought to bear the Bank's loan is the last to receive any consideration. In common fairness, therefore, the Banks should not be blamed for the unfortunate situation in which the farmers find themselves, and a distinction should be drawn between deserving and undeserving cases.

As regards the charge that farmers have been under pressure to make impossible promises of payment and have been induced to have when not fulfilled, to sign some new promissory note, it is a matter of which I have no notice. What cheques or bonds could possibly be gained by such an unjust and absurd practice, and under existing keen banking competition how could an average bank discriminate between the perpetrator of such serious damage and loss of business resulting to any institution which did so? There is no element of action without interest, and it is impossible to see any in this allegation.

The "thumb-screw note" is also a creation of a fertile or prejudiced imagination. Where Bank Managers, in the course of humanity duly and faithfully have both up good sound customers for their institutions," certainly are not examined and replaced as it has been claimed for exactly that cause. Such a charge is absurd for nothing else than financial suicide. Bank Managers are no more perfect as a class than any other and there must of necessity be instances of error, whether from cause or another they lose grip and run afoul in their crediting. Naturally a number of the residents in any community so served conscientiously gain inflated and distorted ideas of their financial status and credit. The unfortunate successor to such a Bank Manager who endeavors to bring the misguided back to their senses, and incidentally for Branch business down to a sounder base, naturally incurs some unfriendly ill-will, but no more to form an estimate of the character of the discredited for would instruct to be done in connection with his course. Moreover, if he found it necessary to replace a responsible employee who had been lax in his crediting or otherwise failed in duty.

Another charge sometimes made is that the banks withhold their support in times of financial stress, and therefore intensify the crisis. Here again one has to the casual critic that the banks' available loan resources are regulated entirely by the extent of their deposits and also the state of liquidity of their existing loans. It is just at such times that the most serious strain is made upon deposits and that outstanding loans are most poorly met. It naturally follows, therefore, that on occasions of the kind there must be some curtailment in credit and that there cannot be any extension of loans. It often unreasonably expressed for illegitimate and highly speculative business purposes, and for such no honesty, and however, it is given at such times the farmers suffer less and are subject to smaller inconvenience than any other class of business man. The importance of the western crop to the country is appreciated, and the full co-operation of the banks at such times is variably given a preference over other purposes no matter how deserving they are.

It would seem a bit of misunderstanding if, as was pointed out last week the conditions between a flush and a public unfortunately were kept in mind. Each year the banks of Canada have to recommend and finance a large number of schools for investment and have to act obligation to be fulfilled to the actual owners of the money—such is the case of banks against the depositors who sell us to the borrowers.

No country in the world can boast of a better banking service than Canada, in none is credit more available to the deserving, and nowhere can the farmers get more generous treatment than they do at the hands of the monetary institutions under the honorable and distributing supervision of the system in the United States where poverty is one State alone—North Dakota—is the only one which has no banking accommodation, and where many days' journey from a convenient office, could in itself be intolerable proof of the efficiency of the Canadian system. The existing monetary institutions of the country are a monument to the wisdom of Canada's legislators, and are largely responsible for its banking system, in feeling it less than any other country.

Economies of Army and Navy Orders To Be Cut In Half

Economies sufficient to lop the army and navy departmental bases have been ordered by Sir Lionel George as chief minister of the Dominion's executive, and he has instructed the departments to reduce their estimates by one-half, says the London Daily Mail.

Sir Lionel George has directed that the estimated expenditure for the coming year must be held to about £3,000,000 in position, for several years ago.

"Then the law is after him?" Mr. Dunton asked the question so vaguely that his partner looked at him.

"Yes, he answered slowly, 'but not the law you're thinking of. It's not the big, simple law of this country, which reads, 'Everything goes between the lines.'"

As they drifted downstream, Edna, in the stern of the canoe, studied the motionless form and watched the changing lights in the wonderful face of Creation. It was a night she never could forget. Each moment seemed to add to its more wonderful than the one before. The stillness was broken by the unutterable and only possessed quality of the night, the sound of which seems to be absorbed a very huge space of the earth.

The ladies drove the hills, half to the centre of the valley, which divided the two stubbed hamlets because a darker road. Here the trees and the bushes had been trained their shadows. From the far end of the valley came the low, rolling sound of hoofs, and from the opposite direction the answering echo of the horses.

Then there appeared the new home. Edna sat, thinking—thinking—as the carriage rolled on. She had not only trusted the man who had done the most for her, but she had also committed a crime, because she had to help him. She was now an outlaw, and she was not sure how long she could remain free. She was not sorry for what she had done.

The golden head sank lower and lower, and the eyes were closed. Owing to the pressing demands of her society and fond lover's memories. She was, in fact, fond lover's memories. She was, in fact, fast asleep when the carriage drew up at the door of the Dunton home.

The night had fallen by the time they reached Lindon Landing. The wolf, with Edna in his arms, had left in silence and mystery and peace. Up to the point where the river left the lake, and it was now about her uncle's shoulders, she had been conscious of the moving boat.

Mr. Washburn, always melted about silence, evidently here listening well. He had been in the habit of sitting in branches with, if he desire for it, and he had not been disappointed. Everything said of the trip, spoken and unspoken, had been overheard. Nothing escaped his notice.

"Why, Washburn, you have been," she said, as Edna closed the little door behind her, "you have been listening to it now?" she asked as she stooped to kiss her niece.

Edna and her uncle exchanged glances. Mr. Washburn knew that the time is to come to her thy question. She spoke quickly.

"I guess by another one with an 'h' in it, Aunt. Mr. Archie Mc-Kishnie has gone, and Mr. Dunton found it necessary, as Sergeant of Police, to go with him. Mr. Washburn turned into the kitchen to see that Mr. Dunton had a good supper. Such occasions to stranger in Mr. Dunton's house were rare, and he was going to be entertained as well how any other guest. Then you can remember, Aunt, that you have been to bed, and you know what might have happened to you if old Mr. Washburn had not turned loud that you were trying to get out of the window."

Mr. Washburn, who had overheard the last remark, looked confusedly at his master, as he had not heard anything about the window. Mr. Dunton gave him a look which he understood, and he went into the kitchen to see that Mr. Dunton had a good supper.

"Why, Edna, you have been dreaming," her aunt said. "Come, you must go to bed at once. You are tired out. Mr. Dunton will be here in the morning, and you will have plenty of time to talk to him then."

Edna said nothing more, but kissed her aunt and went to her room. She was tired out, and she was glad to get to bed. She undressed herself, and, after saying her prayers, she was soon fast asleep.

Mr. Dunton, however, had other plans. He had not been in bed for two nights, and he was determined to get a good night's rest. He had not been in bed for two nights, and he was determined to get a good night's rest. He had not been in bed for two nights, and he was determined to get a good night's rest.

Washburn, after much stammering and clearing of his throat, found courage to ask Dunton what he was to do.

"Drag it, Mr. I've never been accustomed to doing anything for myself, and I'm not going to begin now. I'll have to keep this. We saw that man, Archie McKishnie, in Lindon Landing, and he says he's going to Winnipeg. Now, I'm not going to have that man get away from me. I'm going to Winnipeg, and you're going with me. High School Notes

School has opened for the last half of the year—the half that really obtains. We were very much handicapped last term through difficulty in obtaining a second assistant and by the noise and confusion due to building the additional class rooms overhead. It was impossible to do effective work on that the burden of the year's work is thrown upon the present term. I am exceedingly anxious to make a good record this year. The teachers can only do so much; the students must do the work. Nearly all the spaces during the school hours are taken up in class work. There must be considerable home study and the four ninety hours are from 7 p. m. to 10 p.m., but the unfortunate thing about it is, that it is during these hours that social functions, society meetings and evening games are on and students who attend all these things must necessarily neglect their home study. All high students may be divided into three classes—those who have little to no regard for their studies; those who wish to succeed but also wish to have a good time as well; and those who make their studies the prime thing and all other things must give way to them. It is the last class who succeed. The other two classes produce the failures.

It is surely not asking too much to request the parents to cooperate with the teachers in this regard, especially during this term. Most of the students are working well at school; more home study is required in many cases. At the recent term examination a good many students did poorly in some of the subjects, a few did exceptionally well. All obtaining 75 p.c. or over on the total are awarded honor Standing, the following being the list:—

Increase in Horse Indust. y

Prediction That Horses Will Seriously Affect Automobile Business.

Looking for a steady increase in the horse industry of Canada in such an extent that it would seriously affect the automobile and truck business of the country, and asking on behalf of the Dominion Department of Agriculture for expressions of opinion as to the use of horses from an economic standpoint as against motors, H. S. Arkell, Dominion Livestock Commissioner voiced the opinion that the horse industry is one which is likely to come back to real prosperity, for his address at Calgary before the annual meeting of the Western Canada Livestock Union.

"Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

"YOUR TEETH"

First Stage of the Decay of the Teeth.

By Rex Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Editor Oral Hygiene.

If your knife and fork, spoon, plate, cup and saucer were from time to time used by another without thorough washing, you would shudder your boarding house.

But why be so particular about outside matters unless you thoroughly cleanse your own mouth after each meal?

When food is allowed to pack between and around the teeth caries, or decay, has practically called, gets a good start. The packed food decomposes and fermentes, this makes the bacteria happy so they all move in.

As the bacteria get settled upon the enamelled surface of the teeth, they cover themselves with a coating called a gelatinous plaque. Under this protective covering the bacteria grow unless they are removed by thorough cleansing.

Decay of the teeth caries, is a disease just the same as tuberculosis or measles is a disease. In this disease the hardest tissue in the body is attacked.

The bacteria of decay are really tiny plants. They live and die as other plants do, when they die they decompose and ferment, forming an acid. This acid, in its fresh state, will dissolve the enamel of the tooth's crown in a short time, but the further in the bacteria they get the more rapidly they work.

The enamel of the teeth is our protection. It is composed entirely of the salts of lime, shaped into minute rods that are bound together by an animal cement. The rods all point towards the centre like the bricks in an arch. Enamel is the strongest substance in the human body. Only acids from the outside can penetrate the rods at the tiny fibers that connect the enamel with the dentine, but will soon start to repair the injury they have done.

Sewing Machines.

Much of inferior feet of leather are used annually in the manufacture of sewing machines, and it is only by the use of the best that one can supply nearly two-thirds of the leather, and yellow poplar and black ash for the interior work. Many of the cheaper machines are made of soft maple, basswood, birch, sycamore, mahogany, yellow pine and redwood. Type of writing machines are usually made of hardwood veneers such as oak or walnut, or of other woods stained to imitate mahogany.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is the best worm medicine that you can without injury to the child. It is pleasant to take, while fully effective.

Spending the Savings.

Many of the European nations are spending their savings on armaments and military account than they did on the eve of the great war, and the economic war prophets who declare that the savings must necessarily be spent in the purchase of goods from the countries of the Great War—from the exports of the Great War—from Toronto Mail and Empire.

A Woman's Way.

"She's marrying you from" asked a friend as he met another young man.

"From" repeated the other, nearly wrecked man. "They are more than that."

"What's the matter?"

"Well," said the young husband, "I've been trying to get a couple of the boys up to a dining and when I went home tonight she wouldn't even let me have enough to buy lunch for the boys I had out with!"

It is computed that from a cent to a quarter of the cost of foodstuffs in the United States goes to pay for extras and other sometimes that are thrown away instead of being used a second time.

Working for Solution

Carriers Standing Exchange on International Freight.

Definite progress towards a solution of the vexed question of exchange on international freight charges between the United States and Canada seems likely, as a result of a meeting of representatives of the principal Canadian carriers in Montreal recently.

The question, which is a most difficult one, has again been considered from all its angles, and a tentative plan was prepared involving an average rate of exchange, which, it is hoped, will lead to a solution which will be satisfactory to all parties interested. It is appreciated, however, that in the working out of this problem, as in that of the utmost importance that the integrity of the through rates by the different gateways must be maintained, and that the question of a cancellation of all international tariffs.

Owing to the diversity of conditions affecting the various classes of traffic, and the differing effect of any action which may be taken, a full examination of the international situation is required, before any definite United States carriers is necessary. This will shortly have been completed by a committee appointed for the purpose, and the matter will be pressed to a conclusion, so that, if possible, an early settlement may be arrived at.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign That the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People who suffer from frequent headaches should realize that they are not well. Headache is a symptom of ill health, and is usually caused by impure blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood, and in this way drive away headaches as well as many other troubles. Mrs. F. A. Burrows, Bonaventure, Que., says:—"I was troubled for a long time with frequent headaches. I was also greatly run down in health, and could not sleep well at night. I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using a few boxes I found that they were helping me. I continued their use until I had taken seven boxes, when I was completely cured. I have since recommended Pink Pills to several friends, and they have also found them beneficial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Green Food For Hens.

Hens in confinement must have green food to be productive. Cut clover hay should be given. Mix it with the morning mash. Cabbages are excellent green food for hens. Cut them in two and hang them up in the pens. Mangels and sugar beets are also good. Feed them whole. Sprouted oats are also excellent. Sprout them in shallow boxes. Feed them when the sprouts are about two inches long.

The Oil for the Athlete.—In the training of athletes, it is well to remember that olive oil is the best lubricant for the human machine. Rubbed into the skin after a bath, it prevents chafing and strengthens those muscles which are used most in athletic exercises. It stands to reason that if it is good for the athlete, it must be good for the man who wants to be an athlete.

A man who was under an assumed name was asked by the judge if he had anything to say before sentence was passed. "Only that I have been known by that name for the last forty years," he replied.

Broths for the Invalid

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Perhaps one of the first things the average housewife thinks about when sickness is encountered for the one who is ill at her home is chicken. But the chicken broth available for sick folks differs considerably from the rich, somewhat greasy soup that well folk eat. A four-pound fowl may be selected.

Where there are other members in the family, have the butcher split the bird in half and chop one half into small pieces. The other half may be cut into several larger pieces and, perhaps, made into stew, with rice for the well members. But the half that is to be used in sick room broth is the part from which you make the broth.

Put the pieces into a crock pot and cover them with cold water. If the bird is old and tough, add a few pieces of lean beef to the pot, and a heart having salt to the dish, add a level teaspoonful of salt. Salt draws out the juices of the meat before and the nutriment. The result is that the broth is not nearly so rich as the decoction of extraction is not completed. The bones, of course, should be used, as well as the meat, in making broth.

Very gradually bring the water to the boiling point. This boiling must be maintained, but the simmer must be very slowly. When the meat begins to fall away from the bones, take it from the flame and strain. Cool the broth rack. When cold the fat will have risen to the top and may be easily be removed from the surface. Reheat the broth and season it to taste. Add a little chopped parsley if desired.

If liquid nourishment is all that is allowed, strain the broth through a fine sieve and serve it clear. If solid food may be added, add a little rice, or a few spoonfuls of cooked meat to the broth.

Farmers Win From Vegreville

A very exciting match was played in the league series Tuesday evening between the Farmers and Vegreville, resulting in a win for the former by 8 goals to 1. C. J. Bamford was referee. The game was marked with considerable open playing with the goal players having several well directed shots. There was a lack of team work on both sides, but nevertheless the three periods afforded the large crowd of spectators a good deal of excitement.

At Vegreville last week the Vermilion Firemen played their home team and won by 8 goals to 4. The New Year's game at Vermilion, which so far has been the best of the series, resulted in a tie, 1 to 1, between the Firemen and Farmers. These two teams will again meet next week and the game promises to be even more thrilling than the first.

CANADIAN GIRLS IN TRAINING HOLD FIRST MEETING

The opening meeting of the Canadian Girls in Training, held Tuesday evening in the Methodist Church, was most successful. Forty-three "teen" age girls were present as well as a number of teachers and other adults interested in the work. The chair was occupied by Mrs. F. H. Robert.

Miss Gosnell, in pleasing language explained the objects of the motto of the club. Other appropriate inspiring addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Smith, Mayor Morrison, Scoutmaster Mr. Jookey, Rev. Mr. Wright, Mrs. Rev. and Mrs. Knox — the latter two being members of the Boy's Parliament (of which body Alberta is duly proud). The address to these two young men were an especially pleasing feature of the evening.

Next meeting of C. G. in T., in Methodist church, Tuesday, 18th, from 7.30 to 8.30. All girls ages 12 to 20 cordially invited. Meetings last an hour, will not interfere with students' homework.

At some period in our lives there is sure to come a time when the stomach fails to perform its functions, failure to repair and digest the food. Many there are to suffer from this malady. You surely need a tonic or medicine and need it at once. It invariably means the return of a healthy appetite, perfect digestion and a clear head. Don't suffer from indigestion, for the stomach does not get strong of itself. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a perfect stomach tonic. Sold by druggists.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS.

It does not do to be too critical when we are looking for a wife. If we were, the world would die out, but it would be a happy death.

Many a man has found himself talking to a wedding ring before telling his other half that he had been talking to a friend.

Marriage is a lottery in which the wife who draws a blank has the consolation of knowing that she is not alone.

Many a man who was looking at his wife in the days of their courtship has since had to look at her through a pair of smoked glasses.

It is a fact that she was looking at him in just the same way before the two parted from the minister or justice.

He cried when he left home to get married, and she cried when she left the mother to whom she had been a comfort and consolation for years.

He cried because he had been compelled to leave home, and she cried because she had left home.

He cried because he was looking at his wife in the days of their courtship, and she cried because she was looking at him

Education in Western Canada

Among the administrative items which come solely within the jurisdiction of Provincial Legislatures and Governments possibly none are more important and vital to the true welfare and strength of the country than those which have to do with the schools and educational policy. Within the Dominion Parliament lies the right, in certain considerations, to exercise Federal educational legislative authority whenever it has nothing whatever to do with general educational policy and administration. The strength or weakness, the success or failure, of the schools of Canada is, therefore, a direct responsibility of the Provinces.

From the beginning of Confederation, the Western Provinces of Canada have placed education, and the creation and liberal support of a strong elementary system of schools, first and foremost in their legislative and administrative programmes. Year after year, decade after decade, and the Governments have responded to the demand. Governments have in fact led the way in the establishment of schools, and the people have followed with their support. The result is that today in almost every city, town, village and rural district the school holds the object of pride on the part of all people and is accorded their enthusiastic support. The schools of the new Provinces are, therefore, in a large sense of manner, are unsurpassingly varied and in support of which taxes are cheerfully paid.

It is unquestioned, too, that the elementary school of today is something more than a means of teaching children to read, write and count correctly. It is realized that the child is the starting ground of all progress, and that the right type of citizen is the one or woman who possesses not only reliable, accurate knowledge of the three R's, but who is physically fit to endure the struggles and hardships of life, who is morally strong and upright, healthy, intuitive and general intelligence are developed, and whose educational training for it of a character to make him fully efficient in their chosen occupation or calling.

Hence, the work of a Provincial Department of Education consists of much more than the mere supervision of the schools, the payment of salaries to teachers, and the payment of certain grants in support of schools. Realizing that a child cannot prosper or develop to the best advantage and conditions are not right for the child's mind to be at ease, Western Governments have established a branch devoted to school hygiene, and medical and dental services are employed who visit the schools, report on the physical condition of pupils, and whether the seating is to contribute to health and the development of strong, upright bodies. These services are of great benefit to the schools, and the report of the doctor often forms to the parents. Frequently they find the homes of defective children and discuss their needs with the parents. In this way defects are found, and generally remedied at slight cost and trouble, which, if neglected, might lead to serious ailments, lack of application, and general backwardness in study. Closely and healthful habits are taught and their importance emphasized.

Boys' and girls' clubs are organized, school lots have school gardens and plots are laid out, and the cultivation of agricultural products and flowers which are attended by the sons and daughters of the Western farmers, while manual and technical training and night schools are provided to advantage centres. The girls are given lessons in domestic science and then opportunity for the discharge of these duties.

Free text books are supplied, in ever increasing array of importance is employed each year, with a view to increase in its efficiency in teaching methods, the standard of qualifications demanded of teachers is being raised year by year, and every effort is being put forth to secure the best teachers. Inspectors and officers are enforced with a view to seeing that every boy and girl obtains the benefits of an elementary education, and special efforts are put forth to do away with the many serious problems which confront the English both in this Western country in order that the younger generation may become imbued with Canadian ideals of citizenship.

These are but a few of the things which not only of the children, but of the State itself—because the stability of a State is dependent upon the standard of intelligence and patriotism of its citizens—are receiving the attention to those newer Provinces of the West where distances are great, population is small and widely scattered, and pioneer conditions in many respects unfavorable. It is not surprising, therefore, that Saskatchewan should spend the largest single item of expenditure by the Provincial Government was for education. Education stands in the expenditures by Governments of all the new and progressive Provincial communities, and what the people of Saskatchewan is approximately true of the other Prairie Provinces.

It will be seen, therefore, that, notwithstanding the fact that the Western Provinces do not enjoy the wealth and resources of the Eastern Provinces, and are laboring under pioneer conditions which have passed in the other portions of the country, they are making every effort and sacrifice in discharging the fundamental duty of government in providing for an efficient, progressive system of schools, the foundation for a material, prosperous and virtuous State in the years to come.

Proper Food for the Child

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

One of the largest cities in the United States asked me to lend my assistance in conducting the campaign of malnutrition which the Department of Health doctors found necessary to establish there. And, strange to say, the malnutrition was by no means limited to the children of poor folk, for all the children came of well-to-do families. In only a small minority of cases was lack of money the cause. Then what is the matter?

I invited the mothers of one hundred of those children to a field to meeting. At first they let me do most of the talking, but we talk then that a diet of white bread, potatoes and meat and practically nothing else, and a rather indifferent one, is allowed me to become so enthusiastic that I made them pull out pencils and paper and take down dictation of the menu-card diet to combat malnutrition.

Then a few food workers believe that a diet of milk—lots of it—cereals and cereal foods, fruits and vegetables, but not much meat, and that sparingly, bread and gravy and a very little sugar at the end of a meal rather than throughout, especially, is the ideal diet for the proper growth and development of a child.

Up to this point the women had been all. But now a courageous soul broke silence.

"It is all very well to say the children should have this and that and that," she said, pointing to the city with her tall-worn finger, "but how are we going to get them? I'm undernourished, won't eat cereal and I'm sick of eggs. My man don't like eggs and hates vegetables and I have to beg with him to eat an egg. And where if we can't get the things what can I do?"

Suppose your man will not tolerate cereal. Perhaps if you make it into cereal he will take it. Or, perhaps, he will take it if you make it into a chocolate pudding or a custard pudding. You might put a pinch of baking soda into the cereal and let it boil another hour, with cereal parts of milk and serve it with cream and sugar.

If you look through a text book you will find scores of dishes calling for cereal. Rice and milk is usually suggested for children, except in connection with fruit, but there is no fixed rule and so much milk and egg, that we might occasionally put it into an adult's diet.

The big triple screwed plane covered the 262 miles between Pensacola and Porto Rico Bay at an average speed of 72 miles an hour. The naval air station here reported the flight as the longest in the history of naval aeronautics.

To Conserve Radium

Want to Employ Precious Substance to Fight Disease Only.

So great is the demand for radium in the treatment of cancer and various malignant diseases that a movement is now on foot to withdraw it as much as possible from the manufacture of luminous dials and other industrial purposes, so that it may be employed entirely for the treatment of human ills.

The substance advocated as a substitute is meso-thorium, a by-product obtained in the manufacture of thorium, a mineral which is extensively employed in the manufacture of gas mantles. The ores from which thorium is made are imported largely from Brazil and India, although there is a limited supply available in the United States. Meso-thorium can be seen at night, and therefore is an ideal substitute for radium in the making of clock faces, watch dials and range finders which can be read in the dark.

Oracle Predicts Trouble in 1921

Astrologist Foresees Events After Long Study of the Stars.

Serious political and labor troubles, with President Wilson's life endangered, are part of America's fortune for 1921, according to Madame De Telene of Paris.

Madame De Telene, successor to the prescient Madame De Thebes, after long study of the stars, predicted what is in store for the world next year. The fates have mixed bitter medicine for most of the nations, she said. She found these things in sight:

England—Serious economic and social difficulties.

Belgium—International worries.

Italy—A revolutionary attempt.

Portugal—A revolution.

Turkey—Dismemberment.

Russia—Increased disorder with the present regime imperilled and Lenine's life endangered.

France—Further divisions of the Socialist party; difficulties over labor and religious questions. In the spring will come an improvement of financial and commercial conditions and a decrease in the number of divorces.

Germany—The government will come during the summer and possibly a rupture of the alliance of Socialists, which will seriously embarrass the country for a time. In the fall there will be a financial crisis, which will be a menace to industry and a statesman's life in danger.

Tiny Autos Popular in Berlin.

Automobiles with two cylinders and Saby carriages are proving exceedingly popular in Berlin, Germany. The car is just large enough to hold one person comfortably, but a trailer may be added to carry one or two other persons. They are driven by an electric battery and will run about four hours without recharging. Several have been established all over the city to recharge batteries. When not in use for the night the car is housed in a garage about as large as a dog kennel.

Would Not Sit For Portrait

Canadian Is First to Paint Picture of Japan's Emperor.

J. W. L. Forster, a Canadian artist, was the first person to paint a portrait at Their Majesties the Emperor and Empress of Japan while in Tokio on a visit to the country's capital for the Educational Association convention. In fact they were the first ever painted of any of the reigning heads of the Japanese nation.

Neither the Emperor or Empress had ever sat for their portraits, it being contrary to the custom of Japan. Mr. Forster therefore put personal glimpses of the others, by special arrangement and the work he turned out highly pleased them.

The Home Training

If Discipline Is Lacking Youngsters Become a Menace to the Community.

If the discipline of the home is what it should be it will effectually prevent children of high school age from indulging in midnight revelry, perilous joy rides, and other dubious festivities. But if that discipline is lacking up to the high school age these uncontrolled youngsters become a menace to the institution, and to the community at large, well managed homes which must suffer because of the influence upon decent and well-respecting pupils.—Detroit News.

Smith gave a most interesting paper on "Ancient Christmas and Twelfth Night Customs" illustrated with cards. One note worthy custom, "Freedom" started 3 with a flourish, the initial chapter being written by Mrs. Edwards. Next month Miss Wood will talk on "Food for Children" and the second chapter of the serial will be written by Mrs. Taggart.

ALMIGHTY VOICE
Some New Sidelights on the History of This Famous Indian Outlaw.

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

Some twenty years ago, more or less, our scattered settlement was thrown into a great state of excitement with the shooting of a Northwest Mounted Policeman by an Indian, about fourteen miles west of where Melfort now stands. This was the first mention of Almighty Voice, that famous outlaw, who kept this section of Saskatchewan in an uproar for a couple of years. This young Indian was a Sauteaux of the Duck Lake band, and was for his swift running. He was imprisoned at Duck Lake by the Mounties, pending trial on the supposed theft of a gun; broke jail that night, crossed the south branch of the Saskatchewan through drifting ice, secured a pony, cart and single barrelled gun from some of the Indians living on the attack north towards Fort la Corne, a young woman accompanying him.

The police were on the track next morning, and the sergeant (as ex Lieutenant-Governor Forget will remember) interpreter, caught him up just about where the village of Beatty now stands. The Indian stopped his pony, got out, knelt down and holding up his right hand, called out "Stop, or I will shoot!" Bravely the old soldier rode the outlaw down, but a single shot from the latter settled him, with an empty gun and a mounted police horse, the opportunity for Mr. Metis to capture both. But alas he tossed tell and rode back as hard as he could left to Fort Carlton that famous scout who was living up the river with a back-board, and who was a terror both to the settler's house, waiting for their return with their prisoner. If just had been along, Mr. Almighty Voice's career would have ended right there, for the sergeant was greatly beloved by his comrades.

The winter passed and small bodies of police were constantly traversing the district, visiting Indian camps and scattered homes, but without success, though rumors were plentiful as blackberries in regard to his whereabouts. The outlaw had swarm he never would be taken alive, and started to his Indian friends that he was innocent of the crime he was imprisoned for. His success in eluding the Mounted Police and also securing one or two of the nets in civilian search parties had made him a hero in the eyes of his countrymen, and there was no doubt he constantly received food, shelter and ammunition from the various Indian camps, for after all blood is thicker than water.

About a year after his escape, one of Kinistin's sons called at my house and from whom I had formed a friendship of my sole but patience and said for goodness sake ask what that Indian wants and get rid of him. I was no longer engaged in the fur trade, as my farm and cattle kept me busy, but I still kept up my interest in the Indians. Coming to open-a-quo-nip on the lake, we sat down for a good smoke, that grand preliminary to all peace parleys. Finally, I said "My brother, something is troubling you; tell me all, and relieve your heart." His face lighted up, and laying his hand on my breast he thanked me and said, "Oh, my brother, how good it was that when my Father was dying he told us all that for the first and only time in his life I had taken a white man for his son and a brother to his children." I agreed with him, but we were strangers in the country, though I half suspected his errand.

Presently a quo-nip then proceeded: "This is very bad having soldiers constantly riding our tents looking for the one who has done wrong. (It is very seldom an Indian will mention the name of his friend, it is a good thing having this man wandering from tent to tent)"

"No, I do not," was my reply.

"Do you remember how you made all our band promise not to take the law into their own hands when the white men began to come in, and how I was the only one who stood up to the face and I ran for my gun with only the thought of revenge in my heart? Then you came to me and came back to me and I caught a pony and rode after you and took your gun from right out and saw justice was done for the Indian as well as the white?"

"I remember well, my brother. You did well, but don't forget after you had the gun in your hand it was your good reasoning that kept the peace-pe-tuck made to me."

"True, and this Almighty Voice is our cousin, but he is wrong. He kills an innocent man and wounded two others. Some day the Indians will join him and there will be more bloodshed. It would be a good thing to get him. I have heard of your success in the past, and I would be glad if you could get him."

"Well, if there is a good reward, you and I could easily do it," and he then detailed his scheme, which was that I was to start trading again in the fall, and he would be my sympathizer. I finally consented to write the Commissioner of the Mounted Police and report results to him.

To Equalize Railway Rates

Proposes Conference to Prepare Case For Railway Commission.

Calgary, Alta.—To discuss the equalization of railway rates between the east and the west, and to prepare a case in support of equalization for presentation to the Railway Commission, a conference of representatives of the Boards of Trade of the four western provinces, to be held in Vancouver at the end of January or the beginning of February was proposed in a telegram received by J. H. Hanna, secretary of the Calgary Board of Trade, from the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Woman Speaker in B.C. House.

Victoria.—As a result of a bi-election meeting here, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, who headed the poll in Vancouver at the provincial election December 1, will be tendered the speakership of the British Columbia Legislature. From the time of the announcement of Mrs. Smith's great plurality it was on the cards that the government proposed to recognize the lady's wide popularity and service in the house.

Toronto Has Crime Epidemic.

Toronto.—"We have an epidemic of housebreaking, burglary and highway robbery," said Judge Coatsworth, "and we have to stamp it out." Therupon he sentenced Frank McCarthy, of Montreal, and Henry Morgan, of this city, to the penitentiary for five years for housebreaking.

New York.—$50,000 for Irish communities for relief in Ireland has been voted by the Board of Aldermen here, $30,000 to be used for immediate relief in Belfast and Cork.

Eggs from China

Tons of Chinese Eggs Arrive at Vancouver for Use in Confectionery.

Vancouver.—Three days behind schedule owing to heavy gales off the British Columbia coast, the C.P.O.S. steamship Royal Mail Liner, Empress of Russia, has docked here from Oriental ports. The steamer had a full list of passengers.

Included in her cargo were 438 tons of Chinese eggs, 285 tons of which are for use in confectionery and 150 tons for local consumption. The vessel also has 603 tons of silk and 2,000 tons of general cargo.

Berlin.—At the burial of the former Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, took place in the Rosengarten Cemetery at Hohenfinow. The funeral rites were of the simplest nature and the interment took place in the presence of the villagers, the employees of the estate, numerous officials and political associates of the former chancellor.

The Hague.—The Dutch government refused to grant the extradition to Belgium of Professor De Veuster formerly Minister of Ghent University, who has been a political refugee. Professor De Veuster is accused as a leading "activist" in the Flemish separation movement during the war.

No Grain from Russia

Canadian Grain Growers Have Little to Fear From Competition in This Direction.

Ottawa.—That the grain growers of the Dominion have little to fear from the competition of Russia in the immediate future, is indicated in a report received from the office of the Canadian Trade Commissioner at Milan. It appears that in Italy and other European countries, much was expected through negotiations with the co-operative institute of Russia, but only one shipload of Russian grain has arrived yet in any Italian port. This amounted to less than four thousand tons and much of the cargo was reported to be in bad condition.

There is also said to be but little prospect of grain from Russania or Jugo-Slavia finding its way to the European markets in considerable quantities, despite more favorable transportation and exchange rates.

Turks Are Impudent

Turkish Nationalist Leader Sends Insolent Letter to Lloyd George.

Angora, Asia Minor.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, has sent an ironical message to Lloyd George thanking the British Government through the Prime Minister for "assisting" the Nationalists from Constantinople. In fact it was Mustapha Kemal Pasha points out, by refusing to surrender arms and military rifles and considerable war materials which the Armenians, he says, surrendered to the Nationalists after the peace treaty they had concluded.

The National Assembly here has created a new military rank of field marshal of the Turkish army, in recognition of its services.

Thinks Situation is Hopeless

Von Tirpitz is Very Pessimistic Over German Situation.

Munich.—Admiral Von Tirpitz, who was the German naval secretary for the Kaiser, says that the Allies will not believe "a kindly fate will give Germany 200 years to recover, in after the present war because of unending fear of hostile nations."

He names this forecast in an article written for a Southern German publication. He says Germany's situation is hopeless, and that the United States alone of the United States were entirely loyal, urging that they take part in the purchase and development of world oil supplies.

The California issues added to the accusation the charge that Great Britain is "secretly and openly" appealing for United States aid during the war, declaring her "luck was to the wall," was being refused by other countries. With this charge, Senator Phelan coupled another to the effect that Great Britain had obtained four billion dollars in loans from the United States and used the money in an endeavor to acquire a monopoly of the world oil supply.

Million Unpaid in Certificates

Many Participation Certificates Issued By Canadian Wheat Board $9.33 Still Outstanding.

Winnipeg.—Approximately $1,000,000 worth of participation certificates issued by the Canadian Wheat Board are still not outstanding, although they were supposed to be redeemed for payment by December 31, 1920, according to the Winnipeg Tribune.

Many of these certificates have been allowed to lapse they are now invalid. Persons who have not claimed the amounts coming to them on the above certificates are said to be foreigners, who have returned to their native countries, or persons who have failed in signing any government documents. In most cases the value of the certificates is small, the largest one of record amounts to $300.

"Red" Agitators In Australia.

Hamilton, Ont.—It is said that Sir Rider Haggard has been trying to set up some sort of employment to make a demonstration in force.

The scheme is not completed, but in this city recently, extensive enquiries were made looking to mines by men out of work.

Secret service officials have been at work for some time on the case, and the apparent attempt to organize such forces to assist an outbreak of lawlessness in the event of a strike is causing considerable uneasiness.

Plot to Blow Up Tower of London.

London.—A plot to blow up that section of the Tower of London where the crown jewels are stored, with time fuse bombs was discovered, according to the Daily Herald, during a recent raid of certain Sinn Fein premises.

Are for Disarmament

Prominent Canadians Express Their Opinion on World Disarmament Question.

New York.—Four big Canadians asked for their opinion on an agreement for disarmament between England, United States and Japan, by the New York World, are direct in their replies that the three great powers concerned should make special efforts to cut down the expenditure in the interests of the world's peace. Sir Sam Hughes would use civilization slowly, and it would be folly, he says, to scrap or nothing by another world conflict.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, Sir H. Drayton, Sir Allen and Professor Leacock are the ones who expressed identical opinions with the following.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, says: "I am for disarmament."

Tail Twisting Senator

Member of U.S. House Would Cut Off British Oil Supply.

Washington.—Great Britain was accused of "twisting the lion's tail" by Senator Phelan, Democrat, California, in speaking in the senate on Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, had advocated cutting off the British supply of United States oil unless the owners of the United States were assured equal rights with other nations in the purchase and development of world oil supplies.

The California senator added to his accusation the charge that Great Britain is "secretly and openly" appealing for United States aid during the war, declaring her "back was to the wall," was being refused by other countries. With this charge, Senator Phelan coupled another to the effect that Great Britain had obtained four billion dollars in loans from the United States and used the money in an endeavor to acquire a monopoly of the world oil supply.

Rumors Are Heard Of Other Plans For Marketing of Wheat

Winnipeg.—The staff correspondent of the Manitoba Free Press at Ottawa sends the following Despatch for publication:

The air down here is thick with rumors of proposals to amend the one proposed by the farmers having met the only one on the topic by the Government. One rumor is to the effect that someone has thought a way to smooth down the Farmers' scheme and that it is not making progress. Be that as it may, the rumors are of additional interest at this juncture, indeed, one of them is known to have a basis in fact and that is the board of grain commissioners have definitely proposed to the government that a change be made in the lines of the farmers' board be established as a department in the government service, and that the head of the new department be the chief of the commission.

The rumor, any scheme of the kind would have to be worked out as far as the Farmers are concerned, as they will be in control of any department or section of a department under the government going out after the crop year. The present board of grain commissioners have been given so far to suppose to the Farmers' board, and the latter has been a heavy charge on the board of grain commissioners. Mr. Crerar, the Premier, who is credited with proposing or having in a general sitting agreed to the proposal that the board of grain commissioners be abolished, looked up with a body as an integral part of the machinery of the trade, as the board of grain commissioners, but on the other hand, that the Farmers' board be made a part of the machinery of a number of railway might be provided to enable farmers to secure cars more easily and more advantageously for the marketing of their grain. The Farmers' board would probably be made in the nature of a grain board, than a pool with this wide difference, that the farmers would be free to sell through the agency in any as they see fit. It would in effect mean the government's

Elaborate Opening of Parliament Planned for Northern Ireland

Hope to Obtain Consent of the King to Proceed to Belfast

London.—Elaborate preparations are now in progress for the opening of the parliament for Northern Ireland by the King, according to the Belfast correspondent of the Daily Mail. It is hoped to obtain the consent of the King to personally open the first session of the new parliament, but should the visit of the King be unable to be personally arranged, the opening will be performed by commissioners appointed by the King.

The correspondent adds that meeting the Ulster Parliament is a fairly early date, as it was in the year that the premiers will be sent to Southern Ire-

Some New Highlights on the History of This Famous Indian Outlaw.

The reply came in due course, and after the usual official verbiage, the pith of it was that the prisoner had escaped from the Northwest Mounted Police and they were quite capable of capturing him without any outside assistance. On the Indian's next visit I repeated this to him and he at once dropped the scheme. Also three or four more men were killed or wounded before he was finally disposed of.

Time went on and I had occasion to visit Kinistino, going by Mount Nelson, that splendid farm lately owned by Thos. Sanderson, ex-M.L.A. There I met a famous little Mounty mighty well known and ranging alongside, but I did not on trains or stations, "Almighty Voice" was mixed up in a bad way. FARMERS WHITEWASH FIREMEN

In a game which furnished some exciting plays the Farmers succeeded in blanketing the Vermilion Firemen in the third match of the little three-team hockey league on the Vermilion ice on Tuesday evening last. The score was 9 to 0 and seemed to have been accomplished without any stupendous effort on the part of the aggregation. The Firemen played an open, individual, grand stand performance while the Farmers went in for combination, fast skating, marvelous persistency in following the elusive disc. Until the Firemen can work out a better system of combination and acquire a more dexterous form of shooting, the score is apt to be adverse. They can do all this without killing themselves— the material is there and only requires development. The agriculturists were in fine shape and had evidently received some very pregnant coaching since the last game with Vegreville or even the Firemen on New Year's night. They ate fast skaters, combine well and seem to know the right moment when to go in for a score. They made several shots, however, Tuesday evening, they had no license to make had the Firemen been on to their jobs. As it was the game was a good one and both teams worked splendidly, giving the large crowd of spectators say amount of excitement for the evening's performance.

Vegreville Win From Firemen 5 Goals to 3

New Hockey Rules Introduced at Tuesday's Game Witnessed by Large Crowd of Fans

In the Little League series, Vegreville made their first win when they took Tuesday evening's game away from the Vermilion Firemen by a score of 5 goals to 3. The game on the whole was good at at times quite fast. The visitors were faster skaters and their combination was better. The Firemen showed some improvement over their last game as they squared to keep on to the disc and to work out a better combination. There was a good deal of dissatisfaction with both the referee and judge of plays. The former was from Edmonton and whom he learned hockey it is difficult to say unless it was at some summer resort in winter. The latter came in from Vegreville and naturally was not absolutely impartial There were two goals scored by Vegreville from off-side plays. These were both noticed by the Standard man and no doubt by spectators as well. In one of the periods the Firemen shot a goal into the back of their opponents' net. It rebounded back on the ice and was allowed to go unnoticed. Unless the rules have been changed the puck has not necessarily to remain in the goal net to count. The Firemen should have claimed the goal at least but it should have been given them by the goal judge and lastly, by the referee if he knew anything about hockey.

NEXT OF KIN AND WAR VETERANS TO HOLD BIG DANCE

Date is Set for Friday, Feb. 4th in School of Agriculture, Vermilion

All arrangements are now completed for the big dance to be held in the School of Agriculture on Friday, February 4th, under the joint auspices of those two popular associations, the Next of Kin and Great War Veterans. We understand that no time, pains or expense will be spared in making the dance a huge success and if the previous efforts of the Directors of these two associations are considered the dance is destined to be over the top.

Patrons will be assured of a tasty collation as the important item of the programme is again in the capable hands of the ladies of the Next of Kin, who have on every previous occasion succeeded in making the lunch a special feature of enjoyment to all.

The floor is, and the music will be right, best that can be procured and with a goodly turnout the committee in charge are satisfied that one and all can look forward with anticipation to the night of the 4th.

The members of the Women's Institute will be at home to their friends and friends on St. Valentine's evening, Feb. 14th at the Agricultural Hall. Progressive and dancing. A good time promised. Young people under 16 admitted. Admission 75c.

A Problem For Town and Country

Shifting of Population From Country to Town.

The town has conquered in the rural decline The shifting of population from country to town and the transfer of labor from farm to factory have gone far beyond the normal and economical limits, and have become a menace to the national welfare. Being both a capitalist and a workingman, the farmer is fated to understand the reasonable demands of both wings of society, and be agreed that great wealth cannot be the legitimate gains of idleness and thrift alone, but is the result of trading, speculation or of profiting by other men's labor. There is great need for industrial schools to offset the present drift which, if stemmed, will result in all labor having to be imported. The land in the cities and country and to operate it will be given by the townspeople. The men in the town can make the approach with more ease and confidence, and I feel it must be the business men of the railway [illegible] Rotarian, Secretary Agricultural College.

First Use Of Forks

Royal Guest Gives Account of Dinner In 1374.

Forks five cents' loss use in 1374, at a dinner given by Henry III. of France. Here is an account by a Royal lady guest: "The guests were brought the meat with their fingers but with forks, which they carried to their mouths, handling their necks and bodies over their plates.

"There were several salads. These they ate with forks, for it is not considered proper to touch the food with the fingers. However difficult it may be to manage it, it is thought better to put the little forked instrument in the mouth than the fingers.

"The sprouted asparagus grass of beans were brought. It was a pleasure to watch them try to eat these with their forks for some, who never saw it, or, in the others, dropped as many on their plates and on the cloth as they were able to put in their mouths.

"Afterwards a great silver basin and ewer of water were brought, and the guests washed their hands, though several as at three would not be in need of meat and grease as on these forks had touched their food now with those forked instruments."

Saskatchewan's Wheat Average Smaller

Is Now Placed at 113,135,274 Bushels By Final Report.

A total of 113,135,274 bushels of wheat were produced in Saskatchewan during 1920 according to the final crop statement issued by the statistics branch of the department of agriculture. This is an increase of 21,445,909 bushels on the 1919 crop.

The crop was below the average in quality but not as good as expected earlier in the season, the yield averaging 11.2 bushels an acre as compared with the estimate of 14.5 bushels. In 1919 the yield was 9.5 bushels an acre. The yield was materially reduced by the dry hot weather in July. The total acreage cultivated for 1920 was 10,061,000 as compared with 10,-387,363 acres in the previous year.

The prospects this year seems are slightly in the late June at 25.5, period for several years. The land is in better conditions than it has been for years owing to heavy rains during the fall. The rainfall was the best since 1911 when the province had a record year.

Mr. McCurdy stated that the Prime Minister was anxious to assist Canada in every possible way, and would welcome Canadian manufactured goods. Mr. McCurdy stated that Canada was the best market in the world for Canadian manufactures, and that Britain was a huge producer of raw materials. The Premier was very much pleased with the results of the conference, and was of the opinion that the Canadian people would be pleased with the results. Mr. McCurdy stated that he had made arrangements which he believed will certainly satisfy Canadian producers. The other agreeable features of Canadian trade from now on, he said, are that Britain will have purchased by the Food Ministry, be added and Canadian bacon in future would take over the whole output. Mr. McCurdy stated that the Prime Minister was anxious to assist Canada in every possible way, and would welcome Canadian manufactured goods. Mr. McCurdy stated that Canada was the best market in the world for Canadian manufactures, and that Britain was a huge producer of raw materials. The Premier was very much pleased with the results of the conference, and was of the opinion that the Canadian people would be pleased with the results.

A Mathematical Wonder

Albert Mar Brown 11 months a pupil in Parry Sound Continuation.

Why shall my that to a prospector that the so-called barren lands of the far north will yet become one of the chief mining fields of the world? With people in all to be ridiculed, who started out to demonstrate the mineral possibilities of the plan.

Canada's territory one of the richest countries in the world, as possessing to-day known. Its area is not more than seven hundred square miles, and Ontario over as to one hundred square miles. Ontario's mining province through which a railway transcontinental roads now run and on the northern shore of the Great Lakes. These provinces are only a little more than a fringe of Canada's wealth. The undeveloped area is now coming into a state of development. Ontario's mineral wealth is in timber and water powers will be developed and made available for electricity for years, still enormously in the wealth and the possessions of the Dominion. Sir Edmund Walker Sounds Warning to Curb Extravagant Spending Habits.

A call for sanity of action to meet the exceptional and not encouraging outlook of the coming year, was sounded by Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the annual meeting of that institution here early. Sir Edmund, after a detailed review of trade and financial conditions, summed up his address with the following.

"Among the light and shadows of the world there are at no moment too many shadows to warrant any such feeling. The problem that is heard from the general consensus, the meeting with the greatest care, early investment moulding and even the feeling having been exaggerated has caused the employers having obtained plaster casts, photographs and other details of the original before ending the work.

A Plowing Year

Suggestion Made by Vice President of the British National Farmers' Union.

An admirable suggestion has been made by one of the correspondents of the Royal Agricultural Society to the effect that this year should be made a plowing year. During the war of notable work was done by farmers throughout the country by the conversion of old pastures into cornbearing lands, but many of them are now laying this land down again to grass with a consequent decrease in the corn crop in Britain.

The suggestion is that the King should note a furrow on his own farm at Sandringham, and that the inspectors then given would promote the beginning of a great plowing year. The King has, of course, helped to plow a field before today, and if he could be persuaded to put his hand to the plow again it would set the farmers a fine example which he would be useless to follow.

Phantom Herd Found

The phantom herd of the north has been found. For years a tradition of a great herd of buffalo somewhere in the Mackenzie River basin has lingered among the fur posts. Indians told of sighting it blackening the wild pastures of remote valley No. white men had seen it. But trappers had chanced upon big trampled trails and ten years ago two mighty bulls wrangled for from their fellows and were killed. An engineer who has returned from five months of explorations in the Mackenzie country, reports, he says from Indians, that another herd equally as large exists further north. Canada has the largest house herd in the world in the National Park at Wainwright. It numbers 4,331. With the exception of silvery animals that still live in untamed freedom in the northern fastnesses of Yellowstone Park the Mackenzie River herds are the only wild buffalo left on the continent.

Development in Aircraft

A Screw Propelled Flying Machine Now a Possibility.

It is by no means certain that the successful air craft of the future will be the familiar conditions, or even the dirigible balloon. Some aeronautic experts believe that the commercial air craft of the future will be some form of helicopter. Within a few days a noted inventor, Petr Cooper Hewitt, has succeeded in building a helicopter model that actually rose from the ground and flew for a distance of one hundred yards. Some months of this have been done in the air craft. Another one I flew for two minutes, and it is said that it actually carried a passenger. The four mechanical contrivances are steam boats. It will be recalled, were built on very different principles from the models which lately were flown, and it is within the range of possibilities that the next air cruise trip of the flying craft. A wonderful opportunity for invention is thus opened to our ingenuity. Boy's Life

Viscount Grey Believes Another War Would Destroy Civilization

Viscount Grey, speaking the fourteen of the city of Glasgow recently, told his audience he preferred the alleged Utopianism of the League of Nations to the certainty of destruction that another war would bring.

Referring to the events of August, 1914, Lord Grey said that one of the things that contributed to the unanimity of the country was that the Cabinet was able to come before the Parliament and say it had made no secret engagement behind the backs of the people.

"It is essential," he continued, "that there should not be another war, and to avoid that we must see that there does not grow up again in Europe the state of things that enabled before 1914—a state of alliance and counter alliance and competition in armaments."

He agreed that there should be no secret treaties. He had made some, but that was in time of war, when they were inevitable, like other objectionable things. If war came again secret treaties would become untenable. He said this country should maintain closest possible relations with her allies, and especially France and Italy.

"I will say nothing about the United States for the moment," he said, "because they are waiting for the declaration of policy from their newly elected President. Until that policy is declared I think any attempt to anticipate what line the United States may take, and, still more, any attempt to influence that line would be perfectly futile and probably mischievous."

What one absolutely necessary was to keep some council of the nations together, keep them in touch and watch for any tendency to competition in armaments. When any one nation has begun to force the pace in the competition of armaments, but the council of the nations prevent that competition growing up once more. To be able to do that there must be something to keep the nations in touch and together, because it is in the beginning of those things that effective action can be

"Some people say that be a League of Nations there will not be any necessary," he added, "but I am convinced that if you have another war twenty years hence, it will be a far worse, than this war. It will be infinitely worse, and there would be a certainty that it would engage the whole of the civilized world. There would be no limit to the area of the war. Even the remotest parts of the earth would be involved. Some Lord Grey's views received a national and not a party one. A vote of thanks to the Government, however, would be the general feeling of the audience.

Ancient Armor

It a Metal Garment Were Made for the Knights of Old.

Armor, armor, armor! A complete knight's outfit, exclusive of equipment, might weigh the best part for an ounce as 81 lbs., which was a good average allowance. Bascinet greaves, however, had their own peculiarities, and sometimes ran into such metal garments. The common soldiery were in battle with nothing better than leather jerkins and steel caps. Recently samples were taken from a Scottish Pictish graves and put through a practical and commercial examination by experts in order to find out something about how the steel was made. It was found that all the armor was found were made from very pure wrought iron, converted in no small by the old "cementation" process. The original iron was produced from that our modern wrought iron. It was co-hooked, hammered into sheets and the sheets welded together. The whole was then hammered into shape while heated and plunged into water thus producing the final hardening.

"YOUR TEETH"

If the ordinary processes of nature were never interfered with, it would not be necessary to extract the temporary teeth. They would extract themselves at the proper time. Normally the roots are absorbed as the time comes for the erection of the permanent teeth and the crown, or business end of the tooth is left hanging to the gum. Some day a little extra pressure removes the baby tooth and in its place there is the top of the way of the permanent tooth that follows. If this natural system was always followed, a great deal of trouble would be avoided. Unfortunately many causes operate to interfere with nature's perfect plan.

If the permanent tooth does not come directly under the temporary tooth the all-important root will be either misemplaced or it will not start at all. Sometimes long after the temporary teeth have disappeared entirely and if none was removed to perform this office it is made to extract. Then the root places are left to wonder at the process between the permanent teeth, but no condition always results in inflammation, sometimes causes serious abscesses, and often interferes with the efficient and permanent location of the proper place in the arch.

Figures in the results of neglect in this detail need never be left in your mouth.

Temporary teeth that are decayed should always be removed regardless of the age of the child. When there is a tooth or teeth that has been lost, the permanent successor to that tooth should always be supplied by a bridge or plate.

"Here Comes The Bride!"

Everybody wishes her well! Happy and radiant she starts out on life's adventure. She should have health to begin with. Good looks in a woman do not depend upon age, but upon health.

I am never seen a good-looking woman who looked run-down, tired, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness. It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

TORONTO, ONT.—"Less than a year ago I was in a very poor state of health; my back ached dreadfully and I could scarcely drag myself around to do my housework. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I cannot praise it too highly for the great benefit I received. My backache soon disappeared entirely and I soon was restored to perfect health. I have also found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best woman's medicine, for I have used others that were recommended, and nothing has ever done me so much as the Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. KATHLEEN WHELLEY, 15 Brock Street.

Vegreville Take Hard Tumble to Farmers

Several Games Staged Here During Week

Farmers Sustain 2nd Defeat of Season - Firemen Did It

The Vermilion Farmers stayed in the running in the championship of the league by defeating the Vegreville team 4 to 3 on the ice here on Friday night in a rapid-fast hockey contest. The score was 3 to 1, and the difference between the scores just about displays the run of the game.

The agriculturalists were at the top of the form and proved that they deserved all the good things said about them in the last few weeks. Most of the seven men who represent the town went into the game strong as though their very lives depended upon the issue.

Monday night on the ice we see the Vermilion Firemen annex a well earned victory over the famous Farmers aggregation, which we were all, beginning to think had reached the immovable stage, when they won out in a hard fought game by a score of 3 to 2.

Wednesday night Lloydminster intermediates met the local team here and lost out by a score of 1 to nil. In spite of the one-sided nature of the result the play throughout was good.

In a game here Saturday afternoon the Invincibles drew from a sensational game in the Pipestone hockey league. The final tally was Invincibles 3, Diamonds 2. The visitors are a fast aggregation.

The Scouts also entered a contest doubling on the town Jazzers on Wednesday afternoon, putting it over to the tune of 10 goals to 0. The Scouts during the week met both the town Girls team and the High School Girls team, winning from each of them.

P.O. Pilkie, who had his face badly burned when his house took fire is recovering nicely. Pain in that range caused by hot air, are also passing off.

Britain Is Still Retaining the Lead In the Naval Race

What Washington officials claim to be complete information as to the relative naval strength of the principal world powers is now in possession of the United States Government. Whether it will be presented to the senate foreign relations committee in connection with that body's consideration of proposals looking to world disarmament, has not been declared.

The information has been supplied in the form of tables which show that Great Britain is a power a double that of the United States and that although the British program of new capital ships will practically have been overcome by the United States with the completion in 1923, of the United States' building program, the United States navy will still be greatly superior in types of vessels which naval officers regard as extremely important, notably destroyers, leaders, cruisers and light cruisers, cruising submarines and airplane carriers.

The United States navy today, according to this information, has more than double the strength of the Japanese navy, and that ratio will be maintained even when the completion of the building program of the latter is known. The United States will be far superior in point of capital ships, but also is decidedly superior in destroyers, leaders, cruisers and light cruisers.

Japan, however, will have double the number of light cruisers, now completed and under construction, than the United States has, and will have eight others projected, while the United States has only one projected and only six building. Whether reference to recent fleet ships, of which Great Britain has a preponderance in all classes over the United States and Japan, the British navy contains 36 battleships carrying at least ten guns each of 12 inch calibre or larger and displacing 25,000 tons or more.

The United States has 16 battleships, Japan six, France seven and Italy four. Great Britain has also 4 first line battleships under construction, while the United States has 10 and Japan 7. France 4 and Italy 4.

The British navy still retains an edge in battle cruisers, having 9 to the United States' 6 battle cruisers, and Great Britain is also leading in the number of battle cruisers under construction, Japan four and eight projected. France and Italy have no battle cruisers built or building.

In submarines Great Britain leads all other nations by a large margin with Japan second and the United States a close third. The British navy has 40 cruising submarines in its first line, 21 in the second line, and 5 in other categories.

Japan has no submarines over 1,000 tons displacement, while the United States has ten built or under construction of over 2,000 tons displacement. Great Britain has none of this class.

Great Britain is known to be the only nation which has aircraft carriers, having 48 such vessels. Japan has 2 and the United States is constructing a carrier, which will be completed in 1922. Japan has 12 building and Italy four. France and the United States great carrier design are building 22,000 ton vessels, which maintains a preponderance in speed and armored gun rounds of this type. In the first category, however, the British navy has the strongest with 42 in building. United States 260 in service and under construction, Japan 27 both under construction, France 27 with 39 others authorized, France 4 under construction and one building, and Italy 13 in service and 3 authorized.

Although the United States navy is only ranking second in point of power in the matter of capital ships, there is no evidence available of any approach to equality in this branch of naval strength. Britain has 71 first line submarines to Japan's 40 and the United States' 29, and in addition to these personnel, etc., every submarine in the British navy is supervised by mounting a 12 inch gun and another building Against this great undertaking fleet of 165 vessels, the United States could oppose a total of 98 submarines, of all types, of which but 52 were in fleet and 46 second line service ships and 7 in other categories, of no more value than [illegible] submarines. Of the monster submersibles mounting 12 inch guns none have been built and the Japanese have only one of this type, [illegible] are of any such type, [illegible] other nations. Of the 165 submarines in commission types, although about 80 such submarines of all classes have been authorized.

"Old Enough to Know Better" Police Say And Pass On

Ottawa, Jan. 21 — The police will not interfere with women in the federal capital who attempt to be ultra fashionable by wearing extremely short skirts, according to Inspector McLaughlin of the morality squad today. "We can't do a thing so long as her limbs is covered," the Inspector declared. "Any one can walk down Sparks Street or any other street in tights as long as the limbs is covered, and there is no [illegible] to prevent them.

Mr. Blair came here at the request of the board to discuss the matter of opening up the country between here and Provost. A delegation consisting of the officials of the board met Mr. Blair and the afternoon was spent in discussing the matter. At 6:00 o'clock in the evening, at which time all local business men and prominent residents were present. After the banquet Mr. Blair gave a highly interesting address on prevailing conditions of the country generally. Some statistics submitted by him of the large sums were also interesting. "Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

The shape of a tooth is the result of ages of evolution. It would be impossible for us to improve upon the plan of a normal tooth. When decay, or some fool dentistry, puts the contour of a tooth, that contour must be restored if the tooth is to do its work well and remain a desirable neighbor in the other teeth in the arch, and to the gums. After the cavity is shaped right, the dentist thoroughly dries and sterilizes it and places the filling material so that every part of the cavity is exactly filled. Then he builds the filling to simulate the original shape of the tooth. Every little line and every ridge and cusp is duplicated. The margins of the filling are so carefully and closely approximated that the cavity is hermetically sealed. The most difficult place to shape and finish a filling is at the place where the two teeth touch. If a filling should be left rough or it should become roughened from wear, it becomes a serious danger to the health of the mouth because it retains food particles. If there is not much space between the teeth, or there is a projecting filling or a rough tooth area, dangerous pockets are formed in which food particles lodge and ferment. Have your dentist show you how to keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

FARMERS WIN FROM VARSITY

Edmonton City Champions Fell Before Terrific Attacks

FARMERS 2 - VARSITY 0

The University of Alberta, women of the Edmonton senior city league, went down to defeat in the first game of the semi-final round for the A.A.H.A. championship played at the arena rink here this Wednesday night, when the Vermilion Farmers, champions of the Little Three League, won the most spectacular game of hockey ever played here by a score of 2 goals to Varsity's 0. The attendance broke all records and it is estimated that the record exceeded seven hundred. By this victory the Farmers have added to their fame by demonstrating they can travel in the fastest company and get the big end of the score. With a 2 goal lead they meet Varsity at the south side rink, Edmonton, Friday night in the final game, total goals determining the winners. Those who witnessed the play tonight are confident that the boys from the farm will have the odds in their favor for cinching the round.

If the Farmers are successful in defeating the students, they will figure on a sudden death game against the Calgary contenders, as this contest will be held at the south side rink, Edmonton, on Wednesday of next week.

Both weather gave the teams heavy ice, particularly so in the first. and. Rowland, who started for the Farmers, notched the first and only goal of the game.

With the ice scraped, the second period saw the hardest and fastest play of the game, neither side however scored. In the earlier part of the last period, Pitkethly tied the net for the Farmers' second goal. Varsity made repeated attempts to get through but the home team's defence was adamant and when the tocsin sounded no further change in the score had taken place. Jos Bisset acted as referee and Finch Drayton, president of the A.A.H.A., as judge of play, gave entire satisfaction throughout.

Monday night the dispute in the Little Three League was satisfactorily settled when a the game at the opening of the season was played off by order of the district. By mutual agreement the Five. men P.O. the Farmers left no doubts in the public mind as to their right to enter the provincial elimination series. Due to the one-sided nature of the score, the game was fast and interesting. The attendance set a record to that date. Frank McGowan and Roy Marshall of Lloydminster were the officials in charge of the game.

On Friday last the local girls travelled to Vegreville and put it over the team of that town 1-0 in a hard fought contest. The same night at the same place the Vermilion Scouts met the Vegreville Juniors and defeated them 8-1 in what is characterized as a real hockey game. English scored 2 goals and Cooper 1. The return game will be played here Saturday afternoon.

The Vermilion Intermediates journeyed down to Lloydminster last Saturday and attached the fourth straight game from the locals there by a score of 8 to 6. Canton started throughout the game and notched 5 of the visitors goals.

Dispelling Forests

Great Medicinal Tree Disappearing Rapidly From Pacific Coast.

A warning that foreign cutters are despoiling the forests of British Columbia by destroying, root and branch, all the native supplies of the cascara sagrada bush, is being sounded by botanists and timber cruisers interested in preserving the valuable medicinal bush. The highlimber is to be asked at the coming session to pass legislation to preserve this and other valuable barks and herbs from destruction.

The cascara, referred to in botanical works of ten years ago as the "Pacific Coast's great gift to mankind," is said now to be so depleted in Oregon and Washington as the result of reckless gathering that there is no longer any to be found within reach of transportation. Prices have risen from two cents to more than ten cents a pound.

Youth, with its vitality, makes for those young mother's health and happiness. But later, maternal experiences bring a different result. "Sure thing," smiled LaPeer. "All ready, I ask it as meekly as I can if they will come, Darbin. Tonight, sure, will I go down there and speak the word to them alone?"

He held out his hand, and with that quick of Maderdalia, closer than brotherhood, the Frenchman gripped it. Something across alphabet down on Darbin's wrist, and as he turned away his calm, inscrutable face bore an hour which drowned the fierce anger which had wrenched it.

PERFORMANCE OF DAIRY CATTLE

A Holstein cow recently established all Canadian records for yield of milk and percentage of butter fat, according to Report No. 12 issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This report gives the records of performance of 44 pure bred dairy cattle from April 1, 1919, to March 31, 1920. Also the standards of every breed, and a list of bulls qualified for registration. The names of the owners are given, and also those of the sire and dam, the owner, the breeder, age at test, date of calving, production required, total production, percentage of fat, the number of days milked, and, in the majority of cases the number of times milked per day. The Holstein cow is credited to a mature cow's record by the Hays Scott Agricultural College, Tuams, and the best percentage of butter fat for a cow owned in Prince Edward Island. Of the Holsteins, the record yield for the year is credited to a mature cow owned by the Canary Farm, British Columbia, and the best per centage of butter fat to another British Columbian. Of the Jerseys, the first in point of yield is an animal owned at Edgefield, Ontario, while the best percentage of fat is claimed by a three-year-old owned in British Columbia. A four year old Shorthorn owned at Huntingham, Que., claims the record for that breed in quantity of milk, and a two-year-old owned at Waterford, Ont., the highest fat content.

On reaching home I found the Indian had behaved well, as I had a heart to heart talk with him and he avowed him strongly to go back to Nut Lake or Touchwood Hills where he came from. I told him that if he went on, his life was not worth a rush later in the excited state of the settlers they would shoot at anything in the shape of an Indian; if he decided to return I could not give him any ammunition, but I would spare a few rations of flour, tea, sugar and tobacco, also some soaring twine which would set him safely home. His wife joined with me in causing him and family be removed to start back next morning, which he did—to visit Battleford. A short digression may be pardoned here to show that contrary to Yankee opinion) even Indians will show gratitude; in fact I have known most instances of them doing so, and this is one of them. Pick and, who was engaged in thawing out the oil pipes with a torch when the fire started, was very severely burned. He was taken to the Municipal Hospital where he is getting along favorably.

Next month Mrs. Wright will give her demonstration in music. The annual "At Home" [illegible] on St. Valentine's night was very well attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather and altogether a very enjoyable affair. Shower of Meteors Probable in June

Any Person Who Is Afraid Should Move to Southern Hemisphere.

Dr. Cromwell has been engaged in computing the probable path of the comet Pons Winnecke, which is expected to approach very near the earth next June. His estimate of the position and passage is June 17, with no uncertainty of ten days one way or the other. The particulars distant it is to be seen at the end of June, and if the comet could manage to postpone its perihelion passage until June 28, the earth might stand a chance of escaping by it. In any case the comet is probably the smallest of any known planet of an excessive power of attraction to be associated with the sun. At the last passage, in 1916, the meteoric showers were seen probably to the comet.

Dr. Cromwell in his reason to think that the comet is really the same as that discovered in 1819. Anybody who is afraid of a collision between the earth and the comet need only refer to the southern hemisphere.

"Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

"YOUR TEETH"

Race Degeneration.

By Rex Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Editor Oral Hygiene.

As we read history and we notice the rise and fall of nations, we realize that at certain periods of their greatness, when their governments have had the greatest vigor and their foreign commerce has been pushed to the ends of the known world, and when the armies have stood victorious in the capitols of their enemies, it would seem that no power would ever be able to rise and to overthrow them.

In many cases the fall of a nation has been caused by a powerful enemy, but more frequently has been the result of a gradual degeneration in the physical and mental qualifications of the people who constitute the race.

It is now certain the glories of ancient Greece and their marvelous physical development, and their wonderful energy, their artistic minds and their artistic instincts, and then wonderful mind brought them to the low level that they have occupied for the last thousand years, you will find that it concerned the breeding habits of the people and it was nothing else. Their men and women were clads of moderate size and of a very low order of intelligence. Their women were really beautiful women. It was a true kind of woman that they had. Their men were not. Their women were large and strong and healthy and beautiful and their men were small and weak and puny. The consequence was that the race degenerated.

Milch Cows For B.C.

Large numbers of milch cows will be purchased in Canada and the United States for distribution throughout the dairy districts of British Columbia, if plans which at present are being considered by the British Columbia Dairymen's Association are approved. It is estimated that there is a shortage of at least a hundred thousand cows in the province, also that it is a practice to send fat cows to market among new settlers.

Concert A Success

The concert held in the parish hall of the English church on Feb. 21st was a great success. The programme consisted of a very musical one and from the hearty encores given each went with the audience. The most taking part were Mesdames Beers, Warren, Fielding, Cottam; Misses Ruthven and Masters; Messrs Cottam, L. McLean, L. Watts, J. Brennan and Father and Rev. J. H. Smith.

The short sketch given about the middle of the program, went well. It demonstrated the straight evening out of a bogalow lodge at a wedding rehearsal, the characters were also taken by Mesdames Warren and Beers, and Messrs J. Bateman and Don Taylor.

The proceeds of this concert were devoted to repairing the foundations of the church and the Standard is informed that sufficient money was raised to complete the job. Mrs Bateman, who was responsible for getting the concert, wishes to thank those who helped make it such a success.

Good home made bread is the most palatable, wholesome and nourishing food in the world. It is far more economical than any other staple food. If people would eat less meat and other heavy foods they would feel better and help to keep down the cost of living. Bread made in the home with Royal Yeast Cakes is more nourishing than any other. Nothing healthier for children and grown ups.

Scientists have discovered that yeast possesses remarkable curative powers due to its richness in vitamines—that by its use the blood is purified and enriched, and the resistive power of the body to disease greatly enhanced. Soak a cake of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of lukewarm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak over night and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Repeat as often as desired. Send name and address for free booklet entitled "Royal Yeast for Better Health."

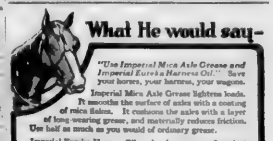
What He would say—



"Use Imperial Mica Axle Grease and Imperial Eureka Harness Oil." Save your horses, your harness, your wagons.

Imperial Mica Axle Grease lightens loads. It smooths the surface of axles with a coating of mica flakes. It cushions the axles with a layer of long wearing grease, and materially reduces friction. Use half as much as you would of ordinary grease.

Imperial Eureka Harness Oil makes harness proof against dust, sweat and moisture. Keeps it soft and pliable. Prevents cracking and breaking of stitches. It preserves the life of harness and adds greatly to its appearance. Is easily applied and surprisingly economical.

Both are sold in convenient sizes by dealers everywhere.

A Story of the Sea

Is Unique Among the After-the-War Narratives

In a great many ways Mr. Arthur Judd Hood's book, "A Merchant Hero at War," is unique among the books of the war narratives. In the first place as a record, it takes no consideration as to be absolutely accurate, of the war actors' and it's untold experience. For instance, on page 103 of the second of several extracts we quote certain passages which we open. Consider, for example, this extract from page 103

"It was on March 7, 1917, exactly o'clock in the evening of the Thracian, Captain R. Anchell, which on a voyage with coal from Baltimore to Archangel, took an night and without warning, having only one minute's warning, was sunk by a mine, that one board were left with no possible chance of saving their lives and it was only by a miracle that Cadet Douglas Duff, a boy of his years of age, was able to tell the tale. He recovered consciousness in the water clinging for awhile to some floating debris of a capsized lifeboat, to the keel of which some half dozen of the crew were clinging for dear life. All the others were drowned. Then suddenly, probably about twenty minutes after the explosion, a destroyer came on the scene, picked up the survivors and steamed off at full speed in search of the submarine. Shortly afterwards a shell was fired and a second—then a third—exploded in the water. Shoot and be damned to you!" It seems to us that all the romantic stories of the sea that ever were told, from Avalanche to Treasure Bay contain no greater thrill than this." Halifax Herald

Premier Stewart took his seat in the legislature Monday afternoon as A. W. Ellison, member for Vermilion, was also able to attend for the first time on the same day and hopes to be on hand for the remainder of the session. Both have been evidently ill for some time past.

At the monthly meeting of the board of trade on Monday evening, J. P. Harvey, C.E., was authorized to make an estimate of the cost of the proposed diversion of the road into town from the north to overcome the very steep hill to the creamery. A resolution was also passed in favor of having the post office open at 6 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock as at present, and further that during the half holidays in June, July and August the office be closed along with the business places in town so as to accord the staff them the same privileges as are enjoyed by other employees.

J. J. Fleming, owner of the Fleming line of drug stores has purchased the confectionery business of C. J. Benford and will move into the new premises as soon as renovation is completed. Mr. Benford will go on the road for the Reyn' Fruit Company of Edmonton. His departure from town will be much regretted. Mr. Benford will visit with her mother at Lacombe for the next few months.

J. P. Harvey was the successful contestant at the whist drive held at the Veterans' Club on Wednesday evening, and landed the bag level cake donated by A. L. Wener. Mr. Harvey, kindly planed the cake at the disposal of the veterans to be sold by auction. R. Woods had the cake knocked down to him for the sum of $8.00.

Rev. Frank Chilton of Zealandia, Saskatchewan, was inducted into the pastoral charge of the Vermilion Presbyterian church on Friday evening of last week, succeeding the Rev. W. S. Burns, who went to Perdue, Sask. a few months ago. Rev. Dr. Long of Vegreville assisted the new pastor giving the charge to the minister. Rev. W. A. Cunningham of Islay delivered the induction sermon and Rev. Mr. Buchanan of Edmonton the charge to the people. There was a large congregation present and special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of F. J. Stanley. After the service the members of the Ladies Aid were at home in the church to the visiting ministers and members of the congregation. Rev. Mr. Chilton was at one time connected with the evangelistic work of the noted evangelist, Gypsy Smith. Mrs. Chilton and children will join him later, they residing for the present at Saskatoon.

At a meeting of the Vermilion Boy Scout Assoc. held this Wednesday night, Dr. Sleght was appointed Assist Scout Master to take charge of the "Cubs", now 14 in number. Secy Cooper was appointed Treas. as well. The Fin'l Statement was adopted as read. A vote of thanks was unanimously extended by the members of the assoc. to Scout Master McClosky for the very able and commendable manner in which he has conducted the Troop for the past year.

Rebellion Days, 1884-85

A couple of hours brought us to Goodfellow's, and here we received the heartiest of welcomes and heard the rather astounding news that the postmaster at Ft. La Corne had shipped down the river, taking his settler's furs, but leaving all goods and ammunition behind with no one to look after them. Goodfellow, though he had retired some years back, was no fire to leave what he had made of the company's property, but he had been alone, as all the surrounding residents had fled likewise. Now, with two of us, we decided to visit the fort next morning and stay the day. We received some very good news also as to a safe escape from the country (but the time for that was not yet) as he had a York boat hidden in a creek, and our united stocks would amply provision us. In addition we had four or five fish nets and plenty of books and ammunition. Her cattle, of which he had a large band were tied fast as to their final disposal, and we finally decided on the score that one of us would have to stay with them with his oldest boy and drive them to a safe retreat in the hills to the east. He was in great spirits over my arrival, and said that we were now good for a regiment of rebels. We made a famous night of it, he telling stories of wintering on the plains amongst the buffalo where they had often to defend the company's property against hostile Indians. And the ladies who saw one another very often in those days eagerly rejoined themselves. Mrs Goodfellow, who was a member of the well known Turner family was the soul of hospitality, and one could down save at once petted and made much of by these fine young ...

Breakfasting early next morning we were on our arms, we drove down to old Ft La Corne, at that time situated on the south bank of the river from the present post and within easy reach of the water, all important supplies coming there by boat at that time. We found a number of Indians very much interested in the valuable goods lying about, but Mr Goodfellow had been master of La Corne for a number of years and no ... ordinarily ordered them all across the Saskatchewan River. Not a word was spoken, but could note that his beard was curling, and finally he said in sharp tone: "What do you want?" With that the ... ader evidently produced a letter to him from Chief Factor Clarke at Prince Albert, asking him to take an inventory of all goods he could find and ship the same down to Cumberland House, further stating that these were loyal French half-breeds and ... sons to get away from the fighting. The letter also informed that a careful copy of the inventory was to be sent up to Mr Clarke by a trustworthy hand. GOOD HEALTH CAN BE YOURS

If Your Blood Supply Is Kept Rich and Red.

It is a matter of fact and many instances, the cause of disease, or the cause of ill health, is traceable to poor blood. When the blood is impoverished, when it is thin and watery, when it lacks the red coloring matter, then the whole body suffers. Pale people, sickly people, people who suffer from any of the ailments which are due to bad blood, should make it their first duty to enrich the blood supply. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been doing this for thousands of people. They are a blood builder and nerve tonic, and they are unsurpassed for the treatment of such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness, kidney disorders, and the ailments of growing girls and women. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

This Organdie Suggests Spring Styles

By Gertrude Beresford.

Among the trades that are designed to wear at the fashionable resorts this season are many whose principal mode for spring. This interesting dress is to be found from a homespun of navy serge. Narrow bands of the serge make it possible to cut the dress in one piece, thus avoiding seams. The trimming is of the organdie, quaintly cut and embroidered in white. The sleeves are also made of the same cloth as the dress, and the collar and cuffs are of the organdie. The hat is of navy straw, trimmed with a wreath of flowers.

"Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

"YOUR TEETH"

Division of Childhood

By Rex Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Editor Oral Hygiene.

The highest deathrate is between the ages of two and six years. At two years the eruption of the temporary teeth is just being completed and at six years the eruption of the permanent teeth is just beginning. This period, from two until six, is the time that the temporary teeth are in their prime. If the twenty little teeth are free from decay and the child is able to chew its food so that the proper nourishment will be extracted, the little body will have strength to ward off or overcome nearly all of the infections that may come to childhood. The temporary teeth are of great importance to the child than are the permanent teeth to the adult, because a child must not only be nourished to keep up the ordinary life processes, but it must have nourishment for rapid growth in addition.

The temporary teeth decay so quickly that the permanent teeth are often contaminated with decay before they have erupted. Then, when the permanent teeth come in, just below the roots of these temporary teeth are the germs of infection at the time of their eruption. If the baby teeth are allowed to decay, the roots of the permanent teeth are bathed in pus and are liable to serious damage or loss.

Decay in baby teeth produces general ill health and apparently has no effect to keep the use of the permanent teeth

The Heart of a Watch

The Balance-Wheel Pulsates Some 432,000 Times a Day.

The heart of a watch is the balance-wheel and unless it is perfectly constructed and made to withstand varying changes in temperature it will not go "keep correctly, and will soon cause the watch to lose or gain. On account of the different temperatures which the ordinary watch must withstand it is necessary for the balance-wheel to be formed of certain whose expansion and contract at rates which offset each other. For this reason the wheel is made of both tempered steel and brass, and the two in such a manner as to preserve perfect balance however heat or cold may affect each spoke. The expansion or contraction of the steel tends to make the balance wheel of a watch run slower, while the brass tends to make it run faster. By adjusting the delicate mechanism with which every watch is provided, changes in temperature will not affect the watch's rate of speed to any appreciable degree. Between the extremes of heat and cold to which watches are subjected, there are at least two metals which are essential to the operation of a watch would still keep perfect time.

NORTH DAKOTA IN A BAD WAY FINANCIALLY

State Credit Shattered And Business-ship Has Been Staggered.

POLITICS IN FINANCE

A Situation Which Should Be Carefully Studied By Those Who Propose Government Banks In Canada.

The advantages of the Canadian branch bank system are being more and more appreciated in the United States. Floyd W. Parsons, in the "Saturday Evening Post," declares that money is cheaper in Canada than in the U.S. because of the efficient banking system. The collapse of the banking system in North Dakota is responsible for general criticism of the attempts at socialistic financing in that state which should be carefully considered by those who advocate government banks in Canada. Bank managers should post themselves on these developments as providing an effective reply to the critics of the Canadian banks.—[J. W. T.

There is a lesson for the radicals of Canadian provincial finance in the latest fiasco of North Dakota banking and finance. American bankers, both East and West, during the week numbered three North Dakota's proposed $4,000,000 bond issues, though tempted with a 9 per cent interest rate.

Scouts Put On Great Evening

Financial Returns Most Gratifying

The grand boxing tournament and concert put on in the Albert Hall Monday night by the Vermilion Troop Boy Scouts, afforded one of the very best evening's entertainment ever enjoyed here. The attendance was good and the programme of boxing, interspersed with songs, recitations and a monologue, was a highly delightful one. The numerous rounds of applause which greeted the contestants in the various boxing bouts and especially the blindfold bout, left no doubt as to the fine merits of the audience. Throughout the rounds the general good nature with which the scouts took their medicine, is much to be commended and it was this spirit that appealed to the gate-crasher. R.W. Fisher made a capable and impartial ring referee and though having to separate quite a few scraps, on one though unmatched.

The bouts and winners were: 5 Flyweights—R. Wright vs N. Goldman. Winner, N. Goldman.

Bantamweights—W. Finnerty vs R. Deary. Winner, R. Deary.

Lightweights—S. Wood vs J. Boyden. Winner, S. Wood.

Middleweights—E. Wener vs M. Goldman. Winner, M. Goldman.

Heavyweight—A. Martel vs F. English. Winner, F. English.

Blindfold—E. Ochterbeck vs A. Cooper. Winner, A. Cooper.

Comic—Martel and Thorp.

Major Morrison occupied the chair and during the course of his opening remarks, made a strong plea for the establishment of a gymnasium. The receipts of the evening amounted eighty dollars, half the net proceeds to go to the fund for the starring children in Europe. Before dispersing three hearty cheers for Scout Master McCluhy and the Vermilion Boy Scouts were given by the audience.

SPRACKLIN SAYS THREATS MADE AGAINST LIFE

Paris, Ont., Mar. 14 Threats against his life by a Toronto organization were reported by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin here last night in preaching in the congregation of the Methodist church. His sermon marked his first appearance in a series of addresses throughout Ontario on behalf of the "dry" in the referendum campaign. Mr. Spracklin declared the threat from Toronto had been sent to his home at Sandwich, Ont. It warned him to keep away from that city in connection with the campaign, of the drys or he "would be shot".

"I intend to disregard this message entirely," declared Mr. Spracklin in his address. He said that he would speak in Toronto whenever the officials of the Temperance forces arranged for him to appear.

THE MUNICIPAL HOSPITALS

(Edmonton Bulletin)

Four new Municipal Hospital Districts were established in the Province last year, and eight hospitals have now been brought into existence and put in operation under the scheme. That is quite as rapid progress as the most sanguine supporters of the project could have hoped for. If the pace can be kept up with reasonable uniformity this will be the best hospitalized province in Canada before many years have gone, with corresponding results in the preservation of life and health.

Grand Victory Ball

In commemoration of Victory Ball in honor of Agriculture, April 9th.

At a special meeting of the Town Council held Tuesday evening, the percentage of the value of the improvement upon which the new improvement tax will be levied for the year was fixed at 50 p.c. The total valuations of the buildings in town is about $650,000, as assessed by John Walker last year. The land assessment is $700,000 so that the total assessment for the year 1921 will be in the neighborhood of $1,015,000. The placing of a tax on improvements will ease the tax on vacant lands. A survey was made of other towns in the province using this tax and it has been found that the minimum adopted is about 60 p.c., so that the percentage taken by Vermilion is considerably lower than obtained elsewhere.

The first of the Board of Trade luncheons will be given next Thursday noon (24th) at 12.15 sharp at the Brunswick Hotel. Under the guest will be the Senate Houses of the Alberta University. Tickets may be had the day previous from the members of the special committee appointed in connection with these luncheons, or from the secretary. All business men are cordially asked to be present and make this initial luncheon a success. The board will also appreciate the attendance of farmers on this occasion.

THE "FLU" Dare Not Return

The "Flu" will certainly get a warm reception this winter if it dares show its ugly head in our peaceful midst, for the people are confident now that they can deal it such a smashing blow it will never survive. In every village, town and city in Canada, families are fortifying themselves with the genuine "Fruit-a-tives" tonic known to science. Each box of Fruit-a-tives contains the same quantity of Fruit-a-tives as the large family size bottle formerly retailed. It has required 60 crates of 25 cases' one-ing it must fail to do for what it has done for others. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, so it is said under a money back guarantee to banish coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma and prevent pneumonia. The "Flu" will not be a symptom, but a scientific mixture, 50 times stronger than the original cure. One dose gives instant relief. Price 75 cents. Take no substitute. The Biggest Navy In the World

He Can Borrow to be Worrying Over War-Like Preparations of U.S.

Secretary Daniels, retiring secretary of the United States navy, says the United States must have the greatest navy in the world. Mr. Denby, the incoming secretary of the navy, says the United States must have the greatest navy in the world. The senate and congress agree that the United States must have the greatest navy in the world and pass the necessary appropriations to build it. President elect Harding, in his carefol way, agrees that the United States must have the greatest navy in the world. It is a pretty unanimous feeling in high places in the States that the United States must have the greatest navy in the world; and, as a matter of actual fact, the United States has on the ways and in process of completion, the ships which really will give the greatest navy in the world in the course of the next two or three years. It is all very impressive, but outside of America it is causing no excitement to speak of; nobody seems to be, lately, interviewed by newspaper paragraphists and columnists are making jokes about the United States admirals are able to mention quite openly in public places the dread phrase "one with King land"; United States newspapers are able to print the dread phrase in headlines and nothing breaks loose in the county of nations. The whole world looks on in a mildly interested but totally unalarmed fashion while this record mass of armor plate and ordnance is assembled.

However much conditions in the world and in the United States may have convinced the American mind that America must have an overpowering navy, it is not believed among the people of the nations that are invading or America, that America is building her great fleet to make war on any nation or nations. The great navy is probably inspired by the wave of war activity and interest which affected American people during the years when they were very anxious indeed, for with the end of the war in sight, they were very anxious indeed, for with the help of one kind or another; they to get at all sides at fighting her, or at least at fighting them; the rebellion of the American armaments does not ruffle them at all, it is a matter of indifference altogether from the ex Kaiser's ashes if the American people have a navy as big as Admiral Jellicoe navy, it is their privilege, the rest of the world will thank, to us that their navy is as big as that Jellicoe navy.

It is interesting to speculate on the reasons which have led to the growth of the greatest navy in the world" will produce in America opinion. Hon. S. J. Latta, minister of highways, will take up the duties of provincial secretary, in addition to the office he already holds.

Ottawa.—Some striking changes in the regulations governing the admission of immigrants to Canada are reported to be under consideration by the Cabinet. These, which are expected to be passed within the next day or two, will, it is stated, substantially increase the immigration at present in force and will admit only bona fide farm workers and domestic help. Immigration from the British Isles, France or the United States will, it is reported, not be hindered by the new regulations, but the bars will be kept up against immigrants from Central Europe.

By O-OE-MAS-KE (Little Child).

At last it was decided by a majority vote at a large meeting held that a deputation be sent to Louis Riel, at that time in Montana. The delegates selected were Gabriel Dumont, an old leader amongst the plainsmen, Michel Ouellette, M. Dumas and Jas. Isbister, the latter a Scotch half-breed of a well-known and much respected old northwest family. Many of the Metis suffers disapproved of sending for Riel, and took little or no further part in the agitation. But there was a number who thought it was a good move and that the Ottawa Government would promptly remedy the grievances of the settlers. Riel accompanied the delegates back and began to hold meetings in the different settlements. Amongst other places he spoke to a crowded meeting in Prince Albert, which, however, broke up with a row. At first, Riel took a mild tone, but latterly, becoming more firmly seated as a leader, he began to preach open rebellion, especially among his own countrymen. Revolvers, rumors were sent to all for miles encampments telling them all sorts of yarns. That a new era was coming and its leader and prophet was Louis Riel. That the good old days with acreams of buffalo would return and that the possess of the land there would be immediately interested and so on.

About this time, or rather before Mr Jas Isbister became alarmed at Riel's actions and he, with some other leaders of moderate views, decided it would be a good plan to get some able Britisher to associate with Riel as I try to kill him in check as much as possible. Very much to my surprise I received a visit during the winter of 1884-5 from Mr. Isbister and two companions, whose names I have forgotten, but all three were English speaking. They made the proposal time to go, leaving as they said my sympathy with the miseries of the country, that I would go back with them, that I would endeavor to turn his views from a proposed rebellion to a loyal agitation. Needless to say, I refused, and returned to Battleford. Isbister set out to them, that it was the greatest mistake Riel had ever made in his country, that his heads were still red with blood from the first rebellion with the murder of Thomas Scott, that he was a fanatic, and would not listen to anyone, not even to the priests of his own faith, but that during the height of the rebellion he went back on the Roman Catholic Church and attempted to start a new one, with himself as the inspired prophet of it. We had a good talk and parted on the night, and before leaving Mr. Isbister came to me and thanked me with tears in them, for my good advice, assured me of my loyal sentiments, and when I left the trouble on future reminding me of their former

THE STANDARD

VERMILION, ALTA. MARCH 1st, 1921

The monthly commercial letter for March issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce sizes up the general business situation in Canada as follows:—

"The conditions and tendencies of liquidators in Canada has created a measure of confidence which will greatly aid further progress towards normal conditions, for, although deflation is taking place, it cannot be said that the readjustment has been too rapid or that business casualties have been on anything like as great a scale as first anticipated. The most outstanding proof of deflation is the reduction of the bank note circulation in January by $22,042,760, and a decline during the same month of $47,311,979 in commercial liabilities. Prices continue to fall at a moderate rate, and business in the public as well as private sphere is proceeding on a scale above the normal, and would be acute if the policy of distributing available work among all hands were not generally followed. Instead of laying off workmen and operating their factories by a smaller number at full time manufacturers are employing as many as possible at part time. Meanwhile the readjustment of wage scales is proceeding without giving rise to an abnormal number of disputes.

"The cost of carrying on business, however, is still excessive, particularly as a result of taxation and transportation charges. From the former there is for the present but little chance of relief; on the other hand it should be possible to effect such changes as will reduce the cost of moving merchandise from one part of the Dominion to another. In 1920 this service cost 100,000,000 more than in 1919, of which a very large proportion is attributable to operation costs. The lack of adjustment in transportation costs to correspond with that taking place in many spheres of commercial activity, constitutes a serious obstruction to trade."

In turning on the market for Canadian goods, the letter states that increasing difficulty is being found in this respect for some of the more important Canadian products.

Many women in every locality, here or city will gladly testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did them a world of good. Ask your neighbor.

Wash Day and Backache

WASH day is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back

The strain of washing, bending and sweeping frequently destroys the kidneys. The urine is poisoned and backache, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

Kidney action must be aroused—the liver awakened to action and the poisons expelled by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This famous prescription of the well-known kidney book author will set you in the house of need

The Experiment Farms System

Experimental Farm System of Canada Not Appreciated as it Should Be.

Research has several times been made in parliament and elsewhere to show the splendid work performed by the experimental farm system of Canada, and yet to-day it is known and appreciated as it should be. In the Agricultural reports of Canada for 1904-5 there appears a list of experiments at 17 stations in which are engaged several Experimental Farms. Farm as Nature in the field operations at the Dominion Experimental Farms at Brandon, Indian Head, Agassiz and Lethbridge. It is true that there is one farm in each of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, but there are also farms in Nova Scotia, four in Quebec, four in Ontario, two in Manitoba, four in Saskatchewan, three in Alberta, two in British Columbia.

In addition, working with the Dominion farms, are the farms at Ottawa, Ont., and Harrow, Ont. At all of these experimental and research work of the greatest importance is carried on. Highly illustrative of modern methods have also been established in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan. Each branch of agricultural work is dealt with in annual reports, and the results of experiments made are thrown broadcast through the press and by means of bulletins issued from time to time.

Under existing regulations the annual reports have to be slaughtered with in ten days of their arrival at a Brit ish port. A remarkable business, however, along these lines has already been built up by shippers from the Eastern Canadian provinces, and the great divergence between the prices of meat in the two countries is tempting the western stockmen to follow their example.

It is stated that Scotch and Eng lish fed prime beavers are selling at about twenty cents per pound or more, whereas from one to two cents per pound is paid at Canadian and American stock yards for the animals would be paid for in British currency there would be the Canadian freight charge to be taken into consideration, and reasonable a margin for transportation and also an allowance for the appearance of the meat when placed on the mar ket for sale. However, notwithstanding all this the Alberta stockmen who are making the experiment are inclined to the belief that there should be a sufficient spread left to make the venture profitable

to the report issued by the grain commissioner. The ports were second in oats, fourth in barley and third in flax. The total amount of grain handled was one hundred and twelve million bushels.

of fine cattle which have been grain result of such a move will be watched by shippers throughout the prairie provinces.

20,000 Children Die Violent Deaths

Red Cross Figures of Fatal Accidents In U.S. Are Alarming.

Figures compiled by the Red Cross

count the heaviest toll of child life.
Forty per cent. of the children who die before reaching their fifth birth

War Not Yet Impossible

Major-General MacBrien Says That Canada Should Be Prepared For Future Troubles

That while nearly every thousand of Canada's best sons gave their best in Flanders in the belief that they were fighting to end all wars, and while Mothers fervently hoped and believed that Christmas Anchor would take up her home nature to the extent that another war would be impossible, yet that their changed was not unlikely in the distant and the peace which should have come was scarcely yet in a growing, absence, was the theme of a speech and of the annual reunion at Ottawa of the P.P.C.L.I. by Major-General D. M. Brien, chief of general staff and acting head, adviser to the Minister of Militia. Canada must be ready with an efficient organization and trained officers or to face when the next war came, he said.

Describing himself as the Active Service representative of the Permanent Force, Major-General MacBrien said he would help to prevent war. Every soldier who was on the League's side in the claims. This did not prevent war entirely but it would help by getting a large majority of the nations to become members of the League. But pro-League sentiment would not prevent war, and the League would not accomplish much good unless it had some real teeth behind it.

There were two people here and there throughout Canada trying to stir up trouble and make trouble for the advocates of unpreparedness. But he would say to them: go on and try to try and build up sentiment for war with the most rigid reticence, and a few years after getting to remain dozen debates in Canada and Parliament the annual expenses would be very great indeed.

Touching on the United States, the general noted that while they were posing as a peace loving people they were nothing about spending millions for warlike forces and more than nothing other nation except Germany. Their annual expenditures as shipping would not be taught anywhere else in the world.

FARMERS OUT-PLAY TEAM FROM SASK'N

Score Stood 6-3 End of Third Period

Dropping in goals in the second frame with such frequency that an adding machine had to be requisitioned to keep track of the score, Grant Currie's Farmers defeated a picked team of puck-chasers comprised of players from the various towns along the C. The contest proved to be a fast and furious one for the gallery, as right from the face-off in the second stanza it was plain that there was only one team in the game. On Saturday evening Dr. W. H. The badge does not constitute members ship but it allows the owner to, till on the services of a scout if necessary at any time and a scout is expected to respond in the call for assistance wherever [illegible] to do.

[illegible] The Council of the District of meeting to be held 2nd April, 1921 at Lockie at Sullen's School will receive applications and appointments as follows, viz:—as there was an ugly rumor current in H. B. C. circles that postmasters were to be made responsible for outstanding accounts.

Being very fortunate getting the brigade of eight boats off to York, and then having other matters to attend to, it was finally well on in July before I was able to make the trip. There were no available seats at the post, except my cook, Murdo, and after impressing on him to be extra careful of the company's property in my absence, I took my gun and bedding with some provisions and paddled over to the north of Swan River. Here I was fortunate in securing a very dark Indian, known as Black Native, who knew the country, but was a little lame, which did not matter as there was no particular rush. We left my small bark and took his double canoe, paddled across to the east side of the lake, cached our canoe, made up two small parts of bedding and provisions and started across what would be a [illegible] portage, but a faint trail only showed its places. Late that evening we reached the shores of Manitopogusis and after firing a few shots to which there was no response, we made a thorough search and finally found an old canoe, which after the gum was parched a bit, would, [illegible] thought, take us to the Indian camp. It was a leaky craft and I was kept busy [illegible] bailing and paddling, but we made our destination all right and found the Indians at home. They did not look too well pleased at my appearance, for no doubt they thought with Mr. Birch leaving the [illegible] might be forgotten. They were, however, hospitable enough, and we were guests of the headman whose name was A-ta-pe-ka-hoot. I remember a smile on Native's face while dinner was being cooked, and in a hoarse whisper I asked me if I liked the dog, you?" "Dog, what to eat you mean? Good heavens, no!" "Well," was his grinning reply, "that is what we are going to have for dinner." Native was right, and on a short time we received [illegible] of help legs of what I must say tasted like very nice meat, and gathering up courage I tasted it and there was nothing wrong about that. Still, there are the days, as I simply [illegible] with my [illegible] ing that I was enjoying my dinner spoke to one of the girls, who shortly entered the tepee and placed beside us a splendid dish of ripe raspberries, in being berry season. By O-OE-MAS-IS (Little Child).

In a former article entitled Swan River in York Factory I had described the picturesque situation of Shoal River House at the north end of Swan Lake, the Swan River emptying into the south side of the lake. Here at the mouth of the river was a small settlement of half-breeds and Indians. It was the summer of 1874 and Mr. Angus MacBeth whom I had succeeded in charge of the post, had advanced some Indians rather heavily. These men were living at Duck Bay on Lake Winnipegosis and he did not see them before his departure, which was hurried. MacBeth had impressed on me before leaving about the importance of collecting these debts if at all possible, as there was an ugly rumor current in H. B. C. circles that postmasters were to be made responsible for outstanding accounts.

Being very fortunate getting the brigade of eight boats off to York, and then having other matters to attend to, it was finally well on in July before I was able to make the trip. For Issuing Too Many Prescriptions

Nineteen Doctors Are Suspended in Manitoba by Temperance Act.

Winnipeg—The suspension of 19 physicians in Manitoba, for unlawfully issuing liquor prescriptions, has resulted from an inquiry conducted by a committee of the council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. R. W. Craig, K.C., the council's solicitor, announced.

The committee has still to report on a number of cases. All doctors who had issued 1,200 or more prescriptions in any one month, were summoned before the council during the inquiry, which covered a period of several months.

Germany Protests Occupation

Declares Versailles Treaty Gives Allies No Ground For Invasion.

Berlin.—In a protest to the League of Nations against the infliction of penalties, the German Government declares that the only provisions in the treaty affecting that question are Paragraph eighteen of Appendix, two to part eight, and the concluding sections of Article 429 and Article 430 of the treaty, which, it says, admit of any fresh occupations of German soil beyond the territory west of the Rhine only as bridgeheads.

The German Government further contends that there has been no infringement of obligations justifying the ordering of the economic sanctions and Rhenish customs [illegible] against German goods in accordance [illegible] Article 18 of the appendix to part eight.

The League of Nations is requested to make an immediate investigation to see that the [illegible] measures the Allies have undertaken be immediately stopped.

GOLF CLUB'S ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

Shows Prosperous Condition—Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Golf Club was held Tuesday evening in the Imperial Block with the president, Jas. Walker in the chair. About 8 6 members were present. The president reported for the different committees appointed last year outlining briefly the work accomplished in the setting out of the grounds, cleaning up the driveways, finishing off the greens and so on. No farmer was also made by him to the social gatherings of last winter which proved quite successful, the object being to keep up the interest in golf during that time of the year and incidentally raise funds for the benefit of the Club. The report of the Secy-Treas., C. H. Crooks, was read and showed a balance on hand and in bank of $62.89. The total receipts for the year were $229.00. On motion it was decided to fix the membership fee for this season at $10 for gentlemen and $2 for ladies. Entries to any competition held under the auspices of the club will be confined wholly to bona fide members of the club. The matter of membership fee for out of town members and people coming into town late in the season was left to the executive committee. Any member leaving town may transfer his ticket to his successor in the same line of business. The members will be expected to wear a button or pin showing them to be paid up their fees and entitled to all the privileges of the club. It was also decided to alter the 9th hole, the new location being left to the discretion of the green committee. The election of officers for the year resulted as follows:—

Hon. Pres., A. W. Ebbett, M.L.A.
President - Jas Walker
Vice President - Geo. Lee

Problems Of Rural Schools

Children of Rural Schools Should Have Equal Chance With Those of the City.

Mr. Fred Bates of Regina, superintendent of the rural schools system of Saskatchewan, gave an address on "Rural Education," at the Rotary luncheon held at Fort William recently. Mr. Bates expressed the opinion that a province should see that rural school children were given the same opportunity to get as good an education as children attending the city public schools. There was a [illegible] rural school system in the province, he said.

Alberta's Agricultural Schools

Its low school of Agriculture at Vermilion has about the finest, if not positively in agricultural education, at about the lowest cost for the young people of the province. Not only are the agricultural courses of the highest order, but the institution is unsurpassed in its equipment for practical instruction in women's work, and no effort is spared to make the manual training course in the school one that will appeal to the young people. Official reports show that nearly a thousand young people have been equipped for their life work. When it is stated that, from funds supplied under the Dominion Agricultural Instruction Act alone, no less a sum than $500,000 has been pledged in the last half dozen years in Canada in the building, equipping and maintenance of such schools, some idea of the benefits derived from the grants under the Act can be obtained. Official reports show that in 1919-20, of the $66,965 which is Alberta's share of $1,100,000 granted annually by the Dominion for division between the provinces, $59,000 was devoted to the Alberta schools of agriculture. In the same years, $9,000 was allotted to the province for similar purposes. Special attention is paid to the practical side of the work, and the agricultural representative system, School fairs, based chiefly on school garden work, and school clubs for the rearing of poultry, calves, colts and pigs, are conducted under the direction of teachers from the schools of agriculture with the assistance of the agricultural representatives, and are increasing in number and importance every year. In 1919-20 for instance, 40 school fairs, representing 440 schools and 6,500 pupils, were held, with approximately $5,000 exhibits.

CHASE OF A GRIZZLY BEAR—LOVE PHILTERS.

By O-OS-MAS-ES (Little Cloth).

To follow up this bear's history, it was a bona fide grizzly all right. It had wandered in from the plains and was killed in a distance was shortly afterwards by an Indian named Schus who was paddling in Swan Lake with his young wife, and had been chasing a loon, so had his old flint lock gun loaded with ball. The day was very hot and the Indian's wife was thirsty. Close to them and a few yards in from shore was a beautiful spring of ice cold water which formed a deep pool. Taking the gun and a birch bark Regina for the water, they made for the spring, and just as the Indian stooped down to fill the vessel he saw a reflection of a bear in the water, and looking up saw him standing on his hind legs just across the pool. The Indian fired and the bullet went right through his heart. He fatally wounded in the water, and he was such a size that they had to cause for help in the town to get him out. I took the skin which was covered with scars, and being out of season was only fit for rug coverings. It was the largest bear I had ever seen, and I secured his claws and sent them east to my father.

To return to Batoche, we boiled our kettle and had a good dinner on the side of the bear opposite. He would look at me curiously at times as a matter, "He must be a little mad" "No Babtee," but my father's people were Irish, and we let it go at that. Late in the evening we reached our canoe and an hour's paddle took us to Batoche's cabin, where his wife (a very superior woman) kindly regard me rent at some dry clothes.

Next morning I settled up with him and the usual thing for, sacked flour. My salt was all soaked, a goodly sack split down the centre with a light yard top and bottom, quite big enough for my small and cranky craft in a wind.

On reaching the post I found a number of women and children all feasting in the kitchen. This was entirely against the rules of the company, so I ordered them out and sound on double quick time. "Get out, you lo-A after things in my absence!" His excuse was a queer one for those days "Kapow" was all he could say by no means a fair meeting person but I was glad to see and shake hands with him to-day, for he had to do I more at his table, told how my luck and I be a man and was not to be trifled with to see his face at the post-office. He said he would keep in a dog-tail sort of tone, but I am a dog the same thing occurred, and I decided to send him to Prince Albert, at least I had for his own good as well as the company's. — Yours Manly.

Love Philtres.

I had a hundred or more Assiniboine trimmed with otter fur lining and in case the worst of the Winter set in early—December. That was getting cold and I determined to have it sooner and re-stocked, and I accordingly made over. Spring of 1 woman (named Mrs. Bi-ah-ah-ah) whose husband, who I ordered making and mending clothes for me, fails to guess anything in connection a discovery was made in the fitting of the coat was a small bottle pocket of a silver grey powder, and this she brought to me with a very shocked face, exclaiming: "Look, Oppenheim, what I found in your coat," and shaking her head said, "Some bad girl tried to witch you and make you love her!" I laughed and said, "Well, she did not succeed, as I am quite fancy free at present and have an overcheart." There was no request to this love philtre, nor did I ever discover who placed the powder in the coat.

Attempt to Poison.

There was a much more serious attempt made on a member man's life in the spring at this post. It was not about sugar time and the trees were tapping some ash maple trees and occasionally bringing me in a little sugar or syrup. We had a large boat sent here, and a was customary to send the boat back each year. On the last one arrived Mr. Angus McLeod from Manitoba House, an experienced boat builder. He was a very fine fellow, married, with a wife and little family, whom he had left at home. I did not want to put Angus in the ordinary men's house, so had a cabin fitted up for him in a small building just outside the gates of the post, where he was quite comfortable, and ate at my table with the Factor.

Some little time elapsed, and in one of my daily visits to the boathouse, I found Angus in low spirits, and on questioning him, found he was being bothered by an Indian woman of middle age who had attempted his honour on the evening of the evening, and given him some love-lorn gazing on the part for days. He hadn't the heart to tell her plainly, and this she did reiterately, muttering in broken, and looking. Angus was afraid to eat there. I cheered him up, and finally had him laughing over the matter. A day or two later we were walking down to the boat, he together when a little Indian girl approached Lizzie Angus. A small pa[ck]age was passed between them, and I chanced and observed that it contained a love philtre. Angus stopped to examine the small package, and I shouted and ordered the destruction of it.

Premier Lloyd George Attacks Socialism

Says It Presents a Greater Menace to the Country Than War.

London.—A bitter attack on Socialism was made by the Prime Minister in a speech at a luncheon of "The new members of the Coalition Group," as the participants in the luncheon party were styled. "The military dangers which united the parties have disappeared," said Mr. Lloyd George, "but greater, more insidious, more permanent dangers still confront us. The great peril is the rise to power of a new party with new purposes of the most subversive character.

"It calls itself 'Labor.' It is really Socialist. It is tearing the parties to pieces on its way to tearing society to pieces. Those who are inclined to agree with Mr. Asquith and Lord Reinach that the Labor Party is a 'bogey' should read the Labor press for a week.

"Socialism is fighting to destroy everything that the great prophets and leaders of both parties—Liberals and Liberals—have labored for, generations to uphold. CLOSING EXERCISES, VERMILION SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

The closing exercises of the Vermilion school of agriculture took place last Wednesday evening when the following were presented with diplomas in practical agriculture–

Miss Clara Bertina Christopherson, Weldon, Sask.

Otto Rudur Younge, Wealthy, Alberta.

John F. Black, Hope Valley, Alberta.

Fred E. Brown, Streamstown, Alb rta.

The diplomas were presented by Dean Howes at the close of the fourth annual banquet given by the alumni of the school. Principal Hare was chairman. Dean Howes gave an excellent address in which he dealt with the experiences of the school closing and expressed his best wishes for the graduating class. Addresses were also given by Mayor Morrison, Inspector Parker, Principal Crosby, W. Telford, Messrs. Walker and Craig. There were about 100 people at the banquet and fully 200 at the dance which followed. Mr. W. B. Hawley spoke in reply to the different addresses on behalf of the graduates.

BOARD OF TRADE LUNCHEON

Dean Howes was the guest of the Vermilion Board of Trade at its first monthly luncheon held last Thursday at the Brunswick Hotel Cafe. About 40 members were present with President Nellis in the chair, The guest of honor gave a splendid address in which he dealt with the interests of farming from the early times down to the present, showing that the problems of the present day were problems that were being discussed and remedies sought centuries ago. He deprecated the adoption of new theories until their practicability was demonstrated and this was one of the greatest purposes of the schools of Agriculture–to lead the way in scientific farming or farming along these lines. A vote of thanks was moved by H. N Stephens and seconded by Jas. Walker and carried with applause.

The carried a shower bouquet of white roses, carnations and ferns, The bride was attended by her friend, Mrs. J. Wilkinson of Edmonton, as Matron of Honor, while Mr Sydney Eckford supported the groom. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, the wedding party standing beneath an arch of ivy leaves and sweet peas. After the signing of the register a dainty buffet luncheon was served and the bride's cake cut The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold wrist watch; to the matron of honor a gold lace pin set with pearls and to the groom's supporter a set of gold cuff links. INLAYS IN TEETH.

Copyright, 1921, by Rae Proctor McNeil

An inlay is a filling that is made outside of the mouth and when finished is cemented in the tooth cavity with a strong cement. The making of an inlay at present is very much of a hit-or-miss matter in many instances. The Aztecs of old Mexico used a green stone in many of their teeth. The green stone was not used to stop cavities as we use silver, but was purely decorative. The Aztec nobility had pointed designs cut in their front teeth, probably tribal marks on the order of our coat of arms, then the green stone was cleverly cut to fit the cavity and cemented with a very durable temporary cement. The day of the Aztec nobility is past, but in removing for the fact that there are in existence a number of Aztec skulls with green stones still firmly in place.

Pieces of porcelain were the first inlays to be made in modern times. Porcelain was used because it can be made to closely approximate the color and characteristics of the natural teeth. The process of making a porcelain inlay is very difficult, but the results is so satisfactory that many are made for fillings where gold would be objectionable.

The gold inlay is now very widely used. There are many ways to make them but in subject is the same, that is, to perfectly fill the cavity, to restore the natural contour, and to be durable. All of these things a gold inlay does. The miniature casting machine required to make a gold inlay can cost thousands times. Gold inlays are not thousands times. Gold inlays are not thousands times. "Who can that be?" she asked herself. "And Darlin' had gone to bed early, as he had to get up at five o'clock in the morning to go to work at the factory. Sagawa raised him say that, he must get up for work by the time he was ready."

"Who's there?" she answered with a quiver in her voice.

Darlin did not answer. He stood, however, and listened. He presently heard the voice of a woman, and his mind was at once relieved.

"It's Dorothy Darlington, and I want to see you at once," said the voice.

"Why, what's the matter?" he asked, as he opened the door and let her in.

INDIAN LAKE LAND SOLD

J. J. Lee of Montreal Purchased Block of 1000 Acres C.P.R. Holdings

A land transaction, which may be the forerunner of others of a like magnitude, was put through on Tuesday whereby J. J. Lee of Montreal, became the owner of a block of 1000 acres of choice range lands taking in the Indian Lake—with the exception of some 15 acres of summer resort property owned by Stephens Brothers of here. Mr. Lee is a guest at the Brunswick Hotel and was accompanied here by C. LaDuc Northford, special representative of the C.P.R. Land Dept. The Standard learns that the price paid was $20,000.00.

Mr. LaDuc Northford, who is remaining in town for a short time, states the company are anticipating a large number of sales of farm lands in this district and have a number of prospective buyers en route to Vermilion at the present time.

1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

Scouts! If you have not heard it already you did Vermilion credit on Sunday last by the splendid turnout of 37 Scouts, 4 Wolf cubs to the Wolf Hall. Mr and Mrs Stevens and the address of the Rev H. A. Rix did much to impress upon us that although the war is over, our aim for peacetime truth and duty bring in BOY scout, but in ours to Duty etc. The Wolf Cubs are now over 16 and are now divided into three sixes as follows. The 1st patrol—Norman Goodman Leader Tubs Rogers Wright, Stan Mills Douglas Cooper Jack Craddock, Ernest Evans

"The Bears"— Preston Sharp Leader, Gabe Stewart Ronnie nobs, Albert Mundy, Carson Dow, George Riches, Gordon Douglas

"The Bulls"— Clarence Walsh Leader Howard Carroll, Arthur Fuller, Maxwell Brownlee, Roy Bennett, Roy Brown.

It is to us to say that we will be in the favorable position of being able to greet Her Royalness the Duke of Devonshire with a completely uniformed Troop. A uniform can now be purchased for $9.50 and we are pleased that many boys are taking advantage of this opportunity of getting a uniform. A uniform is not to make it possible for any scout who feels unable to afford to buy a uniform, to be in the troop, every scout will be welcome. Next week this column will be continued. The medals donated by the Imperial Bank of Canada, for the most efficient scout and cub have not been awarded as yet, but it is expected that the best may occur about the middle of the month.

Wolf Patrol 920 points. Curlew Patrol 904 points. Beaver Patrol 884 points. Eagle 820 points.

Canada's Railway Problem

Canada has a great number of problems awaiting solution on her hands at present, but no doubt all if any one presents greater difficulties, or is fraught with greater danger than the question of our railroads, the Canadian Pacific. The second division, so staggering, amounting to almost as much as the total debt of the Dominion only a comparatively few years ago. Before the war it was a question rather than a problem, but the latter has developed into a menace, and a serious one, for the Dominion. Nothing is more necessary for a nation which has undertaken the gigantic task of developing its resources than adequate railway facilities, and Canada has been fortunate in this respect. TELLS HOW CATARRH IS DESTROYED QUICKLY

Why Castoria?

YEARS use Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children. Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself without consulting a physician.

Just baby baby out of its trouble observe the effect of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete—from pain to pleasure. Try it.

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton Summer 1875.

By O-GE-MAH-ES (Little Chief).

Well, I at last had reached a real plain fort, and though I headed this article Fort Ellis it has taken some time to get there. But my readers must understand when an old timer sits down to recall old events, reminiscences pour over him like a flood, and he is apt to wander from his subject, so please forgive me when I do this, and don't expect too much from the "Men Who Showed the Way."

Fort Ellis was a thoroughly well-built post for defence against hostile Indians, having a sixteen foot pallisade with corner bastions and a walk around near the top of the wall inside it impervious to savage attack. It was very picturesquely situated on the high bank of the Assiniboine River and commanded a beautiful view on all sides. Chief Factor Archie McDonald, a stern old martinet, was in charge. His wife was a sister of the well-known Sheriff Inkster and I have pleasant recollections of her kindness to the young clerk. My rather dreaded interview with the chief was over, and I was told to make myself useful in the trading store until such time as council should send my late. Then it might be James Bay or Hudson's Bay, Mackenzie River or New Caledonia, but what did we care, the Great West was before us and adventure filled our souls.

Shortly after my arrival some very unwelcome visitors arrived from across the American boundary in the shape of some three hundred Sioux Indians. They had been fighting with the Yankees as usual and retreated into British territory. Pierce looking chaps, simply clad in a breech-clout and buffalo robe, well armed and numbers of white scalps amongst them. One old dead head grave, several of which, judging by the long hair, had belonged to white women. But what interested me most, the young McKay's (my fellow clerk) and myself was the fact of two white girls, both wives of the old interpreter, who were evidently of Scandinavian birth, having fair hair and blue eyes. Poor things, they were Sioux in everything but their birth, and had evidently been stolen in babies, probably in the great Minnesota massacre, where no doubt three parents had been killed. They were certainly under twenty years of age and quite attractive in appearance. Mr. Interpreter, however, kept a very careful eye on them, so we had no opportunity even for a mild flirtation, and then we neither of us could speak a word of Sioux.

These Indians demanded provisions from the company, as they were living on dogs and grubbing with an occasional pony for a feast. But the chief would not give them, as they had neither furs or robes to trade. Usually he gave them some work in building a long causeway to a big swamp, for which they were to receive pay daily in flour and Pemican. Several of the men refused the job, but being warriors they considered it infra dig to work, so the squaws at it, and famous workers they were. Every night it was McKay's duty and mine to weigh out to each woman her individual pay in provisions, and there being a number of them this took some time.

Chief Factor McDonald had to leave on a short inspection trip, and before starting left strict orders with his acting command to be extremely careful in dealing with the Sioux, and to be unwilling, for we musters ed only seven white men and of them there were three boarded, well armed by the Indians (Indian name for Yankees, meaning But Knives), the Tigers of the Plains. Fort Ellis was the headquarters of the large Swan River district with many posts, and our evening as the Indian workers had come in for their pay, a clerk rode in from an outpost, unfortunately under the influence of liquor. He had that failing when drink was available, and on this occasion he had met some miners on the trail who were too generous with some alcoholic. Most of the Sioux were had been paid off, and one of these to chief's order) rather a handsome young creature, was standing in the square, no doubt waiting for her friends. Mr. had told up his horse, and a fiery Sioux woman alone rushed over to Peg-a-bled Feet by the beauty she was, and this over her head, and began to whip her bare person with his elk-horn whip. One of the other squaws ran to her help and managed to hold Peg-a-bled Feet's arms, bearing the brunt of the whip herself. Peg-a-bled Feet's face was a sight. She screamed, yelled, cursed and yodeled, death, while pouring out a torrent of Sioux words. Then with the others away they went running for the Sioux encampment, going what we knew afterwards to be the Sioux war cry but cause for alarm. A swarm of bare, grabbing at every weapon near to hand, and started being gone. As she met him, no doubt she told him of the death, result that there is no greater coward than an Indian either male or female when opposed to long their murderers. Mr. Clark, in his drunken fashion, had run after the women, while the company's men who came hurrying on were ordered not to get the log gates closed. It was the last. Fortunately we had two old hunters who had often wintered on the plains and they grabbed Mr. — and hid him in a safe spot. While a few moments the inside of the square was full of a yelling mob of armed and naked Sioux howling and throwing war cry. "Vallallala" (one of the few expressions they could make me by the hair and dragged him to feet, while his comrades was playing circles around my head. Donald Harper, one of our old plainsmen, had told me to an arrow take it. This I did, and I soldier head, answering their cause in and began to upset the young warriors who were evidently thirsting for blood, especially for Mr. —, who was the cause of

Looks for Higher Freight Rates

Chairman of Railway Commission Advocates Immediate Adjustment With Labor.

Vancouver.—Only by dispensing with unnecessary train services and by reducing wages, can freight rates be brought down, Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the Dominion Railway Commission, told members of the Kiwanis Club, in addressing them here.

"We have built too many railways. There is too much duplication of services. These must be cut down, and the problem is where to begin. The people want lower freight rates, but they will not permit us to cut off costly Sunday trains without a howl of protest. The country must make up its mind that some services must be foregone if rates are ever to come down," he said.

"Next to the unnecessary train services," he continued, "the greatest factor in maintaining high rates are the wages which have to be paid as the result of the McAdoo award of 1918, and the Chicago award of July, 1920. There are eight or ten agents on the Canadian Northern Railways whose wages came from $1,200 to $2,400 annually, but we are making from $3,000 to $5,000 as the result of these awards.

"If the public is willing to have its railways operated at a loss, I don't know that I can decrease my facility. Nothing of the kind. But I am not in favor of wasting money. The railways ought to be operated as economically as even the best managed banks or industrial concerns," Mr. Carvell declared.

Vindicates Transcontinental

Diversion of Traffic Now Going Through U.S. Is Sought By Senate.

Ottawa.—In the Senate on motion of Hon. Mr. Beique, Hon. F. Bourgeois introduced a bill to amend the Canada Grain Act. The bill provides that the Board of Grain Commissioners shall not be authorized to fix licenses in regard to the establishment of terminal elevators without the approval of the Governor-in-Council.

Senator Lorne Webster said that the contract between the National Transcontinental and the City of Quebec, made in 1904 and confirmed in 1910 was unfulfilled.

The Vote of the Hospital By-Law takes place on Friday, (15th.) Polling at Fire Hall. A vote for the by-law means a vote for the continuance of the hospital on its present efficient basis. The money is needed and needed badly. Vote for the by-law. Every ratepayer should vote.

The Campbell-Lake Local of the U.F.A. is reported to have registered an emphatic protest against the arrangement entered into recently with respect to the opening of a Rest Room in town. It is claimed the arrangement was entered into without direct authority and the members say they still repudiate the deal. What they want and will endeavor to have is a Rest Room without any strings whatsoever attached to it. The matter it is understood will be referred to the executive of the district association. Since the publication of the article dealing with the supposedly antidarkerly arrangements in regard to the building of a Rest Room, a large number of protests from country points have been received over the phone by the editor relative to the article in question. From what we could deduct, there is seemingly an emphatic protest against the "dragging of funds" for the purpose. One very irate member of the U.F.A. stated that some exceeding a thousand dollars had been systematically raised towards the scheme which had lain near to their hearts for a very long time and that they felt that the institution of a Rest Room might have been safely left to those formulating it. Owing to the evidence of trouble brewing, a communication from Mrs. Evelyn Edwards, bearing upon contributions and equipment for this purpose by townspeople, is held over until a concise statement of the situation is given this paper by the District Executive of the U.F.A., and U.F.W.A., when it is trusted the atmosphere will be cleared up.

Thousands of blind have been trained at St. Dunstan's Hostel for Blind of Soldiers and Sailors. London. Twenty thousand men were discharged from the British army at the end of the war. The organization has been working for five years on the problem of rehabilitating these men and many have been restored to productive industry. The men are taught massage, poultry farming, mat-making, basket making, boot repairing, joinery and music. Many efficient stenographers, telephone operators and typists have been trained at St. Dunstan's and are now working at regular employment in London offices. The stenographers have a special machine which records Braille figures on a tape, which the stenographer later reads as transcribing her notes. The organization also extends to the relatives, and St. Dunstan's men are now to be found in every part of the world.

Manna Still Falling

United States Consul Writes From Mesopotamia of Peculiar Dew.

The feeding of the children of Israel upon manna from heaven during their 40 years of wandering in the wilderness en route to the land of Canaan, as related in the Bible, is a story of poetry and does not record a miracle. This is the opinion of Oscar S. Heizer, United States consul at Erzerum, who says that manna is [illegible] now [illegible] Mesopotamia and Kurdistan and also of Persian frontier. It falls each year in the form of dew.

Immediately after falling, the manna, a hard, yellow substance, becomes sticky and assumes the form of small balls. Early in the morning, before the heat of the day, the manna is gathered and [illegible]

The size of the tooth brush, as well as its shape, is a matter of personal opinion. It would be reasonable to suppose that a person with small teeth, and a small brush for a small mouth. 1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

On entering Hotel Laval on 9 George and Percy J. Bayley M. Goldman and F. Wemer were instructed but Sunday afternoon at Mannville by three patrol leaders in organizing a troop division by Mrs. Mcarthur of Mannville in connection with that town. As besides Mrs Mcarthur there was a small lodge and a little girl on the bunch, the situation would easily have developed into an impasse.

The organization meeting in last week a number developed interest, that the 1st Vermilion Troop is going to celebrate its first anniversary by a real "Good" which is more or less happy-go-lucky term a banquet. This banquet is to be held in the Methodist church, thanks to the main point. The date set is Monday 9th of May and so as to keep pace with C.N.I. Day, we will not conclusions from here this of Jack Father & Son Banquet. Many people are sending in how long they will have to wait for their meal-time and possibly one to reason for the long delay.

The following item from the Mannville paper explains:

"Mayor Courtney M. Ke to Edmonton. There has been great demand for Scout goods on account of the visit of the Duke of Devonshire. We have on hand a number of Scout suits at present.

Messrs. Johnson & Walker Ltd.

"There is such a demand for Scout goods we cannot get a large enough stock in from the East.

"Those troops which do not be complete this week should not wait till the week that we have to have a First Class Scout in the Troop, and any Boy Scout who has been since August a little behind in the Training of the Rank.

The last log of the Anderson Walker Company is at hand, thanks, so much up.

A general meeting is to be held to have his name suitable has given the S. M. $10.00 towards a prize for the Troop. Do not forget to join the Troop of clean hands and correct carriage when talking around town the S. M. to be the judge of these things.

The Edmonton Journal Post And Times want to spend a little more time looking over their Text Books, as they still MAY have a sailboat at the Contest. The ballot will be held on Friday night was won by the Beaver Patrol, Scout Martin Feldman being the first to find the letter. Scouts Lee Bryden and R. Davey have won their Merkman Badge, and R. Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Cloud).

The husband of the scolded woman was particularly bloodthirsty and quite mad with rage. The young braves backed him up and were searching everywhere for Assee, no doubt it would have gone hard with him if his hiding place had been discovered. One interpreter talked until he was hoarse trying to make some sort of settlement, but nought they however would not treat. They would not smoke, but clamored for the guilty man and threatened to burn the fort over our heads. Of course we could see no account surrender him to them for from tender mercies. Next day, by good luck, Chief Factor McDonald returned sooner than expected and there was a Grand Council held in the huge Indian room of the fort, some forty of the leading Sioux being present.

It was a fine sight and quite an education for us youngsters to see this spare Scottish man walking up and down before the grave dusky warriors and eating them as if they were a lot of school boys. I only remember the general tenor of his remarks which were chiefly delivered through an interpreter, though at times he would break into broken Sioux interspersed with Gaelic and Cree.

The speech follows:

"Did you never play the fool yourselves when full of fire water? The woman is not hurt. What's all this fuss about? You wait until my back is turned and then rush in Low at night trying to scare everybody." Shaking his first at them, "I tell you, Sioux, if you are not more civil I will report you to the Queen's Red Coat Soldiers at Fort Pelly. You cannot go back across the Line as the Big Knives are waiting for you there. The Sioux nation will be wiped out like that" (clapping his hands together) "and so on in much the same strain.

McDonald was right. The Mounted Police were being organized at Fort Pelly that summer and the very last of their red coated cohort from there of course were very much exaggerated and created a tremendous impression amongst all the Indian tribes.

After a long pow-wow, the damages on the Sioux behalf reported to [illegible] was compensated by a substantial payment, which amount duly charged to the guilty chief's account, while he was mercifully not of the fort and sent back to his people with orders to stay there. Poor wretch, the company put up with his insolence for some years and then dismissed him, and from that time on he went downward.

A peculiar incident occurred while the Sioux a little later on. A small band of Crees had come in [illegible] plains and camped on the west side of the fort (the Crees were on the east). They were not allowed to cross [illegible] and then challenged them to a [illegible] gamble, which was promptly taken up. I had never seen such a [illegible] gambling as was always [illegible] of and had young Mohawk explain the procedure, which was simple in the extreme. [illegible] parties sat opposite each other and [illegible] hold the bettors or who's a [illegible] The players, usually eight in a number, sat opposite one another in a large tepee, the [illegible] with a painted buffalo robe. [illegible] beating gently, louder, then furiously, while a continuous "Ah, Ah" song went on in chorus. The hands were then examined, the winner [illegible] finally held right over the opposite his chance. He stakes were all piled up in plain sight. I specially noted an elderly blind Sioux sitting behind their players. He they constantly referred to when big stakes were up and invariably won so much so, that after playing all night the Crees were beaten to a finish, losing nearly all their wealth. The aged of the blind Sioux spread far and wide, and though many Indians came in to try their fortunes, they were invariably losers. Was it telepathy, mind reading, or what? Anyway with his prophetic insight he revived the fortunes of the Sioux, and they shortly came into [illegible] and I cared no more of them.

These Sioux, as Dacotah Indians, were not a pleasant people. Many of both sexes were handsomer, but they nearly all had a hard, fierce expression, and a pleasant face was a rarity. Their tepees were scrupulously clean and tidy to a degree, and all very particular about their personal appearance. One or did not forget in dealing with them that their hands were red with much innocent blood of white people, which had become so tempting helpless prisoners the women, it was claimed were the worst offenders.

The Grand Yearly Council of the Hudson's Bay Company was always held at Fort Carlton and we were all anxiously waiting for the return of Chief Commissioner Chas. A. Smith, as [illegible] and he had his party, driving forty or so [illegible] with [illegible] all along the route making leave eighty to one hundred and twenty-five miles daily, arrived at Fort. They only stopped for dinner, [illegible] the moment of [illegible] Qu'Appelle River to Mr. McDonald, and then pushed on to Fort Garry. Next day I was summoned to the chief and informed that I had been ordered by [illegible] to Fort [illegible] the Mackenzie River, Mr. M. Donald, remaining [illegible] that [illegible] to supply [illegible] would [illegible] could not [illegible] blood. His last remark, however, made me furious. "You will leave your dogs here as they would only be a drag on the boats, and now you can go. Well, I loved those dogs as a brother, and the dogs they were [illegible] me, and it [illegible] from them was a heart [illegible] I had reserved for [illegible] in a former article. Fort Hushy, on Assiniboine River [illegible] and [illegible] Fort Ellis [illegible] Mr. Chief Factor [illegible] Mr. McDonald [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Economical Car

EVEN if the Ford Car used six or seven hundred dollars more than it does, the Ford Car would still be the recommended car to buy because of its great durability,
The low cost of operation, and the low cost of repairs, the charges for which are fixed by the companies in over 4000 Ford Dealer and Service Stations in Canada.
The low cost of a Ford Car, the light consumption of fuel and oil, the moderate cost of repairs and genuine Ford parts make the Ford Car with our complete, the most economical car to buy and drive—the car, in fact, which the mass of motorists must rely on afford to buy and operate.

Women's Institute Notes

Owing to inclement weather, the regular meeting of the Institute was held on the second Wednesday in April instead of the first. After various business matters were discussed, Mr. Quance gave an excellent paper on "Current Events", and Mrs. Robert read the chapter of the month's story. Next month's programme will include a debate "Whether the modern girl is more useful to the home and community than was her grandmother".

Lovely spring weather is here and how one hates to stick indoors sewing for the kids. Happy Thought! Well-made and pretty dresses, etc., can be bought at the W. A. Sale in the Albert Hall.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Veteran's Hall next Monday evening. George McMorris, Superintendent of the Soldiers Settlement Board at Edmonton will address the Board on Thursday evening the 24th. at the Vermilion Hotel at 7.30pm. Tickets may be had from the Secretary or members of the entertainment committee.

Drop in to the Albert Hall Saturday for a cup of good tea.

"Back To God's Country"

Adapted from the story, "Wapi, the Walrus," in "Good Housekeeping"

BY JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Shan Tung, the Chinese, was shot and killed in a gambling den of the far North. Shan Tung had a savage dog, Wapi, the Killer, a throwback from a white man's dog. Came to the ice fields a beautiful white girl, a woman who loved and was loved. In the snow bound trading post the girl and the man she loved came into the power of a man known from Alaska to the Horn as an unscrupulous trader in gold and women. He coveted her. A heart of gold and iron, the girl battles with man and nature to save her lover —and her honor. And Wapi, the Killer! Do you know what this great savage beast did? How he came to this girl in the time of her direst need is a story of thrill and wonder.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that fix ans for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substances. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. DRINKS FOR THE CHILD

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

A mother writes to say it is all very well for dietitians to tell mothers that their children must never have a drop of tea or coffee, but that children get tired of cocoa.

For a change, give them Cambric tea. Half a cup of milk is mixed with half a cup of boiling water. A little sugar is added and the youngster sips his tea allbug with the grown folks who are perhaps indulging in Orange Pekoe.

The cereal coffee on the market—and there are several varieties—are good for children and most acceptable to the palate if properly made. Read the directions carefully and then proceed to follow them accurately.

Sometimes a child will take hot malted milk when it is flavored with cereal coffee when it may refuse it if unflavored. Malted milk may be made cold with either hot water or scalded milk. It is good cold as well as hot. Cold malted milk is often accepted by a child if a generous spoonful of flavored ice cream is well mixed with it.

Hot lemonade for the last meal at evening may be very properly given. It is so much better than an coffee. Squeeze half a lemon into a strainer and set over a saucepan. Add one level tablespoon of sugar and one half a measuring cup of water. Boil for three minutes. Pour into a mug. Add a little cold water to cool for drinking.

Grape juice, either hot or cold, is suitable for children. A little grape juice added to a lemon drink is a different item.

Orangeade, also, is good for children.

Of course, children should learn to drink several glasses of water a day. Many are wasty how it you must, but the child wants it.

Ripe watery fresh pineapples [illegible] can enjoy a drink that will [illegible] good digestion. Prepare a pineapple and crush the fruit into a bowl. Sprinkle lightly with sugar and let stand. Collect the juice and dilute it with hot or cold water. The drink may be made from canned pineapple, but it is not so valuable [illegible]

A Gruesome Paradise

Russia Dying Before the Eyes of a Helpless World.

After a little over three years of Soviet rule Russia lies dying before the eyes of a helpless world. What was to have been the triumph of Marxian Socialism has become a disaster, which has involved in moral and physical suffering many millions of human beings, besides excepting sway all the foundations upon which their prosperity rested. When Lenin, Trotsky and Chicherin seized the reins of power towards the close of 1917 they proclaimed a Communistic Government with a Constitutional Assembly—which has never assembled from that day to this—in which the last word as well as the first word would lie with "the workers." At last the great masses of Russia, whether living in the towns or engaged in various agricultural pursuits in the countryside, were to count him their own. What has been the result?—London Daily Telegraph.

Sports Executive Very Active

Drawing Up of Programme Well Advanced—Membership Tickets Are Being Sold

Since the annual meeting of the Vermilion Athletic Association the various members of the executive committee have been active along the several lines attending the preparations for the big sports day on June 8th. Col. Craig, the president, called the executive together Friday night last and received reports. The ground committee was empowered to proceed with the fixing up of the baseball and football fields and to lay out a course for the running and jumping events. Membership tickets to the association for the year 1921 were allotted to the committee appointed to sell them, and it is hoped to see every man, young and old, a member. By so doing they are encouraging the efforts of those who are endeavoring to provide attractions for the town and locality. A letter of congratulations and best wishes for success was received from the Edmonton Exhibition Association, and a letter was written to the Vermilion Agricultural Society asking for co-operation in the matter of the sports. The committee will report at this week's meeting and in its next issue The Standard hopes to be able to publish a full list of the events decided upon for the celebration. In the meantime get into condition for the jumping and foot races.

1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

As one of the first principles in Scouting is to get outdoors as much as possible, the Troop, now that evenings are lighter and brighter, are taking up outdoor games and pastimes.

Last Friday, Patrol Leader Kibblestone, Scouts Frank English and Percy Mc Cluskey left Hodges, at 10 min utes to eight with somewhat dispatches which had to be delivered to Wm. Gold farm and signed and returned to Hodges Works half an hour through South Beach. Orders reported the rest of the Troop. Patrol Leader Kibblestone and Scout Frank English managed to delay the "Bolsheviki Scouts" but the P. M. was not exactly so lucky, and after an exciting chase was captured by Patrol Leader Ashley Cooper assisted by Patrol Leader Reginald Wood. This point is known to Scouts as the "Hospital Run ning" During the past month or weeks we have another W.H.S. who has attained the age limit for Scouts namely Scout Rogers Wright.

Scout Harold Stephens and Scout Edgar Sharp have both just passed their first test for second class scouts certificates.

Scout Donald Craig and Scout Gerald Stephens did their good turn for the Kindergarten Display in the Methodist Church by acting as ushers. The Canadian Scouts who have been told off during the winter months to hold in Winnipeg this summer has been definitely postponed until next summer. Don't forget correct uniform even at the father and mother's parties. Scouts. It is your duty always to look perfect and smart. Records on attendance and all orders known on left shoulder, not out.

VERMILION, ALTA MAY 1, 1921

The communication from Rev. H.A. Edwards bearing upon the destruction of the beautiful stretch of woods along the valley bank, is one vitally effecting all lovers of nature and those who would conserve a beautiful park merely found in our western country. Feeling will run high among our citizens after reading the statement of facts contained in Mr. Edward's letter, which the editor can verify having viewed the unsightly gaps where many hundreds of the finest trees cut down. For two sections along the southern banks of the valley the property is owned by the Can. National Railways and the devastation has been wrought in the very midst of a fine belt of goodly trees in this area, which is more or less wooded. Mr. Geo. Maggs, pumpman for the Can. Nat. Rys. at this point is fully vested with authority to prohibit the cutting of shrubbery and trees on the company's property at Vermilion and to him in a large degree is to be credited the fact that up to the present instance no serious destruction of trees has taken place. He is now in Winnipeg and will lay the matter before the Land Commissioner of the company. This together with the representations made by the Town and copy of this issue of the Standard voicing strong protests, which is going forward to the commissioner, will undoubtedly lead toan immediate investigation and an effort to have those guilty aand to mete out the drastic punishment their act deserves.

Owing to the large number of pupils attending the public school from outside rural districts, the Board of Trustees of Vermilion Centre School District No. 1416, has been compelled to put into force and effect section 181 of the School Ordinance, empowering the board to levy and collect a fee not to exceed $10.00 per annum from any one family. To the resident of the rural school district to whom this affects, this may seem unfair and for your information the fact of the present situation is this. At the present time there are approximately 20 pupils attending the public school from rural districts where in most cases schools are being conducted. Now then, 20 pupils at $10 is $200 (of all from different families) revenue this district gains. These twenty pupils are coming into a school already carrying a cap. ity load it necessarily follows that an additional teacher must be employed at a minimum salary of $1000.00 at least and you must also take into consideration the additional cost of heating, lighting, caretaking, wear and tear, etc., you can plainly see that this district stands to lose money, even after you have added any grant to be had with carrying the extra teacher.

The annual fee has been divided into three in-stalments via Jan. to Easter $5.00, Easter to June 30th, $5.00 and from Sept. 1st to Dec 31, $0.00 payable in advance. This schedule of payments covering fees was adopted in preference to charging 50 cents per day until full amount of fees had been paid.

An enterprise which is vitally important to the future of the Dominion is that undertaken by "The Western Canada Colonization Association," on another page we publish a special article dealing on a comprehe sive manner with the whole movement. We ask our readers to read it and lend every effort towards the consummation of the objects set out. Canada, and particularly the prairie provinces, cannot go on with the present limited population. The people are too few to bear the great burden of the war debt and the deficit on the Canadian National Railways. As Mr. Orenn has said, the only cure for the present alarming situation is more people on the land and especially more people on the land on Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Crawford Makes Wild Statements At Calgary

Denounced So-called Colonialism of Sir Jas. Outram and Other

CALGARY, May 1.—Lindsay Crawford addressed a meeting here this afternoon at which the audience was comprised of members of the self determination league and friends. Prime representatives and members of the Labor were given places in the audience.

Mr. Crawford charged the police at the coast for "conniving with the forces of disorder."

He denounced what he called the abject colonialism of men like Cockshutt, Sir James Outram of Calgary, and imperialistic organizations such as the Orange Order Empire League, and the I.O.D.E., which latter organization was kept together merely by the social ambitions of some women. When these people talked of empire, they thought of Canada merely as a colony, which was an insult to Canadians. Sir Robert Borden had expressed the same judgment of the Canadian people in his speech the other day in standing up for Canadianism rather than Imperialism. Canada had self government, and that was all Ireland was asking for.

Bud Rosebrough, medical student of the University of Alberta, returned home Monday. He completed writing on the third year exams last week.

Canadian Chiropractic College
30 Rusholm Park Crescent,
Toronto, Can., April 1921.

Mr. Cooper
Dear Sir,

Will you be kind enough to give me a little space in your valuable paper. It is just to my best I thank all the old friends in Vermilion for their past kindness during my seven years residence there, that I had a very fine voyage over to England and had a very enjoyable time, but the climate was so damp and cold that I was glad to return to Canada. I am taking up a chiropractic course at this college and I assure you I am getting to get the diploma, but will try very hard (if hard work and study will help) to come out with honors, when I intend to return to Vermilion and take up practice. In the meantime if any of my old friends and patients will write to me I shall be delighted to receive a letter, telling me about dear old Vermilion and themselves

Believe me,
Yours very truly,
Lillian A. Sherwin.

Dublin, May 4.—A sergeant, and seven constables were ambushed and killed this morning a short distance outside of Rathmore County Kerry. Only one man in the party escaped. He was uninjured. The police patrol, comprising a sergeant and eight constables had left Rathmore to recover the body of a man lying on the road half a mile from the village, but ran into the ambuscade before they reached the spot.

Four policemen were killed and two wounded on the same day in the ambush at Tourmakeady.

A contributor to an English weekly tells of an Irishman who was deported, having his services escape from a crowd of boys.

"I asked him by the wall," he explained, "and there I was! I was afraid to hold on, and I dared not let go."

"I've seen between the horns of a dilemma," ventured a critic.

"No, sorrer, I wasn't between the horns of it, sir, but, be the same token, I was a-Jersey."

"Every week ... lists of ... London ... and ... children ... here, 2,000 ... and 2,000 ... began ... added ... ing."

Germany spends poverty, but she has at least money enough to keep up her political secret service and fees gin propaganda in departments. Of the latter, one of the latest diagnoses is "The League of German Patriots." With the inspirational general holdon in England have been put into executive through the mails. One of these is specifically addressed to churchmen and appeals to all Christians to study carefully "the accumulated proofs of Germany's boundless cause and the guilt of the Entente" in the matter of the responsibility for the war," to approve that the German Government, on account of its "compromise and inefficiency in combating falsehood," has not before taken the proper steps to fix upon England the guilt of the World War." But now she felt is to be done therefore, and it is to be done by the simple means of adding such propaganda as the following: "Do you think Christ would have approved of the Great Lie stating the moral fibre of a whole nation?"

Another meagre pamphlet is intended for "Britons with a conscience," and for the "American people." Americans ought to be thankful for the continued entanglement. But it is no grass commodity adherent to their understanding to be asked gravely to read such "documents as evidence" as this.

Allies Have Not Yet Solved Secret

Mechanism of "Big Bertha" Has Been For Hundred Discovery.

The secret of the mechanism of "Big Bertha" and the three long-range guns of that type which the Germans are known to have possessed, has so far eluded discovery. The Peace Treaty stipulates that these, just as any other German guns, should be surrendered, but up to now the Germans have refused to obey. A grant of 100,000 francs was made by the French Government for research work, with a view to discovering the secret, but although a recent notice of it has been given by the Allies, apparently it is not how these guns were made. The officers are continuing their search, and the work is now in the hands of the French naval artillery department.

Prince of Wales Makes Ideal Camera Subject.

As an admired screen personality the Prince of Wales has eclipsed the leading favorites in England. It is said in London of a Prince who first entered the recent Official Tour Film from theatre to theatre, and admitted that she had spent over £2 in three weeks in seeing "that darling boy." Besides which the tropical kinematographers, the Princes is certainly an ideal camera subject. He is always perfectly "natural," and his prowess as a horseman—glimpses of which are on the screen—would do credit to a naval champion.

McDonald Has Now Discarded Cane And Walks Well As Ever

"I just simply think there's nothing like Tanlac, for the way it has restored my health is simply wonderful," said Kenneth A. Mcdonald, well known hardware dealer, residing at Oak Bluff, Man., while in Winnipeg recently. "Three years ago I commenced suffering with lumbago, and then a year later rheumatism struck me in my knees. My knees were so stiff in the mornings I could not bend them, and I certainly did have a time getting my clothes on. In a few months my legs and arms got to hurting terribly, and I was so crippled up I couldn't get around without the aid of a cane. I was hardly able to eat anything, and suffered from gas bloating and pains that were simply terrible. The pains kept me awake most of the night.

"About two months ago I started taking Tanlac, and three bottles of this medicine made me feel like a different man. I've finished my sixth bottle now, and haven't a trace of lumbago, rheumatism or stomach trouble left with me, and have gained five pounds in weight. The cane I used to walk with, stands up in the corner of my room now, for I can get about so well I never need it any more. Tanlac is beyond doubt the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

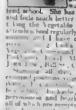
TOO ILL TO GO TO SCHOOL

Mother Tells how Daughter was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Colborne, Ont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prescribed by our family physician for my daughter, who had run down. Every month when her periods came on she was sick and nervous and could not go to school. She was pale and thin and had no appetite. I had given her up as a hopeless case, when I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. She began to improve from the first dose and after taking three bottles of the Vegetable Compound and two boxes of the Liver Pills she was entirely well. She has become popular and does not have to stay at home any more. I have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills to many friends and they have also been benefited by them." Mrs. Edward Wood, Box 3, Colborne, Ont.

Making House Work Easy

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

The progressive woman is always in search of devices for making the greatest of home making easier. Have you ever seen a tiny washing machine, weighing but six pounds, run by water power? One may attach it to the faucet and wash in a twinkling not only georgette blouses, fine underwear, silk stockings, filmy crepe de chines and muslins, fine table napkins, embroidered guest towels, etc., but even coarser articles.

A cork, mounted on the handiest little handle, is ideal for cleaning knives. The cork is first wet and then dipped into the cleaning powder or other agent. It is then rubbed upon the knife or steel fork. All rust and discoloration is attended to promptly.

But better than battling those knotty tresses, so persevering a stain—an steel knife. Those are a new development in the science of dainty. If so delightful to be able to cut a luxurious mustache and bobbed hair.

Anyone having a fancy for a cane may now make one for herself. It is quite a simple matter, and a delightful one.

There is a little device for cutting canes, or more correctly speaking, for cutting the canes to suit one's own fancy. It is a small affair, and consists of a pair of sharp knives, one of which is adjustable, so that canes of any thickness may be cut. The canes are first soaked in water for a few days, and then cut to the length desired. The knives should be kept sharp, and the canes should be cut with a clean, straight cut.

On the Old Farm in Springtime

I was out driving a three horse team on the 6 on farm," writes Mr. Edward Crane of Kinburn Ont. "some part of the harness needed. Mr's Polish it one of the horses kicked out and knocked my arm against the sharp edge of the harrow. I was nervously sad about it for a long time.

But not long after we began work we got a bottle of Zam-Buk, and got one and my arm grew sound and healthy. I am pleased that I tried Zam-Buk, for it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine and dressings I had tried before. Zam-Buk has also been used with excellent results in my family for cuts, bruises, sores, and other injuries, and I consider it a splendid household remedy."

Zam-Buk is the purest salves and gives quick relief. Being absolutely herbal it is suitable for eczema sufferers, piles, ringworm, bad legs, abscesses, blood poisoning, cuts and other injuries. 50c box, all druggists and stores. 1 for $1.25 or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Fire was discovered in the kitchen of the Vermilion Hotel at 1 a.m. Sunday by some men who were already up at this unseasonable hour. They were attracted by the smoke and investigation showed the fire to be in the flue under the cooking range. Despite the hour the firemen made a record run and were enabled to extinguish the blaze from the basement with the Chemical. It was a narrow escape from a disastrous conflagration.

Monday the 9th was Arbor Day, an occasion set apart for the "beautifying of peoples and residents streets by the planting of trees and shrubs. The Standard's information is that only three trees were set out and these by Rev. H.A. Edwards. No doubt many hundreds would have been planted if trees had been procurable. In the city of Edmonton, trees and shrubs were supplied by the authorities on application and as a result that city is so much the richer by several thousand trees on its boulevards streets and school grounds, to become things of beauty and a joy forever. Another year some concerted action should be taken early in the spring whereby trees and shrubs will be available to all wishing to have them.

Court of Revision

The Town Council met as a court of revision on Monday. While under the new system of taxation thereby improvements are assessed and property to the value of over $600,000 was added to the roll, only two appeals came, before the board claiming excessive valuation. The assessment was made by John Walker, contractor. There were two or three other appeals on the ground of non-ownership or claiming exemption. The appeal of Ben Chatel for excessive valuation, his new residence being assessed for $4500.00, was allowed, and the assessment reduced to $3500.00. The claim of the Hayward Lumber Co. for excessive valuation on a small dwelling near the yards was reduced from $1400.00 to $1200.00. Their claim for an auction on its coal shed was not allowed. In connection with the appeals of the wardens of St. Saviour's and Immaculate Conception Church of Christ for exemption on the parsonages, the question came up as to whether under the act residences occupied by pastors of churches were exempt or not. The factory was assessed this year because it had been under rent for sometime past. The parsonage of the Church of Christ had been assessed as a private dwelling but since it has been purchased by the church a claim was made that it was exempt. The towns act states that any land used for church purposes and not for any other is exempt. There is no reference made to buildings. The land is exempt to the extent of half an acre. The board held to the view that the residence occupied by the minister of any congregation or parish is not a building or land used for church purposes; that on the contrary it is let out for rent, there being usually a stipulation on engaging pastors that they get so much a year stipend and free residence. The question that came up was whether or the occupation of any dwelling by the pastor of a church regardless of actual ownership brought that building under the clause providing for exemptions. The board while referring to the opinion that it did not, referred the whole matter to the department of municipal affairs for a ruling which will be awaited with some interest as this is the first time the question has been raised in the province so far as can be ascertained.

HON. T. A. CRERAR SAYS GET WILD LANDS LISTED

Leader of National Progressive Party Endorses Principle of Legislation Requested by Western Canada Co-operation Association and Its Multitude of Supporters Throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Hon. T. A. Crerar's statement reads: "The proposal of the Western Canada Co-operation Association that an inventory of unoccupied land be taken under Government auspices as to the public resources and that the owners of such land should be obliged to fix a price at which they would sell to intending settlers, seems a most excellent one. The fact that the price fixed would be made the value for assessment of the special Wild Lands Tax would keep the owner of the land down to a level that was reasonably fair. Land speculation, and the natural resources, has been one of the worst evils this country has suffered from.

It is generally agreed that Canada needs more people but an immigration that can only have the permanent success if the people who are already living here are relieved of the artificial handicaps under which they have laboured in the past, of which three specializations in land is one. The more popular the country is made by fixing the higher the land speculator raises the price. In the best interests therefore of the people of Canada the proposal that land held out of use should be made available for those who want to use it is sound and deserves the support of all good Canadians citizens. The step is in line with what the organized farmers of Western Canada have advocated for many years."

Coal Problem One Of Transportation

Canada's Manufacturing Industries Far Removed From Coal Supply.

Ottawa.—Canada has immense supplies of coal in both eastern and western fields, but 90 per cent of her manufacturing industries are located in Ontario and Quebec, where no coal is produced. Therefore the difficulty becomes one largely of transportation. This and other evidence given to the special House Committee on fuel resources by Joseph G. Hodon, of the Department of Mines.

Mr. Hodson declared that at Sheep Creek, Alberta, there was a large deposit of coal almost equal to anthracite.

Swiss Expel Foreigners

Unemployment and High Food Prices Cause Trouble.

Berne.—Many Dutch newspaper correspondents at Berne and other Swiss cities have been ordered by the Government to leave Switzerland. "They stay no longer being considered necessary."

The Dutch ambassador has signified his protest against this measure. Switzerland's financial conditions, unemployment, and above all, the high prices of food, may well have caused this surprising order, many Swiss believe, on the ground that the influx of foreigners should be stopped by all means.

The value of iron ores and steel imported into Canada exceeds $140,000,000 annually, and 94 per cent of the iron ore used in Canada is imported. Success Attends Plan For Placing Soldier Settlers on the Land

Practically every country implicated in the readjustment of the Great War, and concentrating the many problems in the aftermath, has paid warm tribute to the gigantic manner in which Canada treated her returned warriors and the efficient measures she developed for their successful re-establishment as civil life. In common with other belligerent nations, Canada was faced with the problem of rehabilitating a large army accustomed, after years of hardship and privation, to a life free from care, from home personal existence, and facing an uncertain future with vastly differing views and of the prize awaiting them, and this on entirely changed outlook upon life.

It was a wise procedure, both for the nation and the individual soldier, to encourage the army to go on the land, and in order to afford an opportunity for such a measure as the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act was passed. Sending Great Britain soldiers were first honors in the swift gallop of war with a load of wealth to be perfect, while Re-[illegible] of Shrewsbury, who is the father of Marquis wheat and [illegible] of the [illegible] Agricultural College, Saskatoon, have been responsible for the production of many other valuable varieties of grain.

Marquis wheat was responsible for a great development in the baking and milling industry. Before its introduction, Red Fife was the only wheat growing on a large scale in Western Canada which possessed the strength necessary for the production of a high-class flour. Red Fife, however, was a late ripening variety, and in the northern districts frequently failed to mature before the autumn frosts. Marquis wheat ripens from seven to ten days earlier than Red Fife, and thus escapes the early frosts. Its introduction has therefore made possible the successful growing of wheat in districts where, previously, the crop was a precarious one. Marquis wheat has also proved to be a heavier yielder than Red Fife, and its strength is such that it can be used for blending with softer wheats. Its value in the baking and milling test, and by the Ruby wheat for which Mr. Canfield won first place for the best variety of spring wheat, was granted $65, or honour of all on the milling and baking contest.

THE RED CROSS

An International Brotherhood of People Working for Humanity

[illegible] to The Standard)

Edmonton, May 22.—The Red Cross emerged from the Great War with a unique organization for service and efficiency. Its aim set to save life amidst the wreck of war it has become a sign that war shall end—they cease and that the love of men will finally conquer the hate of man. It is one of the grandest agencies in the world for good time and is already the vision of [illegible] It has become part of the [illegible] of Canada and [illegible] an international force that will help to make it eternal. In concluding this stirring message the Lieut. Governor [illegible] in the work of reconstruction which we all hail with so much fervour and hope. But with the [illegible] comrades they have proved to us that the world is worth saving and reconstructing. There are hundreds of soldiers and their families in this province who are not yet fully or even partially established They need the Red Cross service. ALL MUST ACT

In accordance with statement given to the press Hon. T.A. Crerar says in part: "The proposal of the Western Canada Colonization Association that an inventory of unoccupied land be taken under governmental auspices in the Prairie Provinces and that owners of such lands should be obliged to fix the price at which they would sell to incoming settlers, is I think, an excellent one."

Mr. Crerar is one of many prominent men representing public and private interests in the West who have declared themselves in support of the Western Canada Colonization Association plan for the settlement on all and unoccupied land of an occupied area can land for new settlers good for a reasonable period. Such an inventory is essential to the working out of any successful colonization scheme and for relieving conditions. Owners in possession of such a list this Association will be able to bring in settlers and place them on the land to the great advantage of our own and land-owners of other communities on the prairies.

The help of all is wanted in securing this non-partisan expression from the three Provincial

On looking over my last article it may be that my readers will be left with the impression that Chief Factor Archie McDonald was a tyrannical, unjust man, but this was by no means the case. You, however, must understand that Mr. Hodgson's Boy officers in charge of districts at this time had practically absolute powers. Truly, Canada had taken over the country, but her jurisdiction for all practical purposes ended when you left Fort Garry (now Winnipeg), and in the great realm of the Northwest the H. B. Co. ruled supreme They had jails at many of their head posts, with handcuffs and leg irons for unruly servants, or law-breaking Indians, and few of them when required, Give absolute authority in any man and he is apt in some more or less of a despot Shortly after leaving the Hudson's Bay service in 1883, and being at this time in poor health and circumstances, Mr Archie McDonald was exceedingly kind and helpful me to get a start on my own account

To resume our trip across the plains, The party was composed of a crew supervised by that of the loaded carts, whilst scouts from wooden arms could be found for miles, in spite of constant applications of grease From twenty to twenty-five miles daily was a fair average and one must know that the ponies subsisted entirely on grass, as oats were unknown in the wilds Consequently the men would start with the carts very early in the morning, while the bourgeois and he clerks would have breakfast much later and easily catch up with the train for dinner. Ahead of the party rode Chief Guide Jessie Varnour, generally with one by his side, thereby to imbibe all the plants man's lore possible, and scouts on the other clerks were such as Armed guards had to be set nightly, and the horses we fed very carefully, for straying was rife, and no doubt our large brands was spied upon from time to time by scouting Indians. The prairie was covered with fresh buffalo sign and the Captain said that a large herd was just to the south of us In fact a few old bulls were sighted by our riders, but Mr. Ewen would not allow any hunting for fear of having or injuring the horses, and this much to the disgust of we younger stars who were all zealous to shoot a buffalo.

About the tenth day out we met a small war party of Saulteaux coming in from the great plains to the south-west, en route to Fort Qu'Appelle They met us all mat long ch. were with drums beating, their headmen rigged out in gaudy cloth, paint and feathers galore. These were the usual snake dances and a couple of small ponies were killed for the feast by Mr McDonald and in return we received a welcome supply of meat, a young buffalo roast just like pork we before They had no carts with them, that is the lodge poles, were fastened on each side to a pony in a parchment laced across behind the horse and on this rather primitive travois lodge leather, dried meat and pemmican were piled over the usual camp gear and dogs were taken in the same way. With this exception a student would think that such things truly for a while Soon after we met a small band of the Saskatchewan and [illegible] being on a hunt [illegible] the large wooden cart wheels over which buffalo parchments were laced securely, and in the centre of these rude carts were placed the women and children, all baggage, freight, etc. Swimmers were the motive power, and I would say how many we saw as I crossed the river. The large band of ponies were left to the last and Jessie Hounor and I took them across, he explaining that on no account must we allow them to circle, but keep them going in a direct course, the remedy if one turned losing to splash some in their face. All went well but it took several days before the whole outfit was safely landed. Another day's travel took us to Fort Carlton, which, unlike Ellis, was situated in the valley of the North Branch, close to the river, we arriving there without the loss of a pony or a pound of freight, much to the satisfaction of Chief Factor Lawrence, who ruled supreme over the Saskatchewan district with Carlton as headquarters. The fort was much on the same order as Ellis, but in better order. This fine establishment was burnt in 1885 by accident, as the Mounted Police [illegible] were evacuating it, after the defeat at Duck Lake.

I was detailed to lend a hand in the trading store and daily my retinue increased with the arrival of new destinations. Some days after my arrival a packet arrived by canoe from Cumberland House (down the river), and that evening I was summoned to the office, where, in addition to Mr. Clarke, was Inspecting Chief Factor Robert Hamilton. They informed me there was a pressing vacancy at Cumberland, and they were considering changing my appointment from Markinzie River to that point but they would like to hear my views It was all one to me, and as I told them, and it was then decided that I go down the river on the first opportunity. Mr. Hamilton, who came from Peterboro, Ont., and was an old friend of my father's, gave me much wise and kindly advice as to my future in the service where he had spent practically his life also.

Several weeks passed in very pleasant company as Mr Clarke had a lovely daughter and there were several other ladies at the [illegible] principal amusements and we, as lords of the passage, were not asked to work very hard. York boat arrived from up the river, and I received orders to embark next morning The crew were Red River [illegible] I only speak [illegible] Cree, using [illegible] and I had much the same [illegible] I could [illegible] Cree [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

When Does Bronchial Trouble Begin To Get Serious?

When you have a cough, chest cold, throat irritation, hoarseness, tickling in the throat, and the bronchial tubes are inflamed, you should not neglect it. Delay is dangerous. You endure suffering, have frightful fear, the spit is raising up, and, as effective remedies are not used, the trouble is liable to keep hanging on, and finally develop into "Bad Bronchitis," or "Bronchial Asthma," or "Chronic Bronchitis," and it is made harder to cure. Nothing is more effective than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is a combination of the best pine balsam, with other healing, soothing and strengthening ingredients, and is so well known and so universally used throughout Western Canada, and has been for years, that we do not need to say more than that it is the best. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Bankfield, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for a bad cough and cold, and found it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it." Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

For brought some hen-bane for you, my dear."

The newcomer threw off her wraps and nodded eagerly around.

"Pauline's homesick, you know how I've wanted to see it," she said. "I don't look after my own meals and corsets" — she dropped a hand suddenly on a slim waist — "you modern young ladies frighten me," she slip-slopped. "I'm so used to efficient Irish help that I'm helpless to keep house myself. Not that I'm complaining, mind you, I made Bradshaw father and I made Frank happy when he was not well. As I always say, a man's happiness depends on his digestion, and a woman's on her husband's. Now, Pauline, you and Frank have been married nearly a year, haven't you?"

"Nearly," said Pauline, with a little sigh.

"Well, I suppose you've had your little tiffs and misunderstandings, but you mustn't mind them. Frank's father and I had them, and I've no doubt your own parents did. Now, I'm going to stay with you for a week, and I'll soon put things to rights. Frank, you look as if you needed a square meal. Pauline, you look pale. Now, I'm going to see about supper, and I'll have a talk with Bridget. Don't you worry about a thing, my dear."

Pauline looked after her mother-in-law with a sinking heart. Then she turned to her husband.

"Frank, I wish you hadn't asked her to come," she said. "I'm sure I can't help it, dear," he said, "but I'm glad she's here. I'm sure she'll do you good. You look pale and worried, and you've lost flesh. Mother will soon put you right."

"I'm sure I don't want to be put right," she said. "I'm quite happy as I am, and I don't want your mother to interfere with me. I'm not a child, and I don't like being treated like one."

"Pauline, you're unreasonable," he said. "Mother has had a lot of experience, and she knows what's best for us. I'm sure she means well, and I don't see why you should object to her staying with us."

"I don't object to her staying with us," she said, "but I do object to her interfering

After Three Years Of Liquid Diet, Kaiser Is Picture Of Health

"I had lived on a liquid diet for three years and my case had twice been pronounced hopeless, but Tanlac has completely overcome my stomach trouble and I eat meat, vegetables and everything else I want now," said Joseph S. Baker, of this city, who lives at 331 Beverley St., Winnipeg.

"My trouble dates back to a spell of the flu three years ago and from that time up until I took Tanlac I steadily went down hill. For a whole year I was so weak I couldn't get my feet out of the bed and while I open. hundreds of dollars trying to get on my feet, nothing helped me a particle. I just moped around the house so weak I couldn't even lift a shovel of coal. I was subject to spells, headaches and awful attacks of nervousness. My skin got yellow and I felt I would have nearly more than a walking skeleton.

"This was the fix I was in when a friend called and persuaded me to take Tanlac a trial. He was formerly a friend is need. I improved right from the first dose I am as sound as a dollar today, have put on twelve pounds in weight and look, so everybody tells me, the very picture of health. I feel twenty years younger and the change in me is so great that my friends hardly know what a desperate condition I was in or me now are simply amazed. I have never known anything in my whole life to equal it."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

AMENDMENT TO THE ACT—APRIL 1921

A number of amendments to the Municipal Hall Insurance Act was passed at the recent session of the Legislature but none of them affect the principles of the bill as it was first voted on by the ratepayers of the province.

The principal changes made as affecting farmers and municipal secretaries are as follows:

All lands that are entirely raw or unbroken will now be withdrawn from the operation of the Act and will remain withdrawn until application is made for their re-inclusion.

If insured crops are destroyed by any cause other than hail the insurance may be cancelled at any time up to the first day of August.

The insurance period has been extended and all growing crops are now insured until the thirtieth day of September.

If claim for damage is not made within thirty days of the date of damage the insured may be required to furnish proof of loss, and if not made previous to the first day of November the claim shall not be allowed.

In the case of lands that are leased and have not been withdrawn the lessee may make a crop report which may be accepted by the municipal secretary as correct.

All applications whether for inclusion from farmers outside the Hail Insurance District, or for re-inclusion of lands that have been withdrawn or for raising the amount of insurance may now also be made to the municipal secretary. It is his duty to forward the application to the Board immediately but the application is not considered in force effective until it has been received by the board at Calgary.

The crop report of the municipal district made by the municipal secretary to the Board if it is a correct copy of the crop reports received and otherwise ascertained by or on behalf for the purposes of taxation is of the payment of indemnities be deemed to be correct."

A section has been added with provisions similar to those of the Threshers Lien Act, giving authority to the owner if he finds it necessary, to make and sell enough of the lessee's share of the crop to pay the lessee's proper share of the hail tax.

The first membership campaign to be carried by the Canadian Red Cross Society on a large scale to be held in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta between June 1 and June 11. It is being launched in the firm belief that Canadians as a body will respond to the appeal, and will join in the work being carried on by the society. The drive will be made in accordance with the resolution adopted unanimously by the first general meeting of the League of Red Cross Societies held in Geneva, Switzerland, May 5, 1919. A Jolt To The Wheel

By John Logan Archibald

The orchestra leader, Lou Vallon, was a queer genius, a sort of protégé of Erskine Gray's. He and Gray were great friends.

"You'll be always so sad," she asked one day when we were had been unaccompanied.

"I don't know," he said, "perhaps it's a form of gratitude. I suppose he's troubled about the future. Some people feel that way, I understand. I don't think about such things myself, but it's part of the artistic temperament perhaps nobody can understand."

"Then you don't love me dearly," she pouted.

"Yes, I do," he said hastily, "but I'm not a slave of routine. That's why I—I didn't mind jogging the wheel of Fate a little."

For British Preference

Reasons Why Canadians Should Buy Within the Empire.

"The new Budget has made it more advantageous than ever for Canadians to buy British goods rather than those from United States manufacturers," declared Capt. Evan J. Edwards, former British Trade Commissioner in Canada, in a recent interview in Montreal. "It will also be a big help to exports and business houses who per with the Mother Country and within the British Empire. Hon. Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, did well when introducing the Budget pointed out that the United Kingdom actions, imports from these last year from $1,26,000,000 in 1919 to $2,750,000,000 in 1920, with the added satisfaction to Canadian buyers and consumers that their dollars are at a premium on the Englishmarket, as against a discount in the United States.

"A portion of the Budget which will assist very much indeed is the clause requiring customs duty to be based on the invoiced value of goods at the current rate of exchange into account. At the desire of business interests throughout Canada, customs officials have drawn up several instructions were made an imports from the United States. The result was a considerable advantage to importers of United States goods, so much so, that on goods with a high rate of exchange it amounted to a quite substantial reduction on the protective customs tariff, and sometimes did away with the preferential tariff given to products of the Empire.

"Now Americans seem to have still the same advantage as ever, and many country continued trade in United States and others. I believe in order that British manufacturers may be able to extend their trade in Canada and the States, and bring back into the fair value the Canadian dollar should be appreciated as close to par as possible. Then Canadians will be able to purchase British goods at a much lower price than they can at present. Many Canadians have been heard to say that they would like to buy more British goods, but they cannot afford to pay the high prices. If the dollar were worth more, they could buy more British goods at a lower price."

Sir Henry Drayton was asked to clearly known to every business man, manufacturer and business man who are interested in pushing the underlying fallacies of the present British system.

"There has been a tendency to hear that since 18 years of cheap money in Canada, we have got used to it," he said. "We have had cheap money in Canada, but we have had it because we have had a cheap dollar. When Canada's dollar was worth 96 cents, money was cheap. When the dollar went down to 90 cents, money became dear. When the dollar went down to 80 cents, money became dearer still. When the dollar went down to 70 cents, money became dearer still. BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Most homes contain little or much trash. And it is not until one starts to move or housecleaning that she discovers how many odds and things she is harboring.

A bride of a year or two runs the other day into a conversation. She, this bride, is going into a new house, a larger dwelling than that she has occupied since her marriage, and is planning how she will furnish it. She has all the money she can spend, and she is going to buy everything new. She is not going to take with her any of the old furniture or carpets, curtains or bed.

She intends to buy new of everything, even to the pots and pans in the kitchen

At 2 o'clock Wainwright went up against Streamstown. This proved the most spectacular game of the tournament, going 11 innings before the crack Streamstown U.F.A. aggregation pulled off a well deserved victory. Anderson of the Buffalo town and Huntsley for Streamstown pitched stellar ball throughout. The first five innings was Wainwright all the way with a score of 5 - 0. A bad break by Wainright and the three Hoglin was pitted against the border town boys and while playing a steady game throughout were unable to penetrate the Lloydminster defence line, the latter winning by a score of 4 - 0. Streamstreet next played Vermilion and although the game extended 40 minutes overtime, neither side were able to score. Vermilion finally won on corners. This left Lloydminster and Vermilion in for the deciding contest the day. Shortly after play opened, Lloydminster, by some pretty combination play worked the ball down to the Vermilion goal and scored. From then on the home boys had hardly the better of the play but despite repeated attempts the ball refused to go between the Lloydminster goal posts and the championship of the day went down the line. Score Lloydminster 1, Vermilion 0. First $50; second $25.

"Fitness, not weakness, is the need of the hour," declared Dr. Peter H. Bryce, chief medical officer of the Department of Immigration and Colonization, who is in charge of the medical examination of immigrants at Canadian ports. Failure under the new regulations, he said, will be rare. It is to be hoped, also, that the new regulations will put an end to the time-honored practice of passing people through the doctor's hands in droves. "We want to get the best possible class of immigrants," he said, "and we are willing to wait for them." But "fitness" does not mean perfection. Many persons who have minor defects, such as poor eyesight, can be admitted. Dr. Bryce said that the new regulations are designed to keep out those who are likely to become a charge on the country, and to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases. Applicants will be examined by physicians of the Department of Immigration and Colonization, and by physicians of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian Northern Railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Examinations will be conducted at the ports of departure in Europe, and at the ports of entry in Canada. Dr. William J. Tank, Pilot Mound, Manitoba, has been appointed chief medical officer at Winnipeg, succeeding Dr. Bryce, who has been promoted to the position of chief medical officer at Ottawa. Dr. Tank is a graduate of Trinity Medical College, Toronto, and has been in practice at Pilot Mound since 1899. He was formerly a member of the Manitoba Legislature.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE.

There was not a very largely attended meeting of the rural I. O. F. members on the Red Cross membership campaign Committee held in the Fire hall Saturday afternoon, but owing no doubt to the busy season and for that reason it was decided to hold the enrolment week during the week of June 19th to 26th. The Secretary H. P. Lang would like to have the support or presidence of any of the U. F. A. locals call at the town office and obtain sufficient supplies for a canvass of members in the locals at once. If not in town write Mr. Lang, when supplies will be forwarded by the best outgoing mail to any rural post office. As the newspapers and magazines are full of Red Cross literature relative to the aims and objects of this campaign let Vermilion and district rise to the occasion and go over the top with a maximum number of members. For the reason he completed in town for the Red Cross drive the following were appointed Vermilion South, Henderson Bay Glen and Porter and Mr. J. Bateman. Vermilion West, Messrs. Duncan and H. R. Calvert and Rev. J. H. Smith. Business we see, Messrs. H. N. Stephens, J. D. Hunt and Mrs. J. H. Porter. Each rural precinct or town Miss Hubbleshire, Mrs. I. Winters, Mr. A. Moore Mrs. R. Hanlon, Mrs. Sowyer, Mr. F. Baker Mrs. Ingraham, Mrs. Mackenzie and W. S. Cochrane were. Mrs. Prime, Mrs. H. E. Long and Rev. P. H. Robert The ladies' parties have been already selected as to whether they will act or not but the good opinion in which we are held prompted the committee to select them for this good cause. Let the public be reminded that the canvassers are busy people and they can be to favor us the subscriptions will be appreciated.

1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

"Do not intend to command anyone, but we can do more, deserve it." A Five Ball Team composed of Patrol Leader Ashley Cooper, Patrol Leader Basil Weaver, Patrol Leader Robert Tinney and Privates Reginald Wood and Martin Goldman journeyed to Edmonton accompanied by their Scoutmaster to meet the 6th Annual Competition of the Edmonton Journal on Friday afternoon last. 17 teams in all entered for this contest 12 being from the city of Edmonton and 5 from country points like ourselves.

The outside points represented were Vermilion, Edson, Fort Saskatchewan and two teams from Wetaskiwin. We inform Boy Scouts were the winners last year and for this reason were an active team, but were overthrown by the Edson Boy Scouts who carried off the honors of the day and were warmly applauded by the enraptured teams.

A Edmonton City doctors undertook the examination and declared good breathing, fractures, artificial respiration, stretcher work and miscellaneous accidents.

Our team was singled out as the best for general cleanliness of bandages and finished uniform. We attributed our failure to a lack of attention to alternative methods which may be adopted in most accidents which occur in ordinary circumstances.

We may remark ourselves that this was our first attempt at anything like this and that with more practice and experience are the fears of the trip. We think it was a good team to look second place in the Edmonton Journal Boys' Edmonton South, took third place.

As other cause for congratulation is that it was the Best Scouts anyway that took two out of our three boys to the Edson Boy Scouts only 6th place, Vermilion took 8th place out of 17 teams entered.

The journey to the trip was long and all enjoyed by the Scouts themselves and the trip were debited with the full amount.

Upgrade to the Agricultural grounds was taken by the Scouts on June 2nd where a very good turnout took place. Three shots were called for Miss Moore by Roy Grimes, which were received by travelers Scout Instead. The fact that the 6th Scout Association had time on the Scouts' hands to take part in this holiday celebration was unfortunately considered to taken advantage of by the Troop, as some of the Scouts who were Edmonton slashing Here's hoping you will not so again, however

The standing of the patrols on the Anderson - Walker Cup Contest is as follows to date.

Curlew Patrol, 900 points. Beaver Patrol 860 points, being just 40 points behind their rivals. Wolf patrol 864 points (what is the matter Wolves?) Eagle Patrol 746 points (your a little Eagles)

Don't forget the slips re Camp, on Sunday. Bring them along to the meeting filled up and signed Roll call

True Bear Stories

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Chief).

(Copyrighted)

As old Indian friend of mine named Robert Bear (still living), with whom I passed the spring on two neighboring stages in the flooded lands of the Beaver Sedges between many years ago, used to chat with me over his boarding experiences round the camp fire; some few being built on a clay bottom, on the poles which formed the floor of each stage, and I have known the water rise very close to the floor, but this only for a short time and when the ice had loosened at the edge of the Big River.

Robert was a sincere Christian and a devout member of the English Church which has done so much towards the work amongst the Indian tribes of the Northwest; his grandmother was, it is said an Esquimaux, while he was born and brought up amongst the swampy Cree of the lower Red River settlement A blacksmith by trade and tender hearted, was remarkably cool in moments of danger as the following incidents full show.

At my request for a story one evening, Robert said, "I was in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company at Fairford Post, situated at the north end of Lake Manitoba, and the matter there had occasion to send an express packet of importance to Fort Garry; this I was to take alone and on foot, as I decided to strike a direct course through the bush and swamps. It was in the spring of the year and I was travelling lightly a H B blanket 2 point, two spare pair of moccasins, a single barrel flint lock gun, tomahawk and scalping knife with some tea, tobacco and matches made up the net 4lt. I took no provisions, but would depend on game killed en route The distance roughly speaking would be about 160 miles, and on my second morning out I started at usual at the first peep of daylight and after an hour or so walking came out on the bank of a small round lake, about a long stone throw across, on the other side directly opposite me were two black bears standing on their hind legs and wrestling. I at once slipped a trading bullet on top of the shot charge in my gun, opened the pan and tapped the stock to show the powder well up, just as I was occupied in this the bears dropped on their four feet, looked across at me and each taking different directions started at a funny gallop round the lake One thanks quick in a moment of this kind and I was not prepared with my single barrel to meet both bears at once so I started to run and meet one of them, he came on at the same pace and when within a few feet I fired and killed him dead, then with my kept on his body I loaded as quickly as possible, but came too soon as the other bear was very close, taking careful aim I fired and killed him dead within a few feet of his mate."

"And then, Robert, what did you do?"

"I knelt down and thanked God for mercifully preserving my life firstly there was a lesson from an Indian how few white men would have thought of or cared Mah ti Well, my heart was a good one, the bears were both young males and as I supposed sisters. I decided to camp for a while and dry the skins so that I could put them on my pack and it would mean a pocket money in Fort Garry, while the skins, after being carefully scraped, were drying, I cut a quantity of the meat up in thin strips and hung it on sticks on the smoke, the morning grub for the trip. There was still a quantity of meat over and I did not want to waste the good food, fortunately there was a marshy close and on pulling open a few of many I came to see and on that I put the rest of the meat, then placed heavy logs over the smoke to keep off Master Wolverine.

This was the only exciting occurrence on the trip, but the next evening I struck a small Indians encampment and was received with that warm hospitality so usual on the plains. I detected them to my bears with much surprise and told them they were welcome to the meat."

Many years after this Robert moved with his family to the south branch of the Saskatchewan and located on a small farm, where from time to time he would go an extended hunts in the winter and trap his land in the summer time. About the same time a year or so later I had started a trading in the Sunny Creek district (now Melfort), and on a trading trip to Chatham to get my bonds at Warren's up stone I was suffered parts of three black bear stone and at once inquired what happened to the rest of the skins. Their story told me by

MINISTER ADDRESSES BOARD OF TRADE

Hon. Geo. P. Smith, minister of lands, addressed the members of the local board of trade at its monthly luncheon held last Friday evening in which he dealt exhaustively with the different problems facing the government in its administration of the public affairs of the province. He dealt particularly with those of his own department, concluding with the statement that no policy of any moment had been decided in the matter of the rural school districts or lands for the children of the future and there was no need for what they feared.

"There can be no true democracy where we give splendid facilities for the advancement of every phase of mental and moral training and opportunity to one third of the children of the province and practically shut off the two-thirds that live in the rural districts, he said. "The solution of the problem was not made easy, the government and myself would not be human if we did not feel the responsibility pressure. The huge expenditures with the cause of misery is not lacking in eloquence and Mr. Smith treated the public on high ground and gave a clear statement of the rights and wrongs. He was well pleased with his visit to Vermilion and spoke of the town as a progressive one.

J. H. Bowman of Mayburn appeared before Police Magistrate Pelly on Saturday, charged with contravention of the Stallion Enrolment Act. He was fined $25.00 and costs. On the 11th, Wm. Haidasiuk of Islay, who was charged with keeping an unsanitary butcher shop, was ordered to pay the costs of the court. Both informations were laid by Constable Wells, A.P.P.

1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

Our younger boys here, the Wolf Cubs, deserve special mention this week as they have to their credit two real "good" turns which they fulfilled with satisfactory results. Red Cross literature was distributed and the aside for the Church painting was entirely undertaken by them, and the money collected.

Mr Fred Kops our well-known financial artist has made a present of $5.00 to the Troop to be spent in a worthy whole manner by the Scouts of the Scouts. Thanks Mr Kops

Our inter-Troop baseball team captained by Patrol Leader Ashley is practising like mad in hope on Saturday next to capture the Lost Red Park diamond, and come out winners with a score of 10 to nothing or by the score keeper. We feel pretty sure by the score passed over the Umpire's decision, that we, as Scouts, do not take the chance of showing that we abide by orders whether they appear wrong or not, and so exercise the 7th Scout Law - "A Scout Obeys Orders." We can here announce to the back row my "All over ball for the other side, when it is your side that is suffering by wrong decisions, what then" Only one answer. Take your medicine like a man, but one to it that you have a good report next time.

On Saturday morning last brought the Troop very pleasant surprise on entering their camp two Buckaroos in the persons Patrol Leader Wesley Sheldrick and Scout A Kopper from North Portland to visit us and exchange greetings. Five mile wade Scouts, namely Wood, English, Flowers, Bryden and Warner started up to give them an official welcome. The R M soon it melted up up with the light burning under the Standard waiting for the train, but fall asleep and woke up in time for breakfast.

The afternoon of Saturday was spent in showing our visitors the beautiful Vermilion Valley which they took full in. Our local "scouts" on us in the evening and Sunday we spent at the lake.

We did not forget that it was Sunday and that as true Scouts we are never ashamed to show a thankful spirit for the beautiful world we have to live on, so after we had eaten our meals when and drank our fill we made hammocks out under the trees and gave thanks to the Giver of all good things, for which by repeating together the Lords Prayer.

Returning to town we were overtaken by the rain, but thanks to the kindness of Mrs J. Gray, we got in her shelter of their farm, where we were amply stuffed with good things, and our wet, dry and happy and thanking the good lady which had brought about such an appropriate stage of our journey home. Before going home we had a dip in the old swimming pool next to our camp ending a most Scout like week-end.

OPTIMISM

The Westerner as a rule is a great Optimist. That is one of the reasons why this country is worth while living in; and has made such remarkable progress during the last fifteen or twenty years. During the last year or two it has taken a great deal of courage to be an Optimist. However, the tide is turning fast, and we have today, a great deal to be optimistic about. Never were prospects for a crop better than they are at the present time.

The kegs contained what is known as eggs preserved—eggs shipped in liquid form without shells.

THE PLOWING MATCH

The second annual plowing match was held on Wednesday, the 15th. Ideal weather prevailed and the interest manifested was considerably more than that of last year, although it is regretted that farmers do not turn out and compete in the different classes more than they do. It is true that the prizes are not large but a man is certainly assured of at least one day's wages, but, apart from the monetary consideration there is the sense of rivalry, of vieing for the premier place which every true sportsman appreciates, win or lose, as the case may be. We hope that if a match is held next year that the number of contestants will be doubled and even then all would be assured of a prize. Mr. D. F. Parkinson of Edgerton acted as judge and we believe all the contestants were thoroughly satisfied The winners were as follows: Walking Plows. W. D. Williams 87, Isaac Rutherford 85, Geo. Newsome 81, Geo. Anderson 80 1-2. Sulky Plows. A. Johnson 85 1-2, Alex. Chesmanchuk 79 1-2. Gang Plows. A. Wheeler 83. J. W. Smith 78. Mac Cameron 76 1-2. Boys' Class. Gang Plows. Edwin Daley 75 1-2. Best Crown: Geo. Newsome, W. D. Williams. Best Finish: W. D. Williams, Geo. Rutherford.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

DATE FORECASTED UNOFFICIALLY AS JULY 18TH.

Provincial elections are looming on the horizon and while it is understood that the date has not yet been finally decided upon by the government, and Premier Stewart prior to his departure for Calgary on Monday last, would positively make no statement on the question—there is a strong possibility that the provincial elections will be held on Monday, June 18th.

During the last few days unofficial reports have fixed upon this date as the one upon which the election will likely take place. It is fairly generally conceded that the voting will not be delayed later than July 18th, and numerous indications point to the 18th as being the probable selection of the provincial cabinet.

HEART SO BAD

Many women become run down and weak, lose appetite, suffer from nervousness and a fear or dread of impending ill health, because their blood is thin, watery and lacking in the red corpuscles that give health and strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood and so drive disease from the system. That is why they cure such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, nervousness, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, and the ailments that make women's lives miserable. Mrs. Wm. Hall, Bloomfield, Ont., says: "I was troubled with my heart for about two years. I had dizzy spells and could not sleep at night. I doctored a great deal but got no relief. I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using a few boxes I found relief. I continued their use for some time and am now enjoying the best of health. I can highly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any person suffering from heart trouble."

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged resistant cry, Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the lancet in the first thought, but in the majority of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "great-quality-talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good."

Moneymaking under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

Sims Spent Younger Days in Toronto

Father Was Superintendent of Terminus and Siphoning Railway.

Rear Admiral William Sowden Sims whose greatly speeches in Great Britain have resulted in his recall to Washington by the secretary of the United States navy, lived in Toronto with his father and mother when he was fifteen years of age. His father, who went from Philadelphia to Port Hope also at that time, was in connection the construction of the railway from that town to London, moved with his Canadian wife and two children to Toronto in 1872 and became superintendent of the old Toronto and Nipissing Railway which ran from Toronto up through Beaverton and Coboconk to Coboconk, where it now ends.

In an old city directory of that year the future admiral's father is listed as an official of the railway board room at the Queen's Hotel, Front street.

CHILDREN'S HABITS.

Copyright, 1921, by Ren Proctor McGee.

Habits formed in childhood are very difficult to break. The younger the child, the more quickly a habit is formed.

Their experience having been so limited, they very quickly become accustomed to almost any new diversion that may come their way. Many little things that, at the time, seem trivial, will have a severe effect in after years.

One of the worst habits that a young child forms is that of thumb sucking. Many children who should have the baby quiet thus dissatisfied with life in general and raising Cain. I. D. McGillivray, M.D.V., Principal.

When a child sucks its thumb it pushes the roof of the mouth upward, so that it makes a very high arch. As the roof of the mouth is the floor of the nose, it is also pushed up, and as the septum of the nose is pushed over either to the right or to the left—usually to the right.

The upper teeth in front, along with the bone in which they are imbedded, are pushed forward and upward, and the lower front teeth and the surrounding bone are pushed inward and downward.

Medical attendants should not be used by children. What they need is just thorough scrubbing of the teeth twice each day with clean water and a mild, pleasant tooth paste or powder.

BOARD OF TRADE TO ENCOURAGE DAIRYING INDUSTRY VERMILION

The further development of the dairy industry in the district of Vermilion was the primary matter discussed at a largely attended meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade in the Veterans Hall on Monday evening. President Nellis was in the chair. The proposed scheme was outlined by H. Roadman who recently settled in the district and who has made a special study of this line of agricultural activity. He himself has a section of land five miles east of Vermilion which he is farming on an extensive scale and includes a large herd of good dairy stock. The proposal is that steps be taken to bring in a number of dairy cows and sell these to farmers desirous of taking advantage of the scheme on long terms of payment, the initial payment to be $10.00 a head and the balance to be deducted from the cream checks each week. He estimated that if a farmer purchased in this way not 30 head, the monthly return would be about $300.00, one half of which would be used in paying for the cows and the other for general farm expenses. In this way it would only be a short period of years when the herd would be all paid for. Mr. Roadman came to the Peace River district from Saskatchewan and is thoroughly conversant with dairying conditions in the province to the south. He pointed out that Ontario, as a province, is already overstocked and that Eastern farmers are looking to the Peace River district to supply them with cattle. He pointed out that Ontario, as a province, is already overstocked and that Eastern farmers are looking to the Peace River district to supply them with cattle.

Alberta butter was now being threatened by the invasion of the foreign product, especially that of Australia and New Zealand. This was particularly true of the Vancouver market which took about nine million pounds of butter every year. It was thought, however, that if the standard could be raised here we would be in a position to compete with the imported product, but this was largely a matter up to the farmers. They should take pride, as some did, with their dairy work and see to it that only the best and purest cream was brought to the dairies. We had now a large number of inspectors of butter but it was believed that if these men were made to inspect farm dairies and see that the dairy cattle were being properly looked after, the results would be far more beneficial to this branch of farming interest.

The scheme put before the Board had been tried with splendid success in different parts of the United States, particularly in California and Kansas. There counties that had deteriorated almost to as much waste lands, a few years after the adequate adoption of this scheme became if anything prosperous and possess great agricultural wealth. Farmers were urged to get rid of the scrub cattle as quickly as they could and replenish their herds with good dairy stock. They could always ascertain which of their cows were the good milkers. Dr. Tolson, veterinary inspector, would come to any point of local interest and test the cows for a small fee. Dr. Tolson would also be glad to give advice to any farmer who desired it in the matter of keeping his herd free from disease. He would also be glad to give advice to any farmer who desired it in the matter of keeping his herd free from disease. He would also be glad to give advice to any farmer who desired it in the matter of keeping his herd free from disease.

Vermilion had this as one of its missions and the instructors there would only be too pleased to aid the movement along this most important subject. With proper feeding it was fully believed that the value as dairy cattle of even the present stock would be very materially enhanced. Better results would unquestionably be obtained.

At the conclusion of this general discussion the following were appointed a committee to investigate this matter fully and report from time to time to the Board: James Walker, J.H. Bell, J.C. McBeth, W.J. Johnson, and C.L. Bowling. It is probable pending the results of the investigations of this committee, that next year a move will be made towards the adoption of the scheme and the putting of it into practical operation.

...under my efforts to circulate it widely, or even harmlessly exactly what good it will a howling success. What ever I've done, I've always been criticized for not doing something else. If I gave a costly entertainment, I was accused of showy ostentation. If I didn't give it, I was accused of not putting money into honest circulation. If I donated to a church, it was called resistance money; and if I didn't donate to it, they said I was mean and miserly. So much for what I've done. I was just wondering—what the other fellow'd do with it.

"Why worry? 'T won't be your money."

"But it will—if I owe it to him. Say, Uncle Dave! Uncle what-you-call-'em does for folks, sometimes—folks that haven't got the right kind of a heart, and look at that poor little Marston boy throwing herself away on that worthless scamp of a Gowing who's only after her money, as everybody knows. And if——"

"Don't make heaps and martyrs of them, ten to one it does make fools of them. There's more than a bit with a dollar on it to-day, and they're not all spoiled, you can depend on their pole, too. You should have heard that Hill boy brag on his nephew that struck it rich in the gulf country. Why, he's up every day in my store in town, and instituted a big drag with the girls in the populace, and another dropped his hundred thousand in a deal before it was made. I wonder what those—"

"Yes, my dear, I mean to tell it's blarney. Now, Uncle Dave——"

A moment later the door of the room was discreetly appointed after Uncle Dave had left. Not nearly for, as he had been in a hurry, it was only about ten again. He was alone.

"Humph! those remembrances! Guess the office-boy habit is ingrained for keeps. Now, I'll just run over that list and see if I've overlooked anybody. Let's see, there's——"

"Another case of overlooking be——"

"Harvey!"

"Well, that's the way. What is a little shortcut worth? Going to get worried with them, I suppose, and have the treat you. Then you have to do it again. Now, as to beats and——"

"Harvey, you're a hundred thousand spoore, and——"

"There, there, my dear fellow, what would you have? Surely, meorance with those remembrances giving——"

SAD DROWNING FATALITY

Orlo Wilson Loses Life on Wedn'y While Bathing

A sad drowning fatality took place at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, June 29th at the little lake on Lakeview Ranch, the farm home of Mrs. Plunkett, some eight miles due south of town, when Orlo Wilson, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, was drowned while swimming across to a small island located about 20 rods out in the lake. His brother Harry, and J. Duncan of the Royal Bank were in bathing with him. Orlo was a good swimmer and set out to swim to the island which he had almost reached when he sank. Harry endeavored to reach the spot but was forced to give up from exhaustion not being a strong swimmer. The body was seen to rise three times and sink. The lake is seven feet deep at the spot where the unfortunate young man was drowned. It is supposed that he was taken with cramps.

The party at the lake consisted of the Plunkett, Mr. and Mrs. Underhill from town, the two Wilson and 2 Thomas girls. They were having out a day's outing and were just making ready for bathing when the accident occurred. Word was sent to town at once and a rig was hurried to the scene of the drowning but the body was not recovered until Thursday morning when it was found by Mr. Plunkett in about 7 feet of water. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Rev. Mr. Chisholm officiating. The pall bearers were Messrs. Underhill, Plunkett, Thomas, Duncan, Wilson and Hodgson. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved parents and family.

Oh, Money! Money!

BY ELEANOR H PORTER

"Oh, indeed! So much the worse, my lad. Now, And so this is where I come in, is it? Well, and suppose I refuse to come in?"

"Regretfully I shall have to employ another attorney."

"Humph! Well!"

"But I won't refuse." The blue eyes were very serious now. "In the first place, you've my good friend's best friend. You wouldn't be base enough to start off on a wild-goose chase like this without your friend to help you to see that you're not a cropper."

"Aren't you getting your metaphor a little mixed?" This time the humor in his eyes more twinkling.

"Maybe. Well, frankly, Bo I don't want you to do it, more than I want you to do a more respectable business, and you know it."

"It sounds like it, Reader, in truth."

"Then—now just Listen. I've got a scheme that's going to set you on your feet, and I never have yet failed in anything I undertook. And—occasional lapses—you've got to be counted as in the Holer Class. I'm meant to be, they bring me [illegible] Well, with what I know, and with what I've got, I mean to succeed. Shutting Out The Air

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

On a warm day, in a New England University town, I noticed recently that few houses boasted behind the parlor curtained window glass. In most cases the shutters were half drawn. But the salient fact was that the windows were shut. There were exceptions.

And the windows in the backs of the houses were shut. I know they were shut, for I walked round to the back of more than several dozen houses in the course of my walk.

The warm gave various reasons for sought to keep the pure cool air out. One mother told me that her several small children and cat were prone to let the dust in, time and so she could not afford to buy new curtains. This woman brought her own cretonnes from the town and accordingly let her daughters to dispose expensively.

At the woman I interviewed, with these children, showed me that she would just as soon have had several small children and a cat as have a well paper more highly than Hezekiah's tree of paradise. They preferred unpolluted air to the possible presence of a little dust.

AUTHORITY PRAISES RED CROSS WORK

(Special to The Standard)

Calgary, July 14.—Enthusiastic approval and surprise at the work which is being accomplished in Alberta by the Red Cross was expressed by Miss Gertrude Arnold, a veteran Red Cross War Worker who served nearly three years in France. Miss Arnold, in company with the daughter of Lieut. Evelyn Mason, a well known Red Cross Leader in England, is travelling through the West and takes particular interest in the work of the Red Cross. She admired the system which has been organized to meet the difficulties of settled and sparsely settled districts by mail, its great distances and limited development.

"In the Junior Red Cross, she says, we were enthusiastic and said that Alberta led many of the eastern provinces in the organization of this department. Miss Arnold recognizes as an auxiliary to Red Cross work and her pleasure was greatly appreciated by the workers in the Alberta branch.

STEWART GOVERNMENT DEFEATED AT POLLS- 16 LIBERALS RETURNED, 4 INDEPERGENTS AND 4 LABOR

Conservative Representation Obliterated

With only 16 members elected for which cities accounted for six or seven, the Stewart administration went down to defeat on Monday in the provincial elections and sixteen years of liberal government terminated in the candidature of the United Farmers of Alberta practically sweeping the county, returning 37 of the 61 members who will compose the next legislature. Four independents and four labor make up the balance. The conservative representation was obliterated, not a single member being elected.

The victory of the Farmers was overwhelming and majorities in numerous ridings reached a great altitude, several of the defeated candidates losing their deposits; three cabinet ministers as well fell before their former opponents — the Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, Hon. Geo. P. Smith, minister of education and Hon. A.J. McLean, minister of public works, were all defeated. The Hon. J.R. Lucky He Took Wife's Advice At Time He Did, Says This Regina Man

"I was going down hill terribly fast, surprisingly short time. It gave me when I began taking Tanlac, but I can say for this medicine that it turned me right round and put me back on the road to health," said William Lavoie, 2154 McKay St., Regina.

"I suffered a great deal more from the after-effects of influenza than I did from the disease itself, as it left me in a run-down condition. My stomach was upset and I had a sick headache most of the time. Nothing I ate agreed with me and my kidneys bothered me considerably and my back ached so that I could not bend over and straighten up again without suffering agony.

"It was a lucky day for me when my wife persuaded me to take Tanlac. It changed me all around in a an appetite and put my stomach in perfect condition so that nothing I eat disagrees with me. My kidneys that if any of the family need build up we can give it to them at once.

"I feel that it is nothing but my duty to tell others about this medicine which does so much good."

FOOTBALLERS AGAIN DRAW AT STELLAVILLE

Game Was Strenuous All Through - Overtime Did Not Break Deadlock

1st Vermilion Troop BOY SCOUTS

To our friends and supporters we are going to run the notice of our Scout camp at Half Lake in three instalments (we have a heart for the pennies and a respect for quoits.)

On Saturday, July 3rd at 3 o'clock (Local time) The great rush for Half Lake began from the headquarters of the Troop by the advance party which was composed of Patrol Leaders Logan and Blair, Bob N. Hardy, Dennis Sharp, Hayden, England, Wood, Grossman and L. Dutchen. If I recall correctly Bob and the little band of Scouts left town this is petitions sum-mons on and hurried pretty well all evening. At 6 o'clock a halt was called at P. K. Rosoman's where the party remained until 9 o'clock evening's whose sleepy heads. Half Lake being under the same night at 1 or 2 o'clock—asked to be skin for determined to make the best of things.

All today the rain continued, with, or hope a little less severity, and tents were pitched and an attempt at getting dry made. Meanwhile, important matters were to be looked by the Scouter and Scouts Dung, Dodgson Bowman and B. Wood started out on foot to the Campsite. The first two items handled at the whole way while the others to which from Neville Hall.

On Tuesday the 6th Scouts Keeper No. 1 Blood Sergeant Berry, P.L. Arthur Schlichenmeier marched out from town, while an hour later Scouter Horace McCauley, Scouts Murray, Moore, Tunstall, R. Cooper, Bateman and Bert Hopkins started to join the party. Inspector Jones came on a motor boat and Scouter Wood and the rest of the party arrived in the afternoon.

Memorable Meeting Of Lloyd George And The Irish Republican Leader

London—Mr. Lloyd George and Eamonn de Valera, Irish republican leader, met in the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing Street and spent more than two hours in a half smiling clear by each other the circumstances under which they thought Great Britain and the Dail Eireann might be willing to seat delegates at a conference table with representatives of Ulster, or an effort to compose the age-long differences between the three parties, and settle the Irish question.

What many English people not long since would have considered impossible has happened—this meeting of the British Premier and the man whose opponents designate him "president of the Irish republic."

The extreme length of the private conversation and the fact that it is said to have ended "amicably" and that an agreement was arranged to issue a joint communique is interpreted as a good augury. That the parties are both people for the success of the conference were apparent and shown by the kindly interest and women in Downing Street receiving the Rosary and singing hymns while the Archbishop of Canterbury presiding at a meeting of the national assembly of the Church of England, reminded the gathering that the country was turning and asked all present to stand for a few minutes in silent prayer.

This initial talk between the two leaders, the preliminary nature of which was emphasized by both sides, had at least one earmark in common to momentous gatherings of states men in recent years for at its conclusion, the only word vouchsafed the public was a cryptic joint communique, containing the bare announcement that there had been a free exchange of views in which their respective views were defined.

From both sides, however, it is gleaned that the long conversation was marked by the utmost cordiality, not in the least marred by the sudden shock that the two opposing views were presented and left the participants satisfied and able to express their colleagues that there were substantial grounds for hope of an ultimate settlement.

Because of Mr. De Valera's acquaintance in fact at length for consultations made on behalf of Southern Ireland, it is learned he was unable to give unqualified replies to some of the Prime Ministers proposals. But both were keen to avoid danger when the talk bordered on issues regarded as irreconcilable and there was assurance early no time when a rupture was imminent.

Hail Swept Areas

Heavy Damage Reported In South Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Lethbridge—Later reports of the hailstorm which struck Southern Alberta last week indicate that it was much wider in extent than first reports showed. The storm gathered in the foothills west of Claresholm and swept in a south-easterly direction through the Claresholm, Nanton, Carsland and Chin districts, swinging south through Shelf, on the Lethbridge-Weybern branch of the C.P.R.

The storm varied in width from one to three miles and the loss of the crops in its path was nearly complete. The length of the storm path was apparently a hundred miles.

All crops but turn in the C.P.R. and the Van Horne soldier colony north of Carsland in the stricken belt were wiped out. Those who suffered by the force of the storm are some destitute.

Damage from hail in an extensive area is found to have resulted from the recent storms in Southern Saskatchewan. Rain has fallen in some districts intermittently from Shamrock to Weyburn. The district seems to have suffered most severely in the north of Limerick is said to be most severely affected. Some thousand hail insurance claims are reported to have been received in Limerick.

Several areas are said not to have been covered. The extent of the damage is as much as seventy to eighty per cent in places.

Japan's Chief Concern

Wonders If She Can Hold Her Own If Isolated

San Francisco.—The Anglo-Japanese alliance has been revised twice since its conclusion in 1902 but the fundamental spirit underlying it has never changed, says a statement issued in Tokio by the Kokumin Shimbun, Nationalist party daily, according to the Yomiuri, copies of which were received here recently.

The statement says the subjects now considered by the Japanese at this meeting are not whether Japan will be replaced when the Alliance is dropped, but whether Japan has any confidence in her capacity to hold her own in the future even in the absence of a friendly empire in the midst of international isolation."

U. S. Veterans To Join Canadians

Necessary Steps Now Being Taken For Affiliation

Ottawa.—Affiliation of the Dominion command, Great War Veterans Association, have been notified of the passing of a resolution by the national council of the British Great War Veterans' Association, at Cleveland, Ohio, authorizing such affiliation, and for the necessary steps to be taken to give effect to the resolution, it was learned here yesterday. The Canadian association has a membership of 150,000 and it is thought that the affiliation will be completed in a few months. It will make it possible for members of the Canadian association to join the United States association without losing their membership.

STELLAVILLE SCORES WIN

A banner crowd of people turned out at the Athletic grounds Tuesday night to see Stellaville defeat the strong Vermilion eleven by one goal to nothing, after playing them two games this season which resulted in a draw each time. It was a fierce struggle as the score indicates. The Belts were tipped to take the home game, but the Stellaville eleven considered the game a real picnic. Any combination displayed came from the Belts' aggregation and even that was of limited character, only Scott and Durran coming through with a variety of bunches that had Apsey and Proudfoot on a tangle. Brilliant goal keeping on the visitors' unsettled passing attempts. The Stella combination was unstoppable from mid-ranges when Andrew up the field on his own. The goal scored by the invaders was got in a fluke, the ball rolling off Ted Amos' knee into the Vermilion goal.

A. Mackenzie was the live wire in the Belts' defence line, and in addition to giving the Stellaville forwards right about many times found time to assist his own and forwards in raising the siege on the opposing goals. Cooper was also an energetic player for the Reds and kept a tight grip on the Stella Apsey combination. The Belts played their best football in the opening twenty minutes and it was at this stage that Gallegher showed his ability between the posts and took Stellaville out of many a tight corner by brilliant goalkeeping.

These teams will stage an exhibition game the first day of the fair.

Novel Things Found In Babylonian City

Indications Show High Civilization Attained By Early Dwellers.

Many valuable and interesting discoveries have been made by Dr. Hall, of the British Museum, as a result of his excavations on the supposed site of Abraham's birthplace.

Dr. Hall's researches have led to the conclusion that the Babylonians, of Ur, from which the patriarch Abraham set forth on his journey to the promised land, enjoyed a luxury and refinement unsurpassed in many lands even at the present day.

Among the articles revealed in the recent excavations are a number of objects in the appearance of a throne. This is of gold, and jasper teeth and organs, all fastened on with copper nails. Some also found. Those heads are of pure copper.

The use of copper in an ornamental way for the ornamentation of the throne is a new discovery, as is the employment of it in connection with such costly materials as gold and jasper. Hitherto it has been supposed that copper was used only for the most ordinary purposes.

As the heads were hollow they were filled with bitumen and clay to make them more durable.

The explorers must probably the engravings of the stone mentioned in Hammurabi's code, which was a monument of clay.

Two wonderful columns were discovered, perfectly preserved, one of wood, which perished long ago. They were covered with ornamental gold scales fastened with copper nails. These scales were red, black and white. Nothing like these columns has ever been seen before. It is an absolute novelty in archaeology.

No Conveniences in "Good Old Houses"

Modern Home Has Many Advantages Over Old Style.

Some people are fond of talking about the "good old days" and the things that went with them. For myself, I must confess that the earliest houses of the good old days give me the impression that the houses I lived in at one time or another were not so good after all.

This, of course, is just one of the little failures that we come across in trouble to deny. But the truth is that the average person who has lived in a modern home would not care to go back and if he had to live in one of these "good old homes" he would soon find it was old design and utter lack of the conveniences in the modern home.

With modern materials and modern day workmanship it is possible to have durability and comfort which was not dreamed of a generation ago, and the perfecting of manufacturing methods, together with the adoption of many new methods in construction, has made the product of many of modern building substantially as perfect that the great majority can afford.

Only those who would prefer dwelling in a house with a basement which is drawn shades to the sun parlor and the open porch of the home of today have any reason to talk about the "good old days" as far as home building is concerned.

During the high price period after the armistice, building costs went to what seemed very high levels. But at their highest, homes were a bit as compared to costs of other commodities as they are today. The material prices run higher, the home builder can be sure of real value for every dollar invested.

A party of Minnesota and Wisconsin bankers have been visiting Edmonton and surrounding country. These comprising the party are: C. H. The report of the party's journey, stated particularly through Mr. Thacker was that an increased flow of capital from the east or side of the line might be looked for as time went on. If providence is to send a good hour or better, than an further of these home states.

Millions For Good Roads.

The Hon. Archie McNab, Minister of Public Works for the province of Saskatchewan, announces that this year $2,500,000 will be spent on roads making throughout Saskatchewan. The present comprehensive programme of road construction is the result of a resolution passed by the province to road making in Saskatchewan, and the announcement is received with satisfaction by those interested in the development of new trunk roads which will be of great benefit to every person on which shares the construction of these roads.

The Unfortunate Rich

Children of Wealthy Parents Not As Well Nourished As The Poor.

In these days of the year when attention is specially directed to the health of children during the trying time at summer heat it is of some interest to note that in the United States it is being found that the greatest percentage of delicate children are in wealthy homes. A report made this week on a child welfare survey of Chicago revealed that in the matter of weight, one of the undercurrents of abnormal physical condition fifty per cent of the children in the fashionable North Side were deficient, while below the standards only eighteen per cent were underweight. In the poverty stricken district of the northern part of the city only one child in six was below normal.

These children bear out the representation made to the American Medical Association recently by specialists on children's diseases. The testimony of these specialists was to the effect that there was almost twice the extent of malnutrition among rich children as in those born in among the poor. The blame to a considerable extent was placed on bottle feeding of infants and too much rich food later. In the conditions reported are common, the poor child in a great measure is vastly better off than the rich one, for health is not to be valued in money.—Ottawa Journal.

THREE HEAT PLAN FOR DECIDING HARNESS RACES BROUGHT VERY CLOSE FINISHES

Fred Keyes Got the Fields Away in Perfect Shape and Result of Meet Was One of Biggest Track Days Ever Held Here—Redoldium Took 2.30 Pace or Trot in Three Straight

Vermilion, Alta. August 4th. The horse events run off here yesterday in connection with Vermilion Annual Exhibition were all fought out in the best heat, and provided thrilling pastime for the appreciative crowd in the grandstand. Expert judges and old race track habitues among the officials declared the afternoon's sport as a whole to be equal to the best racing ever seen in Vermilion.

The harness races were decided on the three heat plan, this proving compelling the competitors to drive their horses to win in each heat and being largely responsible for the close finishes that were a notable feature in the course of the day's racing. Nothing of an artificial nature occurred during the conduct of the programme to mar the afternoon's enjoyment. The whole programme was carried out without the slightest hitch, reflecting great credit on the capabilities of the officials in charge. Fred Keyes, who handled the starter's assignment, let no part in his usual fairness and efficiency [illegible] Bert Bowman of Lloydminster, who acted as judge, and his assistant Jimmy Lloyd, also of Lloydminster, made decisions in the 2.30 and 2.40 events, especially the latter, [illegible] Bert Tyler, [illegible] Vermilion, made desperate attempts to [illegible] Hendrie, equally keen on the [illegible] Lloydminster [illegible] Vermilion, [illegible] Keyes, of Vermilion got the purse being $30.

The free for all pace or trot brought out four entries, purse $250. Lilian Hayden, owned by W. Ison of Lloydminster, stuck well and money by placing in the second and third heats.

The last race of the day, the half mile running event, proved a sensational triumph, all both winners and losers [illegible] a good run for their money.

In all three heats the entrants were [illegible] neck to neck, until Miss Lizzie Brown's horse managed to forge [illegible] wearing the ladies' flaxen [illegible] Sport's mare, speedy enough [illegible] the three races. Dick Mack [illegible] was served with Fleet Foot and Bob Hope, Vermilion was tried with Dixie.

After Wednesday's Races the Vermilion [illegible] committee should receive the [illegible] for the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] a [illegible] basis. The keenness [illegible] an added [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] heavy going.

Tanlac Does Just What People Say It Will Do, Declares Calgary Man

"I will never miss a chance to say a good word for Tanlac, especially to my own comrades, many of whom I know are in the same condition I was in after I came out of the trenches," said A. Ruff, 1507 Thirteenth Street, West, Calgary, Alberta, agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Co., who served in France with the Twenty-Eighth Battalion of Regina.

"I came home from France suffering from stomach trouble, shattered nerves and with my blood in such bad shape my face was covered with pimples. I didn't have any appetite to speak of and I lost weight until I was almost as thin as a rail. What little I did eat would form gas that bloated me up till I suffered hours of misery.

"I was under treatment and constantly took medicine, but nothing relieved my case except Tanlac. I am in tip-top condition to-day, with a big appetite, perfect digestion and nerves that are steady as steel. My blood has cleared up, too, and I am just brimful of life and energy. I feel fine. I am not surprised that people talk about Tanlac so much, for it does just what they say it will do."

Most of them were farmers at one time, and they are repatriating to resume their former occupations.

Shackleton Says Disappearing of Life is Boon to Knowledge.

Sir Ernest Shackleton speaking at a garden party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Pickles at Shirley Hall, Hendon, said it would have been seen that the Quest had had a little expedition which had been carried precisely to the letter. Not a single hitch occurred from beginning to end, and the arrangements of the scientific world put forward by the result on Mr. Pickles's shoulders, on how far a gone many days. Their expedition of eighteen men had been brought home without the loss of a single life. Not one man had been invalided home. Everyone was fit and well, and had enjoyed the adventure. Not a single man had left the party because he was tired of it. Everyone had stuck to it and worked with a will. Personally, he was glad that all had been successful, because he had been the instigator of the expedition. He had been fortunate enough to have had the opportunity of meeting Mr. Pickles's daughter, Miss Pickles, and he was glad

Aggressive Policy of Exhibition Board Has Been Help to the District

FAIR WAS HELD EARLY

Membership Fee For Association Covers All Charges for Entries

VERMILION Aug. 2 - Never before in the history of the district has the annual meeting of the Vermilion Exhibition Association been held so early in the season as it was this year, and the fact that the management decided to do so was the cause of getting the best exhibition of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, grain, roots, vegetables, fruit, ladies' work, children's work, and in fact everything that goes to make up a first class exhibition, together with the finest collection of fine arts ever brought together in the district, and all this in the face of the fact that the fair was held two weeks earlier than ever before. The management are to be congratulated on the success that attended the effort, and the directors are to be highly complimented on the manner in which they handled the affairs of the association.

Regular Exhibition Weather

The weather conditions could not have been more favorable for the success of the fair. Tuesday was a beautiful day, and Wednesday was even more so, and the management are to be congratulated on the fact that they were favored with such splendid weather. However a cool night would be welcome.

After the rain on the first day some thought that a heavy attendance was impossible, but the people of the district are not to be daunted by a little rain, and they turned out in large numbers. Thursday was the banner day, and the grounds were filled with a happy throng of people, all bent on enjoying themselves to the fullest extent. The management are to be congratulated on the success that attended the effort, and the directors are to be highly complimented on the manner in which they handled the affairs of the association.

Grand Horses

The horses were out in large numbers, and the ring was filled to overflowing with the best specimens of horseflesh to be found in the district. The competition was very keen in many classes, and the judges had a difficult task to perform in placing the ribbons. The horses were out in large numbers, and the ring was filled to overflowing with the best specimens of horseflesh to be found in the district. The competition was very keen in many classes, and the judges had a difficult task to perform in placing the ribbons.

Accommodation Taxed

The management had made ample provision for the accommodation of the crowds, but on the first day the attendance was so large that the dining hall was taxed to its utmost capacity to accommodate the hungry visitors. The management are to be congratulated on the success that attended the effort, and the directors are to be highly complimented on the manner in which they handled the affairs of the association.

Raft Lake C.G.I.T. Camp

On Wednesday, July 19th the first of the campers bound for the C.G.I.T. Camp at Raft Lake started in motors available, the rest following on Thursday morning in other cars provided by kind friends. The first morning after arrival the entire camp was up at 4 o'clock, as it will not say that this was the hour of rising for the following morning. To say that the camp was enjoyed would be putting it mildly as it certainly is an ideal camping spot as well as had the privilege of seeing or remaining in the camp will result agree. With pelicans, blue herons and other water birds and an island in the centre of the lake, all adding to the novel surroundings. Boats were available and each employed. Mrs. Donald Campbell of Lacey, religious instructor, proved to be a wonderful storyteller and as the stories were taken from the old testament, they were of special interest and keenly enjoyed by the [illegible]. Mrs. Edwards and Miss McKenzie were kept busy superintending land and water sports, some of the stages taken will forever be the enjoyment of this part of the camp life. Mrs. Robert as general superintendent of the whole of the camp must be to be commended and we all know the wheel is no use without the hub so would the camp have failed to be found without the Superintendent, too much cannot be said about the effort and thought given by Mrs. Robert. We are very sorry to say that we are very likely to lose our camp entertainer as she will be taking duties not in our vicinity but we are sure wherever Mrs. Robert goes she will always be working for girls, either through the C.G.I.T. or through some other avenue. The Superintendent being at the side to start the girls for the camp, Mrs. Wright took upon herself the responsibility and a great deal of praise is due her for the able and prompt manner in which she arranged for the transportations. At the camp an examination was held on the Bible study, the field by Mrs. Donald Campbell Helen Sharpe received first marks, Adela Wentworth second marks and Margaret Hodgins received third marks. All papers were examined and the general interest was appealed. Another talk like unto that on Kathleen Craig was again [illegible] the most observant. CANADIAN RED CROSS

A Step Forward

Colonel McDonnell representing the Alberta Division Canadian Red Cross Society has been in Vermilion over the week end with view to getting established a permanent district branch which will be able to take care of any cases of distress who may require relief during the coming winter. Local branches have been established at Lloydminster which will take care of Ranges 1 and 2, west 4th Meridian between the Saskatchewan River and the Battle River, at Kitscoty which will assume responsibility for range 3 with similar north and south boundaries. At Islay steps are being taken to complete the membership campaign and then take hold of range 4, w4.

In all cases close co-operation has been obtained between the villages and country and all denominations and sections of thought are represented on the local boards and committees.

Col. McDonnell spoke at the monday meeting of the U.F.A. local here on Saturday 9th inst and outlined the general work of the Canadian Red Cross Society and its aims and objects. They are as follows:

1. The improvement of health
2. The prevention of disease
3. The lessening of sufferings.

The speaker in his opening remarks thanked all those who had worked so sympathetically on Red Cross work during the war. Then he went on to explain why the government had asked the Society to carry on peace time work. This was because of the present unsatisfactory state of the national health.

When the men were called up under the military service act, half were found unfit for full duty in the fighting area. Seventy per cent of the school children have some minor defect which if attended to in time can be remedied. Last year in the province of Alberta outside the cities 41 babies out of every 100 born, died under the age of 1 year. This was mostly due to lack of medical aid at birth. The aim of the Canadian Red Cross is to cooperate with all existing bodies and organizations, to fill in any gaps that may exist and to do everything possible to bring medical aid, instruction in first aid and home nursing within the reach of all those requiring them. To assist in cases of emergency brought about by epidemic or other causes where outside assistance may be required. To do everything in the name of charity or orphaned [illegible]

THERE is no need for you to use spurious Ford parts. We carry a full line of the genuine. Genuine Ford parts give the same satisfaction as the rest of the car. They are made under the most rigid inspection from Canadian and other high grade steels. They give 100 p. c. service. Spurious parts are not made up to the Ford Standard. They weaken the car.

Makers of spurious Ford parts have not the same interest in the performance of the car as we have. Do not experiment—it is a risky way to save money.

Buy genuine Ford parts from the nearest certified agent for the car. We have skilled mechanics to set up or service as needed

Messrs Tom Boutter and A. Vache spent last week at one of the northern lakes, some 60 miles north of Vermilion, where they secured fifty nice pickerel. According to their story there must be some whoppers left in the lake as their lines were too small to land one of them; as a last resource they tried baling wire only to find that the hooks were too small for the gamey muskalonghe. Their advice to all fishermen going north is to be loaded for bear.

Disarmament

The invitations extended by President Harding to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan as well as the United States in a conference to discuss and consider ways and means of bringing about world disarmament was hailed with joy by the people of all nations. The whole world is weary of war—even Germany can not say she was not sorry for it long, long since. Although the formal invitation to this conference on disarmament came from the United States, it was not at all unlikely that Britain would herself have planned a large part of it if in no other respect, to question whether the initiative in the matter did not come from Britain, where, however, it was of much good even though it may fall far short of actually achieving world

Diet Not Everything In Keeping Healthy

Britain Did Not Want Heligoland

Denial of German Story That Admiralty Wished to Recover It.

Official confirmation of knowledge of the report in the German press that the British Admiralty has been desirous to recover Heligoland.

During the war it was no secret that the Admiralty were very glad that this island was no longer British territory. It may have been a valuable outpost in the archaic days of naval warfare, but in the days of the submarines, torpedoes and aircraft it would have been far more of an encumbrance than advantage.

Britain would never have fortified it as Germany did, and it was indeed a costly remembrance to the sacrifices of the sea until the German spent immense sums in building sea defences against us. Had it not been under the British flag in 1914 it could only have been held at a cost of more than it is worth to us to value, or it must have been abandoned to the Germans with a consequent heavy loss of prestige to Britain.

Under the Treaty of Versailles its fortifications have been dismantled and its heavy guns removed, and it has, in their opinion, been thus rendered innocuous for any warlike purpose.

Food For Russia

Shipments Have Arrived and Crisis Should Be Over.

Moscow dispatches say that the local correspondents have come in both from Samara and from the provinces, and that the situation should now proceed. The basis of current distribution of bread is, however, only provided for the first days to the "non-preferred" classes. The food are also to get four pounds of beef.

Reports from Petrograd state that 61,920 tons of foodstuffs, mostly flour, herrings, beans, rice, etc., have either arrived or are en route for the capital. More than 1,000,000 sacks and thousands of other agricultural implements have already arrived there.

False Claims.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good — that it can't do any harm — and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would not for yourself.

Nations Are Cordial Again After Wordy War.

Great Britain and France, according to latest reports, are now cordially embracing one another with great intensity and exchanging perfervid Gallic kisses on both cheeks. They were, let us hope, up to a day or so ago, engaged in a wordy duel, which covered the blackest intentions to each other, and might have led to actual hostilities before there was even time to cable the news to North America.

It is very cheering to hear all this, even if it shows a somewhat mercurial temperament methese giddy old nations, but, if we stop to think a moment, does it not all rather cast a doubt upon the credibility of some of our ordinary dispatches?—Winnipeg Tribune.

The biggest yearly rainfall is in Assam. In 1861 the world's record was broken there by a fall of 805 inches, or more than 67 feet of rain.

Away Up North

Potatoes Grown At Fort Norman Average 400 Bushels to Acre.

A Mackenzie River dispatch, on returning to Edmonton from visiting the oil well at Fort Norman, tells of potatoes grown there last year at Fort Simpson, 275 miles south of Fort Norman, which averaged 400 bushels to the acre. Some of these potatoes were exported to Dawson as long ago as 1898, and, changed in a wordy dart, which covered the blackest intentions to each other, and might have led to actual hostilities before there was even time to cable the news to North America.

Two dispatches from Port Arthur announce that the Silver Islet mine, which was one of the richest silver mines in the world in the early days of Thunder Bay, has reopened after 40 years' idleness. The Silver Islet Development company has completed its work and has received a permit. The foreign office has instructed Minister Obata to investigate the incident and report to the Peking Government if it appears that it was provoked by the Chinese.

Polish-German Question Still Causes Division Between Allied Nations

Paris—The French and British prime ministers are far from agreement upon the new line dividing the Upper Silesia, drawn by the council appointed for the purpose. Therefore, the work of the Supreme Council, which has had under advisement the Silesian problem, cannot be completed for the present, nor is it possible to forecast the outcome of the differences which have arisen over this knotty German-Polish question.

The position of the French Government as explained by M. Briand, is substantially: "The experts have presented their conclusions, and have said to the Supreme Council, 'Now decide.' We do not decide the same way as the British, and disagreements of have occurred. The experts' new line which was arrived at by a majority vote is not to be carried upon by the council, and has been referred back to them, and they have replied: 'We shall come back before the council if we can reach a unanimous agreement.'"

The French experts have studied the line proposed by Mr. Lloyd George.

According to their calculations this line would give 200,000 Polish votes to Poland and 270,000 to Germany on the one hand, and 100,000 German votes to Poland and 600,000 German votes to Germany on the other, whereas the Briand line gave 60 per cent of the votes to Germany and 40 per cent to Poland.

Premier Briand informed the British delegation that he would be willing to accept, as a last resort, the Sforza Line in Silesia, according to the Havas Agency.

This line gives Poland the western part of the industrial district, notably Glewitz, Zabrze and Tarnowitz.

Butter Competitions

Edmonton Dairy Secures the Highest Score in Dominion Contest.

Ottawa—The quality of the butter submitted to date by the provincial creameries in the Dominion co-operational scoring contest is better than any in any previous year, according to the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, J. A. Ruddick.

Edmonton City Dairy secured the highest score of any sample submitted in the competition commenced in 1919, with 98 points for their July sample.

The highest scoring sample from June was supplied by the Central Creameries, Calgary, with 97.5 points, and for July by the Sunset Co-operative Creamery of Manitoba with 97 points.

Brantholzie, Man.—A Chinese laundry, a butcher shop, a general store, and a hairdresser are the business establishments of Brantholzie, a new town in Manitoba.

Britain would never have fortified it as Germany did, and it was indeed a costly remembrance to the sacrifices of the sea until the German spent immense sums in building sea defences against us. Had it not been under the British flag in 1914 it could only have been held at a cost of more than it is worth to us to value, or it must have been abandoned to the Germans with a consequent heavy loss of prestige to Britain.

Under the Treaty of Versailles its fortifications have been dismantled and its heavy guns removed, and it has, in their opinion, been thus rendered innocuous for any warlike purpose.

Loyalty of People of Dominion

King George Is Grateful For Work of Premiers at Conference.

London.—His Majesty King George in his reply to the address from the Imperial conference, emphasizes the fact that he had stirring and ineffaceable proofs from the peoples of the dominion of their loyalty and devotion in the enthusiastic and touching receptions invariably given on the several occasions of his visit to different parts of the world where the British flag flies, proofs which had been renewed in the remarkable demonstrations of welcome and goodwill to the Prince of Wales during his visit of the past three years. Furthermore, where could one find such ample testimony to their common allegiance to empire and sovereign as in their noble self-sacrifice during the four and a half years of the World War?

His Majesty added: "I followed with keen interest the deliberations of the conference. These meetings and the exchange of views between ministers of the great communities which they represent, upon the many problems affecting the common interest of the British peoples, are essential to the unity and well-being of the empire and the general peace of the world. Every facility must be given for such periodical meetings and to ensure this, we look confidently to new of science and research to discover an improved means of intercommunication between all parts of the British commonwealth.

"I know the work of the conference has been strenuous, entailing severe demands upon all concerned, but these efforts will result in and I sincerely further advance the real progress and development."

"I bid you think then, on my own behalf, and that of the Queen, for the address. We wish God-speed to those who are leaving England and wish and happy return to their respective homes and families. More than ever do we follow with feelings of affection, the welfare of our people at home and across the sea."

Five Japs Killed in Manchuria

Police Attempted to Enter Japanese Premises Without Permit.

Honolulu, T.H.—Five Japanese were killed and 12 severely injured in a fight between 70 Japanese residents and 50 Chinese police at Niu Chuang, Manchuria, according to advices from the disturbance arose out of attempts by the police to enter Japanese premises in the city without a permit. The foreign office has instructed Minister Obata to investigate the incident and report to the Peking Government if it appears that it was provoked by the Chinese.

Allies Will Send Relief To The Starving Russians

Lloyd George Has No Admiration For Soviet Government, But Will Act on Humanitarian Grounds.

Paris—The United States ambassador took part in the sessions of the supreme council, more as replying to Premier Lloyd George that he was not the attitude of policy of the United States gave traders the right to call upon us for other purposes in the Near East, and again, in replying to enquiries by the prime ministers respecting Secretary Hoover's Russian relief plans.

M. Briand, the French premier, began the discussion on Russian famine by saying that the Russian people who had fought with the Allies in the beginning of the war might justly look to them now for help.

"I propose that all the Allies join with the United States and the other nations who are interesting themselves in the administration of relief through Red Cross societies and other private sources," said M. Briand.

"I heartily agree to this," exclaimed Lloyd George, "but I wish to point out," he added, "that such efforts could not reach many of the sufferers. The Red Cross cannot perform the miracle of the five loaves and two fishes. Relief must be organized immediately on a great scale not only for the sake of Russia, but for the sake of the world, because typhus, cholera and other plagues which start in Eastern Europe would carry more losses than the last war."

"I have no admiration for the Soviet Government," I loyd George continued, "but relief is impossible without its co-operation, inasmuch as it controls transport and all of the official machinery. No one could move about Russia without its permission. I think for this purpose and this purpose only, the Allies should make some arrangement with the Soviet Government."

Lloyd George said he had been informed that some of the Russian provinces had surplus grain, but the peasants would not release it except in exchange for goods which they required. He suggested that the Supreme Council consider at once whether steps could not be taken to obtain grain in this manner for the famine area. The question was not a political, but a humanitarian one.

"When your neighbor's house is burning," he concluded, "you don't ask questions, but try to save it."

Ample Harvest Help

Winnipeg.—With approximately 25,000 harvest hands required for Manitoba and Saskatchewan already in the west, it was decided at a meeting of employment officials here to satisfy the railway officials that further excursion trains from eastern points should be held up, pending a survey of conditions. Whether the west has sufficient farm labor or not will be decided in the next day or so. Surprise was expressed by local employment officials at the expeditious manner in which the railways had dispatched so many harvesters from the east.

Want Teachers of High Ideals

Premier Drury Delivers Pointed Address at Teachers' Conference.

Toronto.—"Heaven save us from the blue-bound teacher. Heaven save us from the fellow who would rather parse a word than see a beautiful line of literature, and save us from the fellow whose only ambition is examinations," exclaimed Hon. E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario, extending a welcome on behalf of the province to the Imperial conference of teachers in Convocation Hall.

"The great danger of the teacher is that of seeing a goal, continued Mr. Drury. "We are building a new nation and we need broad minds who recognize the right of human nature to unfolding of its own development. Nations have fallen because of wrong teaching in the schools."

A lively feature of the session was an animated discussion which followed an address on Celebration of Empire Day by Col. T. E. Perrin, principal of the provincial Normal School, Regina, who sent out a circular asking questions regarding Empire Day observance in the west and returning to fill his letter with educational position in Western Canada.

Quebec Town Destroyed by Fire

Hundreds of People at Aylmer Are Rendered Homeless.

Ottawa—Fire of a disastrous character, fanned by a strong wind from the southwest, swept Aylmer, Que., this afternoon, and left in its wake a parched and blackened area of what was formerly a quiet and picturesque town.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the fire had not been brought under control, and rendered homeless and the property loss is estimated by Mayor Nash, of Aylmer, at $750,000. Most of the principal buildings in the town were razed by the flames and the homes of some 125 families lost.

Locate Rich Iron Prospect

Find Near Sault Ste Marie Mountain Containing Iron.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—What is characterized as the most promising iron prospect in Canada has been located 35 miles north of the Sault, by Col. J. A. Currie, of Toronto, M.P. for North Simcoe, and Archibald Campbell.

The float was located about a mile and a half from the site of the discovery, and natives of the country, who were familiar with the iron stones in the float, maintained that it had come down from the Hudson Bay district.

Wants Employment Bureau

Winnipeg.—Organized labor in Winnipeg has asked the provincial government to establish a provincial employment bureau, to be operated in connection with the provincial department of labor.

Vacancy for Lieutenant Governor.

Ottawa.—The appointment of a successor to Sir Lomer Gouin, former premier of Quebec province, to the official term of office expired on August 8, awaits the return of Premier Meighen.

Sir George Foster, acting premier, has been asked about the appointment and has stated that the appointment will be dealt with by Mr. Meighen. He gave no opinion as to the probable choice for the position.

To Unify the Laws Of the Provinces

Ottawa.—An attempt to unify the laws of the various provinces, with the exception of the province of Quebec, which has been under consideration by a committee for some time, will be reported upon at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association which opens here on September 6, and continues until September 8. Such a project, with the exception of Quebec, is represented by a consolidation. The exception on the part of Quebec is due to the radical differences in its institutions on the maintenance of its civil laws granted under the B.N.A. Act.

Allies Will Send Relief To The Starving Russians

Lloyd George Has No Admiration For Soviet Government, But Will Act on Humanitarian Grounds.

Paris—The United States ambassador took part in the sessions of the supreme council, more as replying to Premier Lloyd George that he was not the attitude of policy of the United States gave traders the right to call upon us for other purposes in the Near East, and again, in replying to enquiries by the prime ministers respecting Secretary Hoover's Russian relief plans.

M. Briand, the French premier, began the discussion on Russian famine by saying that the Russian people who had fought with the Allies in the beginning of the war might justly look to them now for help.

"I propose that all the Allies join with the United States and the other nations who are interesting themselves in the administration of relief through Red Cross societies and other private sources," said M. Briand.

"I heartily agree to this," exclaimed Lloyd George, "but I wish to point out," he added, "that such efforts could not reach many of the sufferers. The Red Cross cannot perform the miracle of the five loaves and two fishes. Relief must be organized immediately on a great scale not only for the sake of Russia, but for the sake of the world, because typhus, cholera and other plagues which start in Eastern Europe would carry more losses than the last war."

"I have no admiration for the Soviet Government," I loyd George continued, "but relief is impossible without its co-operation, inasmuch as it controls transport and all of the official machinery. No one could move about Russia without its permission. I think for this purpose only, and this purpose only, the Allies should make some arrangement with the Soviet Government."

Lloyd George said he had been informed that some of the Russian provinces had surplus grain, but the peasants would not release it except in exchange for goods which they required. He suggested that the Supreme Council consider at once whether steps could not be taken to obtain grain in this manner for the famine area. The question was not a political, but a humanitarian one.

"When your neighbor's house is burning," he concluded, "you don't ask questions, but try to save it."

Scrub Stock - and Belts

You may not see any connection between stock and belts—but there is. Buying cheap belts is just as unsatisfactory as breeding scrub cattle.

A good belt is an investment that brings constant satisfaction and profit, as does pure-bred stock. Goodyear Klingtite Belts are pure-breed. There is not a scrub strain in them.

I see the same good business judgment in buying belts that you do in buying stock. We can supply you with any size of Klingtite Belts —quickly.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Rothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run-down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nurse who took care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am getting strong. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R.R. 8, Rothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so powerful in curing woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

Not as Wise as the Squirrels

The Bolshevik Lack of Foresight in Providing for the Future.

What Secretary Hughes has described as the progressive impoverishment of the masses of Russia, has continued, and they have arrived at the present appalling tragedy. The consequences were inevitable. Bolshevism established. Lenine's policy was not up to the level of that of the squirrel which stores against future need. Lack of rain precipitated the famine, but its cause lies elsewhere. Bolshevism reduced production to the verge of extinction, and there was no reserve when nature turned stacker.—From the New York Tribune.

Russian Predicts A World Triumvirate

Germany, Russia and United States to Form It.

The world triumvirate of the future has been pictured as Germany, Russia and the United States Serge Makaroff, one of the leaders of the revolution of 1905 and now an exile in Paris, made the prediction in an interview.

"I am anything but an admirer of German ideals," Makaroff declared. "But I can see that the natural trend of events will bring Germany to the ends of Russia and America as a commercial and military ally."

Makaroff's theory is given wide credence in the Russian colony of Paris.

Germany, he says, is the natural ally of Russia. Makaroff said, because their economical interests, Russia being the land, is America's ally in the matter of wheat, so the only prospect for Germany to get with the United States is for the Pacific without a clash of interests.

Guarding Against X-Ray Dangers

Dangers Can Be Avoided By the Adoption of Efficient Protection.

The undisputed alarm caused by reports of the burns and more serious dangers of X-Rays will be regulated by the report issued by the X-Ray and Radium Protection Committee formed by doctors, and other men of science in Great Britain. These dangers concerned the deep seated lesions of the body which were found to be affected by the X Rays within 8 to 10 ars X-Rays with a strong power of penetration. The committee find that the dangers can be avoided by the adoption of efficient protection and suitable working conditions Only those who are constantly exposed to the rays are in any danger and exposures to the rays at any one time are not dangerous. Exposure to the rays need not be painful. Very serious results have followed the use of X-Rays by unskilled persons. Hospital treatment by means of hard X-Rays is recommended as the most effective and safest method. It will be difficult to prevent unskilled persons using X-Rays without legislation, but it is important that

A financial statement for six months read at the last meeting of Vermilion Municipal Hospital Board, showed that on the 30th of June last there was due from the different municipalities the sum of $21,203.15, arrears of taxes. With this large arrearage the difficulty of financing the hospital becomes quite apparent.

Over half a dozen large threshing outfits with engines have been sold in town within the past week or two and several more will likely be sold shortly. This is in anticipation of one of the best harvests Vermilion has ever had.

Warrant Scoutmaster Stanley F. McCloskey has tendered his resignation as Scoutmaster of the 1st Vermilion Troop Boy Scouts and leaves shortly for Saskatoon where he has accepted a position with the Imperial Oil Company. His departure from Vermilion will be deeply regretted, but all wish him the best of luck in his new avocation.

E. Telford, now of town, showed the Standard samples of 10-rowed wheat. The heads were large and jedging from the number of kernels, Ed should be in a fair way to retiring after his crop is threshed this fall.

J. B. Kalyschuk, auctioneer of Prinsula, was in town Monday and in conversation with the Standard stated that the grain harvest in his district would commence the end of the week. The crop, he reports as good, expected wheat returns being placed at 25 bushels and oats at from 60 bushels upwards. Rye and barley are also heavy crops.

This week sees the 1921 harvest ground throughout the Vermilion country and binders are working overtime in the golden grain fields. The crop is expected to average up well.

Dr. Hampton of Spokane, Wash., left for home last Saturday in his big Cadillac car after a visit to his farm here. The doctor was accompanied by his wife. Messrs H. Wener and Leo Goldman of town were members of the party on the return trip. It is the intention to enjoy a few days rest at Bishop on route. After spending a few days in Spokane, Messrs. Wener and Goldman will take their seats for Vancouver, there by rail to other east points.

Miss Mary Long who has spent the past few months in California, returned to town this week.

A few weeks ago the Town installed a blower in connection with the electric light and power plant which is calculated to effect a great saving in the consumption of coal. Heretofore the town had been obliged to use a fairly high grade of coal but with the blower in operation the cheapest grade will serve the purpose equally as well, in fact almost anything burnable can be utilized.

Parents of boys who make it a habit of coasting on the sidewalk are warned that this is against a town bylaw and that prosecutions will follow. Another infraction of a town bylaw is the posting of handbills on electric light polls. Both these bylaws will be hereafter strictly enforced.

The many young friends of Miss Lucille Bower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs H W. Brown, north of town, will be pleased to learn that she has successfully passed the Grade XI examination. Miss Brown was attending Kelvin Technical High School, Winnipeg.

"If Tanlac had given me an appetite like what it did and cured so many needlessly sick stomach it couldn't have been that gave me no relief that I made a bigger change in my life. OFF FOR BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Having "eaten up" everything within a radius of fifty miles this summer, the Vermilion Fire Brigade baseball team could not let the season close without trying a wallop at the provincial champions namely Vegreville, who have held on to the Brewing Cup since 1915. The trophy says, "You're the best baseball nine in the province of Alberta," naturally the boys questioned this, and the result is that on Tuesday night the locals journeyed up to Vegreville to do battle royal for the mug and all that it signifies.

The arrangements call for the first game of the series to take place at 5.15 this Wednesday afternoon; the second game at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and if a third game is necessary it will be played at 5.15 the same afternoon.

Vermilion's team is the strongest it has put in the field and the boys and their supporters are expecting great things, being confident that the Brewing Cup will decorate the Fire Hall after Thursday. A special coach attached to the jitney this afternoon was packed with baseball fans from the town who went up to back the boys.

Vegreville won the first game by a score of 8 - 5.

The Menace of Bolshevism

Dr. Jog recent months to warn us the grave of Canada to the activities of the radical socialistic Bolsheviki and Communist movements have not been as frequent as was the case a year or so ago, but this does not mean that the menace of either Bolshevism or Communism has passed. Notwithstanding the anxieties and arduous duties at present imposed on the statesmen of Great Britain because of the troubles in Ireland, the complex problems of world finance, and the innumerable difficulties to be overcome in reconstructing following the war, leaders in government in the Old Country are not overlooking the danger that will threaten from the Bolshevik propaganda.

A committee of the House of Lords under the chairmanship of the Duke of Northumberland, after investigation of unrest in Europe and research into the activities of those revolutionary organizations and in a report recently issued it is stated that there is overwhelming evidence that an International conspiracy exists which aims at the destruction of all existing institutions of government and society, of all religion, of all moral laws, and all property rights, throughout Great Britain, Canada and other Overseas Dominions.

This report sets forth that the main points in the Revolutionary programme are:—

(1) The national power of Great Britain and other Allied States is to be broken down by the formation of industrial revolutions, through appeals to class hatred, and by efforts to take greater interest and privileges for one class of people. Governments which are strong are to be weakened by the introduction of Socialism, which is the same as the first step to anarchy.

(2) Internationalism is to be taught.

(3) In every possible way influence is to be secured over public officials.

(4) As religion is the real mainstay of all government, it is to be destroyed.

(5) Property ownership is to be rendered impossible—by means of a thousand laws, restrictions and taxes, all tending to bringing about some form of State Socialism, or Communism, or Anarchy.

The Communist Party, directed and subsidized from Moscow exerts its power through magazines and pamphlets, spreading ideas of Red Revolution into the minds of the people, and by a process known as "boring from within" Communist schools have been established for perverting the young by the teaching of "economic and political ideals." In addition it is important to note that there are over twenty weekly newspapers in Canada teaching and preaching Socialism and Communism, many of them of the most radical kind.

Despite all his many other duties and responsibilities, David Lloyd George, who is a radical of the same and progressive type, felt impelled recently to sound a word of warning as to the danger that confronts British institutions from this subtle enemy. The British Prime Minister is reported as saying "The military danger is over, but there are greater, more insidious, more permanent dangers still remaining—the dangers that have arisen from the new conditions in this and every land, the new ideas that have arisen, the new organizations that have suddenly risen into great powers. What is the peril? It is the phenomenal growth of the power of Labor, and the new purposes of the most subversive character. It calls itself Labor, but it is really Socialist.

"I suspect doubts the reality of the danger. I would ask him to read the Socialist and Labor papers. We rarely see them, and we do not quite see what they are after but what they write in these papers is repeated on hundreds and thousands of platforms by hundreds and thousands and millions of people. And they are beginning to believe it. Socialism is fighting, and you will find it in these papers—to destroy everything that great prophets and leaders labored through centuries to build up. Private enterprise, individual effort, the stimulus of reasonable gain, the present organization of commerce, of industry, of credits—all that goes if this new system which is being preached, lives and grows. Is political liberty what they build up to being threatened?

The old and tried Labor organizations of Canada and the United States are aware of the danger which threatens and are out combatting it. The business communities are becoming more and more aware of it. It is time the average man who loves the little home he has built up by patient effort and self denial, the man who has quarter or half section of land, the workmen and women who know that in the public school and the church are to be found the real safeguards and guarantees of personal liberty and real political freedom should be up and vigorously oppose the enemy to all that is dearest and best in life

Clergyman's Peculiar Request

Left Directions in Will For Vault of Polished Stone.

Peculiar directions for the construction of his grave were given in detail and permanently fixed in the will of the Rev Francis Minnitt, structure, access to the vault being at Torrington Square, who left property provided either from a central paragraph, worth £14,074. He wrote "It is from the front or side, provision in my wish to be buried in a vault being made for drainage in every with cement and 14 inch brickwork, case, as I do not approve of the long or in stone, for which more than the girders used to separate coffins.

usual ground must be taken, so that the dimensions of the interior may be ample. This vault should be cellared, and, if possible, drained, the walls being floored with slate polished on both sides, or stone flags so polished

Any shelters should also be of like material, and he was proudly telling his life story to a patron.

"A few years ago," he asserted, "I was quite unknown, but now my work is being on the line?"

The lawyer thought flittered through his brain, and he added:

"She is my wife's"—London Answers.

Knew His Name

The Poet Whittier's Dog Was An Intelligent Addeal.

During one of the last birthday celebrations of the poet Whittier, he was greeted by a celebrated orator in the course of the latter was asked to sing, and [illegible] wrote at the piano, began the beautiful ballad, "Robin Adair." She had hardly begun when Mr Whittier's pet dog came into the room and, seating himself by her, attentively listened as if fascinated, and when [illegible] with a delight unusual for any animal. When she finished he rose and put his paw very gravely into her hand and licked her cheek. This was taken that as a tribute to beauty, said Mr Whittier "He also is a Robin Adair." The dog, indeed, his own name, evidently considered that he was the hero of the song. From that moment, during the lady's visit, he was her devoted attendant. He kept by her side when she was indoors, and accompanied her when she went to walk. When she went away, he carried her satchel in his mouth to the gate, and watched her departure with every evidence of distress.—St. Nicholas.

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA

CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Fenston, Crafi, Sask., writes: "A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of cramps, which completely laid me out, and in a few hours I had to quit work. The pains myself and I had the doctor attend them, but they didn't get any great relief and on several times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and used it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very thankful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was except the extremely hot weather and the active work I was doing at the time.

Several of my neighbors were taken with cramps myself and

The Irish Question

Almost as far b[ack] [as] [the] [Un]ion [the] [pop]ulation of Ireland has [been] a black [spot] in the history and politics of the British Isles. It has [been] [a] [so]urce of more misrepresentation of Britain throughout the world [es]pecially in the United States, than any other question, or combination [of] questions. It has been the fruitful topic of every anti British agitator and enemy of the British Empire in all parts of the world. The British [Gov]ernment and people have been denounced as trying to crush the Ir[ish] people. The inhabitants of the Emerald Isle as bondage. Crimes without number and unspeakable outrages have been perpetrated in the name of freedom as well as by those who have claimed they were responsible for putting down rebellion and defiance to all law and order. British people everywhere have longed and prayed for the reaching of some solution and [to] the end of the unhappy struggle.

For a good many years [the] [Gov]ernment and people of Great Britain have been willing and anxious to grant Ireland any form of self government within the Empire [as] the [Gov]ernments could unite upon and agree to accept. [It] [is] [not] [ne]cessary to [go] into the [de]tails of what [has] [been] put [for]ward [as] the British Parliament, but with the Irish people themselves, solely because the latter could not come to a mutual understanding. The two [Gov]ernments have been understood in Britain, but it has not been [so] [with] the Irish [people] themselves.

The communications which have recently passed between Premier Lloyd George and Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, as the outcome of the conference which [has] [been] in session for [the] [past] [week] [with] the accomplishment of no other good, will at least open the eyes of people in all countries to the true state of affairs. Never again can there be [mis]interpretation for a charge [that] [is] [put] [for]ward [by] [the] [Br]itish [Gov]ernment to Ireland. The British [Gov]ernment still does, and must, refuse to Ireland the right of [se]cession from the Empire and a pronouncement of loyalty to the British Crown, since Ireland has been offered the full status of a Dominion [such] [as] is [en]joyed by Canada, Australia and South Africa. In fact, as [Lon]g [as] [Sou]th African Premier points out Ireland has been offered more than was offered to the Transvaal and the Orange Free State.

At the time of writing [the] [auth]or's [de]scription of [the] Dail Eireann, the Irish Republican Parliament, [the] [ans]wer [or] acceptance or [re]jection of the British [Gov]ernment's offer has not been made, but it has been rejected by de Valera and the [pro]labilities are that his action will be upheld. De Valera knows [that] [the] [pe]ople [are] [not] [be]hind him [in] this [mat]ter. The people of Ulster, on the other hand, desire the establishment of a republic and are unalterably opposed to [the] [set]ting up of [any] [sort] [of] [gov]ernment for the whole of Ireland. And public opinion throughout the British Empire will not for one moment countenance the forcing of Ulster against the will of its people.

Here, then, is the impasse. It is a difference of Irish opinion, not a refusal on the part of Britain to grant the prayer of a united Irish people. The British Government's offer to Southern Ireland is fair, just and [lib]eral, reaching [as] [it] [does] [to] [the] [ver]y [ut]most [li]mit [of] [self] [gov]ernment [in] [the] [Br]itish [Em]pire, and [if] [the] [Gov]ernment's offer has not been accepted [by] [de] Valera [and] [his] [fol]lowers [it] [is] [be]cause [it] [is] [not] [the] [de]sire [of] [the] [Ir]ish [people] [to] [ac]cept [it].

It [must] [be] [re]membered [that] [the] [Gov]ernment [of] [Great] [Br]itain [is] [not] [the] [Gov]ernment [of] [the] [Br]itish [Em]pire. [If] [such] [a] [right] [were] [claimed] [it] [would] [be] [equally] [due] [to] [South] [Af]rica, [Aus]tralia, [Can]ada, [New] [Zea]land, [Newfoundland] [and] [the] [Northern] [Ir]ish [Par]liament. [The] [responsibility] [of] [sanctioning] [secession] [reaggravated] [rests] [clearly] [than] [in] [the] [United] [States], [where], [for] [many] [years], [the] [money] [has] [been] [raised] [to] [finance] [the] [struggle] [for] [Home] [Rule] [in] [Ireland]. The United States fought one of the longest and [bl]oodiest wars in history in support of a denial of the right of [se]cession [on] [the] [part] [of] [the] [South]ern States, but [now] [it] [is] [ask]ed [to] [finance] [the] [dis]ruption of the British Empire with equal vigor [and] [the] [same] [group] [of] [State]. Great Britain can do no less [in] [the] [case] [of] Ireland, which is, and must remain, an integral part of the British [Em]pire [than] [the] United States [can] [do] [to] [commit] [national] [suic]ide.

If Eamonn de Valera and his Sinn Fein associates and supporters will not accept anything less than complete separation, and persist in [the] [set]ting up of a republic [in] [Ire]land, [the] [Br]itish [Gov]ernment [is] [pre]pared to assume a terrible responsibility and will prove [the] [sin]cerity [of] [its] [in]tentions, [as] [future] [pea]ce [and] [pro]sperity [in] [the] [Br]itish [Em]pire [it]self, will [con]firm [this].

Government and Private Operation in Canada

An Analysis of Results Obtained On The Two Large Railway Systems In That Country, Under State and Company Control.

By J. L. PAYNE

(Formerly Councillor of Statistics, Department of Railways and Canals, of Canada.)

(From Railway Age, Chicago.)

Since the special investigation of the deficit of $70,000,000, the Canadian National Railways for the fiscal year 1920, there has naturally been a great deal of speculation and enquiry as to the underlying causes. That deficit was, of course, much larger than the figures given out. It omitted a very large volume of fixed charges. The only excuse for this omission was that some of these charges on the basis of standard accounting are not properly chargeable to any period ascertainable, but they have not been made up. That was the loose way in which state railways accounting was begun more than half a century ago, and it has never been thought worth while to make a change. There was no demand for the information anyway. Absolute indifference prevailed with respect to the whole matter.

A reversal of public sentiment has taken place, however, and the [com]mon sense of the matter is now being [ex]pressing deep concern in the volume of actual loss and the causes which [le]d to it. [It] [is] [to] [be] [hoped] [that] [the] facts with regard to the deficit were prevented in recent issues of Railway Age, there is no intention of repeating them now. It will be sufficient to bear in mind that the fixed charges omitted [are] [to] [$1,300,000,000] of capital liability, added to the operating short [fa]ll, will probably produce a deficit of [$]1,[illegible],000,000 for the [cal]endar year. It need not be said that, inasmuch a this loss falls [wh]olly on the [Gov]ernment it is a serious matter to a country like Canada, with a population of 9,000,000 and a gross revenue [of] [only] [$]300,000,000.

Judgment By Comparison.

It is [a] [gla]nce is taken of the map of Canada, it will be seen that three lines of railway run closely parallel to each other from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast. The one which is the Canadian Pacific, the other two form parts of the Canadian National group. As between the latter are the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific. The eye is scarcely able to follow the parallelism [in] [Ont]ario, Quebec, and the eastern provinces, but it nevertheless exists. That will be observed [is] [a] [con]trast in the mileage by provinces is brought out under the eye. The facts from west to east are as follows:

	Canadian National	Canadian Pacific
British Columbia	1,201	1,816
Alberta	1,936	1,901
Saskatchewan	3,371	2,777
Manitoba	2,007	1,738
Ontario	3,120	3,286
Quebec	1,935	1,076
New Brunswick	536	536
Nova Scotia	375	576

One of the two explanations are necessary in relation to the foregoing table. It does not include the mileage of the Grand Trunk nor of a number of branch and subsidiary lines. It does not include the mileage brought in the mileage of the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk had not been officially taken over by June 30, 1919, which happens, for reasons not creditable to the new Dominion Bureau of Statistics, to be the last year for which information is available on a basis permitting of direct comparisons. The same which will be with the Canadian Pacific. They contribute the mileage of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the National Transcontinental and the Interco[lon]ial. They contribute the mileage of the statement. If the omitted mileage and the operating results there[of] were brought in they would not merely serve to make matters worse.

It will be observed that these roads have a distinct advantage in mileage in the various provinces. They tap in about the same measure the great industrial growing areas of the west, and meet on an equal footing on the industrial centres of Ontario and Quebec. They run through [the] [Mar]itime Provinces practically side by side. Therefore, it would be difficult to find any good ground for objection to the comparisons which will be made. Yet these two systems had operating results for 1919 [in] The Canadian Pacific has a net corporate income of $36,977,263, and the Canadian National shows had a deficit of $40,650,222. This deficit, in accordance with the [rep]rehensible practice of many years, left out of the reckoning an immense amount of fixed charges.

The object immediately in view is to look carefully at the various aspects of operating results and to see if any reasons for this adverse showing by [the] Canadian National group can be identified. If, for example it were proposed to subject the system to searching examination, what tests would be applied by a skilled railway accountant, or a train railway operator, to locate the weak spots? Either of these investigators would certainly probe beneath the surface in a perfectly proper effort to ascertain why in the case of two great railways, operating side by side, one should be strong and prosperous and the other weak and undernourished. Before all the trouble centres, he would next seek to know whether or not the adverse results arising therefrom might have been modified if not wholly prevented.

Where the Losses Came In.

The four units of the Canadian National here under view, and the Canadian Pacific, had the following operating results in 1919:

	Canadian National	Canadian Pacific
Gross earnings	$ 98,172,827	$162,846,470
Operating expenses	104,032,733	130,416,995
Tons hauled	25,754,622	25,894,741
Passengers carried	18,551,151	14,542,282
Earnings per mile	6,263	11,900
Expenses per mile	6,993	9,524
Earnings per train mile	2,010	4,104
Expenses per train mile	3,361	3,307
Operating ratio	111.6	80.1

Certain points of dissimilarity will here be observed in contrast with other points of great similarity. The tonnage of freight was almost identical; the gross earnings and earnings per mile of line, as well as per train mile, were [ve]ry apart. In this relation there [are] [fac]ts [to] [be] candidly stated [in] [ord]er [that] [there] [are] [ad]vantageous to the Canadian Pacific. First, the Canadian Pacific had average tan mile receipts of .953 as compared with .892 by the Canadian National. This was due to the higher proportion of first-class freight. Second, the Canadian Pacific had a larger average haul; and third, the Canadian Pacific had a higher traffic density.

With the more or less basic facts in mind, it is now important to apply analytical methods to some of the details which spring therefrom. In the operating ratio we have at once a strong clue to the field in which weakness or faulty administration is likely to be found, and let it be said at once, we shall be rewarded by several further startling discoveries as we proceed. For this inquiry the years 1917 and 1919 are selected, for good and definite reasons. In the former year the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific representing the great western section of the Canadian National, were in corporate hands. In the latter they had been for a full year and more under government control. That fact at once suggests the pertinent question as to what were the practical effects of the change. Were betterments brought about? Was administration strengthened or weakened? Let the facts give the answers.

Excessive Transportation Expenses.

Since all the operations of a railway find their focus in the running of trains, the cost of transportation becomes fundamental. In this instance we shall be just to the Canadian National units in comparing them with the Canadian Pacific. We must first, however, find a satisfactory gage. For that purpose ton miles and passenger miles are combined, and taken as a standard which will not be questioned. Ton and passenger miles represent not only the full service of railways, but the lowest unit of measurement obtainable. They place the results in comparison on an absolutely common footing. The cost of transportation per mile will get us at once into the very core of operating conditions and, by comparison with a strong road, tell us whether or not there were in that vital centre. Here are the facts as to transportation expenses, or ton and passenger mile

	1917	1919
Canadian Northern	.321	.630
G. T. Pacific	.391	.672
Transcontinental	.284	.439
Intercolonial	.442	.790
The average for the year in 1917 was .355 as against .288 for the Canadian Pacific.
In 1910 the average was .626 for the Canadian National and .360 for the Canadian Pacific.

The difference between transportation cost per ton and passenger mile on the Intercolonial and Canadian Pacific is very striking. In the case of the Canadian Northern, which is responsible for 52 per cent. of the freight tonnage and 60 per cent. of gross earnings, there was a distinct worsening of operating conditions. From [a]ying 11.5 per cent. higher than the Canadian Pacific in 1917 the cost rose to 20 per cent. higher in 1919.

We get a little nearer to our final answer when our inquiry discloses the fact that while these four units of the Canadian National increased gross earnings in 1919 over 1917 by 24.6 per cent., the Canadian Pacific scored a betterment of but 10.9 per cent. during the same period. Thus the government system had a distinct advantage in respect of income. The trouble was not in that field. While, however, the Canadian Pacific was adding to the cost of two great railways, the Canadian National was swelling outgo by 69.7 per cent. The result is obvious and rests not [on] [a] [mat]ter of operating surplus of $13,510,116 in 1917 was turned into an operating deficit of $10,858,926 in 1919. The Canadian Pacific, on the other hand, came out with net operating earnings of $33,479,471.

Extending the analysis by measuring both earnings and operating expenses by combined ton and passenger miles, it is found that while the Canadian National increased gross earnings from .831 in 1917 to 1.111 cents in 1919 the Canadian Pacific advanced from .897 to 1.282. This was equivalent to a gain of 33.8 per cent. in the case and 42.9 in the other. With respect to operating expenses, however, the government group rose from .681 to 1.252, while the Canadian Pacific went up from .591 to 1.027. The difference in one instance was 83.9 per cent. and on the other 73.8. Putting it [in] another and suggestive way, while the difference between the two systems was 15.2 per cent in 1917, adverse to the Canadian National in 1919, it was 21.9 That difference tells us plainly how much better the Canadian Pacific was able to meet the rising [in]cre[as]e [in] operating than was the management of the government system

Trainload and Carload Tests.

There are strong [sli]ghts to be seen on the operating results as expressed [in] terms of dollars and cents, and we begin to catch a clear glimpse of weakness in fundamentals, when we look into the trainload and carload situation on the Canadian National as contrasted with that on the Canadian Pacific. The fact will spare me from [the] [ne]cessity of [ex]planation.

In carload the Canadian National is open to serious criticism. It was only one ton below the average of the Canadian Pacific in 1917 and it picked that up in 1919 That is the single sign of betterment in operating conditions. By all other tests, without exception, the system gave a poorer performance in 1919 than in 1917

The trainload of the various units was as follows:

	1917	1919
Canadian Northern	378.4	337.9
G T Pacific	368.8	302.7
Transcontinental	440.6	397.0
Intercolonial	362.9	402.1
Average	382.5	335.1

This result was 38 5 per cent. below the average trainload of the Canadian Pacific in 1917 and 41.1 per cent in 1919 It might be assumed that the striking difference was due to unfavorable grades on the government roads, but it would be a mistake. The Canadian Pacific is at a marked disadvantage in that regard It has always been the boast of the Canadian Northern that its .4 per cent controlling grade was the best of any road of similar length in North America, yet the Canadian Northern had an average trainload of 388 6 tons in 1917 and fell to 337.9 in 1919. That must be compared with 579.8 and 522.1 on the Canadian Pacific.

The lighter trainload of the Canadian National is due to fewer cars hauled In 1917 the monthly was 17.2, but in 1919 this had decreased to 15.6 On the other hand, the Canadian Pacific had an average of 22.6 in 1917 and 22.2 in 1919.

Wages and Employees Compared.

It was during the year ended June 30, 1919, that the McAdoo award began to make its pernicious influence felt among the railways of North America, and it would seem to be perfectly fair to compare the way in which this difficulty was met by the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Two tests have been applied, and the results are rather significant The first deals with the volume of wages per ton and passenger mile combined. The showing is as follows:

	1917	1919	Increase
Can Northern	.389	.819	110.5
G. T Pacific	.542	1.100	102.6
Transcontinental	.418	.652	48.8
Intercolonial	.445	.782	75.7
Average	.415	.798	94.7

These figures must be contrasted with averages of 344 and 625 by the Canadian Pacific. Incidentally, this test reveals the extent to which the swollen payroll effected operating cost

THE STANDARD
VERMILION, ALTA. AUGUST 26th.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a table giving a comparative statement of entries made at the Vermilion Fair, covering a period of the last four years. These are most interesting as evidencing the truly wonderful development of the exhibition and its accompanying benefits to the district. It will be noticed that in the four important classes of Horses, Cattle Sheep and Swine the 1918 Fair had 1,105 entries; 1919, 1,986; 1920, 1,059, and 1921 no less than 1,449—the local entries in all four classes netting a record. In the course of time fairs at very small centres will become a thing of the past, local endeavor and gamesting in the holding of a big district fair. One of these large exhibitions will centre at Vermilion, due to the great efforts always put forth by officers and directors who have guided the destinies of the Vermilion Agricultural Society. Though weather conditions hampered the attendance at the exhibition this year, its evident success is largely due to the energy and zeal of its able president, Mr. Wm. Telford, the secretary and the active assistance of the board of directors. All are live wires and well qualified to carry on the work of the society.

The greatest event in Western Canada is the harvesting of its vast wheat crop. All though the growing season crop reports are regularly issued and every interested every citizen affecting its growth, noted. World interest centres in the grain areas of the West. The size of the harvest is just that much increase in the wealth of the country—produced by the hardy sons of toil from mother earth.

Following a period of unsettled weather, conditions are now ideal and every binder in the country is at work in the golden grain. The northern portions of Alberta are blessed with a good crop and while not a record breaker, the returns for wheat are expected to average twenty-five bushels per acre. Oats, barley and rye are heavy and the feed situation is a most satisfactory one. The big consideration this fall is naturally the market price that will be paid for the grain, with a substantial reduction in freight rates in view and markets already apparent for a fair proportion of the western crop, the price should keep at the point that will net a fair margin to the grain growers.

Red Cross Notes

The Kitscoty branch of the Red Cross have elected the following officers: Rev. J. Peybus, chairman; Mrs. R. Hilly, vice chairman; Miss B. Mason, second vice-chairman; J. Kennedy, Secretary; E. Mason, Treasurer. The executive: Mrs. W.J. Kennedy, Mrs. M. Apperson, Mrs. E. Diecouson, Mrs. R. Garratte, Dr. J. V. McKay, J. Dale, W.H. Ketchenson, J.C. Diehl. The branch has organized to look after the local relief and have in mind also, the establishment of a rest room and health centre.

Mrs. R. Hilly, vice-chairman of the Kitscoty branch was chairman of the campaign committee in that place, and is an active Red Cross worker. Miss Mason, also a vice-chairman on the unit, nursed in the Turco-Balkan war and in the Great War was left in Constantinople in company with Ambassador Morgenthaus, of the United States. She is taking an active interest in health matters in her district.

In December this year the National Red Cross issued a magazine which will be sent to every Red Cross member in Canada. It will contain interesting articles from all the provinces, among them: "Health Centres," Red Cross co-operation in Medical Inspection of Schools," "Child Welfare," "Public Health Nurses," "Red Cross in Health Work," "Nursing Outposts," "Red Cross and the Farmer," "Problems of the partially Disabled," "Red Cross Work at Ports of Canada."

Warning For Irish Extremists Who Oppose Great Britain's Offer

London.—London newspapers even those that have most warmly supported Irish aspirations views with considerable regret the statements made by Eamon de Valera at the recent meeting of the Irish republican parliament. There was however reluctance in regard his speech as expressing Ireland's last word and some editorials declared confidently that if the issue was placed before the Irish people the British terms of settlement would be accepted. Assertions were made on the strength of Dublin advices that the Irish having tasted peace since the establishment of the truce would never consent to a return to hostilities and that indeed few Irishmen believed there was any probability of a resumption of warfare.

The Daily Mail said the Catholic clergy of Ireland were using their utmost influence in favor of accepting and it expressed belief that the "vast proportion" of the members of the Dail Eireann were determined to accept the British terms.

The London Times took occasion to warn the extremists who opposed acceptance that Great Britain's mind is finally made up and nothing can shake its determination not to yield upon the cardinal point upon the maintenance of a union between Great Britain and Ireland.

Considerable prominence was given extracts from editorial appearing in United States newspapers which in their opinion showed the Irish not to reject the conference offer. The Daily Telegraph, commenting upon the holding of a long district fair. One of these large exhibitions will centre at Vermilion, due to the great efforts always put forth by officers and directors who have guided the destinies of the Vermilion Agricultural Society. Though weather conditions hampered the attendance at the exhibition this year, its evident success is largely due to the energy and zeal of its able president, Mr. Wm. Telford, the secretary and the active assistance of the board of directors. All are live wires and well qualified to carry on the work of the society.

"Americans are deeply impressed with the dramatic importance of British concessions in the hour of peace. They perceive it even heathen do not, what an immense moral sacrifice the Government has had to make before it can see the eye to behind consequences. And they think it even nothing should be appeased on the other side."

Unemployment Insurance

Vancouver.—Unemployment Insurance in the future was forecasted by Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, attorney-general, at a meeting here between the Government representatives of workers generally and returned soldiers. Some insurance system, he said, was bound to develop in Canada because of the experience the country is now passing through.

Says British Coal Strike Leaders Lacked in Vision

London—Herbert Smith, acting president of the Miner's Federation, said some plain things at the annual meeting of the federation at Llandudno, concerning the leaders made in the recent coal strike.

Owing to the economic position of the coal trade during the war, he said, "the sense of the power and importance developed in the minds of workmen had not been altogether healthy, and gave many men an exaggerated opinion of their powers."

Alluding to the Government's refusal on demand of the mining leaders Mr. Smith said the action made it impossible to proceed with the negotiations then under way for any equitable distribution of wages and hours in the industry. "The Government," he said, "did not, as we had hoped, come to our help."

The federation leaders, however, continued Mr. Smith, lacked vision and enterprise in their subsequent negotiations. It was a wrong step for the miners not to have come forward on the wages question on the 31st of July and to appear to be wrong dressed to fight the next year. The withdrawal of safety men from the pits was another mistake and the consequences are now seen in the breakdown of many mines."

Alluding to aspersions upon the loyalty of federation officials, Mr. Smith said they were too loyal to the so-called majority rule; too loyal to their colleagues while swallowing their convictions and better judgment became they were out voted by the usual narrow majority vote.

Italy Wants Trade With South Russia

Russian Delegates Must Abstain From Propaganda Attempt.

Rome.—Negotiations for an economic agreement with the Russian Soviet delegation here, the Messagero says have almost been completed. The agreement, which is to be signed in the near future, contains four points, the new paper asserts, as follows:

1. A mutual undertaking to open new diplomatic representations immediately on an economic agreement of the widest kind between the two countries.

2. Russia is to afford Italy the same facilities and advantages as those granted other countries.

3. Russia is to be responsible on indemnities to Italian [illegible] in such regard to Russia.

4. No [illegible] Soviet Government or [illegible] Italy will [illegible] to propaganda in Italy.

Mr. Albert Northey's niece, Miss Eva Stacey and friend Miss Grace Moran have been spending several days on the Northey homestead. They are carrying away with them a far different picture of the Canadian Northwest than they had anticipated. These young ladies have travelled over the entire United States and parts of Europe and they say emphatically that this vast rolling country, with its mixture of lakes here and there, its wide bays and trees, the keen pure bracing air that reaches the most natures giving one vigor and energy to "carry on"—all combined makes this a land without parallel which every red blooded man should be proud to call "my country." The Misses Stacey and Moran are from the southern states and engaged with a railroad company. During the war both served with the Red Cross in Europe and for a period Miss Stacey was in the office of Mr. Herbert Hoover. Their trip to Canada was by way of the East and they are returning through the Rockies over the Canadian National to Prince Rupert, with the boat trip down the coast to Vancouver and Victoria, thence by rail to Portland and home. The rise thousands of these visitors over Western Canada will undoubtedly prove contagious to many others to whom else it will present the varied pleasures of the trip.

EDMONTON ESKIMOS TO PLAY VERMILION

Game Will Be Played Here On Wednesday, Sept. 7

Arrangements are completed for the visit of the Edmonton Eskimos league baseball team to Vermilion for next Wednesday, September 7th when they will pit their best nine against the strongest aggregation the locals can put in the field. The Edmonton players are on an end of the big league season tour and and asked for a game with the Vermilion ball boosters en route, this request was granted and the very best in the ball line is promised to be played here next Wednesday.

Watch for large posters containing full particulars and do not fail to be on hand for this outstanding feature in baseball annals of the town.

RED CROSS NOTES

Extensive preparations are being made at the Provincial Headquarters of the Red Cross in Calgary to meet the Relief situation this fall. The Red Cross has already had a number of calls and have given every assistance possible in all cases, which upon investigation, proved to be genuine.

The Red Cross took an active part in the mass meeting held in Calgary on Sunday. They arranged automobiles for all the soldier patients in the Calgary hospitals and these motor cars were also in attendance at the service in large numbers.

The unemployment situation is one of the many problems which the new government is grappling a good deal of thought and study. The Red Cross is doing its part in helping give information concerning these men. Mrs. Woodward, lady secretary, has attended the conferences in Edmonton and the Provincial Department and was also present.

The enthusiasm manifested in the Junior Red Cross societies in the province of late is most encouraging, although we cannot report any very great activity in Vermilion, the summer term is not a favorable one for such.

"Now, perhaps, you will smile at Mr. Smith's good intentions, but—

"Mr. Smith, indeed! I'll smile at nothing of the kind. I'll—I'll—" Words failed the angry girl.

"Why, Peggy, what's the matter?" cried Mrs. Maggie, in surprise.

"Matter enough, when that man—" Peggy stopped abruptly, and bit her lip. "I beg your pardon, Aunt Maggie, but I have a headache, and I couldn't help it. I'm sure you'll excuse me now, won't you?" she added, with a pleading look in her eyes.

"Why, of course, child, if you're not well," returned Mrs. Maggie, rising from the table.

"Thank you," murmured Peggy, as she left the room.

Mrs. Maggie looked after her with a puzzled frown. Then she turned to Mr. Smith.

"Now, what do you suppose is the matter with Peggy?" she asked.

Mr. Smith shook his head.

"I'm sure I don't know, Mrs. Maggie. I couldn't help overhearing a few words of what she said, and I'm afraid that you were a trifle severe with her. It's a new role for you, father," he added, with a smile.

Mrs. Maggie frowned.

"Nonsense! I'm not severe with anybody. But I don't like it. Peggy has been very much petted and indulged, and I'm afraid she has got home in time for it, anyhow, and ought to go back to his new school."

"Yes, I found where the dog's tail was," quoted Mr. Smith.

"What's a chair?" asked Mrs. Maggie, with a puzzled look.

"Oh, there wouldn't mind."

"There wouldn't. Maybe we would."

"Nonsense, Bessie!" Mrs. Maggie frowned. "It is probably best for Peggy to work hard. Mr. Smith?"

"Why, I think that will be better for her in the end," replied Mr. Smith, with an air of decision.

"There, you hear that, Bessie? Mr. Smith knows best. Peggy must go back to her new school."

"Very well, Aunt Maggie," sighed Mrs. Bessie, with a resigned look at her husband.

"Now, Bessie, don't look so sad about it," laughed Mr. Smith. "I'm sure Peggy will be better off in the end."

"I hope so," sighed Mrs. Bessie, again.

"Of course she will be," declared Mrs. Maggie. "I'm going to see her myself, and tell her so. I'll make her understand that she must go back to school."

"Oh, Aunt Maggie, don't!" begged Mrs. Bessie, anxiously.

"Why not?" demanded Mrs. Maggie, in surprise.

"Because—because—" Mrs. Bessie's face flushed painfully. "Because I'm afraid it will only make matters worse. Peggy is very sensitive, and—and—"

"Nonsense, Bessie, don't bear her up in the words themselves. It was more in the tone of voice. Poor, motherless children can't afford to be very sensitive, Bessie," she added, with a good deal of Miss Maggie there days in her voice. "I'm afraid you've been a little too indulgent with her. But I'll soon put a stop to that. I'll just step up to her room, and tell her so."

Mrs. Bessie and Mr. Smith looked into each other's eyes, but before either could speak Mrs. Maggie had left the room.

Mrs. Bessie sighed, and began to clear away the dishes. Mr. Smith rose to help her.

"Don't, Bessie, don't look so worried," he begged. "I'm sure it will be all right. Peggy is a dear girl, and I don't believe she will be unreasonable long."

"I hope not," sighed Mrs. Bessie, again.

Mr. Smith looked at his watch, and frowned.

"Bessie, I'm afraid I shall be late to dinner if I don't start right away. I'll just run up and tell Peggy I'm going, and then I'll be off."

"Very well," nodded Mrs. Bessie, with a preoccupied air.

Mr. Smith left the room, and ran lightly up the stairs. At Peggy's door he knocked, and then entered at her call.

Peggy was sitting by the window, looking out. She turned as Mr. Smith came in, and rose to her feet.

"Oh, Mr. Smith, I'm so glad you've come!" she cried. "I've been wanting to see you all the afternoon, but I couldn't leave Aunt Maggie. Oh, I'm so unhappy!"

"Why, Peggy, what's the matter?" asked Mr. Smith, in surprise.

"Aunt Maggie! Oh, you don't know Aunt Maggie, yet. She's always tryin' to make people think things don't matter. You'll see!" cried Peggy.

Mr. Smith looked at the girl's flushed face and tear-filled eyes, and his own face grew stern.

"Peggy, what is it? Tell me," he said, gently.

Peggy shook her head.

"I can't tell you. I don't want to tell anybody. But I don't like it. Perhaps I'm foolish, but I'm sure that things don't matter as much as Aunt Maggie thinks they do. I'm sure that some things matter very much indeed. I'm sure that—that—" Peggy's voice broke, and she turned away her head.

Mr. Smith looked at her with a troubled face.

"Peggy, dear, I'm afraid I don't understand. Can't you tell me more plainly?"

Peggy shook her head.

"No, no, I can't. I don't want to tell anybody. But wanted in their determination to freeze very little beef this fall, limiting their purchases for the balance of the year to current requirements for the fresh meat trade. The American duty of 30 per cent on our cattle entering the States has practically wiped out the only stocker and feeder market of any importance to us. We are faced with a situation that is entirely different from that of past years.

The producer of cattle has sufficient difficulties to face under existing conditions without any handicaps in the matter of his product. At the present time many farmers are labouring under a most false impression of actual market conditions, and are being made the victims of organized interests which are unscrupulously exploiting the handling of livestock both in the country and the stockyards, and, knowing conditions, feel justified in relying upon the charges against the drover, and also in dangerously with one or two other items in the same article

In defence of the charge of misrepresenting stock values I wish to point out that many, in the history of the stock industry, will say I pose as an authority on matters of information as to livestock values. If any stock owner doesn't know what his stock is worth to inches and faults, The Dominion government livestock report is in the daily papers and gives actual weights of shipments and a summary of market conditions by a man who knows his business. Any owner of the stock yards can stand at the scales all day for stock and refuse to take the price marked on any ticket, which must be the correct price. Commission men can be fined or warned and will mail you it is weighed or not. Naturally any driver will try to buy as cheaply as possible, but as I have pointed out, any person can get market top stuff if he takes the trouble to inquire. I also wish to point out that the percentage of cattle bought outright by the drover has declined considerably during the past few years. Prices have been so fast that shippers could not find buyers [illegible] to make it pay, so most of the stock cattle being of such a class or order as to be unsuitable for the country, the safest way was to handle them on commission. This spring hundreds of calves were sold on futures over them in pens. Everybody was nervous about getting caught [illegible] and afraid to take hold. I am readily understand farmers being dissatisfied with prices if shipped [illegible] especially this spring when the bulk of our cattle have been selling from $4.00 to $4.50 per hundred but that is not the drover's fault. If these cattle had been fed grain instead of straw in most cases they would have doubled their money. The market today is how $4.00 per hundred for prime to most classes of cattle than the last part this spring. I find that the drovers are ready here been upheld in fact and trust that this letter will be given a prominent place in your next issue.

I also take exception to some other statements in the same article in which it is said he has had the only market of any kind since the United States put a duty on cattle coming into Canada. My opinion is that virtually this is not a good thing for Canada for the reason that it will be a long time before the raising of all the cattle, consumed at will not pay the raiser. It will not [illegible] to get better cattle at fair prices, as it will not pay to sell as stocker. Hereafter we can be shipped cheaper to the States than cattle on the [illegible] the duty on the dressed article being 2½ per lb., and its identity so lumped up a beef industry. Instead of giving Canada [illegible] the raw material which we will finish it ourselves and ship the beef either to the United States or overseas. A recent shipment of chilled beef was sold in the Old Country and proved very satisfactory. The intensity is just opening up since it has come. Every industry means a more valuable home market and Canada's consumption is increasing and will increase.

Notice to County Ratepayers

To the Editor of the Free Press.

Sir,—I wish to call your attention to an article in your paper dated Friday, August 5th, 1921. This article, under the heading of "Livestock Marketing Problems," refers to the country drovers as a class of men whose day is over so far as taking driving a means of livelihood is concerned. The condition, the article claims, has been brought about by the unscrupulous methods of the drover in misrepresenting market values and charging exorbitantly for his services when handling stock on commission.

I have been connected with the livestock industry for twenty years, and am intimately acquainted with the handling of livestock both in the country and the stockyards, and, knowing conditions, feel justified in replying to the charges against the drover, and also in disagreeing with one or two other items in the same article

DISASTROUS FIRE VISITS TOWN

Old Hadley Premises Practically Wiped Out—Brigade Did Great Work

The town was again visited by a bad fire of some dimensions in the early hours of Tuesday morning, when the old Hadley stores and warehouses located on First St. South about the centre of the block east of Brimacombe Bros' store, were practically razed to the ground. The alarm was given about 2 a.m. and was promptly attended to by the fire brigade in full strength and within a few minutes the chemical was in action followed shortly after by a powerful stream of water from the big hose. The effective work of the force and the utility of the fire equipment can be surmised when it is stated that the office building of Wm. Young and the store of S.D. Human, immediately adjoining the burned premises to the east and the cottage of Mr. Naylor on the west, were both saved—the latter building which was in direct line of the flames, was badly charred on the outside. The three buildings named were cleared of their contents. A warehouse to the rear of Wm. Young's office was ablaze along the roof but was kept extinguished by the chemical. The burned buildings were owned by A.E. Moore of Edmonton, and leased to Batt & Wotherspoon, but [illegible], who however did not conduct their shop there The first portion was occupied by the Swift Canadian Co. as a cream buying station, A. Moore, agent. Nothing except the books was saved. A considerable stock of supplies, testing apparatus, cream cans and scales went through the fire. The large rear portion of the building had been in use as [illegible] for hay and grain and the west side was formerly a blacksmith shop. Last winter a livery was conducted there. There was a considerable quantity of hay still on the place and it was unloaded only on the [illegible] time that the fire originated as the entire back portion was a mass of seething smoke with long tongues of lurid flames within a very few minutes from the time the [illegible] discovered. The efforts of the moment were concentrated on the front and in saving the adjoining buildings, their work was in all praiseworthy for the entire fire was put out after the frontage had been gutted with the exception of the roof next the Naylor cottage, the end of which fell outward.

The night was [illegible] which prevented the flying debris from reaching other buildings. An investigation into the [illegible] origin of the fire is being made

Getting Automobile Sense

Necessary to Revise Motor Regulations to Meet Increasing Death Rate.

Time was, not so very long ago, when thousands of men were crippled or killed while coupling freight cars. It was considered unavoidable. Circular saws, cutting off a large share of the working capital of every logging concern, lost arms and limbs. It was unavoidable.

With the growth of motor vehicles came back to normal; it is a question of speed. Motor cars have the pulse of most people especially those of the younger generation. To own one is the height of ambition. From the time a boy can walk he begins to "tinker" with the family car. Get green home one of the first things a girl does with a beau is to get him to take her for a spin. Every other person you meet drives or has driven a car. Motor cars are here to stay, but the car unchecked, will have grave consequences. Motors may be speed driven by a governor, which will not allow the engine to exceed a certain number of revolutions per minute, but even a moderate priced car is guaranteed to do its 60 or 80 miles an hour, and some 90 or 100 miles. While the speed of [illegible] is usually [illegible] miles an hour is safe enough for [illegible] the motor car is [illegible] speed.

[illegible] is the [illegible] accidents [illegible] laying heavily, according to Bulletin No. 91 of the Dominion Experimental Farms. "Have a supply [illegible] crushed shell before them constantly.

Fowls running at large, unless on their own premises, should be [illegible] cent fine gravel to supply grit. Should there be any doubt as to the birds getting sufficient grit [illegible] source, it is prudent to provide commercial grit in a suitable hopper. This product is made by crushing flint into sizes suitable for the different classes of fowl. Grit, as is usually understood, supplies the teeth of the fowl, inasmuch as the birds feed it to work up the food as it passes through the gizzard. It is believed also that some of the mineral elements are extracted by the birds as assimilated.

Charcoal does not in itself supply nutriment but is known to have a valuable corrective influence in the digestive functions. Indeed, humans sometimes find charcoal useful and take it in tablet form. If given access to charcoal, fowls will consume quantities of it. This alone indicates a lack in the food not otherwise supplied. As in the case of crushed shell, charcoal could not be mixed with other food, but supplied in a hopper granulated size, and kept before the birds at all times in order that they may help themselves as they feel the need.

Manitoba Grain Elevators

Expect That Government System Will Handle Five Million Bushels of Grain.

One hundred government elevators with an average capacity of about twenty-five thousand bushels each, or an aggregate capacity of 2,500,000 bushels, are ready to handle their share of this year's crop in Manitoba. They have been overhauled and inspected and the machinery and are in good working condition.

The elevators will [illegible] about [illegible] during the season and actually will handle approximately [illegible] bushels of Manitoba grain. Practically all of this will be wheat. The United Grain Growers, Limited, will operate ninety [illegible] the government elevators on lease. The other five are leased by various companies dealing in grain.

The Wheat Pool

Plan Has Apparently Been Abandoned As Unworkable.

Plans to form a wheat pool to handle the Canadian crop in 1922 practically have been abandoned, according to information secured by a Winnipeg paper. Officially, the scheme has not yet been given up, but the Council of Agriculture at its next meeting may take definite action along that line.

It is understood that the proposed pool broke on the disinclination of farmers to sign five-year contracts, without which it was thought the plan would be unworkable.

The formation of a pool has been advocated by the Council of Agriculture for a year or so.

Farm Girls Warned

Mistake for Young Girls to Go to the City for Employment.

Miss Mary MacMahon, president of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Club of Toronto, who has just returned from the conventions of Business and Professional Women of America at Cleveland, O., says: "It is a mistake for young girls between the ages of 15 and 20 to come to the city for employment. If these girls have suitable occupation at home, there was no reason why they should leave, in Miss MacMahon's opinion. The companionship at home would be more desirable, and the surrounding more pleasant, while in the city the girl would probably be faced with drab lodgings, poor meals and uncomfortable organizations.

Poultry Pointers

Mineral Matter Essential to the Well-Being of the Flock.

When fowls are kept in not too large flocks and have a large run they will easily secure enough mineral matter to supply their needs, but if confined or kept in large flocks it is well to supply this in suitable form for their consumption. Mineral matter is as necessary as food because a considerable percentage of the dry matter in both eggs and fowls is composed of mineral elements. When fowls are fed liberally of such feeds as milk, tankage, bran and other concentrated feeds they obtain some of the mineral matter in their food for their well-being. The mineral foods in a measure fill the place as best they can when the [illegible] Cut green bone is one of the best mineral foods that can be given to fowls. Fowls that get from a quarter to half a pound with a bone meal per day will need little supply. Lacking bone meal, granulated bone as it is sometimes called, answers the purpose. Bone meal may be [illegible] the birds to take this supply at will. In the mash form it is usually mixed with the mash.

Mixed, as well as all other animals, require a certain amount of lime for [illegible] Oyster shell is [illegible] making, an additional supply is required. Oyster shell is perhaps the [illegible] poultry feeding. This product, which is [illegible] fowls, is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

70,000 CARS IDLE IN THE WEST

Montreal, Sept. 6.—It was reported here today that 70,000 grain cars are lying idle in Western Canada awaiting an announcement of the revision of freight rates before conveying the season's crop to ports. It is said that an announcement does not come soon the situation will be serious. Canadian National lines are said to have about 31,000 idle cars, while the Canadian Pacific has some 10,000.

Railwaymen back from Ottawa today declared that statements of the percentage cuts in rates already were being decided prematurely. As a result of the evidence presented to the railway commissioners on Friday, the whole situation is again unsettled, they added.

For the Next War

Grim Horrors Are Seen By Hudson Maxim, the Inventor.

Encouraged, apparently, by his success as a war prophet over a long period of years, the veteran inventor, Hudson Maxim, has contributed "A Forecast of the Next War" to the New York Tribune. As Maxim predicted the Russo-Japanese war and its outcome, the possibilities of aviation in warfare, the use of poisonous gas and smoke-bombs, his latest prophecies command respect, notwithstanding the shuddering nightmare presented by his picture of the next world war.

"In the next great war not only will the most deadly poisonous gases be spread broadcast over actual contending forces, both on land and sea, but also over inland cities," says Mr. Maxim. "Not only will the actual fighters be attacked, but non-combatants also will be attacked. In the next great war we may look for the most disastrous and far-reaching results from the use of the airplane as a sower of death and destruction.

"Twenty years ago I predicted that the airplane, which is able to sweep all barriers, would place inland positions on the firing line. This has come to a large extent in the world war. Paris and London were attacked and, had the war continued a little longer, Berlin would have been wiped off the map and its inhabitants destroyed. Wilbur Scott and Maxim had built enormous aeroplanes, capable of carrying tons of explosive gases, and they were almost ready to begin the flight to Berlin for the destruction of that city when the armistice was signed.

"In the next great war we are going to use germs of the most deadly diseases to spread over the enemy. We are going to use inland-created pestilences in poisonous gases and germs of thousands of infectious, even to women and children, both in a few places.

"Hundred-ton guns, also, will be carried with 3-ton shells and will be used in land and other deadly gallery. Aeroplanes soared for billions over Germany, bombarding munitions factories and they will be infected with a bubonic plague and I think more air planes to spread contagious diseases.

"We will be no place that one may hide himself and be safe from attack. All non-combatants will be exposed to destruction, as the sinful, according to Revelation, are to be exposed on the Day of Judgment."

The All-Harvester Machine

Eliminating All Hand Labor in the Harvest Field.

At a recent agricultural exhibition in Great Britain there was exhibited an attachment to a harvester which forms the first step towards eliminating all hand labor in the harvest field apart from the mere driving of the machine. This attachment is intended for stacking the sheaves as they are delivered by the harvester, and it was found by the judges at the exhibition thought so well of it that they awarded the makers a silver medal.

Eskimo Trapper Sells Four Wives

Fellow Tribesmen Give Ten and Tobacco in Trade.

A report from the north states that an Eskimo trapper, en route to a trading post to sell his furs, disposed of four of his wives, each for a pound of tea and some tobacco. The purchasers are fellow tribesmen returning from the Brochette post of the Hudson's Bay Company and heavily laden with supplies. Two of the wives have been involved in similar transactions, the report goes on to say, and one of them traded six times, in one for a pound of tea, once for a plug of tobacco and once for a slab of bacon. As it is the custom of the Eskimos, the original owners may re-claim his wives upon payment of double the purchase price.

Horses Prefer To Stand

Sufficient Rest Is Obtained From Complete Relaxation.

It is not unusual for horses to stand, apparently asleep, for hours at a time, says a writer in Nature. Cattle and animals, rest and sleep largely while standing. Among domestic animals probably no habit is stronger than the inexplicable. When turned out to pasture, horses appear to lie down immediately. But later on, when they are said to spend more than one hour a night recumbent, that hour is spread over three periods at midnight. It is not uncommon for people to express wonder at the fact that many horses will stand, apparently motionless, for hours in one position, free from restraint of any kind, while others, except on occasions, never lie down. The trait is not marked in some breeds than in others, but there are very many exceptions. A day mare has to sleep off her feed before she can be in condition, and a draught horse that has to work on ample supply of food can lie down on occasion.

London Bridge

Thousands of Motors Cross the Bridge Every Hour

A thousand motor cars cross London Bridge every hour on the day, and about Oxford Street where two motorists ago pedestrians were left to get by themselves, now only motor buses pass every day, and would not stop if the cash were lined with Dick Turpins, as our street has observed. Over 5,000 cabs are available in the city, and 2,500 transactions between, three thread their way through the maze of London's streets for 150 miles, while another 200 miles of streets are covered by 1,000 motor buses operating on 138 services. All of this traffic is within the county.

Spills Silver and Ties Up Traffic

Atlantic City Messenger Was Taking Deposit to Bank.

Street car traffic on Atlantic Ave. was tied up half an hour when Atlantic Hughes, employed as a messenger by the Atlantic City Street Railway Company, alighted from a trolley car and dropped a bag containing $6,000 in silver.

Hughes carried $6,000 worth of coin in a bag and the bottom fell out of the bag, leaving the silver a-wash.

A corps of detectives was stationed to prevent him during unloading operations.

Will growing beats in carrots be come a valuable adjunct to the industry? That is the question that a few rats of Salisbury, N.B., will attempt to solve. He has just bought a big female boar and his idea is that the fat of the animals will make a profitable investment although he hopes to make better money by the sale of the cubs for pets.

MARSHES AND LAKES ALIVE WITH DUCKS

MAY BE SHOT 1ST SEPT. TO DEC. 14

The quacking and quaking waterfowl! Yes, plenty of them; ducks everywhere the ground is the least damp. There is nothing in the world like the duck flight to bring the hunting thrill to the sportsman's heart. The feel of the wind that rustles in the reeds, the polished gunstock under his arm—the excitement of sweeping wings and outstretched necks. A successful day in the open and good luck—the hunter's joy.

Ne bird like the wild duck has provided more wholesome sport to the lover of dog and gun; nor fuller measure of toothsome food; no game better meets the requirements of the busy man who enjoys a few day's outing each year, and who has neither the time or the resources to indulge in more expensive and exacting hunting.

More ducks than usual on the ponds and lakes are reported. There are more of the larger species than have been seen for many years, railway agents along the Canadian National lines declare. Along the larger lakes and rivers where the shooting lodges are chiefly located, the chances for good wing shooting are excellent. Young ducks are more mature than usual this season and will hog up fast in weight. Each year there are many persons making their first shoot and most of them are not familiar with game laws. There are also many of the old shots who can probably profit by reading carefully the game laws. All sportsmen should secure copy of the game laws of the province he proposes entering as to be familiar with the game that is legally hunted.

Transportation companies are making preparations for the conveyance of large parties to the hunting grounds in various provinces. As in former years, the more profitable hunt of the ducks is to be found in districts served by the Canadian National railways. In nearly all cases guides are not required.

Sergt.-Major Duncan of the original 19th Alberta Dragoons, of Cardiff, Wales, is the guest of Neville Robert son north of town. Mr. Duncan and W. K. Mattin of Innisfail motored over in the same unit and at "Hill 70" was the last time they met until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cassert entertained a number of west enders in their new home Tuesday evening. A most enjoyable time was spent by all. The handsome new residence is located on one of the prettiest points in the town with an unsurpassed view of the valley and river. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. Kennedy, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Common, Mrs. Bert Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Tillett.

Special services of more than usual interest are to be held in the town from Sept. 12th to 19th, in the Presbyterian Church. For these services the Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists and Salvation Army are uniting. Rev. J. K. Unsworth, D.D., of Victoria, B.C. will be the preacher and Mr. W. Dunnington of Stratford, Ont., the soloist and director of Song. Helpful messages and bright gospel songs will characterize the gatherings. A week of prayer (Sept. 12 to 16) in the Methodist Church each evening at 8 o'clock, will precede the visit to our town of these noted evangelists. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue for full particulars.

5 Cars Wool Shipped East

The wool growers of Northern Alberta have shipped five carloads of wool east to date. It is expected that another car and perhaps two more may be shipped out by the end of the month.

The wool is being marketed through the Co-Operative association of Toronto.

LEAVING FOR EAST

Burt Porter of the Standard staff, who has been connected with the paper since returning from active service overseas is severing his connection with the institution, to accept a position with the McLean Publishing Co. of Toronto, Ont., and is leaving Saturday for the East. Owing to Potatoes strike which has existed now for over three months, the large publishing house adopted the open shop conditions and are offering promising openings for advancement to capable men. His host of friends in Vermilion will wish Burt the utmost success. While the Standard regrets losing him, the editor's best wishes accompany him to his new location.

BORN—At Vermilion Municipal Hospital on Wednesday, Sept. 7th, 1921, to Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Anderson of Gibbons, Alta., a son. (Jarvis Wilcox Telford Anderson). Weight 9 pounds 11 ounces.)

Shipping Grain via Panama

Reduced Rail Haul from Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan

Wheat exporters expect to ship by the Panama route three or four times the amount of grain to Great Britain this season as was marketed in 1919. Last season the exports amounted to between twelve and thirteen thousand British tons of ten thousand two hundred and forty pounds.

The route possesses a greatly reduced rail haul for grain grown in Alberta and part of Saskatchewan, and, since the Pacific port is open the year round, wheat may be marketed all through the winter months.

England's Traditions

In a young and new country like Canada such expressions as "when the population is of a more homogeneous character," "a more homogeneous people," "when we have had time to develop," "when we have had time to grow," "when we have had time to get over the effects of rapid immigration," and the like, are frequently heard. They are meant to convey the idea that a country whose people possess a common stock of traditions, a common historical past and those traditions or older forms which have been handed down from generation to generation and become a part of the mental characteristics of the people, is in a position to develop a higher type of nationality than a country whose people have no such traditions, no such common historical past, no such long-established principles and political institutions which have brought it to the front, developed and protected it.

Behind all this is the assumption that a country is superior to another country because it has a longer list of chiefs or rulers and these list to lead past, or because it has more languages, or because it has a greater number of people, or because it has been longer in existence, or because it has a greater area, or for the past, to press onward, not by the adoption of revolutionary methods, but through wise evolution, profiting by the mistakes and lessons of the past, but not forgetting the traditions and achievements of the past, for fathers and, under the changed circumstances and wisdom.

What made England — Britain — the Empire — what it is to-day? How long does it require a country to become a nation? And why is it that in these young countries of ours we find so many more native born in England more than all the rest of the world?

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Esteemed Old-Timers Honored in Their Old District

There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mcgrath, of Ganton district to celebrate the "Golden Wedding" of Mr. and Mrs. David Ganton of Vermilion.

Fifteen years ago these esteemed residents with their family, left the county of Simcoe and set their faces toward the West. Like many others from Ontario they were led to leave the place of their birth to seek new fortunes on the great prairies. They were the first to settle in what is now called the Ganton district, but were shortly followed by other settlers, who, like themselves were anxious to improve their positions. Soon a strong settlement flourished. These pioneers took the lead in church and social life of the community, knowing from past experiences that without these blessings the spirit of the district would indeed be poor. Their influence was always for good and they were held in high esteem by all their neighbors; this was certainly shown when, on Monday evening, August 29th, about thirty families belonging to the district gathered around them – extending to them their heartiest congratulations. Around a well filled table, erected in a large building near the house, the guests sat to partake of the good things provided by Mr. and Mrs. McGrath and others of the family.

Members of the family present were: Nine sons and daughters; twenty-nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren - while thirteen grandchildren and one daughter could not possibly attend.

After the feast, Rev. F. Chilton of Vermilion addressed the gathering, extending hearty congratulations, also presenting a well-filled purse, contributed by the different families. Before leaving the assemblage sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Belfast Is Now The Storm Centre In Irish Political War

Belfast.—Although the truce between the discordant factions is being completely observed throughout the remainder of Ireland, Belfast is experiencing a period of terror from gunmen and snipers.

The Ulster cabinet met to consider the serious condition prevailing here. Military officials and police authorities joined in the discussions. Arrangements were made to draft additional troops for the protection of the city, and other steps were taken to restore and maintain order.

London.—The grave disturbances in Belfast which have come in the midst of the most delicate possible peace negotiations with Ireland were occupying the attention of the whole English press. Some correspondents of London newspapers in Belfast designate the present trouble as purely religious and it is certain that this element enters into the conflict to a more or less degree as always has been the case in Ulster politics. King George, in reply to an address from the convocation of Canterbury, says: "Let us thank God that some measure of response has been vouchsafed to my appeal to my Irish people. With full heart I pray that their reconciliation may be consummated by the deliberations now proceeding and that they may be united in making a new era for their native land."

Must Hold Their Grain

Mennonites Ordered to Await Outcome of Injunction Proceedings.

Regina, Sask.—Mennonite communities in Saskatchewan, whose lands are involved in litigation as the result of the big deal for the purchase of large Mennonite holdings by an American syndicate, will be asked to dispose of their 1921 crop until the pending laws have been determined. This is the result of an application before Mr. Justice Mackay in the court of King's Bench, by Bram Thomsen, for an injunction restraining the Mennonites or anyone else from selling crops now being harvested. The application was granted.

It is estimated that a million bushels of grain will be held up as a result of the order

Discuss Plan to Operate Briquette Plant at Bienfait.

Ottawa.—Arrangements for the opening and operation of the Government briquetting plant at Bienfait, Sask., are expected to be completed during the visit to Ottawa of Premier Martin and Hon. C. Dunning, of Saskatchewan.

The plant was built at a cost of $400,000 for the purpose of demonstrating the low grade lignite coals of Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan may be converted into high-grade coke. Work at the plant will commence at once and plans are already under consideration for the extension of the plant to its

Panama Traffic

Washington.—During the seven years of commercial operation of the Panama Canal, ending August 14 last, 13,416 commercial vessels of the world, through the locks, according to the records. The aggregate tonnage of these vessels was 56,893,911 and their cargos totalled 54,754,820 tons of 2,240 pounds.

Ireland.—By a resolution adopted by the council of the League of Nations, that body will assume control of stipulations in the treaties with Hungary and Rumania regarding the reports of minorities in the territories which changed their sovereignty.

A chief interest in the work of the council centers for the moment upon the international status of Fiume, which is regarded as promising better results than the efforts of the league. The question has been referred by the council to a body of the eleven judges of the permanent court of international justice, which is now sitting at the Hague. Each of the nine hundred notes thus far submitted

Canada has submitted the names of Sir Robert Borden and Mr. Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, for consideration by the league.

Wireless For North Country

Plan Commercial Wireless Between Edmonton and Fort Norman.

Edmonton, Alta.—Edmonton and all the outside world is soon to have direct wireless communication with Fort Norman and Fort Smith, as well as other northern points, according to the plans of a local firm, who have just been granted a federal license for the operation of commercial wireless between these points.

The Edmonton firm is being backed by other local men who are interested in the project.

Bert L. Perry, who is promoting the scheme for his firm, says that work will be started at once on the Edmonton station, which will be located outside the city limits, away from the city power plants and other sources of electrical energy.

Marconi equipment will be used and wireless operators will be brought from the coast. It is expected to have the system in full operation by the early spring

With the installation of wireless upon the northern stations a continuous system of wireless will be available through the north.

Proposed Wheat Pool

Consider Freight Rates Reduction

Ottawa.—Reductions in freight rates were under consideration at a private conference between the Board of Railway Commissioners and representatives of the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian National Railways. Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, has expressed the view that something must be done to meet the present situation and is hopeful that some immediate action will be taken as a result of the conference. In support of a reduction in freight rates, the view is taken that falling wages and cheaper materials have reduced operating costs.

Making Counter-Attacks to Arrest Advance of Greeks.

Athens.—Reports that Greek troops engaged in the offensive against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor have suffered a reverse are denied in an official statement issued here. It is declared, however, that the battle along the Sakaria River is continuing with violence.

Towns along the southern coast of the Black Sea have been bombarded by Greek warships, the statement says.

The editor of this paper extends to Mr and Mrs. David Ganton, esteemed and revered citizens of the town, his warmest congratulations on their completion of fifty years of wedded life. To be spared to celebrate their golden wedding is a great blessing and so rare an event always creates unusual interest. In his lifetime, the editor has attended only one golden anniversary. That Mr. and Mrs. Ganton will be spared to enjoy many more years among us is the sincere wish of the Standard.

H. Bowman, dairy promoter, who has been forced to devote his undivided attention to his large farming interests during harvest operations, informs the Standard that it is his intention to re-open an office in town as he is connected with businees and conditions seeing without one. Mr. Bowman expects business to keep him busy at it all fall and winter and states farm lands will be still higher. Have their back broken and need no assistance to prosper. Instructive is a visit here will be followed in the old country by Mr. Bowman and quite a number of families are to be among the Vermilion district.

You've often wondered what kind of a contraption Charles M. Hatfield the California rainmaker, uses to make the heavens weep. And doubtless you've often wondered what kind of a looking man he is. Innocent looking, both of them. But that they deliver the goods will be attested by the farmers of Medicine Hat, where the wizard has succeeded in producing more rain than he contracted for. On the face of prolonged drought Hatfield has been re-engaged for next year and the farmers of Winnipeg are begging him to go there and deliver some showers at the rate of $3,000 an inch. Hatfield's contraption consists of a machine to shoot a chemical bomb into the clouds, where it explodes. The nature of this bomb is the secret which lets him several thousand per season.

Hon. Robert Rogers At Toronto, Voices View On Party Government

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Hon. Robt Rogers, whose present visit to Toronto is generally regarded to be fraught with significance as indicating the organization of an "old guard" tory party to contest government seats in the approaching election, today issued a statement, in which he said:

"I am very pleased indeed to find such a pronounced feeling in Toronto and, in fact, everywhere, in favor of the return to political conditions as they existed previous to the war. This, to my mind is the greatest possible hopeful sign of returning sanity. The most casual observer must be fully conscious of the danger of the system of group government. While party government had its defects, still we must remember its many its many virtues, and we must never forget that it was serious party competition in the past that made Canada what it is today."

Mr. Rogers said that no group, whether Farmer, Labor or other group, could live and prosper within itself.

"My tariff opinions are well-known. They have not changed," said Mr. Rogers. "Self-preservation is the first law of nature. It is a mighty fine thing to have the right kind of tariff when threatened with Fordney tariffs and such."

FAREWELL TO MRS. ROBERT BY C.G.I.T.

The girls, leaders and officers of the C.G.I.T. on the occasion of Mrs. Robert's departure from Vermilion, tendered her a delightful farewell party which took the form of a picnic. The time was happily spent in games, etc., after which the party gathered around the camp fire for lunch. Just before time for going home, Mrs. Edwards in her own immitable manner, read an address to Mrs. Robert, expressing on behalf of all connected with the C. I.T., heartfelt appreciation for the untiring zeal which Mrs. Robert had always shown in her work for the Club and keenest regret at her departure, and asking her to accept as a tangible proof of affection and appreciation a little gift from them. Doris Tatham then came forward and presented a pretty silver card case, suitably engraved.

Though taken entirely in surprise, Mrs. Robert was equal to the occasion and expressed her pleasure at the kindness which had prompted the little demonstration on her behalf. She spoke of her love for the girls and the work, and expressed the hope that the work would still go on, improving from year to year, keeping ever in view the four-fold standard.

It is felt that the Rev. and Mrs. Robert's departure from Vermilion for wider fields of labor is a distinct loss to the community, where they have always encouraged every movement which stood for the advancement of a higher, nobler citizenship.

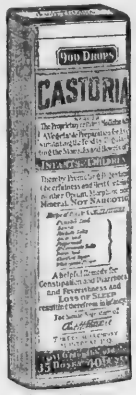
Castoria, or Something Else?

FLETCHER'S CASTORIA is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations.

It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

Fletcher's Castoria having been prepared solely for our little-ones, should not be confused with ordinary cure-alls or preparations primarily compounded for grown-ups. The child's organism, so delicate and tender, requires specially prepared medicines and foods, the one no less than the other, as mother-love well knows, and mother-love can not be deceived.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

What is the Matter with Baby?

It cries fretfully, is restless and does not sleep well, its bowels do not move or it has diarrhoea, it does not eat or it has flatulence and vomits easily. You know baby is sick. You want to help baby get well safely and quickly.

If you are wise you will use Fletcher's Castoria, the wonderful remedy for babies' ills, that was discovered by a family doctor and that has been used forever THIRTY YEARS.

When you have learned the value of Fletcher's Castoria you will never be without it, you will then see there is a useful remedy if it is. You will be able to keep baby well and happy by using it to keep the stomach sweet and the digestive organs acting naturally. You will call Fletcher's Castoria the Children's Comfort and the Mother's Friend.

Don't say tomorrow try it today. And above all things don't try to relieve baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

NEW INTERTYPE NOW IN ACTION

First Slugs Were Cast Monday Afternoon

The Standard's Mg two-magazine Model X Intertype went into operation shortly after five o'clock Monday afternoon Mr Anderson, the company's machine expert arrived Saturday morning last and late Monday afternoon had this modern type-setting piece of mechanism in operation, and the bulk of the composition in this week's issue is the output of the Intertype, with V. H. Cooper as operator. As time progresses more of the make-up of the Standard will be cast by this machine, which will add greatly to the general appearance of the paper

During his stay with us, Mr. Anderson is endeavoring to inject into the operator the knowledge which an expert possesses, which is encompassed only by an encyclopaedia. He is a good teacher as this issue demonstrates and he has spared no pains in demonstrating thoroughly and practically the intricacies of the latest in type-setting machines In a previous issue our readers were informed of the wonderful capacity of the Intertype for work and its necessity in the newspaper office of today Its installation at such heavy outlay, raises the status of the Standard to that of the other larger towns in Alberta in the newspaper field which will undoubtedly be appreciated by the citizens of the town of Vermilion, who naturally take pride in the onward march and progress of the community generally

FATHER OF A. W. PRIME DROWNED AT FREEPORT

A. W. Prime, principal of the Vermilion public school was in receipt of a wire on Saturday morning last, conveying the very sad news that his father, Mr. F. B. Prime of Freeport, Nova Scotia, had met his death by drowning Friday night and that the body had been recovered. No particulars of the occurrence have as yet been received. It is presumed, however, that the fatality took place when fishing for bait which is done at night Cod fishing is the chief culling of most of the villagers of Freeport. The bait is caught in nets at night and the fishing for cod, conducted during the day on the banks from three to ten miles out to sea. The fishermen are heavily attired in oilskin and long rubber boots and while the late Mr Prime was a strong swimmer the handicap would be hard to overcome in the event of a mishap It is eighteen years since a drowning took place at that port The deceased though in his fifty ninth year was a very powerful man weighing over two hundred pounds

One son was fortunately at home with his mother, a daughter having come west as far as Prince Albert with Mr and Mrs Prime on their return from visiting at Freeport

The tank is a British invention says the Allied armies," says the Daily Mail (London Year Book for 1919), "the British invention of the tank has been recognized in 1916 as one of the most important of the whole history of war, and tanks of various patterns were built and adopted by the French and American armies, as well as by the British. A special Tank Corps of 10,000 men was formed in the British army, and a system of tactics worked out. The forms of tanks were varied in large, heavy type, and a much smaller and lighter pattern which could move faster and overrun any infantry and, indeed, most cavalry where the conditions were reasonably favorable. The tank of the larger class was unable to battle alone in open country, the tank of the smaller has remedied the deficiency. With these valuable auxiliaries [illegible]

Consignment of Canadian chilled beef reached London last month and was sold within an hour after its arrival. The quality was pleasing and it is stated by the trade there is an opportunity for this business between Canada and Great Britain. Ninety per cent. of the beef eaten in London is imported, and the price is a little less than that sold for fresh English beef. The price of Argentine cold storage beef is lower still but it has not the quality of the Canadian meat. Canadian cattle are better fed and have a more delicate flavor than the grass fed beasts of South America.

Communication

Mr. Editor

Will you kindly allow me a few words in the name of the Catholics of Vermilion with regard to the offensive and ill timed paid article which appeared in your last issue.

To discuss the whole article would demand too much space and time and would lend to it a publicity and prominence unworthy of its nature.

Notwithstanding the unfortunate attitude of the authors of "Embarrassing" the reception tendered to His Grace Archbishop O'Leary left him with the impression that such was not the common spirit of the citizens of Vermilion.

Nothing can be gained by newspaper controversy over religious questions except to beget animosities and disrupt the harmony which should prevail in our community. With respect to the accusations against the Knights of Columbus, the Spanish Inquisition, etc., if the authors of "Embarrassing" are anxious to know the truth about these questions, I shall be glad to furnish it to them through other channels.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

Yours,

Greater Rye Production Is Now Advocated For The Western Provinces

To launch definitely a scheme for planting a greater area in rye, with a view to solving the drought problem in southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan, a beginning was recently given by the Winnipeg Board of Trade, the Canadian Credit Men's Association, the Bankers and Kiwanis Clubs and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A recent report of the Canadian Council of Agriculture has been read and a report from a committee of investigation which was brought together by the Western Canada Colonization Association, has been on this subject.

The report sets out that a greater rye production is desirable, and that immediate action to that end should be taken. Among the steps that should be taken to encourage an extension of the growing of fall rye in South Eastern Saskatchewan, Alberta, and particularly in the Lloydminster district, To Saskatchewan, North and East of a line from Lloydminster, Moose Jaw, Estevan, Brandon and Mackinon to the Alberta boundary, and in Alberta, south of a line including Calgary to Edmonton and adjoining the Saskatchewan boundary east of Medicine Hat.

Among the reasons and advantages of sowing fall rye the report includes the following:—Fall rye is more resistant to drought and rust-proof, and therefore gives a greater security to the grower than any other spring or non-crop. Fall rye, as additional to value as a grain crop, has a fine quality for pasture and hay. Fall rye ripens three weeks earlier than wheat, thus escaping the hot winds prevalent in the latter half of July. Fall rye grows on waterholes in the south of the farm over a greater part of the year, and it assists in preventing soil drifting. It has been readily marketable through the usual channels for marketing grain. It has a high feeding value in hog production and under present conditions can be advantageously marketed through the client of livestock.

The report continues that it was agreed that since the seed of any special variety may not be available in sufficient quantities to seed the area, it would be desirable to encourage the sowing of ordinary rye.

The report was submitted showing the superior yielding qualities of Prosso rye and North Dakota 998. The committee recommends and urges all those who are in a position to purchase these varieties to do so securing their requirements early.

On the subject of soil preparation the committee recognizes that much grain is sown in poorly prepared ground, and an encouraging effort is to be taken by those producers who fail to cultivate properly. The committee further realizes that those who attend credits for seed will be the ones to determine to whom such credits will be given, but it suggests the probability of advancing additional credit to those whose land has not been properly cultivated.

The committee also urges early seeding, but realizes that moisture conditions in the soil must necessarily determine how late seeding can be done. In general, it says, the desirable dates are between Aug 15 and Sept 10, but if moisture conditions warrant, seeding may be carried on up to Sept 20. In some cases crops have been successful when sown later, but this is not recommended. Where it is particularly desired to prevent soil drifting, late July or early August seeding is advisable. The rate of seeding suggested is three pecks per acre.

The rye average for Canada for three dry years, 1918, 1919 and 1920, is 15.61 bushels per acre against 31.41 bushels.

These three dry years show 50 per cent. greater rye production in all Alberta, and it may be assumed that the production was even greater in the dry areas.

Other statistics included in the report show that in every year from 1915 to 1920, inclusive, in Saskatchewan the yield of rye per acre was greater than that of wheat by fully 25 per cent.

The statistics, covering a period of years, show that the prices per bushel of rye in Canada average over 25c per bushel under wheat. The New York Produce Exchange statistical report of 1918, page 23, shows that the average price of rye for seventeen years, from 1903 to 1920, was 1.07 per bushel, and the average price per bushel for wheat was $1.34 for the same period. This is about 15 per cent. in favor of wheat.

It is clear, therefore, that the production of rye in Alberta, and Saskatchewan, particularly during the dry years, being so much greater than the production of wheat, will more than offset the disadvantage of price.

In regard to marketing the report continues, that the world countries production in 1920 approximately is 1,400,000,000 bushels of rye, which was principally in the countries where it was grown. The principal rye producing countries are Russia, Austria-Hungary, Germany, the United States, Belgium, Spain, France and Sweden. The United States exports yearly a very large percentage of the rye produced within her boundaries. In 1920, for instance, she exported a considerable amount of rye flour. It is evident, therefore, that if the United States can find an export market for such a large percentage of the rye produced, it is reasonable to assume that Canada will be able to secure an equally satisfactory market.

James Stewart, formerly chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, in answer to queries, has informed the committee that there is always a market for rye in Holland, Denmark, Germany, Norway and Sweden for all Canada can produce. It seemed desirable, in Mr. Stewart's opinion, to address arguments, as rye constitutes the staple food for the larger proportion of the people of these countries.

The committee recommends that government supply enough seed to sow 50 acres to the quarter section to each maximum amount for 200 acres to any individual.

In view of the need of securing immediate action, and of acquainting farmers throughout the country of the desirability of planting fall rye, the convention of the following has been requested:—The United Farmers of Alberta, Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, Winnipeg and Calgary Grain Exchanges, Boards of Trade, Western Wholesalers, Banks and Loan Companies.

The committee strongly expresses the opinion that a thorough inquiry should be instituted into the conditions prevailing in Southern Alberta similar to that carried out by the Royal Commission of Inquiry appointed in 1920 by the province of Saskatchewan, which investigated farming conditions in the southern part of that province. It recommends to the Alberta Government the appointment of a similar commission as an early date to make a survey of the farming problems in Southern Alberta and suggests that the commission might investigate the following and other matters:—(a) The desirability of making a soil survey; (b) supplying additional experimental station; (c) the sowing of other crops more adaptable to Southern Alberta, such as sunflower and sweet clover; and (d) the appointment of district agricultural representatives, known in the United States as country agents.

To Develop Coal Deposits

British Financial Men Are Interested In Alberta Coalfields.

The development of Alberta's coal resources will be taken up soon by a powerful syndicate of British financiers, the Edmonton Board of Trade has been informed by J Handley Wood. At the head of this group will be influential capitalists, recently formed with this purpose in view, is Sir Edward Morrison, former prime minister of Newfoundland. It is proposed to acquire a coal mine in the province and to install a system for subjecting the lignite to a low temperature process, whereby the by-products will be secured and the residue transformed into briquettes. Fifteen per cent. of the available world supply of high carbon bituminous coal is in the province of Alberta.

Discovery of Hematite Ore.

Col J. A. Currie, M.P., and Archibald M. Campbell, of Perth, geologist, who were at Sault Ste Marie, Ont., August 9th, have reported the discovery of a deposit of hematite ore at a point 37 miles north of Sprague. They had spent some weeks in the locality before discovering the deposit, which is said to have been first noted when Herrick, the surveyor, was running a line through the section in 1857, and has since been lost sight of.

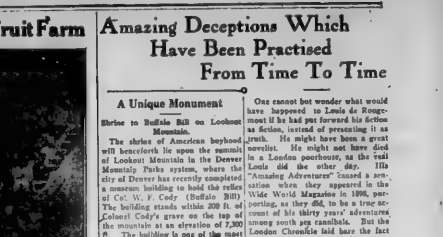
Independence on a Fruit Farm



Gathering Raspberries.

In the heart of the small-fruit country on the north side of the Fraser River in British Columbia, where every landowner has his commercial patch of raspberries, small or large, one of the best examples of what is perfectly developed, well-run fruit farm on a small acreage can be, is the Maple Crest Farm at Hatzic belong to Mr. A. E. Dunn.

Mr. Dunn is an O44 Country gardener and was brought up on his father's fruit farm at 200 acres in Ontario; so the conditions He fruit-growing are much the same in British Columbia as in England, his experience in his greatest asset to-date. He believes that there is far more profit in the careful and thorough cultivation of the small patch than in the big patch carelessly looked after.

The soil in this district is generally rich, well-drained and therefore particularly well-adapted for small fruit but Mr. Dunn uses farmyard manure when possible and plenty of chemical fertilizers as well.

He has an acre in strawberries, the "Magoon" variety, which are best suited to the district, and in a good year realizes $1,200 on them; half of this roost he allowed for expenses of picking, packing, crating, carriage, etc., so that he clears a profit of $600.

He has over an acre of raspberries, mostly grown from cuttings which he struck himself, "Pearl" which are the earliest, "Oregon Champion," the main crop and "Joce lyn," the late one. There are 1,000 bushes in full bearing which average a gross return of $1 per bush, more than half of which is clear profit.

Gooseberries, of course, are far cheaper to grow than strawberries because like all bush fruit they last for a long term of years without needing renewal.

Mr. Dunn has over an acre of raspberries, "Cuthberts" and an unknown variety now grown in the district that surpasses even the "Cuthberts" for easiness and heavy yields. Three quarters to the acre is an average crop or 300 crates for which the lowest price is $4 per crate, so it will be seen that the profits per acre are the same as for straws, and raspberries are easier to pick.

There is an acre for loganberries and though these do not bear in such good prices as raspberries, the crop lasts much longer and pickers can pick double the amount in a day, so the profits work out the same. Logan growers are very anxious to see a plant for bottling logan juice started in the province and we hope this will come ere long.

Over an acre of "Thornless" blackberries are grown as these are considered better than "Border" which are too small, or "Ferry-cut" which are too late. They do not bring in such good prices as the other fruits but the crop is heavier, lasts longer and the expenses are less, so that a good $600 is cleared on these also.

There are about one and a quarter acres of red and black currants, some of the red currant bushes carrying the prodigious size of 9 in. in diameter and producing over 25 lbs. of fruit. These bring in a gross return of $700 $800 per acre.

Mr Dunn has also fifty Boysenberries which invariably yield a good crop and are a variety particularly free from disease. This district has learnt the imperative necessity of co-operation in handling their fruit. The area of production has assumed such vast proportions in the last few years that unless the produce had been handled on business lines nothing short of disaster could have occurred, both for the individual and for this industry in the province.

Cold storage facilities are absolutely necessary and the expense of this can only be met by every grower joining the exchange in his district. Last year the Hatzic Fruit and Mercantile Exchange shipped six carloads of crops to Winnipeg and not one crate was spoilt.

A traveller from the east told Mr. Dunn that he saw several crates of b'ds. Last year two of Mr. Owens' pigeons flew from Rivers, Manitoba, to Edmonton, the distance covered being 700 miles, which was the first occasion that racing birds contended with the strong westerly winds while winging for home.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Wealth of Nova Scotia

Gold Fields Cover An Area Approximately 3,500 Square Miles.

Nova Scotia is the leader among the provinces in the production of the Dominion. It contains numerous districts in which occur various varieties of coal, particularly at the east, and in touch with vast markets and fluxes. Deposits of particularly high grade manganese ore occur in the west, her of different locations Mattes development has taken place in the gold industry the past several years. The gold fields of the provinces cover an area approximately 3,500 square miles. The gold is free milling and is from 870 to 970 fine. Enormous beds of gypsum of a very pure quality and frequently 100 inches thick, are situated at the water's edge High grade cement making materials have been discovered in favorable situations for shipping. Government core drills can be had from the Department of Mines for boring operations. The available streams of Nova Scotia can supply at least 500,000 h.p. for industrial purposes. Prospecting and mining rights are granted direct from the crown on very favorable terms.

Our slogan for the coming year should be, "Buy at Home." Add to your own and your neighbor's prosperity by keeping the money circulating among your friends.

Wonderful Wood Carving

Fifteen Years' Work of Five Monks Valued at $125,000.

A wood carving descriptive of the life of Christ, on which five Monks worked for 15 years, has been placed on exhibition at Ottawa. The wood carving valued at $125,000, was brought to the United States by Lallemand Business Agencies, one of the Monks who made it, in the monastery of the Brotherhood of Nicodemus at Mount Athos, Macedonia.

The composition is 28 inches high, and 21 inches wide, and includes several hundred figures in high and low relief. The central picture is "The Last Judgment," reproducing in wood the details of Michael Angelo's famous painting.

What Grant Had On.

It was at the closing exercises of a city public school that Marjorie was reading a composition of her own on "Grant's Work in the Civil War." She got on most creditably until she reached Lee's Surrender at Appomattox Court House.

She then related how Lee wore his sword and was handsomely attired in full uniform, "while Grant," she announced, "had on nothing but an old ragged union suit."

We learn by experience. For instance, a man never wakes up his second baby, to see it laugh.

Amazing Deceptions Which Have Been Practised From Time To Time

A Unique Monument

Shrine to Fashion Will Be Built on Loohoos Mountain.

The shrine of American boyhood will henceforth lie upon the summit of Lookout Mountain in the Denver Mountain Parks system, where the city of Denver has recently completed a museum building to hold the relics of Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). The building stands within 200 ft. of Colonel Cody's grave on the top of the mountain at an elevation of 7,300 ft. The building is one of the most unusual in America. It is constructed entirely of logs with the bark still adhering, and of hand-cut shingles. From a wide veranda one may see with a telescope into the States of Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska. Visitors have declared it one of the best scenic views in the country.

A feature of the building is the utilization of tree trunks, twisted limbs, gnarled knots and stumps. The chandelier, suspended from the roof, is constructed in this manner, and probably there is nothing like it in the world. A large pine blister, hollowed out, gives inverted lighting. Frosted globes are contained in lanterns resembling huge bird cages. The wiring is hurled in conduits hollowed out beneath the natural tree bark. The museum contains Colonel Cody's wearing apparel, saddles, bridles, guns, Sitting Bull's scalp shirt and peace pipe, and the gun used by Sitting Bull in the Custer massacre; Sitting Bull's ghost shirt; the knife with which Yellow Hand was killed by Cody; Yellow Hand's scalp, taken by Cody 10 days after the Custer massacre; presents made to Colonel Cody by European monarchs and Indian chiefs, and a host of paintings, prints, Wild West posters, and relics of Cody's show days. One of the most interesting relics is "Lucretia Borgia," the mare with which Colonel Cody killed over 4,000 buffaloes in one year for the Union Pacific and gained his sobriquet of Buffalo Bill.—By C MacKechen, in the September Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Racing Pigeon Set Record

Pair Recently Flew From Winnipeg to Edmonton.

Facing prevailing westerly winds, two pigeons owned by R. B. Owen, provincial sanitary engineer, of Edmonton, have made a Western Canada long distance record.

Four racing birds owned by Mr. Owens, and four other Edmonton birds were released at Winnipeg on Sunday morning at 8.40 a.m., and exactly 9 a.m. two of Mr. Owens' flyers entered the home loft having covered the distance of 800 miles.

This is the longest flight which has yet been attempted by the game little birds. Last year two of Mr. Owens' pigeons flew from Rivers, Manitoba, to Edmonton, the distance covered being 700 miles, which was the first occasion that racing birds contended with the strong westerly winds while winging for home.—Edmonton Bulletin.

The Tyranny of Clothes

Burden Imposed by Custome, a Groaning and Weariness of the Flesh.

Slumming is one of our few remaining refuges from the modern world. It is about our only escape from the clothes-prison in which climate has locked up northern races. Three-quarters or two-thirds of the year these clothes are a necessity. For the rest they are a burden imposed by custom, a groaning and a weariness of the flesh and bad spiritual sanitation into the bargain. It is only within living memories that Messrs Allen, Marchmont & Monks who made it, in the monastery of the Brotherhood of Nicodemus at Mount Athos, Macedonia

Satisfying Her Conscience.

Mrs. Charmer and Miss Blunt met at the steamer, in both were preparing calls Tea was served and as Mrs. Charmer nibbled at her cake, she murmured: "I must say, dear Mrs. Pastor, this cake is delicious." The vicar's wife beamed. Then the two ladies left, and as they walked home Miss Blunt burst out:—"Really, Mrs. Charmer, how could you say that spurious homemade cake was delicious?" "I didn't say it was," cooed Mrs. Charmer with a twinkle, "I only said, 'I must say so.' And one must, you know."

Why does a hog never give anything away when it squeals?

One cannot but wonder what would have happened to Louis de Rougemont if he had put forward his fiction as fiction, instead of presenting it as truth. He might have been a great novelist. He might not have died in a London poorhouse, as the real Louis did the other day. His "Amazing Adventures" caused a sensation when they appeared in the Wide World Magazine in 1898, purporting, as they did, to be a true account of his thirty years' adventures among south sea cannibals. But the London Chronicle laid bare the fact that these years had really been spent by the author in the routine of a London banking house. It was just in imagination that he had conquered a savage people by going naked among them on stilts—with all the prestige of a giant. The tribe which worshipped him as a god had existed only in his fertile brain. All the other death-defying exploits which his narrative presented as disconcertingly were of the same frail fabric. Yet he was invited to lecture before a British scientific society.

He is regarded as the prince of frauds, but the New York Times recalls other hoaxes in his style. Such his in their magnitude and success, not forgetting Ponzi's recent exploits which are sufficiently recent to be remembered by a host of investors. About the same time that de Rougemont was thrilling the world with his story, the Electrolytic Marine Salts Company was being widely advertised. It consisted of a million dollars from Boston pockets in order to extract gold from sea water. Then there was the "Cardiff giant," unearthed "by chance," at Cardiff, N.Y., a "prehistoric" figure which, as afterwards transpired, had been fashioned by a Chicago sculptor from a twelve-foot slab of gypsum. And it is noted that when Barnum failed to purchase this wonderful creature, he had another made which he calmly exhibited as the original—a counterfeit of a fraud.

But as Barnum himself declared, "the public loves to be gulled." Even scientists "love" readily at some of the most fanciful reports When it was announced in the magazine Na ture in 1880 that "cat tea" was being manufactured by one Thomas Carnelly, and that the said Thomas had been arrested for the crime, Sir Oliver Lodge was among those who accepted the yarn as a fact. But this rumor blind of all turned out to be a fraud. So were the wonderful relics discovered by old Professor Beringer at the University of Wurtzburg; relics carefully prepared by some of his students and "planted" in one of the hills where he used to collect fossils. The professor wrote a book on them and dedicated it to the Prince of Wurtzburg. But his appearance was greeted with such howls of derision that he was soon destroying all available copies.

The press has been hoaxed time and again. In 1835 the New York Sun published a series of articles, which told the first account of an enormous telescope at the Cape of Good Hope by the famous astronomer Sir John Herschel. Through this, life on the moon could be observed with perfect clearness. Herds of bison, beaver and goats were seen roaming about. Lunarian men, four feet tall and with copper-colored hair, were described in detail. It was only when Herschel himself branded the whole yarn as a falsehood that the public realized that they had been fooled once more

So de Rougemont was not the only one to practise an amazing deception. It is suspected, in fact, that not a few of the Yellow heroes do the same thing on a strictly personal scale. By a process of self-hypnotism, many a man has convinced himself that he is an exceptionally fine fellow, towering high above his mates in intellect and character. And he is not to be keen to his valet, but he is to his valet's master. This is the biggest hoax of all, and one from which the fraud which individual human beings perpetrate upon themselves.—Regina Post.

Filmed Scenic Beauties of Jasper Park

Moving pictures of the Park, of the arts and commerce bureau, Ottawa, and Captain State, of Montreal and Washington, are being filmed in Jasper Park recently, on their way east from a visit to Jasper Park where they spent some time. Hundreds of feet were taken of the national playground for the "Seen in Canada" series now under compilation by the government.

A CORDIAL INVITATION TO DISEASE

This is an apt description of Constipation. It's an unnatural condition to begin with—but it's dangerous because it leads to indigestion, fills the system with poisons, brings on anaemia. You don't need a purgative; you just want to weaken the nerves by a harsh, gripping medicine—what you need is mild natural laxative to tone the bowels. You get just what you need in Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they act gently but surely, restore the bowels to perfect action, and make you feel like a new person. You'll feel up top nicer regulating your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Good for young and old—a real family medicine. Get them at The Canadian Drug Co., Montreal

Well Known Farmer Declares He Only Had Bare Fighting Chance

"When I began taking Tanlac it looked like I only had a bare fighting chance for life, but it put me on my feet feeling as fine as any man could want to feel," said William Paddell, well-known farmer living at Kipling, Sask.

"I was so emaciated that I only weighed 120 pounds when I started taking Tanlac, and was so weak I was almost in a state of collapse. I could not get any good out of the little I ate, as my stomach was in such an awful condition that even the lightest food soured and caused me misery.

"I was lucky for me that I took the advice of a friend who told me about Tanlac. It could not have done better if it had been made especially for my case, as it took hold of me right from the start and fixed me up so I could eat anything.

"Never in my life have I seen anything to equal the way I have gained in weight. I now weigh 185 pounds, have my strength back, and I can almost say that I never felt better in my life or had more energy. Tanlac certainly does the work."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

WHEN BABY IS ILL

When the baby is ill, when he cries and frets, all call the moment the attention to petting makes him worse. Baby-Ease Tablets should be given him without delay. The little one's mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and stomach and a drink soon ends the sour constipation and indigestion, breaks up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Desire Theberge, Trois Pistoles, Que., writes: "I am well satisfied with my use of Baby's Own Tablets. They have been of the world's best to my baby when he was suffering from constipation and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Owing to the shortness of the time remaining her to bid all a personal farewell, Mrs Frank Brissett wishes to take this means of bidding her Vermilion friends good bye.

A M West conducted a very successful sale of household goods on Friday for Mrs F Brissett who is leaving for the coast.

M Weiner, general merchant, of the firm of M Weiner & Sons, town, returned on Monday from Winnipeg where he was on a buying trip for the fall trade. He reports purchasing heavily in both fall and winter dry goods, boots & shoes and in general lines in expectations of vastly increased trade.

The dray team of D Anderson took fright Monday afternoon shortly before six o'clock and in the run completely demolished the heavy dray, remnants of which decorated the streets for several blocks.

Mrs F Brissett and daughter Florence left this Wednesday afternoon en route for their new home in Vancouver, B.C. where Mr Brissett is located in business. Residents of the town for the past eleven years their departure is generally regretted by their large circle of warm friends, but it is trusted that the change to the coast climate may prove beneficial to them all.

Dr McEwan veterinary surgeon and wife motored over from Medicine Hat on Wednesday of last week and expressed themselves as delighted with the general appearance of the town. Dr. and Mrs. McEwan were schoolmates of Mrs. M. G. Belmoncourt of Vermilion some twenty years ago in the East and the reunion was a source of much pleasure.

If Your Money will go twice as far in Craigs Economy Depot.

Mrs. Leon Goldman and two children, Norman and Jenny, arrived from Mount Clemente during the week after an absence of two months.

His host of old friends are pleased to welcome a real old-timer back amongst us again for a short visit in the person of Mr. J.A. Rutherford of Winnipeg. Mr. Rutherford conducted business in Vermilion for a number of years. He reports the family as all well.

A. F. Turner, Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Fort Saskatchewan, writes: "I just happened to notice in last week's "Standard", an account of the death of some English mariner, said to be the last survivor of the Franklin Relief Expeditions. Are they by chance overlooking an old breed named Cyr, who lives fifteen or twenty miles north of Vermilion, who was alive and well when I left there and who had undoubtedly accompanied one of the search parties? If the old man is still alive, some one that can talk to him should get his story. If he is dead, it probably would not be beyond the means of the town people to mark his grave in some way." In connection with the above, the editor would like to obtain any information available, so that proper recognition may be made.

Threshing machines which recommenced operations throughout the district on Friday of last week have again been shut down since Monday night owing to wet weather. Reports from Magjohn are that six days of heavy rain prevailed with a break two days between, and in Saskatchewan adverse weather conditions also existed.

The committee having charge of arranging for the Teachers' Convention for the three Inspectoral Districts of Vegreville, Manville and Vermilion, met at Innisfree on Saturday last. The convention is to be held the p.m. at Vermilion on the 28th and 31st, of October. A splendid programme is being prepared which will be announced as soon as completed, and every teacher in the above Inspectorates will receive a copy. A large number of teachers are expected to attend.

OATS WENT 115 BUSHELS TO ACRE

A 22 acre field of oats on the farm of L. S. Wonders, south of town has yielded what is beyond question a record for the Vermilion district. The official machine returns threshed out 2530 bushels or the phenomenal average of 115 bushels to the acre. The 22 acres field was a piece of new breaking and was sown on the 4th and 6th days of May. The yield undoubtedly constitutes a record which will stand for some time.

The Question of Depreciation

YOU cannot afford to overlook the question of depreciation when buying a car, because [illegible] time comes when you will either sell the car you have bought or turn it in for a [illegible] The loss you will have to take will depend on your choice now.

Ask the owners of any car purchased within the last fifteen months, at a price varying from $2000 to $4000, what loss he would have to take on a resale. The amount will surprise you! The most expensive the car the more the owner stands to lose. Excessive cost of upkeep kills the demand for a used car of this class.

Buy a Ford. It costs so little to run and repairs and replacements for worn parts can be so easily obtained that the demand for used Ford cars reduces depreciation to a minimum.

The West and Redistribution

It is altogether probable that, even before the present issue of this paper reaches its readers, the Dominion Parliament will be dissolved and writs issued for a new Parliament whose legal span of life will run until 1917 unless, because of some exceptional circumstance, it is deemed advisable to consult the people before that year.

In compliance with the terms of the constitution of Canada a census of the population was taken in the month of June last. It is also provided by the constitution that after the completion of each census the representation of the several Provinces in the House of Commons shall be readjusted, as nearly as may be, to the then existing numbers of representation and population, having regard to the provisions of the constitution as to the minimum of members for each Province.

It [illegible] Premier McBride, Premier Scott, Premier Roblin and Premier Rogers have taken up the cudgels on behalf of the Provinces which they represent, and have succeeded in securing the passage of resolutions in the House of Commons and Senate, which will have the effect of increasing the representation of the Provinces mentioned, and also of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The resolutions have also been passed by the Legislatures of the Provinces concerned, and it only remains for the Dominion Parliament to pass a few minor amendments to the British North America Act, and for the Governor-General to issue his proclamation, when the new representation will become effective. It will be noted that the Province of Alberta is not mentioned in the resolutions. This is because the representation of Alberta is not affected by the census, as the Province has been given the full number of members to which it is entitled under the British North America Act. The Province of Saskatchewan is in the same position.

The next census after the present one will have been taken in the year 1921, and the readjustment of representation based upon it will not take effect until 1924 or 1925. The Maritime Provinces have 5 more Members than they are entitled to under the British North America Act, and the Province of Manitoba is entitled to 2 more than it has. The Territories have 4 to 11 and British Columbia added one. In this way the new Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were created, each having been given 10 members. This additional representation will become effective in 1908.

While the figures of the census of 1911 were being tabulated it became evident that the Dominion Government, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Administration aligned with the United Provinces before Parliament for [illegible] Borden opposition developed in Eastern Canada and the Opposition abstained and obstructed the passage of the measure. The Government therefore appealed to the country, and once again the West was deprived of its rightful representation on a question in which it was vitally interested, while the East was allowed a representation to which it was not entitled.

West broke out in 1911 and the agreement for the readjustment of representation was not until 1911 that the census was taken. The Government, however, in which they were really entitled in 1911. That long delayed readjustment further reduced Ontario's representation to 82 a loss of 18 members in two decades. Nova Scotia dropped to 16, a loss of 5 in the same period. New Brunswick fell to 11, a loss of 5. P.E.I. to 3, or only one-half what it had in 1891. On the other hand Manitoba increased to 15, or three times its representation in 1891. Saskatchewan got 16 and Alberta 12, as compared with 6 for the N.W.T in 1891. British Columbia was accorded 13 as compared with 6 in 1891 and the Yukon was given one.

In other words, although the membership of the House of Commons only increased from 215 in 1891 to 234 on the strength of the census of 1911, the representation west of the Great Lakes rose from 15 to 57, while the representation east of the Great Lakes fell from 200 to 177.

It is generally agreed both East and West, that the same evolution in the political power of the country is taking place, that is, that the representation of the East will be decreased and that of the West increased, when the final figures for 1921 are tabulated. It means that for one-half of the whole period during which the readjusted representation should be in effect the West will be under-represented.

Scottish Castle Sold

Has Secret Chamber and Waits Ten Feet Thick.

Viscount Cowdray has bought the estate of Castle Fraser Donside Aberdeenshire, for £4,800. Castle Fraser is reputed to one of the finest specimens of the Flemish style of architecture in Scotland.

The castle has a secret chamber in which the master of the house could overhear the conversation of his guests in the dining hall. This is supposed to have suggested to Sir Walter Scott a similar contrivance in "The Fortunes of Nigel." Fraser throughout the building which stands upon arches are from 6 feet to 10 feet thick.

Family Of Fifteen Coming To Canada

Father In Minister But May Farm In Saskatchewan.

A family of fifteen, consisting of father, mother and thirteen children, stepped on the Canadian Pacific liner Missanabie at Liverpool bound for Canada. They were as cheery a party as any on the boat and all looked forward with hopeful expectation to the new life which the voyage was opening to them.

Of the children the eldest is 19 years old, and the youngest two. There are eight boys and five girls, all of the parents' name. The head of the family is the Rev. Hugh John Kirkland a Primitive Methodist minister of Dunbury, Oxfordshire, who is coming to the little prairie town of Maxwood Saskatchewan, to take up the pastorate of a church there, and possibly a farm.

Paris Chauffeur Given One Dollar For Returning $10,000.

Among the 45,000 articles lost in Paris and returned to the police department in 1910 were 20,000 umbrellas, according to figures just published. Eighty per cent of the articles lost in taxicabs are returned, one chauffeur recently bringing a glove of which three fingers were missing. Honesty is not always invisible rewarded as may be seen from the case of a chauffeur who returned a wandering wallet to an old woman who had left $10,000 in it. This is all and was rewarded with a dollar.

A terrible experience had Elder J. [illegible] of Mayfield, Man. Mayfield P.O., Manitoba writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma and catarrh. My nose and throat was often stopped up and I had dreadful sinking spells in the throat. When I would lie down at night I was obliged to sit up in a chair or bed, as if I would surely lose my breath. I would get no rest. I had tried numerous medicines but they were all ineffectual. I was induced to try Catarrhozone, and to my surprise before the first bottle was finished I felt relief coming. I continued using it for three months and was entirely cured. I have not had a return of the trouble since." Catarrhozone is sold by druggists everywhere, price $1.00 and $2.50, large size lasts two months, small size 50c and trial size 25c, and two at all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

DELICATE GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Means Health and Strength

The association of young girls ought to be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, indigestion, bad, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-of-door exercise and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of failing. Later comes the palpitation of the heart, breaks, headaches, faltering a sinking pain, tion, frequent backaches and breathlessness in a majority of cases. Constipation is present. There may be dizziness following a sinking spell, the complexion taken on a greenish or pale yellow.

Cases of this kind if neglected in some more serious but if taken in time there is no need to worry. Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, are just the tonic needed to correct this wretched state of health. Though it is not noticeable, improvement begins with the first dose as the blood is made rich the pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually returns and the danger of relapse is very slight.

If any symptoms of anaemia appear [illegible] suggest that in Williams' Pink Pill should be given at once and the sooner they are taken on the more speedily will the system be improved. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville Ont.

Make The Most Of Apples

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

With the first days of autumn, the marketer sees a glorious array of healthful apples. Apples are to the fruit world what potatoes are among vegetables. Unlike most fruits, we do not readily tire of them. It becomes the favorite, therefore, of [illegible] but apples in quantity—such quantity as she can conveniently store.

It's not the best looking apples from among those you purchase, wash them thoroughly with a brush and [illegible] and polish with soft [illegible] You save the finer previously first dish. The middle will often pass for the candy box to pick up and bite into an attractive apple.

While nearly always apples in the raw are easily digested, it sometimes happens that in order to be more easy of digestion, they need to be cooked. There are innumerable recipes for cooking apples in various ways, but every housewife should be familiar with at least three or four good methods of preparation without reference to her cook book.

For baking, select the green or cooking apple. It is perfectly possible to bake the pretty red apple so common in many sections, but connoisseurs long ago decided upon the all round superiority of the green apple. Rhode Island greens, the acid fruits, cooking them in either tin or iron vessels must be avoided. An earthen baking dish, an agate iron pot or pan or the familiar agate or granite utensil must be used.

Wash the apples, taking a few number of apples you will bake, remember that a leftover baked apple that has been properly cared for is quite as good the second or third day after baking. It may be wise in order to economize in oven heat to bake more than you expect to use, immediately.

Scrub the apple, remove the core with a sharp knife, cutting from the width from the stem end of the apple, but be careful to leave the bottom of the skin, to prevent the bursting of the skin. Place the apple on the baking dish, fill each cavity with loose sugar and put either a few grains of ground cinnamon or a few drops of lemon juice to each apple. A dot of butter may be put here and there on the apple

Pour a little water, preferably hot, into the bottom of the baking dish and set the dish in a moderate oven Open the oven every ten minutes and baste the apples with syrup from the pan to prevent burning. Serve cold either with the syrup formed in the dish or with cream, plain or whipped.

From the less perfect apples one may prepare delicious apple jelly. Cut the apple in half, remove the skin and core and from each half of the apple cut about three sections. Make a syrup by boiling together for five minutes a cup of water and one-fourth a cup of sugar.

Into this put the apple and stew slowly until tender. Care must be taken that the apple is not over-done cause them to break. A bit of stick cinnamon or a couple of cloves or some lemon juice may be added if desired. Remove the apple to a deep dish and cook the syrup until the fruit juice is placed on the bottom, and unless one has a particularly good digestion it may cause trouble. A fine baked apple dish is ideal for this type of pie. The shops are also now delightful little individual pie-tie dishes which are highly desirable for serving one-crust pies.

A Pertinent Question

Why Did Kaiser Run If Troops Were Never Vanquished.

With his old-time grandloquence the former German Kaiser sent a message to the Junker meeting held by his son and Lackedorf in Berlin, recently, in which he exclaimed "With proud and warm gratitude I think today of my brave comrades, never vanquished in the field" first if they were never vanquished in the field why is it that the puissant partner of "He and God" so unceremoniously abdicated from the field and scurried into hiding in Holland, whence he has never dared poke his head across the border since? In London and Paris there are several hotels which have rooms with private baths, but there are very few bathrooms in the average European hotel. It is always an extra even when used with cold water. What Jas. L. Hudson is Doing With the "Fordson"

FORMIDABLE RECORD

Mr Jas. L. Hudson of Landonville Alberta, has sent Harvey Ross at Vermilion one of the finest testimonials we have yet seen. If this does not convert the most obdurate "no order, what will? Show it to him.

Harvey Ross Garage
Vermilion, Alta.

Dear Sir:

You will perhaps be interested in knowing what we have been doing with the "Fordson" tractor purchased from you last fall, and as to this I might say, despite advice to the contrary, the "Fordson" in this section has been a complete success. I witness the following record for this spring:

To the present date we have plowed 260 acres old ground with the break or plow bottom 16 inches plowed to acre with two bottom gang, brob, double-disced, harrowed and packed 320 acres of prairie sod this time to seed and have 55 acres of breaking ready to work down at present time.

Fuel consumption on the aforementioned gang went about 2½ gallons to the acre, while my best record on breaking was 12 acres in 24 hours time on 2 gallons to the acre, on ground about one-third covered with stone and quite bush averaging about same thick, with no stone Average consumption on fuel so far has been about 2½ gallons to the acre using 2 to 3 quarts of motor oil per acre. I consider I acres per day a fair average for the Fordson, which on good breaking I can really go to.

As you know we are becoming a to the country, arriving the start only this spring, and could have done practically nothing depending on tractor power with our Fordson. We also purchased some 115 acres, to which I am going breaking, and most of the other was plowed during the fall (bottom) in time to seed

In addition let me say that despite the extra cold wet season I was on the land by the time the horses on and have been there every day the weather permitted since. So far I have not suffered a moment's delay for repairs and my repair bills have been extremely low, four or five dollars for one and possibly one or two dollars for the other.

I consider we all round [illegible] to be quite much has initial expense and upkeep simply to use and construction, economy of operation, and the reputation of the firm back of it, I cannot see how anyone in the market for a tractor could overlook the "Fordson."

If possible in locations hold good until [illegible] Fordson will have more than once paid for itself in the [illegible] crop we have to handle.

If this will help you in your other dealing in any way you may use it in any way you see fit, as I am glad of the opportunity to submit it, in appreciation of the prompt service and courteous treatment which I have always received at your garage

Very truly yours,
Jas L. Hudson

Terrific Explosion Wrecks Chemical Plant At Oppau, Germany

Mayence—A great explosion at the chemical plant at the district of the Badische Anilinfabrik Company at Oppau, on the Rhine, wrecked the town and spread death and destruction on every hand. The number killed is variously estimated at from 1,000 to 1,500, and the injured close to two thousand. One report says that there were 2,000 men on the spot at the moment of the explosion and it is believed that about half of those were killed.

The town of Oppau is a scene of utter desolation, more than a third of the houses having been completely demolished, while the roofs of the others were swept off as if by a whirlwind. Here also many were killed or injured.

The explosion is attributed by some to excess pressure in gasoline meters, the whole of this part of the works being literally pulverized. Where the gasometers stood is now a funnel shaped hole 150 yards wide and 45 yards deep, while twisted girders and debris of every description lie scattered about. For a distance of several hundred yards, not a wall is left standing.

The directorate of the company is quoted as saying that the explosion occurred in a storehouse containing four thousand tons of nitrous sulphate, which had previously been examined and was believed to be free from danger of explosion. All the workmen dwelling in the city were rushed to the ground at Mannheim, on the opposite side of the river, 25 persons were seriously injured, and two hundred or more suffered minor injuries. Landwighafen nearly all the railway men's trains were buried under the wreckage, and many children on their way to school in that town were injured.

Mayence—A late statement issued by the management of the Oppau factory says that the explosion occurred in a reservoir containing 200 tons of ammonium sulphate. It adds that all necessary precautions had been taken during the process of manufacture and storing the product, so that an explosion appeared impossible.

British Government Charges Soviet With Breach of Faith

London—The British Government has despatched a strongly-worded note to Moscow calling the attention of the Soviet Government to alleged breaches of faith involved in the pursuance by the Russians throughout Central Asia and Afghanistan of a campaign of intrigue hostile towards Great Britain. An explanation is demanded

The note details fully the alleged hostile acts complained of. Most of them were in Afghanistan.

The note, which was written by the foreign minister, Earl Curzon, details a number of flagrant violations of Russia's undertaking under the trade agreement with Great Britain to cease anti-British propaganda and particularly enumerates the activities of the Third Internationale of Moscow in India and Afghanistan, quoting in substantiation thereof a statement by M Stalin, president of the eastern section of the Third International, who reported the existence of parties in Afghanistan with [illegible] Lord Curzon says the Government possesses indisputable evidence that these treaties are regarded by the Soviet Government as prospective centres of propaganda and also has evidence of the activities of Jemal Pasha sent to Afghanistan by the Soviet to provide the hostile tribesmen with funds, arms and ammunition. The British foreign secretary asks for definite assurance that these activities, constituting breaches of the trade agreement, shall cease.

The note declares that the Soviet used every persuasion to prevent the Afghan Government from carrying at a peaceful solution with the Entente powers and assembled considerable forces on the borders of Anatolia, suggesting that they should be sent into Anatolia for the support of the Kemalists.

Fire Destroys Lumber Stocks

Loss of Ontario Company Will Be Heavy.

Parry Sound, Ont.—Fire destroyed the mill and lumber stocks of the Cooper Lumber Company, as well as a large number of boats, canoes and boathouses, along the waterfront. For a time the town itself was threatened with destruction, but the wind that blew from the southeast aided the fire fighters.

Besides the mill and machinery, the loss includes six million feet of lumber, four million pieces of lath, piles, slabs or other mill products, as well as barns, stables, dwellings, tramway and railway spur lines. The exact loss of the lumber, which has not been estimated, is partly covered by insurance. About eighty men will be thrown out of employment.

The correspondent says that the transaction seems to be in order except that the consortium of the powers [illegible] to regulate the question of a loan to China has not been consulted and that the loan is a direct violation of the British Government's policy in China.

It is pointed out, however, that Canadian interests are not [illegible] to the consortium agreement between [illegible] Britain, France, Japan and America, and [illegible] not a violation of the [illegible] treaty. Does It Pay The Farmer To Hold His Wheat has denoted it seconds of time and it still remains a most question in the minds of many people. Economists have investigated the grain market for a problem in practically all the great wheat growing countries of the world, and in this connection due consideration has been given to the effect on prices of the early marketing of the bulk of the wheat crop immediately following harvest. The prevailing opinion in the minds of most people who have undoubtedly been that those farmers who from force of circumstances, were compelled to rush their wheat to market were the losers thereby while the man who could afford to hold it and watch the market stood to gain.

Practical and experienced farmers have become not only critical but rather resentful of writers in newspapers who never the less do not hesitate to tell them what to do and what not to do. Arm their farmers, like arm chair military strategists are not popular, nor do they carry much weight, and public opinion as shown their disinterest in such unpractical people by ignoring them.

But in the matter of the marketing of wheat ours who never plowed a furrow or sowed a grain of seed, are certainly in just as good a position to express an opinion in regard to it as any practical farmer, and possible in a much better position to do so intelligently.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis has recently issued a set of very interesting charts, one of which seeks to throw some light on the question. Canada's Greatest Need Is An Increase Of Settled Population

Canada is an outstanding example of the effects of population and the Province of Manitoba is but a miniature epitome of the effects of distributing the tax in people over the British Empire. The productive energy [illegible] of a country have a [illegible] parallel to the [illegible] population. When there [illegible] no people settled on the land [illegible] there were no cultivated fields, no manufactories, no railroads or other artificial means of communication and no accumulated wealth. Now in comparatively half a century all this has been reversed by the efforts of the migrating British and other races who have settled here.

The letting of the contract by His Excellency Count de Tegoz of London, England, for the immediate erection of sixteen cottages in Blocks 12 and 14 in the town of Vermilion, just east of the C.N.R. depot, will, during the occasion of much satisfaction, not only [illegible] business men of the town and of the [illegible] district, but also [illegible] town represents a large investment in business buildings and residences in Vermilion, made several years ago, was not prevented by the present period of unrest and financial depression following the war, to once again give tangible evidence of his faith in the stability of this bright future ahead of our town, and his willingness to solve the house famine prevailing here by the erection of such a large number of homes in the building of sixteen cottages should draw forth the warm [illegible] from each and every citizen of the town of Vermilion if we understand the temper of the citizens of Vermilion, we doubt not that before His Excellency leaves us [illegible] will give expression to their appreciation of him in a public manner.

A little six-year old boy was run down on the street at Regina during the week by a car and killed. The driver of the car was placed under arrest and charged with manslaughter. It does not state whether the boy ran into the car or the car ran into the boy, the discrimination is not necessary—there does it say that the little chap had no right to be on the street and if he hadn't been there he would not have been killed. The outstanding fact is that a human life was crushed out by the driver of the car. To carry out the arguments of Mr. Sloan, whose communication is given space elsewhere in this issue, we could conclude that if there were no boys they would not be run over. The accident last week should stand out as a vivid warning to car drivers to exercise the greatest caution where boys are on the streets.

THE STANDARD
VERMILION - ALBERTA
S. R. P. COOPER, Editor.

THE STANDARD
VERMILION, ALTA. OCT. 5, 1921

The following is an excerpt from the Provincial Health Act dealing in respect to contagious and infectious diseases in which the patient must be placed under quarantine either compulsorily or voluntarily, or medical attendant [illegible] quarantine under which the disease is passed by the Health Officer.

In Vermilion a home builder [illegible] or has reason to suspect [illegible] is sick within his family or household is infected with any of the following notifiable diseases, namely Smallpox, Chickenpox, diphteria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, measles, mumps, [illegible] and erysipelas.

Ella "Any person violating any of the provisions of any regulation already passed, and now in force, or any regulation hereafter made and put in force, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace or a police magistrate, be liable to a penalty of not more than fifty dollars and costs."

From the foregoing sections it is plainly stated that the liability is limited to the cost of transport of the house wherein the disease is located or suspected; hence, to have a Board of Health condemn a house because no matter how mild, any officer of the peace or health officer is well within their rights in laying information against any party for [illegible] stating same

You cannot afford to overlook the question of depreciation when buying a car, because the time will come when you will either sell the car you have bought or turn it in for a new one. The time you will have to take will depend on your choice now.

Ask the owner of any car purchased within the last fifteen months, at a price varying from $[illegible] to $[illegible] what loss he would have to take on a resale. The amount will surprise you! The more expensive the car the more the owner stands to lose. Excessive cost of upkeep kills the desire for a used car of this class.

Buy a Ford. It costs so little to run and repairs and replacements for worn parts can be so easily obtained that the demand for used Ford cars reduces depreciation to a minimum.

"Exide" Battery Service

If your starting battery is to you, [illegible] we tell you so.

If, on the other hand, no [illegible] notice shows that it would pay you to have it renewed, we will give you a first-class job at the same old terms that you would receive if you were buying a new battery.

DUNS DUNNING

Though our grandsire are bulgiar
With the wheat we're gathered in,
Though our out bins never were so full before,
Though a splendid all round harvest it certainly has been,
Oh, give us back the days when we were poor!
For life is void of pleasure when robbed of peace and rest,
With Duns forever knocking at the door.
Oh, give us back the old da,s, those days we love the best,
The happy peaceful days when we were poor!
We love to watch the wild geese a cross the prairie fly;
To listen to their call at break o, d.y
There's a sound of friendly greeting in the old familiar cry,
And we miss it when they southward wing their way
But a harsh unfriendly, rackle now falls upon the ear;
From early dawn it hears us till e'en the day is o'er.
The pest the wild geese calling which now we farmers hear.
It's Duns a-shouting 'Pay! Pay! Pay!'
We may be absent-minded, but we're honest all the same,
As those who've known us longest will allow;
So to get clear out of debt is natural to our aim;
And we're going, gents, to get clear of it now.
But you'll have to give us time; say another month or two,
Until we sell our wheat no distant day
And, gents, until we do, with ear bent you'll hear
Only loudly drop that "Pay! Pay! Pay!"

SHE KNEW HIM

In the house of a prominent business man a chandelier fell in the night, making a terrific crash. In the morning the man said to his wife:

"What did you think, my dear, when you heard the chandelier fall in the lead silence of the night?"

I thought, darling," replied his wife, "that you had been detained on business again, and were getting upstairs as quietly as you could."

Little Nelly told little Anita what the latter termed a "little fib"

Anita—A fib is the same as a story and a story is the same as the Nelly—No, it's not

Anita—Yes it is, cause my father called an auto my father is a professor at the university

Anita—I don't care, if he is. My father is a level-[illegible] man and he knows more about lying than your father does.

Interesting Case In District Court

A case of considerable interest was tried before His Honor Judge Taylor at the sittings of the District Court held here last Thursday. The plaintiff was James Todd of Kitscoty and the defendant Edwin Potvin of Islay. It appears that in the spring of 1919 Potvin listed his lands for sale with Todd on the usual commission basis in July of that year the Dominion [illegible] passed an act which specifically prohibits the collection of any [illegible] of commission in connection with sales made to the Soldiers Settlement Board After this act had been passed, Todd arranged a sale of the Potvin lands to certain returned men on whom the Board purchased The deferred was along the line that the Federal Act prohibited Todd from collecting and Potvin from paying a commission on the deal The case is probably the only one that has been tried in Alberta in which this act has been involved Judgment was reserved Cormack, Edmonton for plaintiff and Morrison for defendant Honest Advertising.

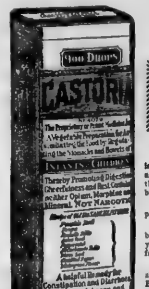
THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Honestly advertised as such, without a claim for more than its over 30 years of use have amply proven. A Baby's remedy for Babies. And not an adult's remedy for all the family and all the ills that human flesh is heir to.



Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. He Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

British Premier's Final Offer For Conference May Be Accepted

Dublin.—The general feeling here is that Mr. Lloyd George's invitation for a conference on October 11 will be accepted. The whole tenour of the Sinn Fein leaders appears to have changed for the better and optimism once more prevails here.

The Freeman's Journal cordially welcomes Premier Lloyd George's reply, which, it says, creates a reasonable opportunity for the Irish and British representatives to meet. It declares that the Premier's final paragraph leaves the delegates unfettered and the paper sincerely hopes that the invitation will lead to a conference.

"We are confident," it adds, "and the people of both nations manifest the same confidence, that such a conference will result in a great and beneficial new-are of peace."

Galtech, Scotland.—The text of Lloyd George's reply to the last note from Eamonn de Valera, which was dispatched to Dublin follows:

"Sir: His Majesty's Government have given close and earnest consideration to correspondence which has passed between us since their invitation to you to send delegates to a conference at Inverness.

"In spite of their sincere desire for peace, and in spite of the more conciliatory tone of your last communications they cannot enter into a conference upon the basis of this correspondence.

"Notwithstanding your personal assurance to the contrary, which they much appreciate, they are forced to the conclusion that the acceptance of a conference on this basis had involved in a recognition which no British Government can accord. On this point they must guard themselves against any possible misapprehension. There is no purpose to be served by any further interchange of explanatory and argumentative communications upon the subject. The position taken up by His Majesty's Government is fundamental to the existence of the British Empire and they cannot alter it.

"My colleagues and I remain, however, keenly anxious to make, in cooperation with your delegates subject to the conditions already stated, every possibility of a settlement by personal discussion."

"The proposal which we have already made have been taken to the whole world as proof that our anxiety for a peaceful solution and settlement are no empty form, and we feel that confidence, not correspondence is the best method to hope for a full way to an understanding such as we ardently desire to achieve.

"We, therefore, have decided to send a fresh invitation to a conference in London, on October 11, where we can meet you personally. We shall approach the people shown you represent with a view to concluding here the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British Empire and to be associated with it in the future relations.

"I am, sir, your faithfully,
"D. LLOYD GEORGE."

Consider Securing Help For Russia

Relief Committee Will Not Appeal to League of Nations.

Geneva.—Recommendation that the assembly of the League of Nations appeal to its members for relief to Russia will not be made by the Russian Relief Committee, it was announced here.

The matter of securing funds for Russia and the organization of relief measures were left entirely to non-political organizations. The reason given for the decision by the committee was that various governments have promised it unlimited assistance in this respect.

Four Volcanic Eruptions.

Mexico City.—Popocatepetl the great volcanic mountain southeast of this city, is reported to be in violent eruption and is belching forth immense quantities of smoke and ashes. Four volcanoes are hearing their names, forming a curious eruption.

Give Aid To Russia.

Rome.—The Holy See has instructed the Bank of Rome to transfer to Italian fire to the papal nuncio in Paris, Gasparri, for the relief of the Russian famine.

Plan To Attend Conference

Premier Briand Will Accompany French Delegation to Washington.

Paris.—Premier Briand, it was announced has decided to leave for the United States on the steamer Lafayette, sailing probably November 1, to attend the conference on Far Eastern and Mediterranean affairs. With him will go the entire French delegation to the conference and its staff.

Melbourne.—Premier Hughes was asked regarding the possibility of an official Australian representation at the Washington conference on Far Eastern questions and limitation of armaments, said: "I think it would be like a man presenting himself at the gaol of Hearn without a ticket of admission."

India Dissatisfied With Present Rule

Desires Measure of Autonomy Granted to Self-Government Dominions.

London.—That the proposition of India as an integral part of the British Empire can be secured only by unlimitedly granting her that measure of autonomy already enjoyed by the self-government Dominions, is the opinion of Dr. S. E. Datta, a recognized leader of the moderate party in India, who addressed the Canadian Club here.

The Hindu is a loyal subject, in that it came from a native Indian who although thoroughly in sympathy with the Indian in a recognition of the allet movement in India, has thrown the weight of his influence on the side of constitutional reform under the British government.

Dr Datta strenuously combatted the idea that the unrest now evident in India between constitutionalist reform on one side and revolution on the other was confined to the educated classes, and that it affected the other sections of the Empire merely as spectators. On the contrary, what the other sections of the Empire said and thought, was of vital consequence.

Japan Selects Delegates

Surprise Caused By Appointment of Prince Tokugawa.

Tokio.—The Japanese delegates to the conference on the limitation of armaments, will be Prince Iyesato Tokugawa president of the House of Peers, Vice Admiral Tomosaburo Kato Minister of the navy, and Baron Kijuro Shidehara, ambassador to the United States. It has been officially announced.

The delegation includes in others Premier Hara, the foreign minister, Prince Tokugawa was a total surprise to the nation. It supposes the visit that for one thing it would give the Prince Tokugawa was a total surprise to the nation. It supposes the visit that for one thing it would give the Premier Hara to prepare the way for a Tokugawa tributary after the Premier's assassination, when the present cabinet, it says, is likely to resign.

Australia Has Surplus For Year

Treasurer's Report Shows Economic Strain Is Easing.

London A Reuter cable from Melbourne says the treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth Sir J. Lesh, made announcements in the House of Representatives showed a surplus for the past year of £4,000,000. The revenue for the year was £34,000,000 which exceeded the estimates by £2,155,000.

Says Germany Must Go To Reparations Limit

Munich.—"We must go to the limit of our capacity to satisfy the claims," Dr. Walter Lautenbach, German minister of reconstruction, declared before the congress of the Imperial Association of German Trades. DATED at Vermilion, this thirtieth day of September 1921.

JOHN SELKIRK,
Secretary Treas. and Municipal ... of Vermilion Valley, No 682.

Brand Law Changes Made Law at Last Session Put into Effect

"Any shipper failing to furnish a stock inspector a correct list of branded cattle shipped by him shall be liable to a p nalty of $2.1 per head for each animal wrongfully described." This clause was included in the stock inspection act at the 1920 session of the legislature and Hon. Geo. Hoadley now states that it is his intention to have the legislation enforced. Heretofore the stock inspectors have had considerable trouble in using their own discretion in the enforcement of the act, as it was felt that considerable hardship would be worked. The number that now however, he means to put in force all existing legislation for the protection of the stockman and that at the coming session he intends to ask for legislation that will fasten on all loopholes whereby cattle may be easily stolen and marketed.

This regulation puts on the shipper, whether owner or drover, the onus of proving ownership of the animals he ships. In the case of the owner shipping there will be no hardship as he should be able to prove where he obtained his cattle, and in the case of the drover, it will compel him to be careful as to the ownership of the cattle he is shipping.

Stock coming to the stockyards of the province and wrongly described, will render the shipper liable to the $2.5 penalty and ... Owing to the fact that since the order of the ... at ... came into effect, few if infractions have been found, and cattle are being held at the stock yards pending prosecution. As the shipper will naturally have to pay the stock yard costs during the time they are being held, there will doubtless be considerable dissatisfaction.

Mr. Hoadley takes it ... that as the government is accepting the brand fees he should protect the stockman, and it is well known that each year hundreds of stolen cattle are sold out of the province. Most of this occurs however through direct shipments that do not go through the Calgary or Edmonton yards and when the matter was brought in the Agriculture committee of the legislature at the last session, one of the points brought out was that the province could not put an inspector in the yards of other provinces, such as at the Moose Jaw and Winnipeg ... ds that would spot these cattle, and that the matter was one for Dominion regulation. They held that the province could only regulate inside p vincial borders.

Within six days after leaving Calgary, Alberta, by the Canadian National Railways a shipment of cattle destined for British markets was placed on board steamer at Montreal, some time before the guaranteed schedule for the trip. Various stops were made for feed and water.

This is the start of a better day

There's satisfying comfort and cheer in a breakfast cup of Postum, and there's no disturbing element to irritate nerves or digestion and leave mental energy lagging before the day is done

Thousands of former tea and coffee users have found that Postum meets every demand for a delicious table beverage, and brings steadier nerves, clearer mind, better health.

As many cups as you like with any meal — no after-regrets.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in mug) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

"There's a Reason" for Postum

Takes Electricity From Air

New Generator Consists of Wire, Iron and Minerals.

Demonstrations have been made on the streets of Denver of a new electric generator that is claimed by the inventors to take electricity from the air.

The inventors are J. E. Ammann, of Denver, and his brother, C. E. Ammann, of Spokane Wash.

To demonstrate, the brothers buy moved an old electric auto, took out the batteries and after coping their new "atmospheric generator" fast, they got in and rode off at a high speed.

"There is nothing inside the drum that moves; the contents consist only of iron, wire and naturally," says C. E. Ammann.

"It can be used to drive any electrical apparatus and can be made in any size."

The brothers are closely guarding their secret, and even take their "brain child" when it is not in use, to their room in the Argonaut Hotel So far the brothers have not offered to sell their proposition.

Electrical men in Denver are waiting "to be shown," but they grant the thing works.

Curing Plant Diseases

British Government Secures Services of Expert Scientists.

The increase in the world's store of food has been slow since the war, a most puzzling problem. Men of science have been called for many years that the quantity of vegetable food actually produced could be multiplied if crops were protected from fungous and parasites of all kinds. A similar state of affairs exists in building altogether in order to which have a commercial value. Growing Fuel In Six Years

Many Trees Suited For Prairies Grow Very Rapidly.

Many of the species which can be used on the prairies are very rapid growers, for example, cottonwood, willow, Russian poplar and Manitoba maple. It is safe to say that wood large enough for fuel can be grown from any of these trees within six years After that time a plantation will increase in value and produce thereon year by year and will prove one of the best investments on the farm.

On the Nursery Station at Indian Head, dash, a plot three-quarters of an acre in extent was planted out to Russian poplar in 1906, trees spaced four feet apart each way. In 1913 the average height of these trees was twenty three feet. In the fall of 1913 half the plot was cut down and yielded six and three-quarter cords of quite fair fuel This is at the rate of about eighteen cords per acre in eight years. The land was a medium clay loam. The labor cost of planting was $5 96 per acre and cultivation for two years cost $8 per year—N. M Ross, Supt of Tree Planting, Dominion Forestry Branch, Indian Head

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD SPIRITS

Depend Upon the Condition of the Blood—Keep it Rich, Red and Pure.

When a doctor tells you that you are anaemic, he simply means in plain English, that your blood is weak and watery His this condition is one that may easily lead to hopeless decline if prompt steps are not taken to enrich the blood Poor blood weak watery blood is the cause of backache, and headache, loss of appetite, poor digestion, they mention, neuralgia, nervous, irritable and many other troubles You as poor blood is due the pimples and blotches, the muddy complexion, the disfigures so many faces. In short, good health, a good appetite and a cheerful manner, the blood must be kept rich red and pure. This can easily done through the use of blood enriching tonic, like Dr Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to help earth to build which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing with it health, strength and new activity That is why people who are constantly use Dr Williams' Pink Pills always feel bright active and strong

Mrs. E. H. Cook, Simcoe, Ont., gives the following testimony to the value of Williams' Pink Pills when the blood is in an anaemic condition, she says: "I have been a sufferer for many years from a run down condition of the system. I suffered from pains in the back, twitching of the nerves and sometimes my appetite was poor and indigestion and would get drowsy after eating. My hands and feet were always cold, and though I was constantly doctoring, the medicine I took did not help me. I had practically given up hope of good health, until a friend from Hamilton came to visit us, and urged me to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills. It took some persuasion but finally I consented to try them. I have reason to be grateful that I did, for after using seven boxes I felt like a new person I have gained in weight have a better color and the work is now a pleasure For this reason I attribute my thanks are due Dr Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too high

You can get Dr William Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Peculiarity of British Poet

An instance of British poetical delay and an equal commercial to its poetic envy, was the delivery at Prince Albert to J. Harris, an imperial veteran, of a packet of cigarettes mailed him while he was engaged in the South Africa War, from England in 1902 The package indicates that during its 15 years rambling it has been to India, New Zealand, and nearly all over the globe

Banks And The People

Money Is No Longer Hidden, But Is Put To Work.

The war with its stern drain upon the resources of the people and its popular loans in which the banks became the direct agents of the government, in dealing with the people did much to create a respect for the banks and to stimulate a response to their appeals to the thrift and patriotism of the people. The hidden money bag of pioneer days has almost disappeared The people are putting their money to work They are coming to the view that their surplus money is in an economic condition, she says. Why No Rainbow In Winter

Why is the rainbow a frequent seen during summer and so seldom during winter? The explanation is given by Professor W. J. Humphreys the meteorologist at Washington. He explains that rain and moisture conditions that often occur during the summer months produce the Americans a general cyclonic storm and as the moisture are scattered-th of summer and the latter part of winter, it follows that the occurrence of the rainbow correspondingly varies with the season

The foolish man who built his house on the sand—

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistaken habit.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

VERMILION, - - ALBERTA

S. R. P. COOPER Editor

VERMILION, ALTA. OCT 12, 1921

The attention of our readers and that of the public in general is called to the unusual conditions which exist at the present time in many sections of the Province with respect to the fire hazard. As all are aware we have had a number of dry seasons in that part of the Province lying to the south of the Athabasca River, with the result that over vast areas there is little or no reserve moisture in the soil and, in those sections where there is no valuable bush cover the risk of soil is so dry at the present time that fire will smoulder and consume the vegetable matter, with the result that as soon as vegetation is sufficiently dry it will be ignited by the first spark that falls on the soil and unless extinguished will burn over unlimited areas. In many sections the stubble in the grain fields is already inflammable and grain has been destroyed after harvest. It is important that every possible precaution should be taken to prevent the spread of fires started in the open, in fact no fire should be kindled in the open at the present time unless where it is absolutely necessary and no patch clearing or stubble burning should be thrown away until completely extinguished.

When the present generation were young they had the fastest thing on the road was the driver of a horse who could run. Any youngsters there were would take trouble in crossing the streets. Generally the teams that used the streets went slowly and when a butcher's boy turned around the corner on one wheel. Now the almost moving vehicles are the motor cars and there are so many automobiles that children must be taught to look and listen before they cross the streets. There is some reason lost work going on in the season now but there should be a public thought out plan of action and instruction given by actual demonstration to every child. The boy on the delivery drive the butcher cart is now a man and his son is driving a fast delivery car, and he, like his father, will turn corners a great deal faster than he should. On all the busy streets of the large cities where schools are located there is a policeman to direct traffic and see the youngsters across safely. In many of the eastern cities there is a regular course of instruction which leads to cut down the number of street accidents materially. We will always have the careless driver and it is these that we must guard against. Children are naturally irresponsible they will cross the street and play while they are doing it, and all too many of them are injured and many killed. Then there is the habit of children running on behind a car or truck and riding along. They jump off suddenly. Many times they do not look and leap into the path of an oncoming motor car. A course of instruction would eliminate a lot of this. It is certain that the motor car and truck dealers would gladly supply automobiles for instruction purposes. Carelessness on the part of motor car drivers and on the part of children is invariably the cause of fatalities to pedestrians. The man who drives fast when he sees children at play along the sidewalk or in the street, is not a careful driver. When you see children at play, slow your car, and drive carefully until you have passed them. You can never tell when one will dart out from the sidewalk into the middle of the street. Many accidents have been caused by children jumping into the street from a line of parked automobiles than from any other cause. Naturally the driver cannot see through the car, and has no chance to stop. Parents should teach their children a lot of safety lessons if they will only do so. Too many of them allow their offspring to run wild. There is a way to be gained by teaching children to remain out of harm's way. Motorists all over the world are paying more and more attention to this phase of the safety movement.

By Royal Proclamation, His Excellency the Governor General of Canada has again designated October 8th as Fire Prevention Day. During the week October 10th to 15th, lessons on fire prevention subjects will be given in every school, public meetings will be held in many of the larger cities, towns and villages, and the owners and occupants of property everywhere throughout Canada will be counselled to give special attention to the removal of fire hazards from their premises. Fire waste is one of the most serious economic problems confronting Canada at the present time. The public in general is vitally affected by the tremendous losses annually incurred by fire and the enormous expenditures rendered necessary to protect adequately life and property from its ravages. Seeing that at least seventy-five per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness and can therefore be prevented, it is the obvious duty of municipal authorities, fire department officials, boards of trade and other representative citizen bodies to bring the matter to the attention of the people. The criminal code defines negligence as contravention of any law or ordinance established to prevent fires. The duty of municipal authorities to bring to the attention of their citizens all regulations affecting fire safety is evident. We recommend that local authorities give adequate publicity through the newspapers to all such laws in order that the public may be properly informed.

AT no time in the history of the Dominion has it been more vitally necessary for every elector to be thoroughly posted on the issues of the day. Readers of the

YOU cannot afford to overlook the question of depreciation when buying a car, because the time will come when you will either sell the car you have bought or turn it in for a new car. The loss you will have to take will depend on your choice now.

Ask the owner of any car purchased within the last fifteen months, at a price varying from $200 to $1000, what less he would have to take on a resale. The amount will surprise you! The more expensive the car the more the owner stands to lose. Excessive cost of upkeep kills the demand for a used car of this class.

Buy a Ford. It costs so little to run and repairs and replacements for worn parts can be readily obtained that the demand for used Ford cars reduces depreciation to a minimum.

Water High In Northern Rivers

Rapids on Reindeer River Are Completely Covered.

J. J. Barker district manager for the Hudson's Bay Company, who has returned from a 3-months trip through the northern area, state that the waters of the Churchill and other northern streams are so high that his party was able to run every Portage at the height of land which separates the Churchill River from Woods Lake, by canoe.

Historical records say that forty years ago this Isthmus was a small lake at that time has acted as a watershed. On the Hudson Bay the waters were on high so no one had to advance the rapids. Lower down the Rattles were found in good health, with excellent prospects for a good catch of fur.

Winning By Hard Work

Edison Said Secret of Success is "Pegging Away."

Thomas A. Edison was asked if his inventions were not brilliant inspirations or were the result of "pegging away at them." The reply was that he knew of no brothers worth while to whom such ideas had come in that way, and most of the inventions of Edison were thought out and worked out by hard study and experiment. The deafness of the inventor was due to an accident when he was a child. He was thrown from a car and struck on the ear. Edison's mother was a former school teacher.

Japanese Ascends Eiger Mountain

Feat Possible Because Ridge Was Free From Ice.

The Eiger Mountain, in the Bernese Alps, which has been considered one of the Matterhorns of the north, is at last dead. The ascent was made a few days ago by a Japanese named Yuko Mika, a Japanese aged 24 years, accompanied by three guides. The feat was made possible by the fact that, due to the extremely hot summer the headsmen was free, for the first time in its known history, from ice and snow.

Now that the Eiger has been reached the ridge, virtually, is the most perilous in the Bernese Oberland Alps that have been conquered.

MAYOR MORRISON IS CHOICE OF CONVENTION

HON. R. B. BENNETT, MINISTER OF JUSTICE, ADDRESSED MASS MEETING AT NIGHT

Supporters of the Government held a most successful and enthusiastic convention at Vermilion on Tuesday afternoon of this week. It could not possibly have been a more disagreeable day, nevertheless over sixty delegates drove distances varying from ten to one hundred miles to attend the convention. Several delegates from the western portions of the constituency of Alexandra were storm stayed and those selected from Carmichael found it impossible to make the journey. The constituencies of Vermilion, Wainwright and St. Paul had complete delegations and several in spare present. There were several ladies among the delegates.

The chair was taken shortly before 2 o'clock by J. W. G. Morrison, of Vermilion, president of the old Union Association of 1917 when E. Judah of Paintsville was appointed secretary. Mr Morrison lost no time in getting the business of the convention started. The usual committees on credentials, resolutions and so on were appointed and after which the matter of effecting a permanent association of the party was considered and on motion of a proposed scheme submitted it having been previously considered by a special committee appointed on this purpose.

It was then moved seconded and carried that the convention organize as an association to be called the National Liberal and Conservative Association of the federal riding of Battle River. The officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

Honorary Patrons: Rt Hon Arthur Meighen and W.J. Blair, K.C., M.P.

Hon Pres Hon R B Bennett Minister of Justice

President: John H Irwin, Kitscoty

Vice-Presidents: For St Paul: Ed Rosenau and Geo E. Dodds. Vermilion: T. G. Stephens and Jack Dryden. Alexandra: J.R. Lowery and J. B McKay, Wainwright. J.A. Cook and Geo. L. Hudson, Coronation. Geo Hilliard, Delia.

Secretary: J.W.G. Morrison

Resolutions were moved and carried congratulating the Right Honorable Arthur Meighen heartily on his elevation to the high position of Prime Minister of Canada; express our deep appreciation of the services rendered the riding and the country by the sitting member, W.J. Blair, during his term as our representative, and expressing approval of the government wheat pool as outlined by Premier Meighen in his speech at Portage in Prairie. All resolutions passed with remarkable enthusiasm.

The convention then proceeded with the nomination of a candidate to contest the riding in support of the government. The names proposed were W.J Blair, Geo L. Hudson, Col W.C. Craig and J.W.G. Morrison. Messrs Blair and Craig withdrew although persistent efforts were made to induce Mr. Blair to reconsider his withdrawal. However he left the convention that after the years of strenuous parliamentary life and Craig was he thought in justice to himself and family he should retire and would do so on the close of the present session. Mr Morrison upon withdrawing from district nominations, which he made unanimous, was carried with cheers and applause. Mr Morrison in a few words thanked the honor he had been bestowed upon him after which the convention adjourned.

The names mentioned in the chair's address of welcome to the meeting were attended by a splendid audience, the Methodist church proper and before the opening of the meeting federal and provincial politics were the topic of conversation. The latter was likely to be Premier W.J. Good on the platform.

New York C. P. R. Building

Great interest is being taken by New York transportation and real estate men in the decision taken by the Canadian Pacific Railway to erect, it is reported, a huge office building close to the Grand Central Terminal. Its various offices into one building, and also involves an investment of considerable proportions by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the building itself, in consideration of which the name of the building will be changed from "Madison Avenue Office," as it has sometimes been referred to, to the "Christian Science Building," and will be re-named the "Canadian Pacific Building."

The area of the plot on which the building stands covers over 21,000 square feet, and is situated directly opposite the Hotel Biltmore on the east, Brook's Brothers Building to the north and the old Hotel Manhattan to the south.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will occupy in the store, basement and second floor, all that part of the building on which only a year ago stood St. Bartholomew's Church, demolished in April to make way for the great uptown trend of business.

The negotiations just closed, in addition to the property mentioned above, a lease for 21 years at an aggregate rental of approximately $2,000,000.

It was said by F. K. Perry General Agent, Passenger Department, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that it will give up its railway office at Broadway and 30th Street and Illinois at Broadway and 23rd Street and will combine its railway, steamship, and colonization offices all in the new home on Madison Avenue. The plans of the Canadian Pacific Company are particularly significant in that they will provide the largest consolidated ticket office in New York, for, in addition to dealing with several of the largest transcontinental railroads for repatriation in the same place, the arrangement is similar to the United Railroad Administration during the war.

The store has a frontage of 31 ft. on Madison Avenue and 101 ft. on 46th Street. The Canadian Pacific Building will contain over 600,000 square feet of rental area and will be the most up-to-date office building in the Grand Central District. Many offices and much space have already been leased to influential corporations, and it is said by the agents that other important leases are now pending.

Large Mushrooms Found In France

Both Are Edible and Weigh Over Nine Pounds.

Two mammoth mushrooms enough to "smother" all the steaks available in a third quarter of beef have just been found in France.

Four feet in diameter and weighing between nine and ten pounds the first one was found on an estate in Saint Germain. The species is edible and is known popularly in the district as the "double head" mushroom. The other known as the "bonded puff ball" has been picked at Bourgneuf. It weighs close to nine pounds and has a flat diameter of nearly 2½ inches.

Getting Ready For War.

Gen Eugene Debeny, commander of the First French Army during the war, predicts that networks of strategic gasoline pipe lines will be constructed in order to carry to the front the immense stores of fuel needed for tanks, airplanes and motor transport. While digging up Europe for this purpose, why not pipe it for business as well? It would give a little riddle to archaeologists of a more civilized and pacific age.—Springfield Republican.

A Desperate Situation

Why should you follow a crooked path?

Often a cowpath has been allowed to become a village street, and as the village expanded, tradition has made the winding way an expression of a community habit.

Habit is always forging chains, as Spencer said, so that what has been found desirable by the fathers is accepted by the sons.

As children, we were not permitted to drink tea or coffee, because it would stunt our growth or make us nervous and irritable. We disliked, however, to unravel a habit drink at the meals, and custom gave us our tea or coffee.

Finally upon the instructions of the doctor, Mother gave us Postum for tea and coffee. But Postum meant nothing in our young lives. Our vitality was then strong enough to throw off any ill effects.

But our time came, and we, destined by experience that we could not drink tea or coffee. When we had it for breakfast it put our nerves on edge. When we drank it at the evening meal, we tossed about in wakefulness most of the night.

And then we found Postum, a pure cereal beverage, free from the harmful drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee. We liked the rich, satisfying flavor of Postum and also the better health which resulted. And, too, we were surprised to find how many of our neighbors had made the same discovery—had learned the value of "health first."

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (soluble) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers

Danish Farmers Taking British Bacon Market Away From Canada

Toronto.—Canadian meat packers state that "Canadian farmers are facing the uncomfortable fact that the British bacon market is slipping away to their competitors, temporarily at least." They state, "that packers have to sit by and watch Danish competition overtake and pass them, merely because there were no hogs on our farms to purchase."

E. C. Fox, of the William Davies Company, explained that the reason for the Danish exporter making such progress in the British market is a simple one. The Danish farmer has been and is raising hogs and so there is bacon to export. "We have not the quantity of bacon to export, because a sufficient number of hogs are not being raised."

"Is it because the Danish exporter is supplying the British market with bacon at a cheaper price than the Canadian exporter" Mr. Fox was asked.

Bar U Ranch Ships Cattle To Chicago

North Portal.—George Lane, of the Bar U Ranch, Calgary, shipped through this port 47 cars of cows and steers to the Chicago market. This is the first big shipment this season from the Canadian ranches to the American market, and in an experiment by Mr. Lane, who expressed the opinion that the Chicago market was the best at the present time, despite the 30 per cent. duty, which has to be paid on entry into the United States. The ocean freight rates to Great Britain, he said, were practically prohibitive.

French Convicts May Be Pardoned

Rescue Many Helpless Victims in Train Wreck

Lyons, France.—Hundredfold in pairs and in charge of four gendarmes, 12 French military prisoners en route for Algeria to serve sentences ranging from five to fifteen years, were aboard the Strasbourg-Marseilles express when it jumped the track at Les Echets, a few miles from here. Forty passengers were killed and 76 injured.

None of the prisoners were seriously hurt, but three gendarmes were killed and another pinned under the wreckage, lay seriously wounded.

All semblance of authority and order had disappeared. The prisoners were free but, instead of running away, they pulled the wounded gendarme out of the tangled mass of wood and iron and laid him on the grass. During the night they rescued 15 injured passengers. Then they gave themselves up.

They have since left for Algeria to serve their sentences, but it is understood that the Minister of War is studying the case, and the opinion is expressed that, in due course, they will be pardoned.

Find Lost Doctor In Ontario Woods

Toronto Man Without Food Or Fire For Thirteen Days.

Port William, Ont.—Dr. Graham Chambers, Toronto physician, who was lost in the woods near Aitkokan, a divisional point of the Canadian National Railways west of here, since Sept. 29, was found alive but in a weakened condition near Dear Lake, about 23 miles northwest of Aitkokan.

Dr Chambers was found by two Indians who were members of a large search party, comprising, in addition to residents of Aitkokan, several citizens of Port William and Port Arthur, among whom were a number of Dr Chambers' former scholars

According to information members of the search party secured from the Indians, Dr. Chambers had been without food or fire practically from the moment he lost himself, when he and his nephew left Clearwater Lake for Rye Lake on a fishing trip. His nephew had left Dr. Chambers in the brush to attend to other matters and on returning found the doctor had disappeared. He gave the alarm and the search was continued since.

The weather has been extremely disagreeable and fears were expressed that the doctor could not survive the long cold and damp nights Government hydroplanes which were stationed at Sioux Lookout, were dispatched to the search

Courts In India Deal With Rebels

London.—Reuter's correspondent at Simla, India, says that the summary courts dealing with the Moplah rebels are taking strong action. Charged With Treason

Bulgarian Officials Are Being Tried By Peasants.

Sofia, Bulgaria.—The trial of Bulgarian officials charged of war crimes opened in a theatre here which had been specially fitted up for the occasion. The court room was crowded to capacity

The accused men include the former cabinet ministers and three generals. They are charged with high treason in favor of Germany and misappropriation of public funds. The public prosecutor is demanding the death penalty for most of the defendants.

Statesmen and diplomats to the number of 150 have been subpoenaed as witnesses. The jurors who were selected by the people are chiefly peasants. They sit on the bench covered in their picturesque national costumes.

Premier Hughes Favors Wheat Pool

Growers Have Been Invited to State Their Wishes.

London.—A Reuter cable from Melbourne says Premier W. M. Hughes, speaking at Bendigo, expressed himself as in favor of a commonwealth wheat pool which would include all the States. He invited the growers to state their wishes. Reuter's Melbourne correspondent also says it is reported that the Commonwealth line of steamers is to be made entirely independent of political control like the Commonwealth Bank.

Manitoba's Road Problem

By A. C. Emmett, Secretary Manitoba Motor League.

The absolute lack of proper maintenance of the highways is the curse of the present system of municipal control. Until such time as sufficient public interest can be aroused to secure the adoption of a more centralized system of control, just so long will the taxpayers money be prodigally scattered in patchwork roads and maintenance.

The Brandon and District Good Roads competition provided, those who were acting as judges, an excellent opportunity of securing a first class object lesson as to improper construction and maintenance on many of the main routes where large sums of money have been expended on construction, the value of the work has been partially lost by the lack of maintenance. This was especially noticeable for miles west of Brandon to the village of Kemnay. This stretch of road is full of deep ruts and pot holes. Unless given immediate attention the road will soon be in such a condition that regrading will be the only means to restore its usefulness as a transportation artery.

Wallace municipality is still the banner municipality as far as good roads are concerned, but even on the excellent gravel roads the want of proper supervision of the maintenance work is becoming apparent through the narrowing of the graders by the encroachment of weeds and grass. The drainers have been at fault to keep the centre ten to twelve feet in good shape and have therefore lost some six feet of good road which was originally there when the first construction work was finished.

The municipality of Hilton is making very good progress on the improvement of its roads and will undoubtedly carry off the premier honor in the Brandon and district competition

The Annual Convention of the Manitoba, Vermilion, and Vegreville Inspectorate Teachers Association is being held at Thursday and Friday this week in Vermilion. The sessions take place in the Presbyterian church. It is expected that teachers to the number of four hundred will be in attendance. A splendid programme has been arranged for the two days, with special entertainment on each evening.

Tuesday evening of last week the C.G.I.T. entertained their mothers, the entertainment taking an unusual and delightful form. It was opened with a short address of welcome by the superintendent, Mrs. H. A. Edwards, followed by an invitation to honor the King. This was responded to by all rising and singing "God Save the King." Another girl arose and said that they should especially honor their mothers, this was done by four girls singing "Mother" a beautiful little pageant entitled "Bible Mothers" was silently acted by a number of girls. The balance of the evening was spent in games. The serving of refreshments by the girls closed a most enjoyable evening

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left the first part of the week for Kelsmark, Sask., where Mr. Warren has secured a good position. The removal of the family from Vermilion will be regretted as during their residence here they have made many warm friends. In the theatrical world Mrs. Warren has always been assigned the leading part in the plays staged during the two years spent by the Vermilion Players' Dramatic Club and her place will be a hard one to fill. The best wishes accompany them to their new home.

Harvest Thanksgiving Services in St. Saviour's church on Sunday drew two good congregations. The edifice was elaborately decorated with the beautiful fruits of the harvest and both services were of a bright and inspiring nature. Special anthems were rendered by the choir. On Monday evening a Harvest Supper was served in the church hall, the repast served by the ladies being highly appreciated. The balance of the evening was filled in with a varied programme of local talent. The announcement was made that the special Sunday offertories and the proceeds of the supper, which were for the church's debt, had resulted in the offering being in a position to pay off another one hundred dollars on the building.

The Presbyterian Annual Supper takes place in the church parlors on Friday evening, Oct. 28th. Admission 50c. Come early and avoid the rush."

SIR JOHN AIRD THINKS GERMANY WILL GO AHEAD

GENERAL MANAGER CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE SEES NO SIGN OF SMASH

Toronto, Oct. 21st. "I do not think there will be any smash in Germany as commonly smash," said Sir John Aird general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on his return today from a few weeks visit to Europe, which included some time spent in Germany.

"I see the government has resigned in Germany," he said. "And I do not think that would make any great difference. No matter who is in power I think Germany will go ahead."

The extremely low value of the mark was mentioned and Sir John said it was quite true that it had almost vanished in value, but it must be remembered that the Germans pay no taxes and had been placed in other countries to a considerable extent and that Germany was able to buy freely and pay in gold.

As to the solution of the depressed condition in this country, Sir John said he hoped the United States would give a proper lead at the Washington conference and a good reasonable tariff to settle per cent. He like France Italy and Belgium and spread the business over a long period at a low rate of interest.

In the entire development in the practice of co-operation industries to remove their plants to points in other countries like Russia and Victoria Australia and the Northern border where they could get supplies for the manufacture. Sir John said, in this respect Canada was far ahead of the United States. In this country there were only 12 per cent plants on exports which should be reduced and a full range of operations to the home.

The attention of the School Board has been called to the fact that some fifth school pupils are in the habit of not attending regularly. This practice must be stopped immediately and the parents or guardians who fail to give an explanation from the principal of the school for such absence will be liable to a fine of $5.00 for each offence. The Truant Officer is empowered by the Board to enforce the interest of the latter proposition and the public will be notified officially when the Truant Officer is to be in attendance.

The Board has under consideration the question of the re-opening of the Public School during the winter months. The matter has been given to the Local Council for consideration. The matter was discussed generally by the Board in the light of the interest of the latter proposition and the public will be notified officially when the Truant Officer is to be in attendance.

A [illegible] meeting of the Progressive and Reliable parties was held on Tuesday, Oct. 25th at 2.30. 87 was attended by over seventy-five students showing the large amount of interest taken in the election of the literary officers.

Miss Fraser took the chair and after impressing the students with the importance of the coming elections called upon Mr. L. Kibblewhite the Progressive party Presidential possibility, to speak. Mr. Kibblewhite outlined the party's platform in clear, definite terms. Miss Flora Kennedy, the Old Reliable nominee, was next called upon to speak. She pointed out the defects in the opposition's platform and showed the strong points in that of her party. Other Progressive speakers were, G. Kennedy, A. Cooper, A. Taylor, H. Elliot and F. Wood. The speakers of the Old Reliable party were, T. Mooney, C. Leslie, A. Moore, E. Keyes and J. Dryden.

Being independent, it must be said that the Progressive party possess the more Scott orators and also a trifle more originality in their platform than the Reliables.

COUNT DE TOPOR HAS NEW PLAN

(Edmonton Journal, Oct. 23.)

Count de Topor, of Cromwell Hall, East Grinstead, London, England, interviewed Mayor Duggan this morning and proposed to build two hundred houses in the city of Edmonton next year. The count represents a syndicate of British and American capital which during the past year or two has carried out housing schemes of considerable magnitude in Canada and the United States.

In the [illegible] the count suggested that the city might provide the land free or cheap and give exemption to them from property taxation for a period of five years. Improvements tax would, however, be paid to the city. The consideration of these very non-essential on the surface and pointed out to the citizens that at present there was no end of shortage of houses in the city. The only immediate benefit which the city could possibly derive from such a scheme was the relief of the [illegible] which, of course, [illegible] unemployment. This [illegible] the situation but [illegible] as the company would not be in a position to proceed with the work until next spring, whereas it is expected that the peak of unemployment conditions will be reached some time during the winter. The mayor promised to give the scheme [illegible] consideration and Count de Topor will give further consideration on Thursday morning.

Considerable work has already been carried on in Alberta by the syndicate which the count represents. During the past summer thirty houses were built at Vermilion under an agreement with the town council. These houses were built under an agreement similar to that which it is proposed to enter into here, except that seven years exemption from taxation was granted.

According to the representations made to the mayor the company would retain entire control of the houses and would either rent or sell them. It is not proposed to construct the houses according to any standard design. The city architect would be called in and the designs so arranged as to give individuality wherever desired. With a contract for two hundred houses, it was pointed out that materials could be purchased on a wholesale basis and the cost of construction thereby greatly lessened.

GROWING FUEL ON THE PRAIRIES

As a general rule the prairie settler requires first a shelter belt around his home-break around his buildings. The establishment of a plantation to provide fuel and spring material is either of secondary consideration or is far given a moment's thought. The time permits one thing that is taken true and fast is power, and that is not such a one doing work the benefits of which will be reaped by some one else. That however is a mistake as has been clearly shown by actual plantations set out on the various experimental farms on the Dominion Forestry Branch Nursery Station at Indian Head and by private farms who scattered throughout the West

120 TEACHERS AT CONVENTION

ECLIPSED ALL PREVIOUS GATHERINGS IN POINT OF INTEREST

The Teachers Convention, which was held in Vermilion on Thursday and Friday of last week, was a decided success. About 120 teachers were present, most of them from the Vermilion and Mannville districts, not more than a dozen from the Vegreville district, thus proving that the latter being able to look after their own part enough to form one convention. A committee was named to consider the matter and if found advisable to take the proper steps to form different grouping conventions at Mannville, Vegreville and Vermilion next fall, each to be held in the respective centre. Mr. M. Wilson, B.A., Principal of the Vermilion Public School, was elected President of the Vermilion Convention for the ensuing year.

The Vegreville centre has already held its convention and Mr. Lamont, B.A., Principal of the Vegreville Public School, was elected President of that convention.

J.G. TAGGART APPOINTED SUPERINTENDENT INST CURRENT EXPERIMENT... AL STATION

J. G. Taggart, B.S.A., has recently been appointed Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current. Mr Taggart has had extensive experience in Western Canada and comes well fitted for this position.

Mr Taggart was born on a farm near Truro, Nova Scotia. He is a graduate of the Provincial Agricultural College at Guelph. For two years he was district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for Prontenac County. For five years he was instructor in the Provincial Schools of Agriculture at Vermilion and Olds, Alberta, and for two years was principal of the Schools of Agriculture at Vermilion. For the last year he has been in charge of the Dairy Husbandry Branch of the Pard Yukon Company for the Province of Saskatchewan.

The Swift Current Experimental station was established in the late fall of 1909. The prime function of this farm is to discover more suitable cultural methods and cropping systems to the dry areas of Southern Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta. During the summer about 475 acres of raw land were broken on this farm and the real experimental work will be commenced next year It is fortunate that a man of Mr. Taggart's educational and experience has been secured for this responsible work.

FINE SCHOOL AT ROSSTREE IS BURNED TO GROUND

Just the four brick walls of the handsome four-room school house at Insisfree is all that remains of the $20,000 structure as a result of a fire which commenced from an unknown origin during early Saturday morning. Fire fighters from the town of Innisfree battled with the flames for a considerable time but their efforts were of little avail.

Hook- and flames emitting from the building were noticed a little after 11 o'clock Saturday morning and were the first indication of the disastrous fire Fortunately the school was situated some distance from the main part of the town and other buildings escaped damage.

Fighting Back

The tawny walrus in his northern fastness, and unmolested by his Eskimo destroyer, overcomes those rigors of cold and ice, and lives out his life in the solitude of those little known lands.

But when man locates the haunts of this great Arctic animal, and attacks him for his economic value, then he will fight back in defence of his life and in defence of his young. The old sea lion has no terrors for him but he dies hard in his battle with his human enemy

The Question of Depreciation

YOU cannot afford to overlook the question of depreciation when buying a car, because the true solution when you will either sell the car you have bought or trade it in for a new car. The less you will have to take will depend on your choice now.

Ask the owner of any car purchased within the last fifteen months, at a price varying from $2000 - $4000, what loss he would have to take on a resale. The amount will surprise you! The more expensive the car the more the owner stands to lose. Excessive cost of upkeep kills the demand for a used car of this class.

Buy a Ford. It costs little to run and repairs and replacements for worn parts can be so easily obtained that the demand for used Ford cars reduces depreciation to a minimum

BAILLIE WILSON, Secretary-Treasurer,

Municipal District of Grizzly Bear, No 452

THE STANDARD, VERMILION, ALBERTA.

British Premier Pleads For Understanding And Peace Among Nations

London.—In outlining the Government's proposal to alleviate unemployment, Mr. Lloyd George made the following declaration in the House of Commons:

"Peace and a good understanding among nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where if you talk about a German without a frown on your brow you are not a patriot. Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you intervene to make peace, your motives are misunderstood; but if Great Britain will not do it, who will? We want to see the nations begin again the trade of peace."

Mr. Lloyd George, referring to trade with Russia, said there had been no restrictions on that side in the trade trading, but that the total trade for the first eight months of the present year had been only £2,000,000, which showed there was not an unlimited field in Russia for British or any other enterprise

In the debate following the Prime Minister's speech, Mr. Asquith said he had supported the question of unemployment raised the necessity for re-consideration of the whole question of international indebtedness, including the indebtedness of the Allies in one another, and the bearing of the mass of their late enemies to the Allies

Pacific Naval Base Not Named

Premier Hughes Says It Will Not Be Singapore.

Melbourne.— Premier Hughes, speaking in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth, said the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the Empire and that a decision regarding it was reached. He added, however, that the base would not be at Singapore

Premier Hughes' reference to Singapore may be taken in connection with an article in the London Daily Mail reviewing the rumor that Great Britain was preparing a new naval base in the Pacific and which stated it was intended to spend £2,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first-class station. The article added that if an agreement were reached at the Washington armament conference, the arrangement which included the creation of an alternative base of less importance in Australia, could be counter-manded

A small group of labor members criticized the Anglo-Japanese alliance adversely and objected to the appearance involving the possibility of war commitments On the naval question there was a strong feeling was evidenced that the Dominion must shoulder its fair share of the burden of naval defence.

A Red Cross Appeal For Peace

Nations Asked to Join In Campaign Against Spirit of War.

In virtue of a higher law and duty, and of principles above the level of human passions, the helping hand of the Red Cross was stretched forth to all victims throughout the ordeal of the Great War

Today, the Red Cross owes it to itself and to all the many workers to proclaim as an ideal and a practical intention, a struggle against the horrors of war, an attempt by world wide help and unselfishness definitely to abolish war

The more continuation of Red Cross activity in time of peace will no longer suffice. It is the wish of the Red Cross to work in the interest of peace

Therefore, the Red Cross calls upon all whole-hearted citizens, irrespective of nationality, religious belief, profession, or social rank, to join, so far as lies in their power in a systematic campaign against that spirit of war, which is a constant menace to the world's peace.

During five years, millions of men were killed or mutilated. Today, thousands of ex-soldiers or prisoners at last set free bear indelible marks of bodily and mental suffering. At of them believed that the generations to come would reap the fruits of the great ordeal in a new international life, which would be more brotherly, franker and more full of goodwill. Instead, we see everywhere, distrust and greed, hatred and the threat of fresh quarrels are reappearing throughout the world. The spirit of war, unconquered, reigns supreme. Its sinister influence is evident it inspires lines of policy and press campaigns, which lead public opinion astray and embitters the economic competition among nations

During the terrible years of the recent war, superhuman efforts were required of the different nations In order to inspire such sacrifices, a supreme reward was promised namely, the annihilation of this same spirit of war, which is as old as the world and a constant menace to mankind.

The appointment of Senator Lord Cushendun, Chairman of the Italian Red Cross the tenth International Conference of Red Cross Societies, to be held on April 1st 1922 at Geneva, is a timely and significant event.

The International Committee of the Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies have decided to appeal to all nations, exhorting them to combat the spirit of war which dominates the world.

These two organizations call therefore on nations and individuals to join with all means in their power in this malefactor spirit May states men, writers, school and university, teachers, and other professions, do all in their duty, in the minds of mankind, to help prepare the way for peace on earth. Above all, children must be brought up in this resolute belief

It is essential that a healthy mind should once more be open to the good likes of an international spirit, which, while allowing the still keen to love his own and the particular traits of his native country, would lead him to respect those of other countries and to recognize that over-riding all there is a common humanity.

IS UNWORTHY SUPPORT OF RIGHT THINKING PEOPLE WILL SUPPORT I.W.G. MORRISON AND N. L. AND C. PARTY

EDITOR STANDARD

With particular reference to the farm meetings one of which seems to have been held rather quietly on the evening of the 25th instant in the Hamilton schoolhouse, I would thank you for space in which to call attention to the more or less timid attempt of a portion of the U.F.A. membership to finance one of the organization as a medium for spreading BOLSHEVIST propaganda.

As the writer, it would appear that the bewildered heads of those smitten with this sort of thing is that the cure for anarchy is MORE anarchy in spite of the fact that it has always been plain to the discerning that the Russian Bolshevik regime established the unspeakable abominations which it is now trying to cure.

As a U.F.A. member of long standing I think that patience with this almost criminal folly has long since ceased to be a virtue particularly that it is not responded by the U.F.A. head hobby. For the past year or two it has gradually been become apparent that the farmer is not a Political Movement in the strong as I remember the term and I am with some reluctance registering against the foreign movement. Regardless of any personal ambitions of any of the U.F.A. movements founded on the basis of common sense and the growth needs no introduction as to the interest of our organization, unbiassable unwarranted discussion.

Christmas near and changes in the Blaisdell families

Mrs. Blaisdell's health moved by leaps and bounds. The doctor said he was a marvel, and Mrs. Blaisdell herself was not far behind in her praises of the new treatment. Even Mr. Blaisdell, who had been persuaded with difficulty to try the "new-fangled nonsense," admitted that he felt better than he had for years.

Only Mr. Worth went. But as had been arranged before, Mr. Worth was to be followed by Mr. [illegible] and Mr. [illegible] in turn, so as to be sure he would receive no more than one treatment a day. Postum comes in two forms. Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling 15 or 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

The main business before the meeting will be the receiving of the annual report, which we understand is of a highly interesting nature this year, and the election of officers for 1922. Notices have been mailed to every member of the Society and in order that interest may be added to the meeting, a large attendance of all those who are anxious to promote the growth of the exhibition is urgently asked. Saturday afternoon of November 12th.

In the report of the teachers' convention in last week's Standard the letters "T.P.A." were by some unexplainable reason substituted for what should have been A.T.A. (Alberta Teachers' Alliance). So that readers may get the correct idea the paragraph is reprinted. "In the afternoon Miss Mary Crawford, M.A. of Edmonton spoke on Teaching as a Profession. Outlining upon the necessity for a close co-operation among teachers and urged the A.T.A. as organization which has done more than anything else to raise the status of the teacher and establish the profession."

TOWNLEYISM DEFEATED AT HOME

Edmonton Bulletin

Torys is a tradition that the inventor of the first guillotine was the first victim. The "recall" was incorporated into the constitution of North Dakota, and the first use made of it is to dismiss the governor and administration elected by the Non-Partisan League of whose policy the "recall" was a leading feature.

North Dakota is a farmer state. It has had experience of a so-called "Farmer party" in control of its affairs for some years, with the result that on a population it has decided against the men and the policy of the miscalled Non-Partisan League.

Townleyism has had a fair trial in North Dakota. It was as lavish in promises as H.W. Wood or Hon. T.A. Crerar in Alberta. It deceived most of the people part of the time, but it has not been successful in deceiving all the people all the time. The trouble was then no longer as Townley was only able to promise. He was alright But when there came the opportunity of performance he fell down. Instead of North Dakota entering upon an era of unexampled prosperity as a result of Townleyism its power it has come into such a financial slough of despond that in spite of the most thoroughly perfect political and a completely controlled local press the people have voted Townleyism out.

It will be noted that Townley did not hold any state office. He was the political boss. The governor who is in active part in the administration in the United States, did as Townley told him. There are many advantages in such an arrangement, to those who desire mischief to do. Evidently the advantages did not result the majority of the people or they would not have terminated Townley rule by displacing his puppet governor.

J.W.G. Morrison, gov't candidate for the riding of Battle River opened his campaign at Hemaville on Tuesday afternoon last when he addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting of the farmers and business men of the district. In the evening he addressed crowded meeting at St. Paul de Metis. A representative of the farmers candidate was present and also addressed the meeting in his reply Mr. Morrison gave a telling speech and had reports on the straits next morning where that had captured the audience. In the afternoon of Wednesday he spoke at a rural meeting at St. Vincent and in the evening to another large meeting at Elk Point. Mr. Bulli... represented the farmers of that se... Mr. Morrison spoke in such spirited fashion and gave the people details in connection with the political career of T.A. Crerar and the business methods of the United Grain Growers Company that took the supporters of the farmers party exceedingly uncomfortable. The meeting closed with the rousing cheers for the government candidate.

Vancouver Province

We have thought that Mr Meighen and his colleagues were a little behind the other leaders in their predictions of victory. The largest claims have been made by the Liberals, but the Farmer members have occasionally registered great spectacular gains. The government has usually been content with such modest claims as sixty seats in Ontario, fifteen in the prairies, a clean sweep in British Columbia, an even division in the maritime provinces and five to ten seats in Quebec. But now comes Mr. Bellev, one of Mr Meighen's fellow colleagues, who is making up for the deficiency. Mr. Bellev says that the government will have a large majority over all in the next Parliament, and will carry thirty seats in Quebec Province. This prediction was made the other day at a nomination in the County of Levis. It shows that the new minister is no pessimist.

1ST VERMILION TROOP BOY SCOUTS

Meeting was held on Thursday. Owing to the change of day only 15 Scouts turned out.

The Wolf Cubs (pack of Scouts' Cubs) was held on Sunday, to attend the Memorial Service. Twelve Cubs were present, as the weather was cold and raw very few donned full uniform.

Glad to see that our band under the leadership of J.H. Stuart, is again getting into line.

The Scouts have just received a donation of $32.15 which is the balance of the old Tag showing Club bank account. This donation was made chiefly through the efforts of Mr. J. Reed, President of the Club. As a result of this donation the Scouts are feeling quite wealthy, having some $20.00 in the troop fund.

Scouts J. Bateman and W. Pearson each passed their marksmans- tests on Monday making 22 and 20 points out of a possible 25.

The Club held a very successful social last Wednesday evening, when they entertained a number of Scouts. A programme of singing, playing, recitations and boxing was put on, after which refreshments were served.

The Club wish to the special prize, as donated by Mr McCluskey, will be announced next week.

Efforts are being made to secure the room for a Scout Hall during the coming winter.

Do Your Ears Buzz? Have You Headaches?

When your ears ring, your head aches and you seem slightly hard of hearing, beware of Catarrh. Mr. J. A. Hammil writing from Greenmount, P.I. says: "No one could have worse Catarrh than I had for years. It caused partial deafness, bad taste, upset

"As if it wasn't quite the finest thing Hilarion ever had—except the daybreak portion, of course," broiled Mrs. Hattie, turning to Mr. Smith. "That's just daughter's way of teasing me—and, of course now she is sure she sees the real thing in entertaining —she goes home with those rich girls [illegible] you know. . . . But it is a nice party, isn't it, Mr. Smith?"

Mr. Smith says we should have what everybody who is anybody has who has ever tried it—the Antiseptic Inhaler. Breathe the pure, healing, germ-killing vapor of Catarrhozone and you will soon be well. How Many Women

Counting a Billion

Would Take a Person Over Nineteen Thousand Years

What is a billion? The reply is very simple—a million times a million. This is quickly written and quicker still pronounced. But no man is able to count it. You count 150 to 170 a minute; but let us suppose you go as far as 200, then an hour will produce 12,000, a day 288,000 and a year 365 days (for every four years you may rest from counting during leap year) 105,120,000. Let us suppose, now, that Adam, at the beginning of his existence, had begun to count, had continued to do so, and was counting still, he would not even now, according to the usually supposed age of our globe, have counted near enough. To count a billion he would require 9,512 years 24 days 5 hours and 20 minutes, according to the above rule. Now, supposing we were to allow the poor counter 12 hours daily for rest, eating and sleeping, he would need 19,024 years 48 days 10 hours and 40 minutes. In Canada however, a thousand millions is usually called a billion.

VERMILION, - - ALBERTA

S R [illegible] COOPER, Editor

THE STANDARD

VERMILION, ALTA. NOV. 9, 1921.

In the issue of the Standard under date of October 26th, tenders were asked by the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, for alterations to the Immigration Hall, Vermilion, for Post Office. The plans call for the rebuilding of the late for of the present portion of the building occupied as a post office and a more convenient layout to enable the mail being more conveniently and expeditiously handled. The proposed improvements which have been under consideration by the department for several months do not necessitate a very heavy expenditure, but the vital if the occupancy of the premises was to be continued through another winter it is common knowledge to the public that no money has been available through the government for the erection of public buildings, nor those at small points, but were the cities At last year's session such was suspended on public buildings then under construction Thus Vermilion has been the proud possessor of a Ten Thousand Dollar post office for many months [illegible] even possessed one much [illegible] than we did though we realize much as to its value The hard or trade, public organizations and citizens generally of our district have made their position known their peace office erected. In spite of being told that it would be useless to do so, they have continued to demand the immediate erection of the Post Office, they, a couple of years ago, packed them off to the capital to obtain a definite answer, "yes" or "no." The answer they got from Hon. Carvell, the minister was a decided NO, and their site is still vacant

In the natural course of events, it was pleasing to note that the present postoffice quarters at Vermilion were to be made habitable at least and 21 for a while max to Hon. It has reached the ears of the Standard that active steps have however been taken requesting the department not to proceed with the site plans noted above but to erect a temporary building on the above noted Ten Thousand Dollar Post office site. Two wires we are informed were despatched to Ottawa with this effect and we understand one was signed "Business Men of Vermilion" and the other "Citizens of Vermilion" Too bulk of the business men of Vermilion and the citizens as well if the information above alone is correct, will be pleased at the time be cognizant of the fact that they were instrumental in inwarding such wires to Ottawa. For the benefit of the board of trade and a few others in town, of the board of trade met, did meet in the secretary's office and apparently delegated to themselves the imperative duty of "the business men of the town of Vermilion and the citizens generally" Let us trust that the deferred action will not be instrumental in heading off the contemplated improvements to the postoffice quarters—for if we do not get these, under present conditions we got nothing

FARMERS CANDIDATE SPEAKS TO BIG MEETING

A very successful and largely attended meeting in the interests of the Progressive candidate, H.E. Spencer, of Edgerton, was held in the Columbia Theatre Wednesday night. The theatre was crowded by Norman Turkey and on the platform were the candidate, H.E. Spencer, Mrs. R.B. Gush, V. Pres. of U.F.W.A. of Paradise Valley, and Mr. Parkinson. The Barwick Orchestra rendered several acceptable selections before the opening of the meeting and between speeches. A most attentive hearing was accorded all the speakers.

Mr. Parkinson, the first speaker, stated that the only logical deduction on a constituency under unity of farmers was that it should be represented by one of their members, those who were not farmers were actually dependent on the farmers for their living. It was only natural that their viewpoint be represented. While he entertained great respect for the representative of the local profession they did not have the monopoly of all the brains in the country and as well did not possess the viewpoint of the farmer. The national debt was small before the war was $336,000,000 which now amounted to $2,300,000,000 or equal to each individual in the country paying yearly 247 towards the interest. He said that this could only be derived from the raising most of the natural resources of the country. Many settlers was an urgent demand if Canada was to prosper. The speaker devoted a little time to dealing with statements contained in a pamphlet being circulated broadcast entitled "Facts for Farmers Should Know." It contained he said a great many lies and half truths which were worse than lies, one statement that the U.G.G. Co. operated by grain, he denied, they did not speculate in grain but turned it over in the natural way. The grain growers further were the first to object to the mixing of grain. This was only permitted to be done in the hospital elevators after becoming privately owned. Regarding another statement contained in the pamphlet was absolutely incorrect. That the U.G.G. with 40 grain firms combined to stop the grain investigation. The speaker replied that they had started the inquiry themselves. He characterized the pamphlet as a libel and intimidating propaganda and as the author did not sign his name they were not worthy of serious consideration. Regarding reciprocity, the speaker said, that the government had arranged for American experts to look at the lands. Secondly at a cost of $250,000, the only results being to put some of the civil service on permanent positions. As to wheat, he claimed the present government had no war record, the cabinet was almost entirely changed since the war. The wheat pool, he said, was offered to us to buy votes, the plan was not workable and he asked his hearers to name to us as something that was not going to fill the bill. Mr. Spencer, the candidate would, he said, poll 100 per cent of the south poll where he lived and he predicted that the government candidate would lose his deposit.

Mrs. R. Gush then dealt with the Farmers Political Educational Society of the organization from the viewpoint of a home making woman, dealing chiefly with home and the method of raising same. She quoted figures to show that every household utensil and furniture has been taxed upon it a heavy tax and asserted that of every five dollars taxes one went into the treasury and four dollars into the pockets of the manufacturers. On a $60 washing machine, $12 was taken and $37 washing machine, oh, said she, and they should think of the money that went into the pockets of the privileged interests; people liked to be fooled, in return to the wealthy, they had grape-nuts for breakfast which was admitted duty free, but the poor people had to eat humbug prairie and to pay 27 per cent. duty again on silk the duty was 30 per cent, while on rubber 27 per cent was levied in regard to the solar tax, the speaker said it was levied on the biggest consume, those with large families naturally having to pay the most—these being the least able to pay it. The railway taxes should be collected according to ability to pay and by direct taxation in order that each may have exactly what they have to pay. The objects sought by the farmers' movement was described as democracy in action, evolution did not stand still in government as to anything else We have the forces of reaction and the forces of progress; if the progressive candidate was elected, it was not claimed the platform of the party would prove a panacea for all our ills—indeed was needed for without vision a nation shall perish.

On the invitation of the chairman hardline any opposition speaker to take the platform. F.J. Loughlin asked two questions, viz. "In the event of Mr. Crerar being returned to power what was he going to give them in place of the Meighen Government" and "Why did Mr. Crerar who expected to govern Canada, block the Grain Inquiry" The chairman promised that Mr. Spencer could answer these questions in the course of his address.

Mr. Spencer, after expressing his pleasure in addressing so large an audience, especially in the home town of the government candidate for Bat tle, asked for a fair hearing and fair play for the viewpoint of one hon one of the day 'from their quarter. He dealt with the recent government receiver ruins held in Vermilion and the remarks of the speakers made at the mass meeting the same evening. The statements made by Mr. Blair on that occasion that he was approached by Nice Jones and guaranteed re-election in Battle River if he would vote against the Meighen Government on certain legislation that was to be brought forward, as stated in the paper was absolutely false. Mr. Blair's objection was that it might be introduced by a Preachman. If the Union government proposed that legislation he (Mr. Blair) was quite willing to support it. That was why he was opposed to the old parties. Farmers asked for fair representation, as present lawyers had an over-representation in the Dominion house. Turning to Mr Bennett's speech here he said that a few years ago when trying to get into the Alberta legislature, one of his planks was to get control of the natural resources for the province, and he put on a good argument—later he got in Ontario and what did he do towards this end, another plank was that the C.P.R. should pay their share of taxes, a corporation that has bled the country as it is doing today. What happened, the C.P.R. had a case before the Privy Council and engaged Mr. Bennett as counsel. Did he refuse it? No, so long as there was money in it. That the speaker said is the sort of statesmen we are trying to get rid of today and that is the kind that we are paying at Ottawa today. Speaking in the house at Ottawa May 14th, 1911 Mr Bennett said: Canadian politics have been corrupted by contributions from corporations." He, Mr. Bennett, claimed to be independent but was offered a portfolio and took it in Ontario, he was fully for his political life The same gentleman said Sir Oliver had stated the tariff was immoral, but that it was nothing to keep on with it, what that was an improvement as to anything else We have the forces of reaction and the forces of progress; if the progressive candidate was elected, it was not claimed the platform of the party would prove a panacea for all our ills—indeed was needed for without vision a nation shall perish.

The speaker said the Union government was responsible for the present financial stringency, the banks had been forced to call in loans to help out the government. The speaker said he was in favor of a protective tariff, but Canada needs protection for its manufacturers! Protection is the means for making it hard for goods to come into the country. Mr. Spencer took up the Canada Cement Company matter and the Dominion Textile matter, which latter declaimed paid more than 300 per cent. Protection has not increased our population in all these years; with a population of eight and a half millions, taking immigration into the country and the increase of births over deaths and there are 1,250,000 people missing in this country. You never found those who were preaching the back to the land movement going back there themselves. The speaker understood that you can't get into the country unless you promise to go on to the land. He predicted that the halt of the land under the S.S. scheme would be to the hands of the government in a few years. Dealing in the way in which we were handling the economic conditions of this country we would have to choose between United States people coming into Canada or the people of Canada going to the United States, sick of their job. Free trade between countries is what is cause. The surplus of railways and percolated lines was the result of the system of party government. The standing army of Canada placed at 3000 men was being increased to 10,000,—the best standing army in a nation physically fit, under conditions in which they can live—these would spring to defend their homes. The Farmers Party stood for representation of the people by the people and for the people and an equitable system of taxation, from indirect to direct. We say the most important industry of the country is agriculture—they say it is the manufacturers. Before the war our annual expenditure was $135,000,000, now it is $374,000,000 Victory bonds were issued free from taxation except the last—victory for financial interests and a bond for the people. There is just as much money in Canada today, said the speaker, as before the war but it is bottled up and we are not touching it by our system of taxation. The expenditures on the Canadian merchant marine came in for severe condemnation by Mr. Spencer as well as a number of other matters in connection with the administration

Regarding the questions asked, the speaker stated that: he had for an hour been endeavoring to answer the first and with reference to the second the books of the company had always been open for inspection by the government and Mr. Crerar letted him not inquiry.

In conclusion Mr Spencer asked that in casting their votes on December 6th to do so to bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem

Biggest Thing Of It's Kind Ever Seen In New York Says Druggist

The first shipment of bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the state of New York since the first of the year, less than a dozen cases to a big jobbing house, it was announced today on behalf of the manufacturers of the well known medicine.

Orchestra rendered several acceptable selections before the opening of the meeting and between speeches. A most attentive hearing was accorded all the speakers.

Mr. Parkinson, the first speaker, stated that the only logical deduction on a constituency under unity of farmers was that it should be represented by one of their members, those who were not farmers were actually dependent on the farmers for their living. It was only natural that their viewpoint be represented. While he entertained great respect for the representative of the local profession they did not have the monopoly of all the brains in the country and as well did not possess the viewpoint of the farmer. The national debt was small before the war was $336,000,000 which now amounted to $2,300,000,000 or equal to each individual in the country paying yearly 247 towards the interest. He said that this could only be derived from the raising most of the natural resources of the country. More settlers was an urgent demand if Canada was to prosper. The speaker devoted a little time to dealing with statements contained in a pamphlet being circulated broadcast entitled "Facts for Farmers Should Know." It contained he said a great many lies and half truths which were worse than lies, one statement that the U.G.G. Co. operated by grain, he denied, they did not speculate in grain but turned it over in the natural way. The grain growers further were the first to object to the mixing of grain. This was only permitted to be done in the hospital elevators after becoming privately owned. Regarding another statement contained in the pamphlet which was absolutely incorrect. That the U.G.G. with 40 grain firms combined to stop the grain investigation. The speaker replied that they had started the inquiry themselves. He characterized the pamphlet as a libel and intimidating propaganda and as the author did not sign his name they were not worthy of serious consideration. Regarding reciprocity, the speaker said, that the government had arranged for American experts to look at the lands. Secondly at a cost of $250,000, the only results being to put some of the civil service on permanent positions. As to wheat, he claimed the present government had no war record, the cabinet was almost entirely changed since the war. The wheat pool, he said, was offered to us to buy votes, the plan was not workable and he asked his hearers to name to us as something that was not going to fill the bill. Mr. Spencer, the candidate would, he said, poll 100 per cent of the south poll where he lived and he predicted that the government candidate would lose his deposit.

Mrs. R. Gush then dealt with the Farmers Political Educational Society of the organization from the viewpoint of a home making woman, dealing chiefly with home and the method of raising same. She quoted figures to show that every household utensil and furniture has been taxed upon it a heavy tax and asserted that of every five dollars taxes one went into the treasury and four dollars into the pockets of the manufacturers. On a $60 washing machine, $12 was taken and $37 washing machine, oh, said she, and they should think of the money that went into the pockets of the privileged interests; people liked to be fooled, in return to the wealthy, they had grape-nuts for breakfast which was admitted duty free, but the poor people had to eat humbug prairie and to pay 27 per cent. duty again on silk the duty was 30 per cent, while on rubber 27 per cent was levied in regard to the solar tax, the speaker said it was levied on the biggest consume, those with large families naturally having to pay the most—these being the least able to pay it. The railway taxes should be collected according to ability to pay and by direct taxation in order that each may have exactly what they have to pay. The objects sought by the farmers' movement was described as democracy in action, evolution did not stand still in government as to anything else We have the forces of reaction and the forces of progress; if the progressive candidate was elected, it was not claimed the platform of the party would prove a panacea for all our ills—indeed was needed for without vision a nation shall perish.

On the invitation of the chairman hardline any opposition speaker to take the platform. F.J. Loughlin asked two questions, viz. "In the event of Mr. Crerar being returned to power what was he going to give them in place of the Meighen Government" and "Why did Mr. Crerar who expected to govern Canada, block the Grain Inquiry" The chairman promised that Mr. Spencer could answer these questions in the course of his address.

Mr. Spencer, after expressing his pleasure in addressing so large an audience, especially in the home town of the government candidate for Battle, asked for a fair hearing and fair play for the viewpoint of one hon one of the day 'from their quarter. He dealt with the recent government receiver ruins held in Vermilion and the remarks of the speakers made at the mass meeting the same evening. The statements made by Mr. Blair on that occasion that he was approached by Nice Jones and guaranteed re-election in Battle River if he would vote against the Meighen Government on certain legislation that was to be brought forward, as stated in the paper was absolutely false. Mr. Blair's objection was that it might be introduced by a Preachman. If the Union government proposed that legislation he (Mr. Blair) was quite willing to support it. That was why he was opposed to the old parties. Farmers asked for fair representation, as present lawyers had an over-representation in the Dominion house. Turning to Mr Bennett's speech here he said that a few years ago when trying to get into the Alberta legislature, one of his planks was to get control of the natural resources for the province, and he put on a good argument—later he got in Ontario and what did he do towards this end, another plank was that the C.P.R. should pay their share of taxes, a corporation that has bled the country as it is doing today. What happened, the C.P.R. had a case before the Privy Council and engaged Mr. Bennett as counsel. Did he refuse it? No, so long as there was money in it. That the speaker said is the sort of statesmen we are trying to get rid of today and that is the kind that we are paying at Ottawa today. Speaking in the house at Ottawa May 14th, 1911 Mr Bennett said: Canadian politics have been corrupted by contributions from corporations." He, Mr. Bennett, claimed to be independent but was offered a portfolio and took it in Ontario, he was fully for his political life The same gentleman said Sir Oliver had stated the tariff was immoral, but that it was nothing to keep on with it, what that was an improvement as to anything else We have the forces of reaction and the forces of progress; if the progressive candidate was elected, it was not claimed the platform of the party would prove a panacea for all our ills—indeed was needed for without vision a nation shall perish.

The speaker said the Union government was responsible for the present financial stringency, the banks had been forced to call in loans to help out the government. The speaker said he was in favor of a protective tariff, but Canada needs protection for its manufacturers! Protection is the means for making it hard for goods to come into the country. Mr. Spencer took up the Canada Cement Company matter and the Dominion Textile matter, which latter declaimed paid more than 300 per cent. Protection has not increased our population in all these years; with a population of eight and a half millions, taking immigration into the country and the increase of births over deaths and there are 1,250,000 people missing in this country. You never found those who were preaching the back to the land movement going back there themselves. The speaker understood that you can't get into the country unless you promise to go on to the land. He predicted that the halt of the land under the S.S. scheme would be to the hands of the government in a few years. Dealing in the way in which we were handling the economic conditions of this country we would have to choose between United States people coming into Canada or the people of Canada going to the United States, sick of their job. Free trade between countries is what is cause. The surplus of railways and percolated lines was the result of the system of party government. The standing army of Canada placed at 3000 men was being increased to 10,000,—the best standing army in a nation physically fit, under conditions in which they can live—these would spring to defend their homes. The Farmers Party stood for representation of the people by the people and for the people and an equitable system of taxation, from indirect to direct. We say the most important industry of the country is agriculture—they say it is the manufacturers. Before the war our annual expenditure was $135,000,000, now it is $374,000,000 Victory bonds were issued free from taxation except the last—victory for financial interests and a bond for the people. There is just as much money in Canada today, said the speaker, as before the war but it is bottled up and we are not touching it by our system of taxation. The expenditures on the Canadian merchant marine came in for severe condemnation by Mr. Spencer as well as a number of other matters in connection with the administration

Regarding the questions asked, the speaker stated that: he had for an hour been endeavoring to answer the first and with reference to the second the books of the company had always been open for inspection by the government and Mr. Crerar letted him not inquiry.

In conclusion Mr Spencer asked that in casting their votes on December 6th to do so to bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem

R. L. RICHARDSON, WINNIPEG PAPER EDITOR, IS DEAD

Founder of the Tribune Passes Away Following a Long Illness

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—Robert Lorne Richardson, member for Springfield in the late parliament, and founder of the Winnipeg Tribune, died at his home this afternoon after a long illness, aged 61.

Mr. Richardson's death had been momentarily expected for about six weeks. He was first taken seriously ill at Christmas with heart trouble from which he had suffered for many years, and last July, while on a visit to Ontario, he underwent an operation which was considered successful. Later complications developed, however, and a second operation was performed in August.

The deceased was born on June 29, 1860, near Perth, Ontario. He was a son of Joseph and Harriett (Thompson) Richardson, whose parents settled in Ontario at the close of the Wellington-Napoleon war in 1812. His grandfather fought under Nelson at Trafalgar.

CRERAR PLATFORM NOT THAT OF CANDIDATE IN THIS RIDING

Progressive Leader Is Not Acknowledged Head of Farmers' Party

At a meeting of the electors of Vermilion last Saturday evening and which was addressed by the government candidate, Mr. Morrison, it developed in the course of a volley of questions fired at the speaker that T. A. Crerar was by the acknowledged leader of the Farmers' party and that the platform upon which the Crerar hopes to get into power was not the platform of the farmers' candidate in this riding. It was the one adopted at the convention held in Winnipeg. The statement was also made that the farmers were not in a position to gain power as to get a fair representation in parliament. They consider of the banking system of the country more of an issue than the tariff. The belief being that our banks should be nationalized so that everybody would be able to get money and enough of it at a cheaper rate of interest than prevails at present.

Perfect Package Campaign—November, 1921.

The Railways of Canada and the United States have joined in a nation wide effort to stimulate greater and universal interest in good packing of shipments by freight.

November has been selected as the "Perfect Package Month" during which an active campaign will be conducted to induce all shippers of freight to give their attention to the manner in which their goods are packed, the kind of containers used, and to marking. Title is of great public interest for the reason that it has a decided bearing on the safe and expeditious movement of traffic. A carrier cannot give good service and eliminate loss and damage unless shipments are packed right and marked right. In the last analysis, the public pay the bills. Therefore, the public, and particularly the shippers, should be deeply interested in the movement which will tend to reduce the losses and improve this class of transportation service generally.

During the month of November, Railway Agents will report to shippers exceptions noted in shipments received. Those exceptions reports will contain valuable information in detail sufficient to enable the shippers to remedy what is to be such messages as may appear necessary.

Sees Great Advantages For Western Canada In Waterways Scheme

Hamilton, Ont.—The first business at the session of the Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Association was the re-election of the old officers. In his address the president expressed that much educational work must be done in Western Canada, several delegates expressed the opinion that the present attitude of the association should be re-fledged so that the organization will benefit to the fullest extent by their experience.

George A. Graham, Port William, expressed the opinion that the southern province of Ontario would be benefited by the project of the deepening of the St. Lawrence River almost as much as the western districts. With the opening of the river channel new markets in the west would be opened for Nova Scotia coal, iron and steel products. Nova Scotia coal would displace Pennsylvania coal in Ontario as far west as the head of the lakes.

L. P. Coleman, Hamilton, said the project should not be viewed as one to take traffic away from the railways, but one to create new business. Secretary Lewis read an interesting paper contributed by Thomas Dodson, of St. Catharines, a former lake captain and vessel owner, who endorsed the ship canal. He said he had reached the conclusion that if the western farmers are to maintain their European market for grain water transportation from Port William must be made possible westward to Edmonton by lakes, and by river. He outlined a scheme for connecting up points west by means of barge canals. The next convention will be held at Welland.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet by the Chamber of Commerce, W. R. Inman presiding. Interesting addresses were heard from Henry I. Harriman of Boston, president New England Power Company, and A. W. Jeffreys, United States consul general for Nebraska.

Mr. Harriman stated that business would increase in other ports as it was extended to the cities which would benefit from the project. Wheat, he added, at the present time had to be brought from the head of the lakes, one thousand miles by two rents a bushel while the cost of transportation from Buffalo to the east was ten cents. His scheme was to carry the grain in bottoms from the head of the lakes to Montreal, providing the St Lawrence was navigable, and the cost would be but seven cents, he argued, a benefit to consumers in the east as well as the producers in the west.

WESTERN PROVINCES REPRESENTED AT SWINE BREEDERS' CONFERENCE

Ottawa.—With the object of placing the Canadian bacon industry on a solid foundation and securing for it the premier position throughout the world, a two-day conference of representative swine producers from practically every section of Canada was held here under the chairmanship of Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture for the Dominion. In addition to the swine producers, there were present many members of agriculture from various provinces or their representatives, including H. A. Craig, deputy minister of Alberta; Hedley Auld, deputy minister for Saskatchewan, and James Evans deputy minister for Manitoba.

The discussion at the opening session revolved around the question of the establishment of a systematic grading system for hogs. The question was asked if the packers or the farmers were getting full value for their hogs under the present system. It was agreed by some of the producers that the drovers should do the grading. Other delegates urged the appointment of official graders or referees at the livestock yards and abattoirs.

After a somewhat extended discussion, a resolution requesting the Federal department of agriculture to establish standard grades on live stock and hogs, was passed unanimously.

It will have accommodation for 500 cabin and 1,200 third class passengers. No other classes are provided for. It will burn oil as fuel and some of the innovations are a verandah cafe and a spacious playroom for children.

Situation at Lake Terminals Is Serious

Talk of Securing Steamers to Store Grain for Winter

Fort William, Ont.—If for the next two weeks grain stocks at the head of the lakes terminals are not shipped, it did last week the storage at Fort William and Port Arthur will be filled to its No. 1. A million and a half more bushels came here last week than were shipped out and this left over thirty million bushels in store.

Steps are being taken to interest allow for the reparation of grades the elevators here cannot take care of than forty eight million bushels, and this would be all taken up in less than three weeks from Nov. 1. The company has been touring Eastern Canada for the past two years and while there enjoyed three new performers for the present Western trip. Manager Shaw of the Albert Hall is arranging to have comfortable seats moved in and a platform built for that night. The Eckhardts will play here at prewar prices, programme starting at 8.30. President Harding's Address On Limitation of Armaments

Conference of Representatives of the Nations Historic Event

The text of President Harding's address at the opening of the conference on limitation of armaments follows:

"Mr. Secretary and Members of the Conference, Ladies and Gentlemen,—It is a great and happy privelege to be I the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capital of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, as which shared sacrifices and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together, but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose consultations and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

"It is not possible to over-appraise the importance of such a conference. It is no unseemly boast, no disparagement of other nations which, though not represented are held in the highest respect, to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world.

"Here is a meeting, I can well believe, which is an earnest of the twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention of remorse, nor association of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to determine terms of settlement, nor is it a council of nations seeking to remake humankind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults in our international relationships.

"Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States alone, but is rather the spoken word of a war-weary world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationships; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

"It id easy to understand this world his wide aspirations. The glory of triumphs, the rejoicing in achievement, the love of liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown soldier when a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it would or not, a hundred millions of our people were summoned, through probable cause, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the unutterable sorrows and there was the everspelling question, 'How can humanity ratify or God forgive?' Human hate demands no such toll, ambition and greed must be deemed it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it, and let understanding rule and make goodwill regnant everywhere. All of us demand liberty and justice. There can not be one without the other, and they must be held as the inalienable possession of all peoples. Jefferson spoke of food, and the founders of the world originate in their [illegible] denial. The world today is informed their enjoyment by simple [illegible] and denunciation calls for their recount [illegible] reason understanding.

"Out of the catastrophe of the world war came a tremendous new aspiration. [illegible] part of them. A world [illegible] seeing with [illegible] humanity, which has been shocked by wastage [illegible] minimize the [illegible] destruction. Contemplation [illegible] useless cost [illegible] continuous burden of armament [illegible] people with [illegible] tion of armies at and would like to outlawed. In [illegible] on the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and he in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenses for destruction into means of construction aimed at a better state for those who live and follow after.

"It is not alone that the world cannot readjust itself so long aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressive, cruel and more destructive from the first recorded conflict to this present-day, and the reverse order would become our boasted civilization.

"Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hand. We harbor no [illegible] to serve; we suppress [illegible] no conquest. Contentment [illegible] another's. We only wish to do with you that [illegible] no nation can do alone.

"We wish to sit with you at the table of international understanding and goodwill. In good conscience we [illegible] denied any [illegible] hold no more ask for than it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged, but I would have a measure of mind committing all of us to less preparation for war and more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

"The higher hope [illegible] of the spirit of [illegible] It is but just to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be [illegible] Rather, we should [illegible] the race of armaments [illegible]

"It is not to be [illegible] the [illegible] its cost robs the people [illegible] achieve. If the [illegible] opportunity the cold hard facts of excessive cost and the [illegible] would urge to reduce our armaments. If the [illegible] does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and the [illegible] competition.

"It is not to be [illegible] throughout the ages without [illegible] from the kindly hearts of men. But the same world record [illegible] tragically brought to a realization of the utter futility of passion's sway when reason and conscience and fellowship spend a nobler way.

"I can speak officially only for our United States. Our hundred million friendly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from [illegible] that we harbor no unworthy designs, we [illegible] hold with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not [illegible] goodwill and high purpose, but with high faith.

"We [illegible] peace to mankind. In all simplicity, in all [illegible] be written here the avowals of a consummate fires of war and made [illegible] enough. I hope for that understanding [illegible] the statesmen of peace and for commitment [illegible] burdens and a better order which will tranquilize the world In such an accomplishment there will be the added glory to your flags and ours, and the rejoicing of mankind will make the transcending music of all succeeding time."

Hon. P. Smith, former minister of education for Alberta, who is to stump East.

ALBERTA BY-ELECTIONS ARE FIXED FOR DECEMBER 9TH

WRITS ISSUED WEDNESDAY FOR SEVEN VACANCIES

Writs for the provincial by-elections in seven constituencies, the creation of Senator Cairine Wilson to the Senate, the lieutenant-governorship of Manitoba, to succeed Sir James Aikins, who will be appointed to the Senate, and the election to be held on a week later on Friday, December 9th.

Premier Greenfield made this announcement after a meeting of cabinet last Tuesday, but would not discuss the probability of his contesting the seat of Peace River recently vacated by D.M. Kennedy, who holds the federal nomination for the U.F.A. in West Edmonton.

Seven ministers in the government will be affected by the by-elections, these being Hon. Perren Baker, minister of Education; Hon. W.W. Smith, Camrose, minister of railways and telephones; Hon. Alex. Ross, Calgary, minister of public works; Hon. R.G. Reid Vermilion, minister of lands and mines; and Hon. Dr. Mackay, minister of health. Premier Greenfield and Hon. J.W. Brownlee attended the cabinet meeting and remained at the last provincial election. The vacancy created in Peace River riding will make one seat available but it is probable that regarding the other ridings to be contested although it will in all probability be one of these three to be chosen, it is likely that any opposition will be offered the cabinet ministers in their various by-elections. Mrs. Irene Parlby will not be required to stand for re-election, being minister without portfolio.

ESLAY REGRETS THE DEPARTURE OF MISS SMITH

Popular Hospital Matron Leaves For Position in Drumheller

ESLAY, Nov. 15. Showing an average cost per patient per day of $3.41 for the period of six months today Municipal Hospital No. 4 has the second lowest record in Alberta. This established record the board attributes to Miss Edna Smith, whose resignation as matron they reluctantly accepted at their semi-monthly meeting last week. Miss Smith has received the appointment of matron at Drumheller and the secretary of the board was instructed to write her a letter expressing the board's great appreciation of the work she is doing at Eslay. The mirage in the hospital book records the outstanding feature of Miss Smith's administration. Under her management the hospital has operated on the principle of the individual budget system. Miss Smith's place will be taken by Miss Winters, Avon.

Mrs. Lamont, daughter of Wm. Wright, Eslay, was married on Wednesday to Miss Smith's place. The ceremony took place at 7 p.m.

The 49th annual meeting held in Knox Presbyterian church last Friday, by the lady branch of the Women's Foreign mission society was popular. The supper was voted excellent by all, and despite the cold weather which prevailed a number of country residents from attending, a large number gathered in the church and did full justice to the good things provided. The offering was kept down to a minimum and the committees have realized more than $20.

Services were held on Sunday by both Roman Catholics and Presbyterians the former in the school in the morning. In her Sunday offering and the latter in the afternoon.

Miss E. Burt of Edmonton is visiting Miss Winters, Town.

Reiterates Former Statements

Editor Standard:—

Noting the replies to mine re Dafoe-ism in the U.F.A. I am venturing the attempt to try a rejoinder on the suffering public. It would have done it sooner, as now today treedom and Standard containing these replies.

At the outset I would like to say that the letter seems to have been taken by some as reflecting upon the integrity of Mr. Woodsworth. I regret that I failed here. I am such a man interpret it in this way as such was surely not my intention. I believe that Rev. J.S. Woodsworth is a man according to his lights as Mr. Morris can and that both are of course honorable men.

It is astonishing and fine indeed to see a lady like our esteemed U.F.A. member Mrs. Irene Parlby taking such an active interest in politics—an interest which on the part of newspaper men and the public should elsewhere turned into wise channels upon the impending collapse of the shaky Liberal-Conservative party would be—mean much for the cause of human betterment.

However I think her letter is rather too heated and over personal to be taken very effective and inasmuch as on second thought this may be expected in one of her ability Miss Parlby proposed to say considerably and I wish to reiterate every line of it, also adding my conviction that the great farm organizations includ-

evening in the church Rev. Mr. Symonds, superintendent of missions for western Alberta, presided and at the close of the service there was a meeting of the congregation to discuss the affairs of the church. The main subjects dealt with were the setting on a satisfactory basis the financial affairs of the church and the arrangement for the pulpit supply during the next few months. The conversation turned on a motion, by Mr. Hardwick and the board managers to raise the sum of $150 by subscription and also to ask the Women's Auxiliary to collect a similar sum it was agreed also to have the debt of $700 assumed by the mainbody in Toronto if Mr. Symonds could make arrangements, the debt to be paid off in five equal annual instalments and to carry interest at five per cent. As regard pulpit supply Mr. Symonds was given an authority to make arrangements for the U.F.A. are being prostituted for political purposes.

No apology is offered by me for having gradually over the past eight years or so emitted many reasoned political opinions. The world shaking episode or the great war has seemed almost to write on dead let whose revered errors in political conceptions. The writer is on the only farmer radical who came down to earth again at late years. Mr. Parkhurst among others is quoted as saying that what the world needs chiefly at the present time is not radicalism but conservatism. Personally I think that radical talk and action at this crisis in human relationships when the betterment of many people is much impaired by the terrible straining of all the years of the late war, is little short of a crime in this connection the following line by the sage Alfred, Lord Tennyson, that great master of English verse could scarcely be more pecullarly fitting and appropriate:—

"Cheer, Comrade! Comrade, Cheer! Tho' we strain the uttermost point. Fress from free to slay herward, and dying smile her name for ever."

Slay my dear brother Freedom, well known to Europe, known to all; Step by step we rose to greatness—Step by step they would drag us down.

Yet hark you people of freedom, you that now the voices—tell them old experience is a fool

That's your battered things that only those who cannot read can rule.

Pluck the blights from their seat, and see no weeds once in their place.

Pillory wisdom in your markets, pelt your editor in her face.

Tumble Nature 'neath our head, and yelling with the yelling street, Set the brute upon the throne, and swear the brain is in the feet.

Bring the old dark ages back with out the faith, without the hope; Break the State, the Church, the Throne, and roll the ruins down the slope.

Such a quaint different character is Mr. Hardwick's letter—that of the Who farrers. The farmers' party has a small use for Bolshevism or anything pertaining to it. I submit Mr. Editor that people who take this stand—often with good intentions—are really doing much more harm than the extremists because they harp in the labor political movement mistaking a bad cause for a good one and lose it the mantle of respectability without which it could not in this country have gained enough headway to become the menace which it constitutes today. There is a bad blunder and it is truly said that a blunder is worse than a crime. May they realize their fatal position before Dec 6th. Reckon that the best friends of the Soviet horror in Woodrow was only made possible by a lot of anarchists supported at least passively by harmonizing people. The road to hell has always been paved with good intentions.

Charges Denied

BY GRAIN GROWERS

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Charging that information (re?) given before two government inquiries had been distorted into deliberate misstatements, the United Grain Growers issued a statement today in which explanation is given for the stand of that organization with respect to the grain inquiry board and the "three bottoms" charge is refuted.

The statement says: "Twice the United Grain Growers willingly submitted full details of their business to government inquiries which the company believed it have been first called for special purposes. Twice the company saw their confidence betrayed and the information so freely given used for no purpose at all but unbridled into material for political attack.

"Under the royal grain inquiry was established the inquiry board's counsel A. Donner, and W.D. Staples (a member of the board), did not lose much time in putting the plot into action. The commission without invitation Duke F. Pelman was taken on a preliminary tour of western Canada holding public meetings. At each stop the members of the board were far in the west Donner who had returned to Winnipeg for the purpose, arranged by Mr. Wilkinson, Staples for the board's secretary, Blackett to be appointed at Fort William. A week's session was arranged for, in advance of all law, and Donner put Henderson on examination of the United Grain Growers, on the stand to make charges against the company, charges which were exploited by the government press all over the country.

Mr. Coleman's Denial

"Henderson charged that nine years ago United Grain Growers had stolen 10,000 bushels of wheat from the Canadian Pacific Railway Mr. D.T. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific railway, investigated and wrote as follows to Mr Ulrey:

"The railway company was represented at the weighup by Mr. H. J. Fulton, then chief traveling auditor of the company, now auditor of disbursements, an experienced, trusted and capable officer, who represented us at the annual government weighup of our terminal elevators, before the transfer in question and since that time. Mr. Fulton's report to me satisfied that there could have been no concealment of any grain then in the houses, and that there could have been no manipulation of records to the disadvantages of either party concerned or of the owners of the grain then in the elevators. This conclusion is fully confirmed by a careful check which has been made of our records of the government weighup made a short time previously and of the receipts and shipments of grain between the date of the government weighup and the date of the weighup made for the purpose of adjustment of balances between the two companies. We are convinced that, if a proper accounting was made to us for all of the grain in the elevators when turned over to our company

Another charge denied

Henderson charged that eight years ago the United Grain Growers had shipped two million bushels of grain belonging to farmers out of their terminal elevator at Fort William to Liverpool before proper documents had been surrendered as required by law. That he is called to reference to the registration records of the board of grain commissioners at Fort William which account for every bushel that went into and out of the elevators and show conclusively that this did not occur.

It is precisely true that in the first year of operation of the terminal elevators at Port William by the United Grain Growers, no grain was ever allowed to leave the elevator before warehouse receipts were surrendered." That fact was immediately disclosed under the system of registration of warehouse receipts, which the board of grain commissioners have in force and was the subject of considerable comment on board and the company before each warehouse receipt were surrendered. The inquiry at present in the annual report of the board to parliament for the year 1921, it not stated to all the commissioners, including W.D. Staples, himself.

The Secret Service

All Grain Weighed

Mr. Ulrey discovered that charge when he framed a statement in reply to Henderson's charge which showed that every bushel of the farmers' grain unloaded into the elevators had been weighed and inspected by government employees, and the company was responsible for the delivery of that amount and grade of grain in delivery at the 3 elevators bushel to farmers grain was watched and inspected out of the elevator by government weighmen and inspectors, and also system existing in the elevator behooved entirely to the company. He pointed out the absurdity of the idea that the company should steal its own grain.

Since then, as Mr. Ulrey promised when the Henderson charges were first made, the management of the United Grain Growers has been conducting fullest possible investigation of the statement concerning false bottoms. While ordinarily it would be out of place to make a public statement before the matter has been investigated by the members of the board of grain commissioners it has been noted that the way in which government supporters and prosecution alike are exploiting the false bottom charges make an immediate statement necessary. Let it be said therefore that false bottoms were never built in any bin of a United Grain Growers' elevator.

An Explanation

The company's own investigation has disclosed the fact that there is evidence that one employee of the term as superintendent of the elevator, duplicate skill-pieces of sheet metal less than four square were put in the spouts of some of the small bins of from eight hundred to a thousand bushels capacity. The effect of this would be to prevent grain running out of those pockets when the valves were opened in the weighup. The result in a quarter of a million bushel bin would be to leave grain being considered in the weighup. If the experimental season and inspectors were carrying the performance of their duties properly, it would only be possible for the company which installed it. That is to say, the company would have to supply and install and check that it was done. The men working in the elevators at the time who would be responsible or all, such irregularities stringent dismissal, but many cases were used of the weighup of the grain was accepted.

New Air Liner For Ocean Traffic

Giant Passenger Monoplane Being Built in England for London-New York Service

A mammoth air liner for service between London and New York is under construction by one of the biggest British aircraft manufacturers. If it fulfils expectations of the designers, the machine will enable 150 passengers to start from the Croydon aerodrome near London at midday, and alight at New York harbor the following morning, travelling at 190 miles an hour.

Everything about the giant ship will be novel. It will be a monoplane with a wooden span of 130ft 11ft wing of great thickness, inside of which will be passenger accommodation. There will be a restaurant in the body which will be designed along the lines of a boat, and it will have a landing enclosure which will make it amphibious. The first machine of it calculated will cost £150,000, but it is expected that it will be possible to turn out succeeding models at half that price.

The speed of this new trans-Atlantic liner will be far greater than that developed by the R34 which twice crossed the Atlantic in 1919, a total distance of 6,500 miles. For flights from Ireland to America occupied journeys being under adverse weather conditions. The top speed of this airship was 68 miles an hour. In 1917 the German dirigible L.59, flew from Jamboli, Bulgaria, to East Africa and return a distance of 6,768 kilometres.

Krupp's Works On Peace Time Basis

Total Number of Employees Is Ninety Nine Thousand

Krupp's work have now been wholly on a peace time basis, and the result is impressive as ever.

In less the great works at Essen, the current year, many other factories employing a total of officials and workers of 99,000 at the beginning of the year. The number employed at Krupp's was during 1918 when there were 171,000 on the pay list. In the present total compares with about at the outbreak of the war. The increase is due in part to the introduction of an eight hour day in place of the per week basis as before.

Products obtainable from Krupp's complete shop, detail requirements, agricultural machines, office things, motor lorries, also apparatus, are in fact, everything into which a piece of iron or steel can possibly enter.

Since the collapse of the armament work the principal new trade undertaken is the construction of locomotives and railway rolling stock. This department is still in the course of development already, a staff of 5,000 men. It can give a yearly output of 300 heavy locomotives, 600 tenders, and 2,500 trucks.

GLAD HE TRIED THE TONIC TREATMENT

Through Its Use Strength and Vigor Was Restored

To be tired after exertion is natural. Rest and food restore the body to normal after such fatigue. But to be tired and feel tired is a symptom of an unhealthy condition that will not be corrected until the blood is built up.

Such an anaemic condition is so common in this climate and people by so lacking in acute pain that it is often difficult to persuade the sufferer to do anything for it. But it is not a condition that corrects itself, for the blood is not enriched the trouble will increase. The nerves will be undernourished and neuralgic pains will follow. Therefore whatever is responsible for the tired feeling should be corrected and a tonic, which will restore much thin blood, sleep is disturbed and a general breakdown may occur.

Mr. Wyvern Johnson, Nimevis, N.S., says: "A few years ago my system was in a badly run down condition. My nerves seemed always on edge, and I found myself so weak that I could hardly do any work. I suffered from headaches and from pains in the back and under the shoulders, and was often so sleepless at night that I was mentally worried. I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I was pale and thin, and all the things I did was doing me no good. Then I read the testimonial of a man whom our pills had been similar to mine, and I thought I would try them. I got a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I decided to give them a reasonable trial and by the time I had taken about half a box I felt much better. I kept on taking the pills until I had taken six more boxes, and I can only say I am glad I did so, as I am now enjoying the best of health, and I advise all those who feel run down to give these pills a good trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or will be sent by mail, post paid, one box for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Tanlac saved my wife's life," was the positive statement of Benjamin H. Kauffman 565 Bingaman St., Reading Pa. popular clothing salesman for the well known firm of Croll & Keck.

"I was almost desperate from worrying over her condition, as she had suffered so long without getting relief and I can hardly believe my own eyes now when I see the change in her. She doesn't show her age by twenty years and declares she never remembers feeling better in her life. Her health was falling steadily for a long as a result of catarrh of the stomach, and I have never seen any body suffer as much from indigestion and nervousness as she did.

"After a few weeks' course of Tanlac she was like another person and I am truly convinced that years less Tanlac is the greatest medicine on earth. It makes me shudder now when I think what the end might have been if she hadn't taken Tanlac in time."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists and general merchants everywhere.

ECZEMA

"YOUR TEETH"

HEAD INFECTION

By RHA PROCTOR McGEE, D.D.S., M.D., Editor of "Oral Hygiene"

The great majority of bodily infections are due to abscesses in some part of the head, usually in the mouth, throat, nose or in the little cavities that are located in a chain from the base of the nose backward to the under surface of the skull.

These cavities are called sinuses. Wherever there is an abscess that causes absorption of the poisonous material into the blood stream, it is called a focus—a focus of infection.

The reason so much attention is given to mouth infections is not because they are worse than any other infections, but because there are so many opportunities for infection in the mouth.

There are twenty temporary teeth which, in the normal course of life, are followed by thirty-two permanent teeth. Consequently, every one of us has the possibility of fifty-two sources of infection in the mouth alone, unless the teeth, both temporary and permanent, are properly cared for.

Every infection shortens life either very slightly or very considerably. In order to keep a clean blood stream, the points of infection must be removed, but how much better it is, and how much more sensible it is, to avoid these infections.

So far as the mouth is concerned, infection can almost always be avoided by proper care, in time.

The best time to begin preserving your health for the future is now. Just think of the wonderful opportunities ahead of us in this country. Only those who have health and energy can have the success of which they are capable. Pus is the enemy of success.

YOUNG WOMEN AVOID PAIN

This One Tells How She Was Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"For two years I suffered from periodic pains and nausea so I was unable to get around. My mother had me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am much better and able to go about all the time, which I could not do before. I recommend Vegetable Compound to my friends if I know they suffer the same way, and you may publish my letter if it will help her any." —Miss E. G. BLACKWELL, 2073 Osler Place, Regina, Sask.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, nervousness, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a chance to help Nature, what health and happiness would result from such a trial!

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

For special advice, women are invited to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

If Headache, Biliousness Or Stomach Is Bad, Take "Cascarets"
Get a 10-cent box now.
Pilfred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Bilious Fits and miserable feelings arise from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food which sours and ferments like garbage in a barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—fidgetiness, foul breath, bad breath, yellow skin everything that is sickening. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. Millions of men and women take Cascarets now and then to keep their stomachs, liver and bowels right. If I don't know a miserable person ever forgets the children their little insides need a good gentle cleansing, too.

Needle Is Extracted From Child's Heart

Most Remarkable Operation Performed at Minneapolis Hospital

A remarkable needle was removed from the heart of Dawson Sundles, two years old at the Elliot Memorial Hospital at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, in what surgeons term the most remarkable surgical operation ever performed in the north west. The youngster is expected to recover.

Dawson a son of Mr and Mrs John H. Sundles, St. Paul, stumbled and fell while playing at his home and a needle from his mother's sewing box lodged penetrated his left breast. He complained of a pain in his left side and an X-Ray examination revealed the needle close to the heart.

Dr. A. C. Strachauer chief of the surgical staff at the hospital, decided to operate. The surgeon first opened the boy's breast and then the pericardium, where he expected to find the needle, which, however, had entered the heart. At each contraction of that organ the head of the small steel needle came into view. With a tiny forceps Dr. Strachauer extracted it, and within a short time the boy's heart had been beating 130 times a minute, returned to those to normal.

Sixty Thousand Garment Workers Go Out On Strike

New York, Nov. 14.—Sixty thousand garment workers were called out on strike this morning in protest against the piece work system which was to be put into effect today by their employers. There were many indications that the struggle might be a prolonged one.

Observers of the situation said the strike would have little effect on the prices of women's clothing for the time being, although if it were prolonged it would undoubtedly affect prices for the next year.
